Since, according to McGee, "the limit was reached long since on what the small theatre could pay," there must be a reduction in rentals for such houses. "The producer should make as many pictures as he can, presenting new personalities so we can have more popular players, and distribution must do its best to sell film at a price commensurate with a theatre's individual possibilities."

Grainger Hails RKO "Enthusiasm And Results"

HOLLYWOOD—Sales personnel at the first meeting of RKO's four regional sales meetings were lauded by J. R. Grainger, president, for their "enthusiasm and results."

The meeting opened with a screening of "Underwater" and a discussion by J. H. MacIntyre, sales manager, western division, on promotion and sales plans for the film. MacIntyre complimented the meeting for the "outstanding job" done on "Hansel And Gretel" which has been booked in 400 theatres for Christmas.

Selling plans were discussed for "Hansel And Gretel," "Cattle Queen Of Montana," "Passion," "Escape To Burma," "This Is My Love," "Seven Bad Men," "Tarzan's Hidden Jungle," "Quest For The Lost City," "The Conqueror," "Son Of Sinbad," and "Jet Pilot."

Other RKO executives also spoke on ad policies and other topics.

Minneapolis Suit Tried

MINNEAPOLIS—Trial of a $576,000 triple damage anti-trust action brought by William and Sidney Volk, operators, Terrace, against eight major film companies, Minnesota Amusement Company, and RKO Theatres opened before Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye in Federal District Court.

The action charges that the distributors and the two theatre circuits conspired to deprive the Terrace of a run "in keeping with the character, location, and grossing potential" of the house.

Cinerama '55 Gross Seen As $20,000,000

Pre-Christmas Lull Hits B'way Grosses

NEW YORK—With the exception of Radio City Music Hall, where the annual Christmas show bowed, and the Victoria, where "A Star Is Born" was holding up nicely, most of the Broadway first-run spots felt the effects of the pre-Christmas doldrums last weekend.

According to usually reliable sources reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"TRACK OF THE CAT" (Warners). Paramount dropped to $26,000 on the second week.

"DESIREE" (20th-Fox). Roxy reported $28,855 for Thursday through Sunday, with the fourth and last week heading toward $38,000.

"DEEP IN MY HEART" (MGM). Radio City Music Hall, boosted by the annual Christmas show on stage, hit $109,000 for Thursday through Sunday, with the opening session bound to top $166,000.

"SABRINA" (Paramount). Criterion announced $10,500 for the 12th week.

"THE ASPHALT JUNGLE" (MGM); "BATTLEGROUND" (MGM). Globe was down to $3,900 for the last three days of the third and last week.

"SITTING BULL" (UA). Mayfair expected the third week to reach $19,000.

"ON THE WATERFRONT" (Columbia). Astor anticipated the 20th week at $14,000.

"A STAR IS BORN" (Warners). Victoria claimed $28,000 for the ninth week.

"THE LAST TIME I SAW PARIS" (MGM). Capitol was heading toward a $28,000 fourth week.

"PHFFFT" (Columbia). Loew's State held at $16,000 for the fifth week.

"CARMEN JONES" (20th-Fox). Rivoli dropped to $19,000 on the seventh week.

Arbitration Progress Reported

NEW YORK—The exhibitor-distributor sub-committee on arbitration met last week and made progress in the discussions leading toward the establishment of an arbitration system.

Herman M. Levy and Adolph Schimel, representing the sub-committee, were instructed to reduce to final writing the wide areas of agreement and to prepare, in addition, a conciliation plan for approval of the committee in January. The date of Jan. 17, 1955, has been set for the next meeting of the joint group.

Both sides expressed satisfaction with the progress made thus far. Attending the meeting were Si Fabian, Mitchell Wolfson, Max Cohen, Leo Brecher, and Herman Levy, from exhibition; and A. Montague, Charles Reagan, William Gehring, Robert Perkins, Adolph Schimel, and Austin C. Keough, from distribution.

Filmmakers Holds Sales Meet

CHICAGO—Filmmakers Releasing organization held a national sales meeting last week at the Blackstone Hotel here. Future product plans were discussed and the company's next two releases, "Crashout" and "Mad At The World," were screened.

Small House Cinerama Demonstration Impresses

HOLLYWOOD—A "highly impressive" demonstration of mobile equipment capable of showing Cinerama in smaller theatres was given to the delegates at National Theatre's divisional convention last fortnight.

Basic improvement in the NT system is the use of mirrors to circumvent the use of three separate booths. The unit requires removing only about 50 seats from the back of the house. Estimated cost of building a mobile unit is placed at between $40,000 and $50,000 for entire set up.

Pickman Stresses "One World"

HOLLYWOOD—Addressing the first international coordination meeting of Paramount last week, Jerome Pickman, advertising-publicity vice-president stressed the "one-world" aspect of the entertainment business today. The meeting was one of a scheduled week of individual sales and promotion conclaves attended by domestic and foreign publicity executives. Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount studio vice-president, opened the meetings, while A. W. Schwalberg, president, Paramount distributing corporation, and Loren L. Ryder, studio technical engineering head also spoke. Complete and incomplete features were screened.

TOA Meeting Set

NEW YORK—The joint mid-winter meeting of the board and the executive committee of Theatre Owners of America is scheduled for Feb. 13-15, 1955, at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington. A. Julian Brylawski, TOA vice-president, is chairman, host committee.

Walter Reade, Jr., chairman of the board, and Alfred Starr, chairman of the executive committee, will preside.

Lowell Thomas Steps Down As President, Succeeded By Sutliff; Stock Buy By Officers Is Approved

NEW YORK—From the initial opening in the fall of 1952 until Nov. 27, 1954, "This Is Cinerama" has grossed an estimated $16,500,500, with Cinerama productions securing an income of $2,900,000 from its 50-50 agreement in the first four theatres with Stanley Warner Corporation.

These figures were revealed last week by Ira S. Stevens, treasurer and assistant secretary, at a stockholders meeting. Stevens predicted that for the 14 month period ending Dec. 31, 1955, the company will have grossed about $20,000,000.

"This Is Cinerama" will be opened by Stanley Warner in Montreal, on Dec. 27, followed by showings in Buffalo and Miami.

The stockholders unanimously elected Lowell Thomas, Louis B. Mayer, Milo J. Sutliff, Theodore R. Kupferman, and Ira S. Stevens as directors. They also approved and ratified an agreement dated for the termination of an employment agreement and for stock arrangements between the company and Merian C. Cooper and between the company and Argosy Pictures Corporation.

Also, the stockholders approved and ratified an agreement dated Nov. 3 for the termination of an employment contract and for a stock arrangement and bank loan guarantee arrangement between the company and Mayer; and voted permission for certain officers, Kupferman, Stevens, and Irving N. Margolin, to purchase Cinerama Productions stock in blocks of 5000, 5000, and 2500 shares respectively, at $2.25 per share.

At a meeting of the board following the stockholders meeting, Lowell Thomas, president, withdrew his candidacy for the office for the forthcoming year due to his production responsibilities in the third Cinerama film, "The Seven Wonders Of The World." Sutliff was elected president; Kupferman, vice-president and secretary; Stevens, treasurer and assistant secretary; and Margolin, assistant treasurer.

Veteran Groups Back "Army"

NEW YORK—All members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Junior Chambers of Commerce and their families are urged by their national officers, in letters sent to local affiliates, to attend the theatre showings of the Technicolor feature, "This Is Your Army," it was disclosed last fortnight.

Hoover Tours Tents

NEW YORK—George Hoover, chief barker, International Variety Clubs, has planned a program of personal contact that should take him at least once to every local tent in the United States in the next six months. During the next month, his itinerary will take him to such widely separated tents as Atlanta, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Houston, and Baltimore.

U-I Sets Powerful Schedule Of Top Films For 1955 Release

NEW YORK—U-I will release during the first four months of 1955 one of the most powerful groups of important film productions in its history dealing with a wide variety of themes and pre-sold by record merchandising campaigns to create the greatest possible boxoffice potential, it was announced last week by Charles J. Feldman, vice-president and general sales manager.

FELDMAN

The releasing program which is in line with Universal's policy of providing exhibitors with a steady flow of pictures for all types of theatres, includes three CinemaScope productions. All but three of the 13 pictures are in Technicolor. Two of them are top budget films in color produced by the J. Arthur Rank Organization—one in Africa and the other in New Zealand.

According to Feldman, Universal's three CinemaScope productions will be available to exhibitors with both magnetic and optical sound tracks and will be made available in regular screen size in line with the company's policy of making pictures for all types of theatres.

Released for Christmas is "Sign Of The Pagan," the story of Attila the Hun. In CinemaScope and Technicolor it stars Jeff Chandler, Jack Palance, Ludmilla Tcherina, and Rita Gam in the costliest spectacle ever produced on the U-I lot.

"So This Is Paris," Technicolor musical starring Tony Curtis, Gicria De Haven, Gene Nelson, Corinne Calvet, and Paul Gilbert, heads the list of January releases. The second January picture will be

"Destry," the remake of the famous "Destry Rides Again." Starred in this new Technicolor remake of the western classic are Audie Murphy, Mari Blanchard, and Lyle Bettger. "West Of Zanzibar," filmed in Technicolor on the African veld by the J. Arthur Rank Organization in association with the Schlesinger Organization, will be the third January release. It stars Anthony Steel and Sheila Sim.

February releases will be headed by "The Far Country," in Technicolor. Starred with James Stewart are Ruth Roman, Corinne Calvet, and Walter Brennan. "Six Bridges To Cross," a melodrama dealing with the great Boston robbery, starring Tony Curtis, Julie Adams, and George Nader, will be the second February release. The third will star Abbott and Costello in "Abbott And Costello Meet The Keystone Kops."

"Captain Lightfoot," filmed entirely in Ireland in CinemaScope and Technicolor and starring Rock Hudson, Barbara Rush, and Jeff Morrow, will be one of the important March releases. "Smoke Signal," in Technicolor and starring Dana Andrews, Piper Laurie, Rex Reason, and William Talman, is the second March release, while "Land Of Fury," filmed in Eastman Color in New Zealand for the J. Arthur Rank Organization and starring Jack Hawkins and Glynis Johns, is the third March release.

"Chief Crazy Horse," in CinemaScope and Technicolor and starring Victor Mature, Suzan Ball, and John Lund, will be one of the important April releases. "Man Without A Star," filmed in Technicolor and starring Kirk Douglas, Jeanne Crain, and Claire Trevor, will be the second important April release, while the third will be the perennial "Ma And Pa Kettle At Waikiki."

Fabian Opposes Plan For Gov't Control

OKLAHOMA CITY—Addressing the Oklahoma Theatre Owners Convention here last week, S. H. Fabian, president, Stanley Warner Corporation, lashed out at that "thunderous and outspoken segment of our industry that would have the government set up machinery to settle such intimate problems as film rentals and product shortage." Calling such a policy "blind to the disadvantages of government control," he said that it would be preferable to, "sit down together and settle our problems among ourselves, without bringing in strangers to our industry who would have to be educated before we could ask them to settle the problems of showmen with years of practical experience."

Noting that "a united industry persuaded Congress to give us admission tax relief," Fabian called for the formation of one central exhibitors organization. Stating that exhibitors' opinions were "overwhelmingly in favor" of such a move he pointed out the success of efficient organization in Great Britain.

Although praising Hollywood's "terrific job," in reconverting to big pictures and perfecting new technical advances, Fabian pointed out that a picture shortage still existed. For this reason, he said, "we should encourage Hollywood to make more and encourage everyone willing to invest his money in producing pictures." Fabian noted that some of the biggest money makers cost between less than one to a maximum of two million dollars. He called on exhibitors to give good playing time to the products of every company and to give them showmanship campaigns in every area.

Ed Thorne has been elected president of the Oklahoma group. Other officers are Ralph Drewry, vice-president; Ray Hughes, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Zella Geck, assistant secretary-treasurer. The posts of chairman of the board and second vice-president were eliminated.

Directors named by the convention were Paul Shipley, Enid; Alex Blud, Tulsa; Ralph Drewry, Tulsa; Charles Procter, Muskogee; Phil Hayes, Bartlesville; C. D. Hicks, Nowata; Bill Slepka, Okemah; Eddie Holt, Coalgate; Ed Thorne, Harold Combs, Oklahoma City; Avece Waldron, Lindsay; Mrs. L. H. Goerke, Canton; Paul Stonum, Anadarko; H. D. Cox, Binger, all in Oklahoma; and H. S. McMurry, Dumas; and J. S. Worley, Shamrock; Birby Conley, Perryton, all of Texas, and Ralph Tabot and C. B. Akers, Tulsa.

Schine Request Denied

BUFFALO—Federal Judge John Knight has denied a request by the Schine Circuit to obtain correspondence between it and the government from 1942 to 1954, reports of investigations conducted by the government, memoranda concerning meetings held between government representatives and Schine officials, and court records and decisions involving anti-trust cases against other circuits.

Judge Knight granted a government request to quash a subpoena ordering the government to produce the documents.

Trial of the Schine case is scheduled to begin later this month.

Mass. Theatre Wins Suit

BOSTON—After nine days of trial in federal court, the anti-trust suit of the Victoria Amusement Company, Lawrence, Mass., was settled last week for the plaintiff for an undisclosed amount with no action taken by the jury.

The jury was dismissed following an agreement among attorneys on the terms. There was no verdict. Samuel Richmond, operator, State, was the plaintiff who had charged in his complaint that the major companies and certain theatre owners had conspired to restrain trade, maintained a uniform system of runs and clearances, and other infractions. He had asked $3,000,000 on the violations of the anti-trust laws.

Federal Tax Take Down

WASHINGTON—Federal revenue from the tax on theatre tickets amounted to $310,264,000 for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1954, it was revealed last week. This period includes three months of operation under the Mason Bill, which became effective April 1, 1954. It compares with a figure of $359,522,000 for the same period in 1953.

Skouras Concert Plans Set

NEW YORK—Spyros P. Skouras, president, 20th-Fox, will be honored at a dinner concert sponsored by the American Fund For Israel Institutions "in recognition of his leadership on behalf of Israel through the American Fund," Simon H. Fabian, head, Stanley Warner and Fabian Theatres, and chairman, dinner concert committee, announced last fortnight.

The affair will be held on Jan. 5 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Over 400 New York civic leaders, representing a cross section of New York's industrial and commercial enterprises, including many eminent motion picture, theatre, concert, radio, and television personalities, have joined the sponsors committee for the colorful event.

Stockholder Wins Point

NEW YORK—The State Court of Appeals last week upheld the right of Lester Martin to look at the books of Columbia. In a four-three decision, the court sustained two lower court rulings directing the company to let the dissatisfied stockholder examine the books. The ruling follows lengthy legal maneuverings.

SW Report Shows Increased Earnings

NEW YORK—In his annual report to the stockholders issued last week, S. H. Fabian, president, Stanley Warner Corporation, stated that the profit for the company and its subsidiaries for the fiscal year ended Aug. 28 amounted to $3,595,100 after deducting depreciation and amortization of $3,476,400, but before deducting provisions for federal income taxes and contingencies. The net profit was $1,770,100, equivalent to 80c per share on the 2,218,529 shares of common stock outstanding. Included in such profit is a profit of $74,000 arising from sales of fixed assets.

Fabian said it was not possible to give an accurate estimate of earnings, but based upon information now available, "it appears that the earnings for the first quarter were more than twice the consolidated earnings for the corresponding quarter which ended Nov. 28, 1953, when our profits amounted to $523,000 after all charges including federal income taxes."

The first accounting period covered the 26 week period ended Aug. 29, 1953. During such period, operations showed a consolidated loss of $970,700 of which $649,800 arose from the sale of theatres and other properties.

"The fiscal year ended Aug. 28, 1954, our first full year of operation, was a year of marked progress for Stanley Warner Corporation," stated Fabian. "The downward trend in operating profits of the theatres, which had continued for more than five years, was reversed. Our Cinerama division expanded its theatre operations and commenced its activities in the field of production. Following the stockholders approval of the amendment to our certificate of incorporation, we took a major step in the diversification of our business activities through the acquisition of International Latex Corporation."

Current assets totaled $25,835,300 and current liabilities $11,846,400. Cash amounted to $12,206,100, which in itself was in excess of all current liabilities. Long term debt due after one year was $19,484,000. All properties were free of mortgage indebtedness except from one theatre and building on which there was a long term mortgage of $1,334,000.

The annual meeting of the company will be held in Wilmington, Del., on Jan. 13, 1955.

Pacific Cargo Rates Drop

NEW YORK—Inauguration of a new low transpacific specific commodity rate to 50 pounds and over on shipments of motion picture film from all U.S. points to Hongkong and Tokyo by Air Express International was announced last week by its president, Charles L. Gallo. Special low rates had previously applied to Manila only in the Pacific area.

A 50-pound package sent from a west coast air port such as Los Angeles or San Francisco, according to Gallo, now may be sent via AEI to any of the transpacific destinations, Tokyo, Hongkong, or Manila, at a cost of only $83, as compared with an airline rate for the same shipment and destination of $125. Time as well as money will be saved, it was said.

COMPO Ad Hails Reopening

NEW YORK—The decision of Ellsworth, Wis., merchants to finance the reopening of their town's motion picture theatre forms the basis of the 32nd advertisement published last fortnight by COMPO in Editor and Publisher.

Headed "78 words that ought to be framed," the advertisement reproduces a dispatch from Minneapolis to Variety giving details of the Ellsworth merchants' action.

The dispatch related that the merchants decided to subsidize the reopening of the local theatre because they had found that its closing not only had hurt their business but had lowered the morale and spirits of the town's residents.

Filmmakers Seeks TOA Boost

HOLLYWOOD—President Irving H. Levin, Filmmakers Releasing Organization, has written Theatre Owners of America president E. D. Martin offering to increase FRO output to 12 pictures annually if TOA will co-finance production as indicated at its Chicago convention.

RKO Regional Meetings Concern Plans For Two Films

NEW YORK—A series of four regional sales meetings of RKO Radio are being held this week to complete the over-all sales and merchandising campaigns for two pictures, "Underwater" and "The Americano."

The Hollywood meeting, under the management of J. H. Macintyre, western division sales manager, was attended by President James R. Granger; C. J. Tevlin, vice-president in charge of operations; James Wilkin, editorial chief; Perry Lieber, director of publicity and exploitation; A. L. Kolitz, Rocky Mountain district manager; R. H. Lange, Portland; J. C. Emerson, San Francisco; Seymour Borde, Los Angeles branch manager; E. A. Lamb, Seattle; G. Davison, Salt Lake City; Lee Roy Hobson, Denver; J. F. Davie, Vancouver; and Michael Havas, Latin American Supervisor.

The Chicago and New York meetings took place simultaneously from Dec. 13 to 15, while the New Orleans meeting is slated for Dec. 16 through 18.

Toll-TV Objections To Reach The FCC

NEW YORK—Trueman Rembusch, co-chairman, joint committee on toll television, last week announced that definite steps are being taken to combat the approval of the method by the Federal Communications Commission and to allow industry representatives to present their side of the case against the system.

It was announced that a firm of Washington attorneys, Marks and Cohn, has been hired to protest to the FCC the approval of the Zenith Television and Radio Company application for use of their toll TV system, and a hearing will be requested in papers filed within a week. A delay in action on the application is being sought so that exhibition witnesses may appear.

Another step outlined was the institution of an educational campaign calculated to reach the public and other interested parties as well as opponents of toll TV such as advertising agencies, local merchants, etc., who stand to lose revenue should commercial-free toll TV take over the air waves and theatres forced to close.

The committee will concentrate on raising funds for conducting the campaign.

Rembusch reported that exhibitors would have no objection to toll TV if it would compete on the same economic basis as theatre TV, that is if phone lines or coaxial cables were utilized in homes. However, if present channels and air time is utilized giving toll TV a preferred position over a two-and-a-half billion dollar industry, then exhibitors will fight and fight hard.

ARC Sets Eight For '55

HOLLYWOOD—American Releasing Corporation will release a minimum of eight pictures during 1955, President James H. Nicholson announced last week. Currently in release through ARC is "The Fast And The Furious," while scheduled for release this month is "Operation Malaya."

Set for release in 1955 are "Five Guns West," "King Robot," "The Day The World Ended," "The Beast From 1,000,000 B.C.," "War Cry," "One Mile Below," "African King," and "Johnny Big Gun."

About People

NEW YORK—William J. Heineman, United Artists vice-president in charge of distribution, will serve as distributor chairman in the 1954-55 national conference drive-in observance of Brotherhood Week, it was announced last week by John H. Harris, national chairman, amusements division. Heineman succeeds Morey Goldstein, vice-president and general sales manager, Allied Artists. Harris concurrently announced that Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation, United Artists, has accepted the post of director of advertising and publicity.

NEW YORK—Frank Braden, press representative, Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus, has joined Paramount on a "loan out" to assist with the extensive national campaign on Hal Wallis' latest Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis comedy, "Three Ring Circus." Working with Braden, who currently is stationed at the Paramount home office, is Dave Friedman, Paramount mid-west field representative, who has a broad circus promotion background. Braden also is working with Loew's executives in New York in preparation for a Dec. 24 opening at Loew's State.

HOLLYWOOD—John M. Wolfberg, former national secretary, National Allied, last week severed his association with the Hal R. Makelim organization of which he was vice-president and sales manager. Taking over Wolfberg's duties is Herb Kaufman, former Republic sales official and a recent Makelim midwest sales executive. Hy Daab, veteran industry advertising and publicity executive who was with the Makelim organization briefly, has completed an assignment and withdrawn.

NEW YORK—Max E. Youngstein, vice-president, United Artists, has been appointed chairman, entertainment committee, National Home for Asthmatic Children, Denver, it was announced last week by Robert Q. Lewis, CBS television star who is honorary chairman, regional board of directors. Youngstein and Lewis simultaneously announced their sponsorship of a gala "Parade Of Stars" at Town Hall on Jan. 8, 1955, for the benefit of the National Home.

NEW YORK—Harry M. Kalmine, vice-president and general manager, Stanley Warner Corporation, announced last week the promotion of Nat D. Fellman as his executive assistant, in addition to his duties as film buyer for the circuit. Fellman began his motion picture career in 1928 as an office boy in Warners.

WASHINGTON—Turner B. Shelton was appointed last week to be chief of the United States Information Agency's motion picture service. Shelton succeeds Andrew W. Smith, Jr., who has resigned to return to private industry in the New York area.

NEW YORK—George J. Schaefer has been retained as producer's representative for United Artists' "Star Of India," it was announced last week.

COMPO Sets Poll Plans

NEW YORK—Final details of the national audience poll recently authorized by the COMPO executive committee were to be worked out last week at a meeting of the committee that originally drew up plans for the poll last summer.

The committee was to meet at the Sheraton Astor, and those attending the sessions were to be Mrs. Alice N. Gorham, United Paramount Theatres, Detroit, committee chairman; Roy Kalver, Decatur, Ind.; Ralph Russell, Canton, O.; Paul Levi, American Theatres Corporation, Boston; Frank H. Ricketson, Jr., and Paul Lyday, Fox Inter-Mountain Theatres, Denver; Harry Mandel, chairman, COMPO press relations committee; and Charles E. McCarthy, COMPO staff.

Martin Cites TOA Goals

COLUMBUS, GA.—E. D. Martin, TOA president, announced last week that the TOA administration has been dedicated to three objectives, the unification of exhibition, conciliation and arbitration, and increase in production.

Martin pointed out that "discussions are planned with Allied to unite all exhibitors," and asserted that "our problems are their problems, only the approach to solve them are different."

"Competition for the spectator amusement dollar and pleasure time of the family is growing stronger. We must stop the fighting between ourselves that is sapping our strength and fight to maintain the motion picture as the queen of amusements," he argued.

High Music Fees Stir Exhib Opposition

TORONTO—If composers, authors, and publishers attempt to raise their tariff for the theatres for 1955-56, they will meet with some difficult opposition. This was the decision of the National Committee of Motion Picture Exhibitors Associations of Canada. Music royalty fees for motion picture theatres have remained the same for three years under an agreement between Capac and theatre operators.

Powerful legal support will be arranged and financial support has been promised by the NCMPEAC. The delegates felt that there was little reason why they should pay any fees for music contained in films for which they paid adequate rentals. The composers' claims should be made to the producers, not to the exhibitors, they emphasize.

Some 28 standard-type theatres have been opened since the beginning of the year with the recent opening of the 694-seat Tower, Yorkton, Sask. The new house is owned by Rothstein Theatres, which also operates the Roxy and the Crest Drive-In in Yorkton. With the construction of two drive-ins in Watrous, Sask., and a standard theatre in Moncton, N.B., underway, there are now 27 of the latter-type in various stages of work across the country. The number of drive-ins opened in Canada since the beginning of the year totals 43, according to a survey, with 225, all told, now in operation. It appears unlikely that the ozoners to bow in between now and the end of the year will bring the current total anywhere near the all-time record of 78, set in 1953. Now being planned are 25 four-wall theatres and nine drive-ins.

Canadian Workshop Stresses TV, Films

MONTREAL—More than 300 representatives of film sponsors and producers, advertising agency personnel, and others who use motion picture or television from many widely separated parts of Canada and the United States were in Montreal last week at the Workshop being sponsored by Associated Screen Studios. This is the first workshop of its kind ever staged in Canada.

Lucio Agostini, Toronto, music director for Associated Screen Studios, and Gordon Sparling, director of production, presented a joint effort on music for motion pictures and the types best suited. Agostini noted that some producers often have their music recorded in the United States and took strong exception to this practice; he maintained that Canadian musicians were capable of doing a very competent job of musicianship, and the quality of their music could equal any to be found across the border. Sparling gave several demonstrations through the media of films in which music played a very important part.

Ray Cunningham, chief of the scenario department, Associated Screen Studios, outlined the many stages necessary in pre-planning the script for motion pictures or television.

Other speakers included Gentry Veal, New York, of Eastman Kodak. He discussed the importance of lighting contrast for films being produced in color as well as lighting effects of regular black and white films. The same theme was further developed by Charles W. Seagar. Neal Keehn, Kansas City, discussed production pre-planning.

Another session stressed television, both regular and color.

Dr. A. W. Trueman, National Film Board, discussed advantages of the anticipated move of the Board from Ottawa to Montreal.

Other speakers included Neal Keehn, vice-president in charge of services and founder, Calvin Workshop, Kansas City; George Oakley, Bell and Howell, Chicago, who gave a demonstration on 16mm. Filmorama; and Willard Z. Estey, Toronto, who spoke on the legal aspects of motion picture and television production.

In the next session, Gordon Sparling, director of production, Associated Screen, gave a demonstration of rear projection techniques. B. T. Parry, sound engineer, Westrex, New York, spoke on the future of magnetic recording and varied recording techniques. Walter Darling, chief sound engineer, Associated Screen News Studios, spoke on optical sound recording.

Another panel discussed the importance of the trade press in Canada's film industry. William J. Singleton, general manager, Associated Screen Studios, spoke of the future of color in feature and newsreel production.

An additional panel consisting of Keehn, Sparling and Leonard Gibbs, assistant director of production, Associated Screen, discussed the cost and production techniques in TV commercials.

At the conclusion of the Workshop's varied agenda, delegates were unanimous in their praise of the idea, expressing the hope that it becomes a regular feature.

U-I Executives See Another Banner Year

Lipton And Muhl Outline Production Plans

Backed by a dazzling list of big name stars and a wealth of outstanding story properties, U-I's production program for the coming year will be the most potent in the company's history, Edward Muhl, vice-president in charge of production, said last week.

The company's 1955 schedule will duplicate numerically its 1954 program, but from the standpoint of star power, importance of stories, and production scope it will be the most imposing line-up of product ever undertaken by the studio, Muhl added.

Muhl pointed out that U-I already has acquired a number of outstanding story properties. In addition, in order to attract top stars, the studio plans to continue its policy of making a certain number of percentage deals.

About 75 per cent of the studio's 1955 schedule will be filmed in color, and studio executives are carefully watching developments on the various new camera processes so that they might take advantage of such processes when they feel that added scope would enhance story values.

Among the top budget films on the coming year's schedule are "Female On The Beach," starring Joan Crawford and Jeff Chandler; "Tacey," to star Anne Baxter, Rock Hudson, and Julie Adams; "So This Is Rio," in Technicolor, to star Tony Curtis, Gene Nelson, and Paul Gilbert; "All That Heaven Allows," teaming Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson, in Technicolor; "Song Of Norway," in color; "The Navy Gets Francis," with Donald O'Connor; "The Galileans," a Technicolor Biblical spectacle starring Jeff Chandler; "The Benny Goodman Story"; "Apache Agent," Technicolor western; "There's Always Tomorrow," starring Barbara Stanwyck; "Away All Boats," in Technicolor; "The Private War Of Major Benson," starring Charlton Heston; "The Life Of Charles Russell," Technicolor story of the old west; "New Heaven, New Earth"; and "Dead Man Pass."

Promotion Emphasized

The largest pre-selling budget in the 40-odd year history of Universal-International has been allocated by the company to merchandise its 1955 releases, it was announced last week by David A. Lipton, vice-president. Lipton pointed out that

Rackmil Predicts Year Of U-I Boxoffice Hits

Milton R. Rackmil, U-I president, said last week, "My goal in assuming the presidency . . . in 1952 was to keep the company in the forefront of the motion picture industry and to continue to advance its successful destinies. The past two years have not only seen the fullest realization of these dual aims, but each successive year has seen our company better its record-breaking performance of the previous year.

"Several weeks ago, to further insure the success of these two objectives, my associates and myself . . . acquired control of Decca Records through the purchase of a large block of the outstanding common stock. This means that the friendly management interests which have been at the helm of Decca since it acquired control of Universal have consolidated their position and can go forward with the plans we have developed for Universal.

"With the pictures we have set for release during the first four months of 1955 and with the pictures we have in production and in the blueprint stages on the planning boards, we are looking forward to another year of successive boxoffice hits which should further add to the splendid relationship which we at Universal feel we enjoy with our exhibitor customers all over the world, for our continued prosperity is their continued prosperity."

every possible publicity and advertising medium will be used to achieve complete penetration on both national and local levels.

Lipton stated, "Since this group of pictures represents the greatest variety in entertainment appeal ever delivered by the company, each campaign has been tailored with extreme care in order to reach the maximum audience for each type of picture.

"In addition to the normal pre-selling channels, we also are reaching into the more specialized magazine, television, and promotion fields with both publicity and advertising in order to create a real im-

Blumberg And Daff Hail Industry Rise

Statement of N. J. Blumberg, U-I board chairman:

Now that the motion picture industry has once more settled down to expending its major efforts in producing films with the greatest possible boxoffice potentials inherent in their story appeal, star and production values, following this past year's emphasis on size, shape and dimensions, Universal is aiming its sights at another record year. It was no small accomplishment that during the past year of mechanical evolution in the motion picture industry, Universal's worldwide business soared to new heights, surpassing everything in its 40-odd year history. It was accomplished with pictures designed especially for the widest mass appeal.

Teamwork in Universal's worldwide family and with the world's exhibitors has been the keynote of the Universal success story and we aim to maintain this teamwork during 1955.

Statement of Al Daff, U-I executive vice-president:

The evolution of production during the past few years marked by changing patterns in distribution and exhibition throughout the world, has manifested itself at Universal in four successful record years of business.

We believe in all systems. We will produce in any system the exhibitor and public demand. We believe in all types of screens. But, basically, we believe in giving the public the best we can in subject matter, performance, and production value because we believe the motion picture audience buys its entertainment on the basis of these three vital factors, and they are influenced in the order indicated. They want entertaining stories, they want outstanding performances by personalities, and they want good production values which embrace directing and producing talent.

With these fundamentals in mind we planned our 1954-55 program which, I firmly believe, includes a greater number of outstanding attractions than any single releasing year in our company's history. We have not stinted cost, nor have we pact on the infrequent as well as the frequent movie-goer."

Commenting on plans for specific pictures, Lipton pointed out that "Sign Of The Pagan" already is being pre-sold with national magazine advertising. This is being supplemented by the advance national newspaper campaign, now in progress, on Roger Fuller's book, "Sign Of The Pagan."

"So This Is Paris" is being launched with a tremendous campaign involving color advertising in 20 publications having an actual circulation in excess of 57,000,000.

"Six Bridges To Cross" will be pre-sold in a record-breaking advertising campaign which, for the first time in the company's history, will blanket the men's magazine field, utilizing a total of 11 "male-appeal" publications. Altogether, 20 publications will carry the advertising on this picture to a circulation exceeding 22,000,000 and an estimated readership of triple that figure.

U-I is backing up "The Far Country" with the most comprehensive use of color advertising on a local level ever attempted for a motion picture. Full color ads for this picture will appear in 184 Sunday and weekend newspapers in 177 cities and towns in the United States and Canada.

Preliminary planning on "Captain Lightfoot" calls for an extensive national magazine campaign that will include the majority of the women's magazines.

Important campaigns also have been planned for the J. Arthur Rank Organization's "West Of Zanzibar," the top-flight "Destry," and other films scheduled for release in the coming months.

"Having pictures based on important or fresh and unusual stories and presenting big name stars as well as new personalities, it is only consistent that we continue developing new pre-selling areas and ideas in order to fully exploit their boxoffice values," Lipton declared.

The company will expand still further its use of TV as a promotional medium, while continuing its wide use of radio exploitation.

Stars, featured players and special behind-the-scenes personalities, who have figured importantly in past promotional activities, will be used even more extensively in key and sub-key situations, where they will make TV and radio appearances in addition to participating in other promotional events.

Music also will play an important part in the campaigns on certain pictures. U-I has established a special department for handling music promotions. With several of the company's top personalities, including Jeff Chandler and Tony Curtis, now also recording for Decca, new avenues have been opened for exploiting pictures in which they appear. Title theme songs have been incorporated in the musical scores of several pictures.

As a part of the overall activities, there also will be an acceleration of U-I's national merchandise promotional tie-ups, according to Lipton. In this connection, greater emphasis will be given to the type of tieups which manufacturers are

Saranac Lake Wins "Silver Chalice" Premiere

NEW YORK—The world premiere of Warners' "The Silver Chalice" has been won by Saranac Lake, New York, by leading the nation in the first three days of the Christmas Seal sale. The premiere will be held on Dec. 17, when a parade of film stars, headed by Art Linkletter, will visit the Adirondack Mountain community for a full-scale Hollywood premiere.

The Saranac Lake Society for the Control of Tuberculosis will act as host.

Tennessee Showmen Favor Service Group

JACKSON, TENN.—Morton Tune, vice-president, TOA, proposed at a regional meeting of Tennessee Theatre Owners "that the association establish at once a service committee to handle grievances of all types, including those having to do with film rental." Tune indicated that the need for such a committee was imperative, because "if we don't do something soon, the film companies are going to be back in the theatre business. Such a committee," said Tune, "would have the weight of the state association behind it, and would be available to all members in good standing who file a legitimate complaint in writing."

At a second meeting in Memphis, Walter Morris, national director, TOA, called the formation of the exhibitor owned production-financing group proposed at the national convention of TOA, "one of the most positive steps taken by any organization to break the artificially created sellers market."

Stacy Wilhite, president, urged the Memphis exhibitors to unite against the threat from without, and George Gaughan, TOA field representative, discussed the threat of a state tax on admissions.

At the third meeting, held in Nashville, Alfred Starr, chairman of executive committee of TOA reviewed the recent developments at the national convention in Chicago and pointed out that distribution had spread two misconceptions, that only a big picture can make money and that there is no place left for the smaller theatres.

willing to develop on local levels in cooperation with local exhibitors. He added that the most important objective of all U-I showmanship effort is to deliver the most potent promotional point-of-sale impact in cooperation with local exhibitors.

As another assist to exhibitors, U-I will continue to augment its press book material with comprehensive promotion manuals designed to achieve the maximum results. The company also will continue to expand its field exploitation activities.

In commenting on U-I's designation as "the showmanship company," Lipton said, "We have earned this reputation on the basis of results over the past several years. It is our objective for the coming year to surpass everything we have done to date."

Daff

wasted money. We believe we are getting more dollars on the screen today, and we will continue to maintain the over-all improvement in the quality and boxoffice value of our product demonstrated in the last few years.

Enthusiasm stimulates the mental processes and there is plenty of enthusiasm in all departments of the Universal organization for our 1955 program. This enthusiasm will be reflected in the advertising and promotion campaigns offered to our exhibitor customers who will find that each film will be backed with a campaign planned and designed to achieve outstanding business results.

General economic conditions throughout the world give every indication of maintaining the upbeat trend the industry experienced in 1954. The ambitious program we have planned for the coming year will provide the exhibitor with the product he requires to take full advantage of the improved market conditions in motion pictures.

Company To Honor Feldman With 1955 Sales Drive

HOLLYWOOD—Stressing the theme that "big" pictures are those which can make "big" profits and reaffirming the company's policy of making all types of pictures for all types of theatres for all types of screens, U-I will launch a 17 weeks "Charles J. Feldman Annual Drive" on Jan. 3, 1955, and continuing through April 30, it was announced by Alfred E. Daff, executive vice-president, at last week's sessions of the current sales conference.

Thirteen pictures, most of which were screened for the sales and promotion executives, will be released during the four months of the drive period. They are being backed by a record advertising and promotion budget to accomplish the most comprehensive pre-selling job in U-I history.

More than $36,000 will be distributed in prizes in the Feldman Sales Drive to the company's domestic division, district, branch, and office managers, salesmen, and bookers for the best billing results achieved. In addition, branch managers will vie for a "Man of the Week" award in the form of a special gift from one of the company's top stars, a highlight of the sales campaign.

Four More Productions Added To Schedule

HOLLYWOOD—U-I will release four more pictures in 1955 than it did in '54, planning for a total of 32, it was revealed last week by Charles J. Feldman, general sales manager. Feldman made this announcement at the opening session of the company's week-long sales conference of production, distribution, and advertising-publicity heads.

Also addressing the opening session of the conference were Milton R. Rackmil, president; Alfred E. Daff, executive vice-president; Edward Muhl, vice-president in charge of production; and David A. Lipton, vice-president, who all predicted that 1955 would be the greatest year that U-I ever had.

Goldwyn, Jr., Enters Production; UA To Release First Feature

NEW YORK—Samuel Goldwyn, Jr., last week announced he has formed his own independent motion picture production company, and at the same time, it was announced by Arthur B. Krim, president, United Artists, that his company has signed a releasing deal for Goldwyn, Jr.'s first picture.

Goldwyn, Jr., has acquired three properties to be produced during 1955. They are "Sharkfighters," an original screen play by Jo and Art Napoleon based on an incident of Naval heroism in World War II; "Linnett Moore," based on a story by James Edward Grant which originally appeared in The Country Gentlemen; and "The Dancing Detective," a published story by Cornell Woolrich whose original story, "Rear Window," was filmed recently by Alfred Hitchcock.

DCA Stockholders Include Top Exhibs

NEW YORK—Distributors Corporation of America stockholders own 1,000,000 theatre seats and operate 1,005 theatres scattered throughout the country, Fred J. Schwartz, president, declared last week at a press conference.

Schwartz announced that the first offering of $1,000,000 of preferred DCA stock has been completely sold to exhibitors.

The list of stockholders revealed that practically every major exhibitor not barred by consent decrees was represented.

Schwartz said that "exhibitor stockholders will not have any preemptive right to DCA products by virtue of such stockholding. Their active interest in Distributors Corporation of America underscores their concern with quality products."

The stock completely subscribed immediately upon being offered was 10,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock at a par value of $100 per share. Schwartz outlined production plans of DCA totaling 12 million dollars earmarked for production and distribution.

The financial set-up shows $1,000,000 in equity; $3,000,000 (estimated), from European co-producers; $4,000,000 in bank financing; $1,000,000 in deferments; $2,000,000 by virtue of rotating the funds in individual pictures; and additional equity interests of $1,000,000.

Chicago Newspaper Ballys Top Pictures

CHICAGO—A new midweek movie page feature introduced by The Chicago American at the behest of the Balaban and Katz press staff is proving its worth to exhibitors and the industry institutionally. It points up in the most tangible way the continued improvement in product.

Feature is a layout of scenes from current releases captioned, "Top Films On Local Screens—The Week's Best Recommended by Ann Marsters." This is spread over five and six columns atop the movie page each Wednesday.

Only motion pictures considered meritorious in the impartial judgment of Miss Marsters, veteran critic, are recommended, and it is indicative of the improvement of product that most pictures receive this salute.

Through its amusement editor, William Carroll, The Chicago American has always exhibited an understanding of the industry's problems as well as a willingness to help. When it was pointed out that this new midweek feature would best create a public awareness of product improvement, the newspaper readily co-operated.

Where there is a limited number of first-run films to use in this feature, Miss Marsters uses scenes from recommended films in current neighborhood release. In this way both first-run and subsequent release houses benefit.

In Chicago it is the practice of the B & K press staff to consider the industry's overall public relations needs in its continuous contact with the newspapers. It has been found that much can be accomplished to mutual advantage on this basis. The objective is the same, to build the readership of the movie page.

Shirt Ads Plug UA Films

NEW YORK—An important national magazine co-op ad program featuring four of United Artists forthcoming productions has been set in many top-circulation publications with Van Heusen Shirt company, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation for UA.

The series of full-page ads in five-colors and black-and-white will spotlight "The Night Of The Hunter," "The Kentuckian," "Not As A Stranger," and "Vera Cruz" in Life, Esquire, Time, and The Saturday Evening Post to a combined readership of more than 69,000,000 in the United States and Canada.

The hats of "Desiree" are set off in this handsome Fifth Avenue, New York City, window display arranged by B. Altman as part of a promotion linked to the Roxy engagement of the 20th-Fox production. The line of women's hats, by Sally Victor, are one of a group of high fashion styles inspired by the period film.

The Premiere's All Wet

HOLLYWOOD—Howard Hughes will present a most unique world premiere when his new RKO film, "Underwater!", makes its debut late in January at Silver Springs, Fla., it was disclosed last week.

"Underwater!" will actually be shown underwater to a select audience of Hollywood and New York press and stars who will view the film while sitting comfortably in chairs 20-feet beneath the surface of the warm and crystal clear waters of the Famous Florida spa.

At the underwater premiere, the audience will wear aqualungs and can stay underwater, in perfect comfort, gently caressed by the warm water for hours.

Two TWA Super-Constellations will transport the premiere audience from Hollywood and New York, respectively, to Silver Springs. For those in the audience who prefer to remain dry, but who wish to attend the underwater premiere, six electrically-driven submarines, equipped with large portholes, will be available, it was said. The Technicolor film in Superscope features Jane Russell, Richard Egan and Gilbert Roland.

Charlie Zinn, manager, Radio City, Minneapolis, recently set up a palm reader in the lobby as bally for UA's "The Barefoot Contessa." She not only gave patrons a free peek into the future; but proved an attention-getting feature as well.

"Romeo And Juliet" Gets Huge Campaign

NEW YORK—An important series of national co-op promotions backed by strong magazine and newspaper ads has been set in behalf of "Romeo and Juliet," it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation for United Artists.

Art carved wedding rings will kick off the campaign spotlighting the internationally-honored screen drama with full-page ads in Look and Seventeen carrying strong "Romeo and Juliet" credits. Thousands of retail dealers throughout the country will hypo the promotion with attractive counter and window displays.

Miriam Modes, manufacturers of nationally retailed wedding gowns, is sponsoring a "Romeo and Juliet" contest that will award 10 complete brides' and bridesmaids' ensembles to the top contestants.

The competition, which will run for six months on a schedule coordinated with local playdates, provides a strong plug for newspaper and radio-TV publicity and store tieups.

Bear and Beards will boom "Romeo and Juliet" with a slate of dealer-sponsored newspaper ads featuring their special jacket and jeweled scarf inspired by the film.

The big-scale promotion will be carried into toy stores with Madame Alexander's specially-designed "Romeo and Juliet" dolls. The specially packaged dolls will carry picture credits on the box.

Six thousand florist shops will tie into the Teleflora wired delivery service promotion with window streamers and window displays featuring scene stills and local playdate announcements.

Palter De Liso shoes, Betmar hats, and Calderon belts will pitch "Romeo and Juliet" to millions of women shoppers with displays of their "Romeo and Juliet" lines spotted in important shoe stores, women's apparel stores, millinery shops and department stores.

CANDYDLY SPEAKING

THE SUCCESS recently encountered by theatre concessionaires with higher priced candy items is further proof, if any were needed, of the importance of candy in extra profits operation.

TEN CENTS spent by a patron for candy means more to theatre operators than the same amount spent for soft drinks at the nearby vending machine. For this reason, efficient operation of the candy stand is a must.

IT HAS been proven that those items prominently displayed in a favorable central location on the stand tend to move faster since concession purchases in theatres are acts of impulse performed by persons who, after all, have come to see the show. For this reason, concessionaires have found it paid to prominently display higher priced items, relegating the nickel bars, carried primarily as a service to patrons, to the bottom shelves.

THEATREGOERS have repeatedly shown preference for name brands, and consequently the wise exhibitor will give such popular items "seats of honor" at his candy stand. It is also wise not to have products of a similar nature in competition in the same price bracket, but rather to concentrate on one brand, perhaps carrying the other in a lower priced version.

ANOTHER problem confronting theatre-men is pilferage. It has been found that careful supervision can hold such loss down to between one-tenth and one-half of one per cent in conventional houses and slightly higher in outdoor houses. Any loss greater than this could be caused by careless change-making or dishonesty on the part of the staff.

—AL ERLICK.

This semi-circular, open counter recently created by Thomas Knowles, manager, Variety, Miami Beach, Fla., has been found to increase sales since the candy displayed is made more accessible to prospective customers. As a unit display it was also found to be a room-saver, not taking up as much space and yet having more room for attractive and neat featuring of all items. It will be noted that the compact arrangement makes for easy serving of the popcorn at one end and ice cream from the refrigeration cabinet.

Interesting New Ideas In Soft Drink Dispensing

By Mel Rapp
Executive Vice-President
APCO, Inc.

MEL RAPP

I certainly appreciate the opportunity to outline some new ideas in automatic soft drink cup dispensing equipment—ideas that have been proven at the box-office—and also to discuss the very basic requirements in connection with that type of equipment.

To begin with, movie attendance figures in our country are conservatively estimated at better than 50 million people weekly; and, if we accept a trade estimate that one out of every five theatre patrons purchases a soft drink, we then get a very graphic picture of the vast potential that automatic soft drink cup dispensers can tap.

These drink vendors have become a cinema fixture because of their profitable contribution to your concession earnings. There is nothing unusual about this since people who go out to be entertained are in the mood for refreshment; and a soft drink adds that much more to their enjoyment. Now, with these figures as evidence of the vast market for the sale of soft drinks which you have available—any proven ideas and facts in connection with this type of automatic vending equipment which can increase your soft drink sales volume should prove of interest to all of you.

The modern soft drink cup dispenser can increase your present sales volume from 20 to as high as 75 per cent over older type equipment, and more important, along with this gain in volume they can increase your average cents per person from a normal 1.4 per patron to as high as 2.6 and in some cases as much as three cents per patron. While it is difficult to pinpoint any one feature of the present day machine as being the actual reason responsible for these increases, I will try to outline several important proven features which started as ideas; but, today, must be a part of any dispenser.

The average soft drink sold in any theatre falls into the category of an impulse type sale, and this makes it mandatory for the machine to have "eye-appeal" in order to promote "buy-appeal." A modern soft drink cup dispenser must "merchandise" the drinks it sells. It should have a large attractive interior illuminated plastic display that is an actual part of the front of the machine's cabinet. All of the flavor strips which list the vendor's "beverage menu" should be illuminated. If the cup dispenser can generate enough "merchandising" pull to bring your customer to the machine for a drink, you then will have accomplished this first and most important step in the sale.

The next important idea and fact is that the modern dispenser must have complete selectivity. We all know that one patron may have a preference for a cola drink, while the next person may like orange. If you have a cup dispenser that will cater to all flavor tastes, you assure yourself of not losing any sales. Today's modern six and eight drink cup dispensers offer a complete selection of drinks to please every taste preference.

In line with this same thought a great many people, especially in the older age groups, prefer a non-carbonated drink. You must make this type of drink available unless you want to lose those sales.

The modern soft drink cup dispenser sells both types of drinks, and it is designed to use one syrup to vend both carbonated and non-carbonated versions of the same drink. To add a note of showmanship in merchandising, the non-carbonated beverage is generally given a different name. For example: the carbonated version using grape syrup is called grape, while the non-carbonated version (using the same grape syrup) is called burgundy.

We now come to another proven and sound idea—one which applies primarily to the larger movie houses. It is estimated that approximately 70 per cent of all soft drinks in the theatres are sold directly after the picture "break." The modern soft drink cup dispenser has a drink delivery cycle of approximately five seconds after the insertion of the coin. This time cycle is geared to serve drinks fast enough to take care of peak loads in the average size house.

However, in the larger theatres, it has been found that it is advantageous to be able to serve two patrons at the same time. Our industry has developed a soft drink cup vendor which is, in effect, two machines in one, having two cup chambers, two changemakers, two complete cup mechanisms. Aside from the compressor and syrup tanks, it more or less embodies two complete units taking up much less floor space than two machines would normally occupy. It also presents a substantial saving as compared to the cost of purchasing two complete dispensers.

During the past year our industry also made available smaller capacity selective type soft drink cup dispensers which were junior versions of the larger equipment, and these machines were priced well under $1,000. These smaller and less expensive units have been used very successfully in movie houses which, because of their size, did not warrant a larger capital investment in the bigger vendors of drinks.

Among some of the interesting cup vending trends developing in the theatre is a growing tendency to use more than one machine in the larger houses. By placing a second unit in the mezzanine or balcony, patrons who might not otherwise walk down stairs to the lobby machine, find drink service readily available right where they are.

Soft drink cup dispensers have also begun to put in their appearance at some drive-in theatres. In these outdoor sites they relieve congestion at the concession counter during the "rush" intermission periods, when most refreshments are sold.

In speaking of any soft drink cup dispensers, it must be emphasized that the machine like any mechanical device, must be efficient. It must be designed to serve heavy traffic speedily during the picture breaks.

For this reason, I have always said that there are three important factors to look for in any soft drink cup dispenser from a mechanical standpoint. First, the drink must be served well carbonated at approximately 3½ volumes of carbonation. In the non-carbonated drink, the drink should have approximately one-half to one volume of carbonation, the same as the non-carbonated bottled beverages. Secondly, the drink must be dispensed at the proper temperature of between 37 and 39 degrees, and, finally, the unit must be as service-free and simple in operation as it is possible to procure in a drink dispenser.

Another very new and novel development which has not been location tested as yet is the use of a combination coffee, hot chocolate and soft drink dispenser. This new piece of equipment is now available in a small compact portable model at a substantial savings as compared to the cost of a coffee and soft drink dispenser. It is a well known fact that when moviegoers leave a picture show, a great majority will stop at a nearby snack shop for a cup of coffee, hot chocolate, sandwich, or some sort of snack. If the theatre has a lounge large enough for this purpose, isn't it reasonable to assume that the moviegoer would enjoy having a delicious hot chocolate, or a cup of coffee, and possibly some cookies or pastry or a sandwich made available through vending machines, rather than having to stop off at some snack shop and wait for table service—after leaving the theatre?

If this test, which is due to be made within the next 30 to 45 days, proves successful, you can appreciate the market which would be opened up to you concessionaires for an average sale of from 25 cents to as high as 50 cents per person—sales producing a profit which could very easily amount to much more than your present soft drink concession earnings.

State By State Study Indicates Favorable Outlook For Popcorn

by C. E. Burkhead
U. S. Department of Agriculture

This year has been an unusual crop year for all crops. Conditions have ranged from the best one could expect to perhaps the poorest that one could expect, because of the drought in large portions of this country. In some areas of the eastern Corn Belt, particularly Ohio and Illinois, some popcorn growers produced the best yields in their lives; others in the drought areas had complete failures.

You wouldn't think of driving a 1908 model car. Your better judgment tells you that it would be false economy. By the same reasoning it is false economy to try and operate an old popcorn machine. An old machine will actually cost you money to operate due to lost popping volume . . . decrease your profits. A check on your equipment will show you that you are not getting full popping profits from an outdated machine.

Such conditions as that make it unusually difficult to size up a crop like popcorn, which is grown over such widely scattered areas.

OHIO expects a good crop this year; conditions have been favorable in the popcorn producing areas and some growers expect record yields. Quality is expected to be good. Production may be only slightly below 1953.

INDIANA will probably produce only about half as much popcorn as last year. The acreage is down drastically, but yields are close to normal. Most of the reduction is due to less acreage than last year.

ILLINOIS production is also only about half as much as last year. Drought hit southern Illinois, as most of you know, but it appears that the popcorn areas there—due to some freakish developments—had a pretty good season. Quality is not so good because of mould, worm damage, and poorly filled ears.

MICHIGAN is a small producer, but seems to have good prospects this year in terms of both acreage and yield per acre. Michigan may produce fully as much popcorn as last year.

IOWA has a fair to good crop. Acreage is probably 10 per cent below last year but yields have held up well. The southwest districts were hit by drought but the west central district seems to have had the breaks. All in all about a fifth below last year!

MISSOURI was hard hit by drought this year, but in the northwest part of the State, where most of the popcorn is grown, prospects are fair to good. The yield per acre is rather low and acreage is down, yet it appears that Missouri has come through with a fair sized crop—more than half as much as in 1953.

IN NEBRASKA, acreage is probably one-third or more below last year. Yield per acre will probably not be much different yet total production is far below 1953—probably a third or more below.

KANSAS is a rather small producing state and with both acreage and yield per acre down from last year, production probably may not be much more than half of last year.

THE KENTUCKY crop is a disappointment. Kentucky ranked fourth in production last year; it appears that it will rank seventh or eighth this year. Kentucky was hard hit by drought in most areas. Acreage is down drastically, less than half last year. Yields are also down, so I do not expect more than 10 to 12 million pounds in Kentucky this year.

OKLAHOMA was also hard hit by drought which wiped out most of the acreage, particularly late planted corn. There is hardly enough popcorn in Oklahoma to worry about.

TEXAS is so large that it is difficult to round up a small crop like popcorn. However, it appears that production may be down at least a fourth from last year.

Now there are a few other states for which we do not estimate popcorn, such as Colorado, Idaho, Maryland, Tennessee, and some others. It appears that these so-called outlying states had some tough breaks this year. The acreage is down in all of these states so I don't expect more than 8 to 10 million pounds in 1954.

Prices to farmers are running from $40 to $60 a ton in the ear with the average probably running around $2.50 per hundred pounds. Of course, these prices vary considerably based on local demand, buyer interest, and quality of the corn.

Of course, you people know more about farm carry-over than I, but it appears that old popcorn on farms is about nil.

From the information we have it appears that most processors are carrying much larger stocks of old popcorn than is normally carried into a new crop season. We have estimates that processors are carrying over from 20 to 30 per cent of the 1953 popcorn crop. I cannot vouch for the accuracy of this information, but I am passing it on to you for whatever it may be worth. Here again, carry-over, no doubt, varies by regions and, of course, from processor to processor.

I gather that demand for popcorn is fairly good. We definitely know that the 1954 crop is going to be down. But with an increase in population and the big drives you people are putting on all over the country, the demand for popcorn is certainly going to strengthen.

Population from 1910 to 1935 increased about 35 million people, but you will note that popcorn production changed very little. That must have been in the days before the popcorn trade began to push popcorn. You will notice that a sharp increase occurred in popcorn production beginning about 1935. I think that line will continue to climb and I will stick my neck out and say that if all goes well, in about 1965, popcorn production and popcorn consumption could well be close to 400 million pounds. Right now, we are under the 300 million pound level.

Frankly, I think you folks, or at least most of you, already have one or more answers to the $64 question. I understand that there are various estimates of the 1954 popcorn production floating around, ranging from 160 to 200 million pounds this year. I do not know who is responsible for those estimates, but frankly I have a healthy respect for them.

Based on my own personal, unofficial opinion, popcorn production in the 11 states for which estimates are prepared may range between 175 and 195 million pounds. If we include Colorado, Idaho, Maryland, and Tennessee, it appears that the 1954 outturn may be from 185 to 200 million pounds.

Assuming that production falls within this range and adding on a sizeable carry-over total, supply for 1954-55 should not be much more than demand, leaving a minimum for carry-over next fall. These conditions should create a favorable price situation to the popcorn grower.

Stay Alive Program Asks That Last Drink Be Coffee

NEW YORK—It is known that every year, during the Christmas-New Year holidays, hundreds of people lose their lives in automobile accidents. According to safety authorities, many of these deaths are due to people who insist on driving their cars after more than moderate drinking at holiday festivities.

For the past five years, the Pan-American Coffee Bureau and many safety organizations have cooperated in a holiday highway safety campaign developed around the theme, "Make that 'one for the road' coffee."

Safety groups backing the campaign have included the American Automobile Association, the American Association of Motor Vehicles Administrators, the Greater New York Safety Council, and the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. The campaign has had the sanction of leading medical authorities, and it has been endorsed by state governors in their holiday safety proclamations.

If you would like to add your support to this program as a public service, the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, 120 Wall Street, New York 5, N. Y., will be glad to provide at no charge a slide for showing on your screen during the holiday season that features this safety message: "Safety First! At Holiday Celebrations, Make Your 'One For The Road' Coffee."

New "Mist" Drink Dispenser Developed

MINNEAPOLIS—The development of a new type dispensing machine known as the Mist-Master for a really new type of drink has been announced by the designer, H. A. Bruntjen Company.

The drink itself is developed from a concentrate, properly diluted with water, contained in an agitated and refrigerated chamber atop the machine. As this concentrate is dispensed it is aerated, producing a full-bodied, creamy drink with the natural fruit flavor and high in vitamin content. The drink currently distributed is Orange-Mist, although in the development stage are mist drinks from several of the major fruits, grape, lime, etc.

The concentrate, packaged for easy handling and distribution, is produced for the Bruntjen Company by one of the finest fruit processing companies in the nation.

An attractive, turning, double-faced and lighted kodachrome sign on the machine constantly attracts attention wherever the machine is located and helps to boost consumer sales.

H. A. Bruntjen and C. H. Breckenridge, Des Moines, Iowa, have formed a separate corporation which will handle all theatre outlets. Breckenridge is president.

Chocolate Nut Wheels Bow

CHICAGO—Cook Chocolate Company recently introduced Pecan Milk Chocolate Nut Wheels, believed to be the only pecan chocolate nut bar on the market. Also available are milk chocolate nut wheels in almond, filbert, and cashew.

BRANCHES
Atlanta

A son, William Henry, 3rd, was born to the wife of W. H. McKenzie, Jr., sales manager, Queen Feature Service, Birmingham, Ala. . . . Henry King, one of Hollywood's leading directors, was in.

Byron Adams, manager, United Artists; Oscar Howell, Capital City Supply Company; and Bob Moscow were back after a trip to Jacksonville. . . . Elizabeth Hicks and Elizabeth Wallace, National Screen Service, checked in after a vacation spent in Florida.

The employees of United Artists entertained Lynda Burnett, booker, at a birthday luncheon at the Atlanta Variety Club. . . . Back after a vacation in New York was Jack Weiner, MGM exploiter. . . . Helen Taylor, secretary to office manager, MGM, was at home after a spell at the hospital.

In for a visit were E. D. Martin, Martin Theatres, Columbus, Ga.; Dick Kennedy, theatres in Alabama and Tennessee; Jay Soloman, Independent Theatres, Chattanooga, Tenn.; James Jarrell, Roxy, Commerce, Ga.; O. C. Lam and son, Lam Amusement Company, Rome, Ga.; L. J. Duncan and Sidney Laird, Al-Dun Amusement Company, West Point, Ga.; W. H. Hammond, Wilson Drive-In, Florence, Ala.; J. M. Miller, Dixie, Cordova, Ala.; and Tommy Thompson, Martin and Thompson Theatres.

The No. 1 Drive-In, Augusta, Ga., and Houston Drive-In, Macon, Ga., closed for the winter. . . . Charlie Walder, Tivoli, Miami, Fla., was in for a visit with Colonel Charles Kessnich, southern district manager, MGM, who has been ill for some time. . . . Manager Bill Furgate, Taylor, Mountain City, Tenn., has installed CinemaScope.

The annual steak dinner given by the Wilby, Kinney, Harrison, and Padgett was held at the Capital City Club on Dec. 6. This is given to all bookers, sales managers, publicity men, office managers, branch managers, district managers, and assistants of all exchanges. Theatre managers from throughout the state will also be there.

Work has begun on the Sudekum Memorial Chapel, First Lutheran Church, honoring the late Tony Sudekum, founder and president, Crescent Amusement Company, Nashville, Tenn. Witnessing the laying of the cornerstone were Mrs. Sudekum, and a daughter, Mrs. Kermit Stengel, wife of Kermit C. Stengel, president of the company.

W. F. Wilson, has taken over the Tiger Drive-In, Auburn, Ala., formerly owned by Clyde Cannon. . . . Doris Honea was added to the office force of the Exhibitor Service.

Alton Sims, Rowley United Theatres, recently expressed appreciation for the blackboard presented to the Variety Club Hospital for Convalescent Children by Memphis WOMPI president Frances Blankenship. The State of Tennessee furnishes teachers for the hospital two days a week, and the blackboard will be a valuable asset.

A new drive-in named the Blue Sky is under construction in La Fayette, Ga., by its owners J. P. Edge and Dr. T. A. Cochran. It will feature the wide-screen processes and open early in 1955.

The Moultrie Theatre, Inc., Moultrie, Ga., has opened its 350-car Sunset Drive-In. Equipment was furnished by the Dixie Theatre Supply Company, Albany, Georgia.

Mrs. Mildred Ricks, Allied Artists southern exchanges, is back at her desk after a sick spell. . . . Don McCanville, Screen Guild, was a visitor with president Ed Stevens, Stevens Pictures. . . . Bill Suder, formerly with Paramount and The U. S. Army Motion Picture Service, has returned with the U. S. M. P. . . . Vivian Gillespie has resigned from Howco Films, while Grace Parrett has been added to the Howco office force.

Rube Joiner, Joiner Booking Service, checked in at his office after a booking trip to North Carolina. . . . In for a visit were Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, Brookhaven, Brookhaven, Ga.; Mrs. Rose Lancaster, formerly with Astor, now with Strickland Film Company; and R. L. Buzee, Ritz, Dadeville, Ala.

The State, Knoxville, Tenn., has a new owner, F. J. Jeffries. The former owner was K. Williams.

Downtown fire companies answered an alarm at 7:30 a.m. at the Paramount. A short circuit in the theatre's big neon sign caused minor damage, officers said.

In for visit from Memphis were Dave and Abner Lebovitz.

Robert Lebovitz, Independent Theatres, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Miss Edith Adair, Atlanta, were married.

J. V. Lawson, Baton Rouge, La., is the new owner of the New, Palatka, Fla. The former owner was Harry Dale. . . . Ollie Williamson, Warners district manager, was back after a visit to the Jacksonville branch.

J. H. Thompson, president, Martin Theatres, has returned to his home in Hawkinsville, Ga., after a trip to Florida.

Clyde Hawkins, appointed as manager, Bradley, Columbus, Ga., came from the Fox, Atlanta. He replaces Otis Smith, who goes over as manager of the Columbus Drive-In.

Seen on the Row were Bobby Cobb, Cobb, Fayette, Ala.; T. W. Hargett, Wedowee, Wedowee, Ala.; Louis Worthington, Auto Drive-In, Bessemer, Ala.; Harold Robinson, Brox, Broxton, Ga.; Charlie Simpson, State, Chattanooga, Tenn.; R. E. Watson, Midway Drive-In, Forsyth, Ga.; Mack Nation, Southport Drive-In, Bridgeport, Ala.; John Moffitt, Moffitt Theatres, Montgomery, Ala.; and Tom Miller, Parkvue Drive-In, Sheffield, Alabama.

B. D. Benton, president, Benton Film Express, who has been in the hospital for several weeks, expects to return home soon. He suffered an accident when a horse fell on him.

The Al Rook Booking Service is now doing the booking and buying for the following theatres: Fountain Drive-In, Lakeland, Fla.; and Grand Slocomb, Ala.

Charlie Webb has installed CinemaScope in his Bocanita, Scottsboro, Ala. . . . The San Marco, St. Augustine, Fla., also now has CinemaScope.

B. Seigel, special representative, Selznick Releasing Organization, was in for a visit with William Richardson, Capital. . . . The monthly meeting of officers and board members of Women of the Motion Picture Industry made final plans for the distribution of Christmas presents to girls at the Formwalt Street Mission, one of the WOMPI projects for 1955. Mrs. Betty Rary presided.

Theatre license fees are cut about 50 per cent under the 1955 license bill passed by City Council, Charleston, S. C. Theatres formerly were taxed on the basis of one-half of one per cent of gross receipts. Under the new statute, houses with more than 1,000 seats will pay $300; those of 400 to 1,000 seats will pay $200, and smaller houses will pay $100.

President William Richardson, Capital and Astor, checked in at his office after a business trip to Florida. . . . Leonard Burch, United Worlds Film, was back after a trip to Tennessee. . . . Ben Hill, U-I publicity chief, returned from a business trip. . . . Happy birthday to Don Hassler, office manager, Astor. . . . Ken Laird, U-I Jacksonville sales representative, is now with Buena Vista as southern district manager.

Out-of-town exhibitors on Film Row included Charles Nelson, Park, Hahira, Ga.; Harlow Land, Mayo; E. C. Kaniaris, Beach Drive-In, St. Augustine; and Ed Binkis, MacClenny, all in Florida.

A women's club audience heard manager Hal Stanton, Edgewood, describe the latest developments in the production and exhibition fields of motion pictures. Invited by the clubwomen as the principal speaker at a regular monthly luncheon meeting, Stanton brought the ladies up-to-date particularly as regards CinemaScope and stereophonic sound. He was assisted by Gene Hayford, Southeast Audion Company, who demonstrated the workings of stereophonic sound.

Snake Richardson, Capitol Distributing Company, Atlanta, was in to see Harvey Garland, Florida State Theatres head booker. . . . Ken Laird has left a salesman's job with U-I to manage the new Buena Vista office here, formerly managed by W. T. Murphy. . . . The marriage of Wayne Spiering, affable young manager, Roy Smith Company's local warehouse, to Sylvia Rodgers, formerly of the Main Street Drive-In, occurred.

Slated to open a branch office here soon is the Film Booking Office of Atlanta, a firm operated by Betty Whitmore, Tommy Mote, and Al Rook. . . . Gordon Bradley, Paramount district manager at Atlanta, called at the branch office and visited local booking offices of circuits. . . . The Five Points closed and is scheduled to reopen on Dec. 25 equipped with wide-screen.

Endorsement and support of a board of motion picture review for Dade County, and endorsement of existing and future legislation to prevent the showing of "films that would lead to the demoralization of our children and youth" were given by the Dade County Council of Parents-Teacher Associations. A surprise amendment, which called for the board of review instead of a film censorship board, was adopted. Arthur De Bra, director of community relations and director of exhibitor relations, Motion Picture Association of America, flew here from New York for the meeting, and suggested that the PTA Council use the National Congress of Parents and Teachers' motion picture appraisal list in deciding what pictures are good for their children to see.

Ohio's movie censorship law apparently has been made inoperative by a recent Ohio Supreme Court decision, in the opinion of local film executives, despite a declaration by Governor Frank Lausche that the state "must have a film censorship law." It is expected the state legislature will consider a new law at its next session in January, but, in view of the national and state Supreme Court decisions, local observers do not anticipate any effective legislation that will pass court tests and retain censorship.

Business trips were made by James S. Abrose, Warners branch manager, and Murray Baker, IFE area representative, to Springfield, O.; Milton Gurian, Allied Artists branch manager, and George A. Kirby, Republic branch manager, to Columbus, O.; and Jay Goldberg, Realart and Lippert, to West Virginia points.

Executives in were Sam Galanty, Columbia division manager, and Leo Greenfield, Cleveland, representing Buena Vista, along with Harris Dudelson, formerly on Film Row here, and now representing Buena Vista in the Chicago area.

Exhibitors in were Charles -Scott, Vevay, Ind.; Guy Greathouse, Aurora, Ind.; J. C. Weddle, Lawrenceburg, Ind.; Joe Marshall, Danville, Ky.; James Denton, Owingsville, Ky.; Charles Behlen, Lexington, Ky.; Frank Carnahan and Bud Hughes, Manchester Ky.; Mandros, Cabin Creek, W. Va.; Harold Frank Allera, Mattewan, W. Va.; Frank Moore, Charleston, W. Va.; Frank Yassenoff, and Harry Schwartz, Columbus, O.; William Settos, Springfield, O.; Louis Vellas, Cambridge, O.; P. W. Suell and C. S. Babalis, Dayton, O.; J. H. Davidson, Lynchburg, O.; and George Turlukis, Hamilton, O.

The Royal, oldest and smallest local film house, will reopen Christmas Day after installation of a wide-screen. The house, seating 300, has been operated continuously since 1909. . . . Harold Brown, general manager, United Detroit Theatres, and his assistant, Jack Haynes, were hosts for a cocktail party in Hotel Sheraton-Gibson for local film branch managers and sales representatives in this area.

Local RKO houses again are offering Christmas gift ticket books with coupons good for admissions to any RKO house through next year. . . . William Onie, exhibitor, is convalescing nicely after surgery. . . . Paul Holland, Charlestown, W. Va., has been named manager of the Plaza, a Mid-States Theatres house in Miamisburg, O. He will assume his new duties immediately.

Joseph Rosen, manager, U-I; star Paul Douglas; Albert Dezel, Coronet; and William Flemion, Studio, are seen recently signing the first run contract for "High and Dry" in Detroit.

Fred Krimm is installing car heaters at his Salem Drive-In, Dayton, O. . . . Jesse Smith, 20th-Fox boxoffice clerk, who was severely injured in a traffic accident some weeks ago, visited friends on Film Row. . . . Nancy Ballard is a new 20th-Fox inspectress, replacing Elsie Castator, resigned.

Cleveland

On January 17 the industry will tender a testimonial banquet in the Hollenden Hotel in honor of I. J. Schmertz, who will be celebrating his 50th anniversary as a member of the 20th-Fox organization and his 28th year as branch manager in Cleveland. The banquet is being sponsored by the exhibitors of Greater Cleveland, but invitations to attend the celebration have gone as far away as London. No branch manager in Cleveland has ever attained the record of tenure held by him. Co-chairmen in charge of banquet arrangements are M. B. Horwitz, Nate Schultz, and Jack Silverthorne.

Group 16 will show the second of its uncensored films, "Manon," in the Moreland in spite of the fact that the Group's promoters, Victor Salupo and Anthony Dennison, were arrested at the conclusion of the showing of "Dedee" following warrants issued by Ezrea Miles and Loel Lam, representatives of the Ohio Censor Board. The case is scheduled to be heard on Jan. 5 in Municipal Court before Judge Lillian Westropp. Late developments on censorship by the Ohio Supreme Court might cancel the court proceedings.

Bill Powelson, manager, Grand, Steubenville, O., enjoyed a record engagement of "The Bob Mathias Story" through the cooperation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the PTA, all of the local high schools, and the parochial schools. These organizations sold admission tickets at a slight advance over the regular scale and kept a percentage of the gross for their pet projects. . . . Max Lefkovich, Community Circuit, and Mrs. Lefkovich have opened their winter home in Florida.

Herbert Ochs flew in from Florida where he and Mrs. Ochs are vacationing to join son Jack on a trip to Canada for a final look at their drive-in circuit before writing finis to the season. Herb then returns to his vacation spot, Dania.

Ohio Censor Seal
No Longer A Must

COLUMBUS — Censor seal of the Ohio Division of Film Censorship need no longer precede film showings in the state's theatres, following the 5-2 decision of the Ohio Supreme Court that further censorship under present state law is "unreasonable and unlawful." Thus, for the first time in 41 years, the familiar license numbers of the board are missing from theatres.

Ohio exhibitors were told by Robert Wile, secretary, Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, that they need no longer show the censor seal. Wile also told distributors that they can dispense with payment of the $3 per reel fee exacted by the board for censoring films. Attorney General William O'Neill advised R. M. Eyman, chief Ohio censor, that the board cannot prosecute exhibitors who fail to show the seal. O'Neill also said that his office will not appeal the decision to the U. S. Supreme Court since such an appeal would be "useless."

O'Neill said that the Ohio court's decision will not prevent attempts to "enact a valid censor statute" in the next session of the General Assembly. Governor Lausche has come out in favor of such a law and has directed Eyman to draft an airtight bill. Eyman said wording an effective law will be difficult and foresaw rough sledding in the Legislature, which he said is "strongly anti-censorship."

The bill would have to get approval of the Senate's Education Committee, whose chairman is Senator Charles A. Mosher, Republican, Oberlin. It was Mosher who introduced a bill in the last session to abolish censorship. That bill failed but the Legislature did pass a measure to exempt newsreels from censorship.

Wile warned that "quickie" producers may try to flood the state with burlesque pictures, peep shows, and sex films. He said that exhibitors showing such films are liable to prosecution under the state penal code, which has generally not been enforced under censorship. He said the penal law will be invoked now. He said any such showings should be reported to the police.

"If we police ourselves, as exhibitors in the 42 other censor-free states do, there will be no outcry against our industry," said Wile. He said a clean record will aid the anti-censorship cause when hearings for the new law are held. Governor Lausche discounted the worth of self-policing and called upon the film industry "for its own preservation" to join the fight for an adequate censor law.

The Columbus Dispatch editorially called for a continuation of Ohio's "mild" censorship as a defense against "fringe" producers who might seek to show "harmful" pictures.

Censorship in Ohio right now apparently is in a state of confusion. Although word has gone out that pre-censorship has been knocked out by a ruling of the Ohio Supreme Court, neither the censor board nor Governor Frank J. Lausche take this view, because only five of the required six judges voted to abolish film censorship. Governor Lausche has asked that new laws on censorship, to conform with the Supreme Court's decision, be drafted as soon as possible. Meanwhile, it is understood, distributors will not send prints to Columbus for censorship, and if out-of-state prints are required for saturation engagements, these prints will be shown without benefit of the censorship seal.

A special meeting of Allied Theatres of Michigan to consider problems of upstate film delivery brought the conclusion that everything is being done that can be done. ## Pittsburgh

At the annual banquet of the Pittsburgh Variety Tent, Chief Barker Norman Mervis announced that already this year the Tent has raised over $400,000.00 to be used towards the building of a new wing at the Rosalia Foundling Home. In accordance with their usual custom, the Tent announced the adoption of another baby. This year, the child adopted affords a vivid demonstration of the spirit of Variety, because the foundling is a young colored girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Moe Silver, he being the Stanley Warner zone manager, were in Boston to spend the weekend with their daughter Barbara, a student at Wellesley. . . . The Avenue, Erie, Pa., is the sibilities on the idea of using holiday screen trailers.

Censorship in Ohio right now apparently is in a state of confusion. Although word has gone out that pre-censorship has been knocked out by a ruling of the Ohio Supreme Court, neither the censor board nor Governor Frank J. Lausche take this view, because only five of the required six judges voted to abolish film censorship. Governor Lausche has asked that new laws on censorship, to conform with the Supreme Court's decision, be drafted as soon as possible. Meanwhile, it is understood, distributors will not send prints to Columbus for censorship, and if out-of-the-state prints are required for saturation engagements, these prints will be shown without benefit of the censorship seal.

Detroit

A special meeting of Allied Theatres of Michigan to consider problems of upstate film delivery brought the conclusion that everything is being done that can be done. Forty exhibitors attended with study covering handling of cross shipments of film direct from one theatre to another without return to the exchange, the print shortage problem, and ways of speeding up delivery.

Bob Anthony, projectionist, has added himself to the public relations staff of the Allman Company. . . . Al Champagne, 20th-Fox head booker, brought a buck home from a hunting trip. . . . The Film Exchange projection studio has added CinemaScope equipment. . . . Prospects are that the Community Theatres' Bel-Aire will remain the only drive-in within the Detroit city limits. Attempts by the Evergreen Drive-In Theatre Company to build have been snagged by zoning troubles.

Clark Coulter, Coulter Premiums, is now living in Charlevoix, Mich. . . . Betty Robbins, Film Exchange building, is back from her flu attack. . . . The DeLuxe is the only theatre left in Utica, Mich., the Frank Spangle operated Capitol being turned into a store. . . . John Tatu has no plans for reopening the Casino.

A light plane with two passengers did severe damage to the Seio Drive-In at Ann Arbor, Mich., when it missed the adjoining airfield. . . . William Kent died in Charlotte. He had been a film salesman 40 years, is survived by his wife and one son. . . . John Colwell has left the Time booth for the Nortown. . . . George Pittsley is the new manager, Nortown.

Sy Schechter, Cinema manager, has added a friendly touch to his art house with a complimentary coffee bar and a display of Wayne University art students' work.

The 66 Park-In on Route No. 66, east of Lindbergh Drive, near the Sappington Road, owned by the Wehrenberg Circuit, for the winter will open only on weekends. This circuit had previously closed its Ronnie's Drive-In on Lindbergh Drive at Baptist Church Lane, but plans to operate its recently opened South-Twin Drive-In adjacent to the Lemay Ferry and Buckley Roads in St. Louis County through the winter. That drive-in is equipped with 300 in-a-car heaters.

Bill Dumes, owner, Park, Tucson, Ariz., recently tied up with the Tucson Horseless Carriage Club for the loan of some ancient automobiles; and held a contest in the schools and a local model and hobby shop to arouse interest in old cars to create interest in U-I's "Genevieve." He also had a letter writing contest with the schools on the topic "Why I Am Glad My Name Is (or is not) Genevieve."

The Broadway Drive-In adjacent to the 4300 block of South Broadway, the only drive-in within the city limits of St. Louis, has also gone to the Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays only routine for the time being. This drive-in is owned by Mayor Ray Parker, Brentwood, and associates. A similar weekends only policy is being used by the Moto-Vu Drive-In, Warrenton, Mo., owned and operated by William Zimmerman, who also owns and operates the Vita, Warrenton. The 61 Drive-In, Pevely, Mo., is running only on Saturdays and Sundays.

Territory

Boston
Crosstown

The Independent Exhibitors, Inc., of New England convention was smaller in numbers than in other years, due to the first blizzard of the season, yet the members who did attend felt that they had gained a great deal. Abram F. Myers was the first speaker. He spoke on toll television, warning of the threat of this type of entertainment as another strong competitor. The keynote of the convention was film rentals. Irving Dollinger, regional vice-president, Allied, came from New Jersey to handle this subject. He made a strong appeal that every exhibitor thoroughly know his rights under the consent decree. There was an open discussion on the question of increasing admission prices for certain big pictures. Certain exhibitors felt that the public would be warned that a picture playing regular prices would not be good if this practice were a regular policy. Dollinger said, "Find the minimum and maximum prices your theatre can stand and keep within them. Our greatest problem is film rentals, but we are merchants with competition and we must not lose sight of this fact. We can never revive the movie-going habit, unfortunately. There is too much competition for the entertainment dollar today. But we can create the desire for your patrons to come to your theatre. I would raise the admissions for certain pictures whether you bought them flat or on percentage." Julian Rifkin reported on the drive-in clinic. He proposed that National Allied send out weekly bulletins advising members of the current problems around the country.

There will be plenty of venison and bear steaks in the Lyman O. Seley home for the remainder of the season. Seley, division manager, Manley Company, and two friends spent a week hunting in Millinocket, Me., and came home with two deer and a bear. . . . Max Levenson, president, Levenson Theatres, has been ordered by his doctors to stay home for a rest.

Sympathy to Ernest Warren, Paramount, Needham, and Strand, Clinton, Mass., in the death of his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Warren Clough. . . . Fred Bragdon, former salesman, Columbia, and more recently sales manager, Times Film Corporation, has left the industry. He has joined the Old Town Corporation in the New York office where he is national account sales executive.

While Johnnie Ray was in town for a week's engagement at Blinstrub's night club, he was grabbed by 20th-Fox for press and radio interviews. He has a starring role in his first film, 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business," which is the Christmas film at the Keith Memorial. Phil Engel, 20th-Fox publicist, took the opportunity to arrange several teen-age meetings.

MGM Workshop Draws 350 Exhibs;
Promotion Ideas, New Films Stressed

BOSTON — More than 350 exhibitors and managers attended the MGM Ticket Selling Workshop at the Hotel Bradford, coordinated by Mike Simons, director of customer relations for Loew's, Inc.

The proceedings were opened by Benn Rosenwald, branch manager, MGM. He introduced John Byrne, eastern division sales manager, who in turn introduced Simons.

"Ticket selling depends strongly on the friendly relationship between the exhibitor and the newspaper advertising staff," Simons said, in presenting the first speaker, Jack Hamilton, theatre advertising manager, The Boston Globe. "Keep your theatre advertising clean and truthful," advised Hamilton.

Spero Latchis, head, Latchis Circuit, Vermont, asked from the floor, "Why do newspapers charge more for theatre ads than, say, chain stores or similar space?" Hamilton answered that although he doesn't set the price regulations, local theatres receive a lot of free space in the papers which they pay for indirectly.

Norman Knight, executive vice-president, Yankee Network, said, "MGM deserves a lot of credit for arranging this workshop program. Out of this can come only increased ticket sales and increased profits. The Yankee Network has a fine record of cooperation with your industry. The quality in pictures has improved to a point I could never have believed." He paid tribute to the distributors for their efficiency.

Following a luncheon, Emery Austin, head of the advertising, promotion, and exploitation department for MGM, explained the functions of exploitation and promotion services. A Roadmaster bicycle was won by Dom Messenger, trade paper reporter.

The first speaker in the afternoon session was Mrs. Alice Gorham, head, department of ticket selling, United Detroit Theatres, who gave out a number of theatre advertising displays and helpful hints as well as showing attractive ads used in the Detroit newspapers.

Irving Clumb, managing director, Riverside, Milwaukee, warned his listeners that "You are the center of the community activity and you are respected in this community. Advertising and promotion is very important but it is really a sideline. Getting your customers into your house and keeping them happy is the most important mission for you." He went into some of the exploitation gimmicks he has used with success in his theatres. He urged all managers to stress newspaper advertising and put in their original ideas along with those from the press books.

The last speaker was Perry Reavis, head of promotions for 100 theatres in the North Carolina area. He described his exploitation gimmicks and methods in smaller situations.

The meeting attracted representatives from nearly every circuit in the area. From the MGM publicity staff came Arthur Canton, eastern division publicist; Charles Fellerman, New York representative; Ed Gallner, Philadelphia; Steve Pirozzi, Buffalo; and Floyd Fitzsimmons, this city.

The Fields Corner, Dorchester, Mass., is no longer standing. It was razed a few weeks ago, and the land is now for sale for other purposes.

Richard Rubin, who has designed and laid out several drive-ins in New England is engineering the Tri-Town Drive-In for Edwin Fideli. The excavating has already begun on this 800-car open Stanley Blinstrub, owner, Blinstrub's Restaurant and night club, recently entertained Johnnie Ray, appearing at the club. Seen, left to right, are Blinstrub, Ray, John Feloney, sales manager, 20th-Fox; and James M. Connolly, northeastern division manager, 20th-Fox. Ray appears in 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business" coming to the Keith Memorial, Boston.

Bill Kumins, sales manager, Warners, headed the committee for the social dinner dance sponsored by the Motion Picture Salesmen's Club, held at the Hotel Hampton Court, Brookline, Mass. The affair was attended by members, their wives, and guests. John Peckos, 20th-Fox, assisted Kumins.

John More, division manager, Paramount, and Arnold Van Leer, local publicist, have left for a visit to the west coast studios.

In an effort to combine the exchange Christmas parties this year into one gala occasion, Ralph Iannuzzi, branch manager, Warners, arranged to have the ballroom at the Hampton Court Hotel, Brookline, Mass., reserved for the evening of Dec. 22. Most of the companies are entering into this plan although the 20th-Fox, Paramount, and RKO exchanges prefer to have their own private Christmas celebrations.

New Haven Crosstown

Folks were sorry to hear of the death of Truman Ferguson, manager, Whitney, who died of a heart attack, and also the death in Italy of Mrs. Angelo Tomasino, formerly associated with the White Way. Ferguson was president, Hamden Rotary Club, in 1951 and father of Franklin Ferguson, manager, Whalley, and also Fletcher Ferguson, athletic director of a school at Abbeville, S. C. Mrs. Tomasino is the daughter-in-law of Michael Tomasino, former owner, White Way. Charles Tomasino, Angelo's brother, left for Italy by plane immediately after receiving word of his sister-in-law's death.

The Probus Club, West Haven, Conn., sponsored a children's show at the Roger Sherman for the benefit of the civic fund, proceeds to be used to meet expenses of a soap-box derby to be held in the spring. . . . The Allington Fire Department held a benefit show at the Forrest, West Haven, Conn. . . . Whalley and Whitney had special school shows for Walt Disney's "The Living Desert." . . . Morris Rosenthal set some good tieups for "Carmen Jones" when it played Loew's Poli.

Meadow Street

Some drive-ins have continued to stay open, mostly for weekend operation. Included were Pike Drive-In, Blue Hills, Bowl, E. M. Loew, Hartford, and Norwalk. . . . The Norwalk Drive-In had a novel idea, "The Heat's On Us! Heated Snack Bar and Public Rooms. Run Your Car Heater—Free Gas Coupon."

Pine Drive-In has been scheduled to sell Christmas trees, being closed for regular drive-in operation till next spring. . . . Condolences were in order for Eugene Gasparri, Win, Waterbury, Conn., on the recent death of his dad, Desiderio Gasparri, 77. . . . To publicize "They Rode West," Robert Francis and May Wynn visited Hartford and spent the day visiting newspaper, radio and television offices, and doing other bally stunts.

The Naugatuck Committee for the Children's Center in Hamden, Conn., held a benefit show at the Salem Playhouse, Naugatuck, Conn. . . . The 21 minute movie of the Emmons Bowen-Babe Ruth Baseball League, made by George Weber, formerly of MGM, and now a movie photographer, was shown to newspapermen at the Colonial House, Hamden, Conn. . . . Phil Cahill is reported to be one of the backers of the new proposed drive-in, Clinton, Conn. . . . Hy Levine returned from Florida. While down in the southlands he saw Jack Buwinkle, Tim O'Toole, and Ben Simon.

Walter Higgins, Prudential Circuit, was in and reported he was due to leave for Florida soon. . . . Barbara Beck, former MGM office employee, has left for a three week trip to Florida. . . . Norman Ayers, Warners executive, was in town. . . . Branch managers and salesmen saw a special screening of "This Is Your Army" at 20th-Fox screening room recently.

Metro and Warners Christmas party plans were in the talking stage. Columbia, 20th-Fox, United Artists, U-I, and Republic parties are already scheduled. . . . National Theatre Supply has made new wide-screen CinemaScope installations at Wilkinson, Wallingford, Conn.; Clinton, four track stereophonic sound and wide-screen installation; Alhambra, Waterbury, Conn., new CinemaScope screen; Strand, Hamden, Conn., is reported to have installed new seats. . . . Lord, Norwich, Conn., recently had a benefit show given by the B'nai B'rith.

Circuits Loew Poli

Division manager Harry F. Shaw and publicity director Lou Brown went to Boston to attend the MGM Ticket Workshop meeting. . . . Sports editor Frank Corkin, Meriden Journal, was awarded the "Beau Brummel" statuette in bally arranged by Tony Masella, manager, Poli, Meriden, Conn. Tony also made a tieup with Meriden papers to give guest tickets as prizes in the "Little People's Christmas Coloring Contest." Tieup received nice press space.

Luncheon Launches "Gangbusters" Bow

BOSTON—The area premiere for New England and Upper New York State and the managers' round-up luncheon launching the campaign for "Gangbusters" was held at the Hotel Bradford with more than 300 exhibitors, managers and industryites present. The affair was hosted by Joseph E. Levine, president, Embassy Pictures Corporation, and Terry Turner, theatre division, General Teleradio, Inc. "Gangbusters" will have its premiere at the Paramount and Fenway Theatres in January along with 300 day and date bookings in this territory shortly after. The guest of honor at the luncheon was Thomas J. O'Neil, president, Mutual Network and General Teleradio. The Yankee Network is a subsidiary of Mutual. Terry Turner was the toastmaster, who introduced the head table guests consisting of O'Neil, John B. Poor, vice-president, Herbert Rice, vice-president, John E. Redman, all of General Teleradio; Harry Wismer, sports commentator, John Begley, public relations head, and Frank Zuzolo, publicity director, all of Mutual; Robert Manby, head of Visual Drama, Inc.; Bill Cunningham, Boston columnist, Boston Police Commissioner Thomas Sullivan; Norman Knight, executive vice-president, Yankee Network, George Steffy, vice-president, Jack Malloy, George Halberg, Tony Lang, Tom Bateson, James Pike, Leland Bickford and Louise Morgan, all of Yankee Network. "Gangbusters" will have the most extensive and expensive advertising and promotion campaign ever put on for a motion picture over the Yankee Network TV and radio," said Norman Knight. The overall campaign will total over one million dollars with nearly $100,000 to be spent in the New England and Upper New York areas.

Hy Fine, New England Theatres, Inc., introduced the honored guest Thomas J. O'Neil. In his address O'Neil said "Although I am in the radio and television business, I have been carefully watching

Connecticut Hartford

Lou Cohen and Norm Levinson, Loew's Poli, conducted a Metropolitan Hartford search for the "Most Perfect Male and Female" in conjunction with MGM's "Athena."

The trade was interested to hear that a bill legalizing bazaars and raffles will be submitted to the January, 1955, session of the State Legislature. The measure stipulates that if five per cent of the voters of a town sign a petition for legalizing bazaars and raffles in their town then the legislative body of that town must vote on such a proposal within 14 days.

"A Star Is Born" leads the "Ten Best Films of 1954" selections of Allen M. Widem, Hartford Times motion picture editor. Others named are "Sabrina," "Barefoot Contessa," "High and Mighty," "White Christmas," "About Mrs. Leslie," "Caine Mutiny," "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Rear Window" and "Magnificent Obsession."

Ray McNamara, Allyn, has been named chairman of the theatre division of the 1954 Muscular Dystrophy Appeal how distributors and theatre owners have been successfully utilizing our stations, particularly in New England, for the premieres of motion pictures. I have discovered that many of these campaigns have been highly successful. I've always thought that TV, radio and motion picture exhibitors can work hand in hand as one agency aiding the others. I am confident that "Gangbusters" will prove this without question, proving the natural affinity among these forms of entertainment."

Herbert Rice, program director, General Teleradio, explained the "Get-away Contest" open to all managers in this area. Six sets of winners, six managers and their wives are eligible to win overseas trips. Four couples may choose Europe and two Honolulu. All will fly first class on deluxe airliners to vacation days. Bon voyage gifts will also be given out. More details on the contest will be relayed to all managers later.

During the luncheon, several 16mm shots of the trailers which will be shown on TV screens were presented to the audience, as well as the minute-and-a-half theatre trailer. Many out of town guests were present including a group from Realart Pictures, including Si Lipson, vice-president, George Waldman, Jeff Sylvan, Albany; and Jim Fater, Rochester. Also present was Doug Beck, publicist, General Teleradio, who will remain in New England to visit all theatres playing "Gangbusters." L. W. Kellman, president, Exploitation Productions, Inc., and his vice-president and sales manager Jack Harris were in from Philadelphia. Many of the local Yankee Network staff were present. Arrangements for the luncheon were in the capable hands of Embassy Pictures Corporation, with George Keaska, director of publicity in charge. Special credit goes to Mrs. Joseph E. Levine and Mrs. Wasserman for the attractive table and head table decorations.

in Hartford. All local theatres are co-operating in the campaign, according to McNamara. . . . Hugh J. Campbell, manager, Central, West Hartford, and Mrs. Campbell, are marking their 40th wedding anniversary. The Campbell's son, Jack, recently returned from army service in Korea.

Massachusetts Springfield

State Conciliator Joseph P. Curran called a session between Motion Picture Operators and Western Massachusetts Theatres, Inc., five of whose theatres were picketed in a dispute over wage demands. The session was to have been held at the offices of Western Massachusetts Theatres. Meanwhile, Samuel Goldstein, president of the circuit, said management's offer of 10 cents per hour, which was turned down by the union, has now been withdrawn. Goldstein said that the three theatres "haven't been making any money anyway" and that they may soon be sold for other uses. These are the Strand, Westfield; Rivoli, Chicopee; and Wernick, Chicopee Falls; and were closed down by the strike. Two houses remained open, the Bing, Springfield; and Casino, Ware; and the projectors were being operated by the managers, with the operators picketing. Projectionists at the five theatres are said to have made from $2 to $2.43 per hour in a 35-hour six-day week. They are seeking a general rate of $2.70 an hour, Louis L. Williamson, Chicopee Falls, business agent of the union says. Williamson added that the union had been negotiating with Goldstein at intervals since June 15, 1953.

New Hampshire Milford

L. J. Archambault, manager, Latchis, reports that his theatre has had considerable trouble with juveniles "acting up" in the audience, but denied rumors that the theatre would close because of it.

Wolfeboro

Wolfeboro Memorial Hall will soon have the world premiere of "The Valiant Heart," a picture dealing with the home care of rheumatic fever patients.

Rhode Island Providence

Thomas G. Mulgrew, 65, for years one of the best known figures in English entertainment circles, died recently after a brief illness. He had several roles in pioneering days of the old Eastern Film Company, this city. A member of several fraternal organizations, he is survived by his wife, a son, a daughter, and two sisters.

Recent visitors to this city included Abe Bernstein and Blake McKay, United Artists exploitation men and Floyd Fitzsimmons, MGM exploiteer. All three spent considerable time with William J. Trambukis, Loew's State manager. . . . Maryon Tillinghast, Loew's State cashier, recently celebrated her 21st year with the local theatre. She was the recipient of many gifts as she is very popular.

son, makes the Turnpike operation extremely economical. The concession stand is conducted by Tri-State Automatic Candy Corporation, at a profit, but no cost, to Gardner.

Stagehands began picketing Paul V. Wallen's Grand as an outgrowth of a dispute over the number of stage workers to be employed. Projectionists, members of IATSE Local 322, continued at their posts. . . . Holland-Wegman Laboratories, Inc., has been authorized to conduct a motion picture business in Buffalo. Capital stock is $50,000 at $10 par value.

Auburn

To sell the art film policy at Schine's Palace, Ray Corcoran enlisted the aid of the curator at the local museum, who plugged the idea at all meetings. A co-op herald was sold to a local merchant and distributed at various clubs' meetings held at the museum, and, of course, for a heavy mailing. For opening night he had an unusual lobby display borrowed from the museum, consisting of 16 paintings by local artists. He also promoted two large baskets of flowers and coffee, plus cream, sugar and coffee-makers. Corcoran himself spoke at many of the museum meetings and at the local college.

Herkimer

Jake Weber, manager, Schine's Liberty, was recently contacted by the chairmen in charge of the celebration to be held in connection with the opening of the Herkimer Link of the New York State Thruway. He was quick with an idea—that of choosing a "King and Queen" of the Thruway from the senior classes of area schools. The selection was based on a student's popularity, scholarship and citizenship. This proved to be a big interest creating idea. Of course, the "king and queen" were properly crowned; and the Kiwanis Clubs of Herkimer and nearby towns chipped in to buy them each a large cup appropriately engraved. Further, each member of the "Royal Court" received a smaller cup. While this wasn't any direct break for the theatre, the good will Weber gained for his theatre and the entire Schine Circuit was immeasurable. The newspaper and radio publicity was simply tremendous with interest in the Thruway being of such wide scope. Weber's ingenuity, tact and diplomacy in putting this big event over so successfully most surely gained many friends for him, for his theatre and for the Schine Circuit.

Oneonta

Harold (Spike) Cary, manager, Schine's Oneonta, copped first prize in MGM's recent "Rose Marie" window display contest.

For his recent campaign on "Dumbo," Schine's Palace, Jim Beebe got the local radio station to run a contest aimed at the kids, with a few passes as prizes. This was good for a total of about four plugs a day for three days. He had four large "elephants" in four of the leading stores, and for a street bally he had a fat boy dressed like an elephant in a costume which he and his wife made. This boy covered outlying towns and really got attention as he cavorted around distributing heralds.

Smakwitz Promoted To SW Jersey Head

NEW YORK — Harry M. Kalmine, vice-president and general manager, Stanley Warner Corporation, announcer last week the promotion of Charles A. Smakwitz, Albany zone manager, to be the zone manager for the company's New Jersey houses. Smakwitz succeeds Frank Damis, who recently resigned.

The enlarged theatre operation which Smakwitz takes over in Northern New Jersey caps the climax of an extensive industry career which began when he started to work as page boy in the Strand on Broadway. Later, in Albany he became manager of the Ritz, and, later, the Strand. In 1927, the publicity department of the theatre group in Albany, Troy, Utica and Syracuse came under his direction and the next year he was made assistant general manager of the theatres and concentrated upon buying and booking.

In 1929 when Warners took over, Smakwitz became the manager of the four towns. Warners enlarged their theatre holdings in New York State and in 1932 when Moe A. Silver became zone manager of the entire Warner group, Smakwitz was advanced to assistant zone manager. His promotion to zone manager came in 1947.

Robert Rossen recently arrived at Idlewild Airport, New York, from London to confer with United Artists executives on final production plans for "Alexander The Great," which he will produce and direct from his own screenplay.

Sidney Dwore eliminated Tuesday and Wednesday nights from the schedule of the neighborhood Cameo.

Syracuse

For the engagement of "Woman's World," Schine's Paramount, Max Rubin got three fine co-op ads from the largest department store in town. Each ad generously plugged the picture and play-dates. Another department store used a big TV ad with pictures of the three femme stars and proper credits. The Ford distributor also came through with a co-op tying in the Ford Thunderbird, using pictures of all the stars in the film and full credits. This dealer also furnished a car which was bannered and used as a street ballyhoo. As to windows, four big ones were obtained, and many in music stores. Radio, TV and newspaper cooperation was fine, with breaks too numerous to mention.

Troy

A complaint charging forgery was filed against, and a warrant sworn out for the arrest of Lawrence Cowen, former manager, Proctor's, by his wife, Mrs. Kathleen Cowen, who alleges that he forged her signature as co-maker on a promissory note last March since defaulted. Mrs. Cowen reports that her husband has been missing since Sept. 4, when he left his home in Melrose, outside of Troy, telling her he was going to New York and a conference with S. H. Fabian, head, Fabian Theatres. Fabian stated he never arrived. The Fabian management replaced him at Proctor's with Richard Murphy, shifted from the Plaza, Schenectady, N. Y., and announced Cowen was on an "indefinite leave of absence" due to health reasons. Cowen had not been well for some time and had been under medical care at various times. The only clue to his whereabouts since, police officials stated, had been checks drawn on National City Bank of Troy and cashed by him in Vermont and Connecticut. There was also a trace from Northampton, Mass. The missing theatre executive took his automobile with him and a local credit corporation is trying to locate it for repossession. Cowen, a member of the Naval Reserve for 20 years, had command of the Albany zone office of Naval Intelligence during World War II. He Hollywood's new pictures for 1955 promise to be "five times better than last year," it was reported by Harold W. Seidenberg, managing director, Fox, who returned from a four-day convention in Hollywood of key executives of National Theatres, Inc., parent company, Fox West Coast Theatres. He viewed many of the top pictures to be released in the forthcoming year. While in the movie capitol, Seidenberg met with Elmer C. Rhoden, president, National Theatres, Inc., and discussed various new techniques in showmanship which will be introduced here.

The first local showing of "This Is Your Army" was at the SW Mastbaum with a U. S. Army band performing in front of the theatre on opening night. Other area showings are set following the SW Mastbaum engagement.

Charles Hirsh, formerly with Hirsh Amusement Company, is now available for managerial purposes, or he will lease a theatre in the area. He may be reached at LI 8-8275.

Howard Minsky, division manager, Paramount, has been appointed co-chairman with Harold Seidenberg, Fox, of the entertainment committee of the Motion Picture Associates dinner, which will be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, on January 18. The appointment was announced by Sam Diamond, branch manager, 20th-Fox, president of MPA, at a luncheon held last week. Proceeds from the dinner, a $25-a-plate affair, will go to the MPA Welfare Committee. Diamond said that Minsky has gone to the west coast to act as liaison between MPA and the movie studios to obtain outstanding movie stars and executives for the dinner. Leading figures of the industry

Jules Levey, left, film producer who is currently presenting the Italian-made, "The She-Wolf," in the United States through Republic release, recently stopped at the SW Stanton, Philadelphia, to talk with manager Al Plough and Norman Silverman, Republic branch manager, while in the city for press and radio interviews in connection with the picture.

That's the wonderful thing about having a Berlo-operated refreshment stand at your theatre. The money keeps coming in . . . but the problems of running the stand disappear.

No more help problems . . . no cash control or leakage worries . . . no investment . . . and you need never spend your time and energy "pitching in".

Instead, there's the security of continued high earnings from a Berlo-operated refreshment stand, assured by Berlo's proved maximum gross and net . . . the smooth operation of Berlo's trained personnel, expert supervision, the top quality of Berlo's merchandise . . . and Berlo's smart, modern merchandising ideas.

Reading

Statements by incoming state authorities to the effect that state laws affecting bingo will be strictly enforced drew the attention of most theatre managers here. If the games are strictly enforced by barring cash prizes, theatres will benefit, but reports say that in the absence of strict supervision the law is violated and that theatres are thus facing illegal competition.

Theatre employees are already planning Christmas parties, timing them for midnight hours after theatres close. Timing is being arranged so that no conflicts with midnight shows will occur.

Any prospect that the city authorities would eliminate or split the 10 per cent amusement tax for 1955 have vanished, for a year at least. A new budget, which in itself does not provide for all the money city officials think they will need, has been introduced in City Council. It calls for retention of the tax, same rate as in 1954. Similar action is being taken in various townships and boroughs to levy similar taxes for the benefit of school boards or borough treasuries.

Scranton

One of 10 children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen, Miss Regie Allen, was the winner of the $499.95 refrigerator in the advertising contest recently sponsored by Comerford Theatres and the Scranton Dry Goods Company in connection with the showing of "White Christmas" at the Comerford, announced manager Ed McGovern.

Manager Tom Jones, Strand, had a tie-in with one of the local florists on the opening of "The Last Time I Saw Paris." An Elizabeth Taylor rose was presented to the first 1,000 ladies attending. . . . All Comerford Theatres are enthusiastically supporting the Crippled Children's Fund Drive sponsored by the Variety Club of Philadelphia. . . . The issuance of movie check books has been reinstated by the Comerford organization in time for Christmas.

Pete Magazzu's Ritz has closed.

Virginia Richmond

Members of the Virginia Motion Picture Theatres Association were reported as believing government intervention in the motion picture industry may be necessary even though it may be harmful. Following four sectional meetings of the organization in Norfolk, Wytheville, Natural Bridge, and Richmond, it was pointed out that Virginia theatre closings have been increasing lately, with many more due to close if there is not a drastic change in film terms for small situations. The TOA production finance plan and the COMPO audience poll received definite support.

Variety Club Tent 13, Philadelphia

The Tent announced that the annual New Year's eve party will be held on Dec. 31. Buffet supper will be served. Music will be by Joe Miller, and the fee will be $15 per couple. Reservations are limited.

Port Of Hell (5505) MELODRAMA 80M.

ESTIMATE: Okeh programmer for the dualers.

CAST: Wayne Morris, Dane Clark, Carole Mathews, Otto Walde, Marshal Thompson, Marjorie Lord, Tom Hubbard, Harold Perry, Charles Fredericks, Gene Roth. Executive producer William F. Broidy. Produced by Robert Nunes; directed by Harold Schuster.

STORY: Dane Clark, port warden of Los Angeles, takes his duties and responsibilities seriously and runs his office with an iron hand. His friend and assistant is Marshal Thompson, an associate from the Navy, married to Marjorie Lord. They have a couple of youngsters. Clark has trouble with some of the fishermen enforcing new rules, as well as tugboat captain Wayne Morris. During one of their disagreements, he meets Morris' sister, Carole Mathews, and is attracted to her. Meanwhile, they get a tip that a newly-arrived freighter needs investigating and the captain under pressure admits there is an atomic bomb aboard which was to be detonated from another vessel many miles away. Clark persuades Morris and several of the fishermen to try and pull the vessel out to sea while he is on board. Thompson insists on going along. They finally get the vessel out far enough and get away. There is an explosion which is later explained as a government test. They return to find Lord awaiting Thompson and Matthews waiting for Clark.

X-RAY: Well-made and with much suspense as the climax draws near, this entry should do okeh as a program entry with an interesting story, good characterizations, a different background, and okeh direction and production. The screen play is by Tom Hubbard, Fred Eggers, and Gil Doud, based on an original story by Doud and D. D. Beauchamp.

AD LINES: "A Different Thrill Awaits You In The 'Port Of Hell'"; "A Water-front Thriller"; "Fast Action . . . Tense Suspense!"

The Bamboo Prison (731) MELODRAMA 80M.

ESTIMATE: Routine programmer.

STORY: In a prisoner of war camp in North Korea containing American fighting men, there are a few collaborators who have gone on the side of the Communists. Most hated is Robert Francis. However, known only to one prisoner, a secret agent, Brian Keith, is the fact that Francis is really an intelligence agent. He gets special privileges as well as a chance to romance Dianne Foster, the Russian-born wife of another American traitor in charge of propaganda, Murray Matheson, and is able to get valuable information from her. In the process, they fall in love, and at the right time, as truce sessions are in progress, he is able to get Keith and Foster out of the area. At the prisoner exchange, Francis refuses to go home preferring to remain in Red territory to get more information. He asks Keith to care for Foster and for her to wait for him.

X-RAY: A little behind the times, topically speaking, this entry has enough ex-

The Siege (5323) MELODRAMA 63M. (Spanish-made) (Dubbed in English)

ESTIMATE: For the lower half.

CAST: Aurora Bautista, Fernando Rey, Virgilio Teixeira, Eduardo Fajardo, Manuel Luna, Jesus Tordesillas, Guillermo Marin, Juan Espantaleon. Directed by Juan De Orduna. A Cifesa Production.

STORY: Spain is invaded by the armies of Napoleon, Guillermo Marin. Aurora Bautista is rescued by Virgilio Teixeira and his Spanish guerillas from the French, taken to Zaragoza to deliver secret orders to the Spanish to overthrow the governor and imprison Eduardo Fajardo, her fiance, who is a traitor. Defeated by the French, the Spaniards retreat to Zaragoza where they hold out six months despite superior forces, other tribulations of war. Bautista secures Fajardo's release and he joins the defenders, refusing French orders to kill Fernando Rey, leader of the siege. He is killed, but Bautista is still firing a cannon when the French finally enter Zaragoza.

X-RAY: While there are hundreds in the cast, the story, acting, direction, and production are inferior, and the best place for this is the lower half of the double bill where filler is needed. Confusion runs rampant. There is some action now and again which helps. The screen play is by Vicente Escriba based on a story by Clements Pamplona and A. F. Marrero.

AD LINES: "A Vast Spectacle As Napoleon's Armies Pour Across Spain"; "Fury And Violence Follow In The Path Of Napoleon's Armies"; "A Cast Of Hundreds . . . Action . . . Thrills . . . Adventure."

The Silent Raiders (5404) MELODRAMA 65M.

ESTIMATE: For the lower half.

CAST: Richard Bartlett, Earle Lyon,

Jeanette Bordeaux, Earle Hansen, Robert Knapp, Fred Foote, Frank Stanlow, Carl Swanstrom. Produced by Richard Bartlett; directed by Earle Lyon.

STORY: A seven-man patrol lands on the French coast with orders to knock out a German communications center three miles inland in conjunction with a large scale commando raid. Several members are killed either by snipers, by trickery, or while off guard at the barn-like objective which they capture and hold during the raid. One of the men is killed by a wounded German while he is romancing Jeanette Bordeaux in a shack enroute.

X-RAY: There is some suspense to be found in this relatively simple tale of a patrol on a mission during World War II, along with a fair story, performances, direction, and production. It belongs on the lower half. The screen play is by Richard Bartlett. A song, "Sergeant Jack," is to be heard.

AD LINES: "They Had Orders That Meant Kill Or Be Killed"; "They Had A Mission And Nothing Was To Stand In Their Way"; "One Look At Her And A Man Forgot What He Came For."

Bad Day At Black Rock (515) DRAMA 81M.

(CinemaScope)
(Eastman Color)

ESTIMATE: Well-made drama has the names.

STORY: On a summer day in 1945, a streamliner grinds to a stop at the desert town of Black Rock for the first time in years and the townspeople are agog as one-armed Spencer Tracy gets off. Hostility is everywhere. Hotel clerk John Ericson tries to tell him they are filled but he registers by himself. Lee Marvin tries to goad him into a fight but fails. He meets evasion at every turn with the town veterinarian, Walter Brennan, the only civil citizen. He asks to rent a vehicle, but is refused until Anne Francis, sister to Ericson, rents him her jeep despite a warning from rancher Robert Ryan, who evidently runs the town. Ryan convinces the others that Tracy must be put out of the way after he discovers that a Japanese farmer is missing and the house burned. Ernest Borgnine tries to wreck the jeep and later picks a fight. Tracy almost kills him with judo. He tries to call the police since town sheriff Dean Jagger is in with Ryan but can't get through. He realizes he is trapped and will be killed come nightfall. Ericson finally reveals that four years ago, some of the townspeople got drunk and killed the Japanese farmer. Tracy reports that he came to give the dead man a medal earned by his soldier son. Ericson convinces Francis she must get Tracy out, but she leads him into a trap sprung by Ryan who kills her and tries to kill Tracy. The latter, using war-time tactics, overpowers Ryan and takes him prisoner. The next day, the state police round up everyone concerned. Before he leaves, Tracy turns over the medal to Brennan to start the town afresh.

X-RAY: Loaded with taut, tense drama and suspense-filled situations, this entry looks like better dramatic fare that will be aided by the "name" value in the cast. Tracy turns in a fine job and is more than ably supported by the others. The story holds interest from start to finish and is full of imagination and neat touches. Direction and production are in the better category. The screen play is by Millard Kaufman adapted by Don McGuire based on a story by Howard Breslin.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates where intense drama is appreciated.

AD LINES: "A Man With A Mission Spends 24 Hours In A Desert Town And Is Almost Killed"; "He Was Marked For Murder That 'Bad Day At Black Rock'"; "He Got Off A Train And A Town Was Petrified With Fear."

PARAMOUNT

The Country Girl (5409)

DRAMA
104M.

ESTIMATE: High rating drama.

CAST: Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, William Holden, Anthony Ross, Gene Reynolds, Jacqueline Fontaine, Eddie Ryder, Robert Kent, John W. Reynolds, Ida Moore, Frank Scanell, Ruth Rickaby. Produced by William Perlberg; directed and written for the screen by George Seaton.

STORY: Young and successful Broadway director William Holden is having trouble finding a suitable lead for his play and would like to audition Bing Crosby, one-time star who ruined his career with drink. Producer Anthony Ross is reluctant but gives in. The audition is fine, but Crosby leaves before a decision is made. Holden goes looking for him and meets Crosby's wife, Grace Kelly, looking faded and older than her years because of neglect. He informs both that Crosby can have the part if he works hard and doesn't drink. Kelly assures wavering Crosby that he can do it. Crosby informs Holden that Kelly is responsible for his condition, she having taken to drink when their young son was killed and trying suicide. Holden, a divorce-victim himself, resents Kelly. A flashback shows it was really Crosby who was responsible for the boy's death. The play tries out and is panned. Ross is for getting rid of Crosby but Holden orders Kelly to leave as a bad influence. Crosby goes out on a drinking spree and winds up in jail. There, Holden confronts Kelly with Crosby's accusations, and she tells him the true story. His admiration for her amounts to love. Crosby admits all to Holden and is all the better for the confession and self-analysis. When the show arrives in New York it is a hit. Kelly is asked to choose between them for the future and goes back to a new Crosby.

X-RAY: Here is a vehicle that permits three top actors to display talents of Academy Award-winning stature. Crosby shows that he is master of things other than the song and comedy patter while Kelly is superb in her portrayal of the wife with a problem and Holden is the excellent actor he always is. The story itself is powerful drama told forcefully and yet with taste. The direction and production are in the better category. To sum up, this is the kind of dramatic entertainment that will be best appreciated by adults. It is one of the better entries of the year. It is based on the play by Clifford Odets. Songs heard include "The Search Is Through," "Dissertation On A State Of Bliss," "The Land Around Us," and "The Pitchman." Maximum aspect ratio: 1.85-1.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates.

AD LINES: "A Film With A Heart"; "Three People Had A Problem They Had To Solve . . . Who Would Get Hurt?"; "She Took A Man For Better Or For Worse . . . And Found The Meaning Of True Love."

REPUBLIC

The Atomic Kid (5314)

COMEDY
86M.

ESTIMATE: Okeh for the duallers.

CAST: Mickey Rooney, Robert Strauss, Elaine Davis, Bill Goodwin, Whit Bissell, Dan Riss, Joey Forman, Hal March, Peter Leeds, Fay Roope, Stanley Adams, Robert Emmett Keane. Associate producer Maurice Duke; directed by Leslie H. Martinson.

STORY: Mickey Rooney and his persuasive buddy, Robert Strauss, are hunting uranium in the desert and are in need of food and water when they come across an empty house. They take shelter there, especially since their Geiger counter shows uranium in the area. The next morning, Strauss leaves to try and file their claim, leaving Rooney behind, at which point an atom bomb is exploded in the nearby tower. Rooney survives, but is radioactive and becomes a government charge until they investigate him and can de-activate him. In the hospital during the process, he meets nurse Elaine Davis and they fall in love. Strauss goes about trying to make money as Rooney's manager, and gets mixed up with spy Robert Emmett Keane. Finally the day arrives when he is free to go, and he and Davis get married after Keane and the spy ring is broken due to an accident on Rooney's part. Enroute to a honeymoon, they find themselves in the desert and stop to ask directions at a deserted house only to walk into a similar set-up. They get out of the area fast.

X-RAY: There is some cute though obvious comedy to be found here, and audience satisfaction should be forthcoming if they are not too discriminating but rather accept it for the spoof it is. It should be okeh as lower half material. The screen play is by Benedict Freeman and John Fenton Murray based on a story by Blake Edwards. Maximum aspect ratio: 1.85-1.

AD LINES: "He Became Famous With A Bang"; "Everytime He Kissed A Gal He Lit Up."

20TH-FOX

There's No Business Like Show Business (426)

MUSICAL

(CinemaScope)
(Color by DeLuxe)

ESTIMATE: Colorful musical is headed for better grosses.

CAST: Ethel Merman, Donald O'Connor, Marilyn Monroe, Dan Dailey, Johnnie Ray, Mitzi Gaynor, Richard Eastham, Hugh O'Brian, Frank McHugh, Rhys Williams, Lee Patrick, Eve Miller, Robin Raymond, Lyle Talbot, George Melford, Alvy Moore, Chick Chandler, Henry Slate. Produced by Sol C. Siegel; directed by Walter Lang.

STORY: Back in 1919, the vaudeville team of husband and wife Ethel Merman and Dan Dailey are knocking them dead. The stock market collapses and vaudeville is dead so they turn to radio commercials, etc. Eventually they go back to vaudeville, this time with the whole family, including daughter Mitzi Gaynor, sons Johnnie Ray and Donald O'Connor. O'Connor meets hatcheck cutie Marilyn Monroe trying for a singing career, but gets nowhere. Agent Richard Eastham is impressed when she does a number. Ray informs the others he wants to be a priest and leaves the act. Later the family plays the same bill with Monroe and she and O'Connor fall in love. Eastham offers Monroe a part in a show with roles for Gaynor and O'Connor. O'Connor is jealous of Eastham, and he and Monroe quarrel. He gets into an accident and is unable to appear on opening night, with Merman going on in his place with Gaynor. The latter and lyric writer Hugh O'Brian fall in love and are married by Ray when he is ordained. O'Connor, after a quarrel with Dailey, disappears. Merman blames Monroe, but Gaynor patches things up. At a benefit, all are reunited when O'Connor shows up in a sailor's uniform.

X-RAY: This one is really loaded with music, lavish color displays, some good gags, and dance routines, sprightly dialogue, a story that is familiar yet interesting, good characterizations, and smooth direction and production. What with the "names," plus the title, plus the promotion, this should really be up in the better boxoffice category. Its big, bold, brassy, and funny, yet it has its moments of warmth and it should please those seeking light, gay, and slightly nostalgic entertainment. The screen play is by Phoebe and Henry Ephron from a story by Lamar Trotti. The lyrics and music are by Irving Berlin. Among the tunes heard are "There's No Business Like Show Business," "After You Get What You Want You Don't Want It," "Play A Simple Melody," "Lazy," "When The Midnight Choo Choo Leaves For Alabam'," "If You Believe," "A Man Chases A Girl," "Heat Wave," "A Sailor Is Not A Sailor Until He's Been Tattooed," and "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates.

AD LINES: "The Musical To Top All Musicals"; "A Talent-Filled Delight About Show Biz In Action"; "Fun And Entertainment For All With An All-Star Cast."

UNITED ARTISTS

The White Orchid

MELODRAMA
81M.

(LeBorg) (Eastman Color)

ESTIMATE: Okeh for the duallers.

CAST: William Lundigan, Peggie Castle, Armando Silvestre, Rosenda Monteros, Jorge Trevino, Alejandro de Montenegro, Miguel A. Gallardo. Produced and directed by Reginald LeBorg.

STORY: William Lundigan, lecturer and archaeologist working for a magazine, is in Mexico covering a fiesta and learns of a mysterious people deep in the jungle whose ways may date back to ancient days. He sends for a photographer only to have Peggie Castle arrive. He is disappointed, but she proves her ability and remains. She persuades ranch owner Armando Silvestre to guide them as far as the jungle, and after he falls in love with her, all the way to the peoples he has visited several times. When a prince of the tribe is killed accidentally, they are sentenced to death, but manage to break loose. Silvestre sacrifices himself so that Castle and Lunigan can get away. Their love for each other is strengthened all the more by the adventure.

X-RAY: There are some colorful scenes of Mexican fiestas and some of the events to be found therein as well as some tribal settings and colorful surroundings. The story is average, as are the cast members, direction, and production. It should do okeh as lower half material. The screen play is by Reginald LeBorg and David Duncan. Maximum aspect ratio: 1.85-1.

TIP ON BIDDING: Low bracket.

AD LINES: "The Jungle Had A Way With Women"; "Adventure In Mexico's Deepest Jungles"; "They Found A Lost People And Almost Died Doing It."

U-International

Destry (508) OUTDOOR MELODRAMA 95M.

(Print by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Remake has the angles for exploitation.

CAST: Audie Murphy, Mari Blanchard, Lyle Bettger, Lori Nelson, Thomas Mitchell, Edgar Buchanan, Wallace Ford, Mary Wickes, Alan Hale, Jr., Lee Aaker, Trevor Bardette, Walter Baldwin. Produced by Stanley Rubin; directed by George Marshall.

STORY: Lyle Bettger runs the town of Restful as well as his own saloon and gambling hall. When Bettger, with the help of entertainer Mari Blanchard, cheats Walter Baldwin out of his ranch in a card game, sheriff Trevor Bardette investigates and is killed. In a jest, Mayor Edgar Buchanan swears in town drunk Thomas Mitchell, who once claims to have been a deputy to an old friend long dead. He accepts the challenge, stops drinking, and sends for the son of his old friend, Audie Murphy, who recently had a hand in cleaning up another town. When he arrives, he becomes the laughing stock of the town and doesn't wear a gun. He adheres to the law and is forced to rule that Baldwin's loss is legal, which doesn't endear him to Baldwin's niece, Lori Nelson. He arrests a henchman of Bettger's on suspicion of killing the sheriff. He is freed by Bettger's men and Mitchell fatally shot. Murphy dons his guns and goes after Bettger and kills him and his henchman. Blanchard is killed trying to protect Murphy. Baldwin gets his ranch back and Murphy and Nelson can make plans for the future.

X-RAY: There probably will be a lot of curiosity amongst those who remember the original "Destry Rides Again" and who want to compare. The present day entry shapes up as a pretty good outdoor show with a by-now familiar yarn, some cute musical numbers, a goodly amount of action, average performances, direction and production. It should do okeh as part of the program. The music heard includes "If You Can Can-Can," "Bang, Bang," "Empty Arms." The screen play is by Edmund H. North and D. D. Beauchamp, based on a story by Felix Jackson, suggested by Max Brand's novel "Destry Rides Again." This bears a Legion of Decency "B" rating.

TIP ON BIDDING: Fair program price.

AD LINES: "She Had A Way With Men;

He Had A Way With Guns"; "A Tale Of The West . . . Its Men . . . Its Women"; "She Wanted To Know What The Boys In The Backroom Would Have."

West Of Zanzibar (503)

MELODRAMA 84M.

(Rank)
(English-made in Africa)
(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Import is okeh programmer.

CAST: Anthony Steel, Sheila Sim, Edric Connor, Orlando Martins, William Simons, Martin Benson, David Osieli, Bethlehem Sketch. Produced by Leslie Norman; directed by Harry Watt.

STORY: When African game warden Anthony Steel discovers members of an African tribe assisting ivory smugglers by illegal killing of elephants, he asks chief Edric Connor to stop them. The chief is powerless and instead asks Steel to crack down on the smuggling ring. Getting unofficial leave, Steel and his wife, Sheila Sim, get some leads but are not able to learn the identity of the ringleader, attorney Martin Benson. Steel and Connor follow some of the tribesmen but lose the trail when they come across their dead bodies. They catch up with Benson and his men with a load of ivory. With native aid, they succeed in capturing all, but Connor is killed in the process. His son vows to take over and do a proper job in keeping the tribe in line and away from big city temptations.

X-RAY: There's a good bit of excitement to be found in this entry as well as some authentic background footage, jungle sequences, etc., which should add to the attractiveness. It could go in regulation houses, as well as in art and specialty spots. Harry Watt wrote the story, while the screen play is by Max Catto and Jack Whittingham.

TIP ON BIDDING: Program rate.

AD LINES: "Adventure And Action 'West Of Zanzibar'"; "Thrills And Chills In The Jungle With A Different Kind Of Adventure Film"; "Ivory Smugglers . . . Jungle Animals . . . Native Tribes In Revolt . . . Action . . . Jungle Vengeance . . . All In 'West Of Zanzibar'."

Color Documentary

FOR PEACE AND FRIENDSHIP. Artkino. 39m. Color. Seen here are some of the highpoints of the Bucharest Youth Festival of 1953. In the huge stadium of the Rumanian capital, contestants from all over the world compete in track and field events. Communist leaders in the reviewing stand watch some mass exercises by the entrants. The delegates from all nations of the world also see entertainment put on by their colleagues. FAIR.

TWO REEL

Color CinemaScope Novelty

FLYING TO FISH. 20th-Fox—Movie-tone CinemaScope. 16m. Shown are the picturesque mountain lakes in Alaska which were inaccessible before the coming of the airplane. The lakes provide excellent fishing and are the only places in North America where salmon can be caught with rod and reel. While of special interest to anglers, the panoramic views from the air are especially impressive in the CinemaScope process. GOOD. (7426).

Comedy

CUPID GOES NUTS. Columbia—Assorted Favorite Reprints. 16m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of July, 1947, it was said: "Vera Vague, a shy spinster professor, in the local college, greets her twin sister, discharged from the Wacs. The sister is just the opposite of Vague, inclined to be a little wolfish. She sets her sights for Vague's boy friend, hoping to have him propose, at the same time instructing Vague to take care of her friend for the night. Confusion reigns. Vague plays a dual role. FAIR." (7423).

THE GOOD BAD EGG. Columbia—Comedy Favorite Re-releases. 17m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of April, 1947, it was said: "Joe De Rita, inventor, despondent over having to keep a bachelor apartment, soon finds a girl, and, after a quick courtship, they find a preacher. His wife's son, from a previous marriage, makes life miserable, outsmarting him at every turn. When the moment arrives for De Rita show off his latest invention, junior sees to it that everything doesn't run smoothly, and the invention is a failure. De Rita finally gives up, but not before he gets his revenge. FAIR." (7433).

Musical

LEAVE IT TO HARRY. U-I—Musical Featurette. 16m. Starring Harry James, his orchestra, Jeri Southern, Peter Potter, etc., this has a pair of youngsters from a nearby college come up to interview James about a typical day and for the boy to play for him. They follow him around recording sessions, a broadcast, an interview by Potter, a filming sessions, etc., until the girl is glad to call it a day and she insists that her boy friend stick to his law studies and just play the trumpet as a hobby. Music heard includes "Palladium Party," "Ultra," "Don't Be That Way," "The Two Of Us," "I'll Remember April," and "Jazz Me Blues." GOOD. (9311).

Novelty

CIRCUS TRAINER. RKO—Specials. 17m. As winter arrives, a French circus goes into hibernation, but all is not quiet and peaceful during the non-performing months because the animals must go through their paces continually. It also gives trainers a chance to break in newly acquired animals as well as to permit novice trainers to show what they can do. Horses, elephants, tigers, lions, chimpanzee, leopard, etc., are seen at work. A would-be trainer goes down before a leopard and is hurt. EXCELLENT. (53102).

The Shorts Parade

he asks for another one, but Donald refuses which leads to warfare between the two. It winds up with Donald flat on his back and the squirrel taking his peanut. GOOD. (54102).

GIFTS FROM THE AIR. Columbia—Color Favorites Cartoons Reissues, 7m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of February, 1937, it was said: "This tells how a little boy gets a lot of fun out of some broken down toys. He prays and then believes the toys come from heaven. Some radio impersonations in this are good. GOOD." (7604).

GOPHER SPINACH. Paramount—Popeye Cartoons, 6m. Popeye decides to plant some spinach plants in his backyard and gives them loving care, but a gopher messes up the plants. Popeye corners him but hasn't the heart to shoot. The gopher is able to repay him when the sailor is trapped by an angry bull, whereupon the gopher eats some spinach and goes to the rescue. They decide to raise the spinach together. GOOD. (E14-2).

MYSTO FOX. Columbia—Color Favorites Cartoons Reissues, 7m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of October, 1946, it was said: "The crow, in order to get free room and board, applies for a job with Mysto Fox, the magician, dressed as a rabbit. The fox hires him but in the act the crow turns things around, and saws the fox in half. This ends with the fox shooting at the running crow with a cannon." This was originally of the Fox and Crow series. FAIR. (7605).

PRIVATE EYE POPEYE. Paramount—Popeye Cartoons, 7m. In a take-off on "private eye" yarns, Popeye plays the part of a private detective assigned to guard Olive Oyl's jewels. The butler steals a valuable gem and takes off, with Popeye on his trail. The trail leads him to Paris, to the Alps, to Persia, etc. He finally, with the aid of spinach, lands his man in Alcatraz and returns the gem to Olive who rewards him with a kiss. GOOD. (E14-1).

THE TRIAL OF MR. WOLF. Warners—Blue Ribbon Hit Parade Reissues, 7m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of February, 1946, it was said: "This is a satire on the Little Red Riding Hood story. This time, the wolf claims to be innocent. In front of a jury, he relates how Miss Hood delivered him to grandmother's door-through a false plan, and how he was almost killed by grandma, who turned out to be the owner of a fur coat establishment. The wolf swears that if the story isn't true may a street car run over him, and sure enough it does. GOOD." (2305).

Novelty

SKI FLIGHT. Warners—Varieties, 9m. For those interested in skiing, this short takes an instructional point of view. With Otto Lang on skis, he demonstrates the Arlberg technique in a step by step sequence. Detailed explanations of various ski maneuvers and demonstrations are given, before we see the ski expert in a solo flight down the mountain. This is primarily an instructional film. FAIR. (2602).

Sports

WILLIE MAYS. RKO—Sportscope, 8m. Willie Mays, National League batting champ for 1954 and star center fielder for the champion New York Giants, is shown at home relaxing, playing stickball on the streets with Harlem youngsters, talking baseball to the kids, and working out at the Polo Grounds both in actual games and at batting practice. GOOD. (54303).

DO THEY KNOW

WHAT'S PLAYING at your theatre

When Dad gives the word that this is the night to go out, do they know what's playing at your theatre?

If the family lines up in front of your boxoffice, it means you've done a lot of that shouting called Showmanship . . . of posting all over town . . . Standees in your lobby . . . Displayaways and Heralds away from theatre . . . and trailers selling every feature on your screen!

They can't help knowing what's playing when you use that kind of Showmanship . . . and your boxoffice will know it, too!

THE PERFECT 36?

WITH this issue, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR celebrates the 36th Anniversary of its original founding back in 1918.

A quiet perusal of those early issues furnishes moot contrast, not only in a trade publication serving the industry, but in the industry itself. Maybe those were the "good old days," or maybe the "good new days" will be still better. It is certainly up to all of us to try our best to make the future productive of the common good, rather than to moon over the glories of the past.

We here at MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR have a whole souled confidence in the future of our industry. With our lives to live over, we would want to participate in its growth as we have, and we would want to be in our present position to try to contribute to its future greatness.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR has come a long way since the flimsy Vine Street of 1918. There have been many crises it has weathered shoulder to shoulder with the theatremen of the land, and many triumphs. That shoulder to shoulder position is where it has always been, and where it wants to stay.

While through the years we have done our seeming best to produce the most serviceable and the most theatre-wise of all trade papers, we aren't satisfied that we have actually done the best of which we were capable. We are still trying!

Recent improvements in cover, format, departments, and services will be continued through 1955. Some dramatic new features and services not now used by any contemporary publication will be inaugurated and tested, all in an effort to constantly improve and grow in our service to the world's theatremen.

So we don't claim that the first 36 were perfect!

We'd rather be judged by our standards of the next 37, 38, 39, and 40. We ask for the patience of our current 10,000 subscriber showmen, who week by week direct an ever increasing flow of suggestion and comment to our welcoming ears.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

IN THESE WANING DAYS of 1954, the year that brought us the full fruits of CinemaScope, wide-screen, and the other new techniques, and re-focused public attention on the motion picture theatre as the source of the world's best and most professional entertainment, we have much for which to be thankful. The wholesale shuttering of theatres across the land seems to have slowed to a stop, the mushrooming drive-ins promise to offset at least some of the declining admissions volume, and with less of the admission dollar going to taxes this looks like a good place to start rebuilding the strong economy of our great industry.

In these same waning days 1954 years ago, most of the world was in the turmoil and strife of conquest, slavery, and dog-eat-dog competition. What men wanted, they took, without consideration for their fellows, or any thought of moral ethics or the future. That first Christmas brought with it an entirely new concept of coexistence one with another. Men realized that they had a neighbor and that his wellbeing was their responsibility. He might be a different race, a different color, or a different creed, but he was still their neighbor.

We don't think it sacrilegious to remind our fellow industry men, whether they date their personal calendar 5715 or 1954, that those new concepts have stood the test of 1954 years and are still the most perfect code ever devised. Maybe this industry, without benefit of Congress, the Courts, or any other legal fences, could settle all of its differences by reminding itself of these same concepts in its dealings with one another.

In the meanwhile: Merry Christmas! And good will toward all men!

he reported that the independent or semi-independent producer is coming into his own with their value and assistance. It has also given the independent producer a chance to make more money by holding onto rights of films, developing his own stable of talent, etc. Producers today are also finding they have greater freedom of selection and more latitude than before, especially since today's independents are scoring heavily with unorthodox and imaginative releases.

Siegel thought that CinemaScope has proven its worth and value and that VistaVision has tremendous possibilities, but the first and foremost consideration should be the story and subject matter. As for aspect ratios, Siegel thought that the size of the theatre should determine that with 2 to 1 being his selection as the right size for a film presentation. CinemaScope is a better bet for larger theatres, according to him.

Today's market is approaching the ideal situation with limitless possibilities for the future as far as he is concerned. He knows nothing about toll TV and has no opinion on it. "Show Business" cost close to five million, including prints, and it could gross in the neighborhood of 14 millions, which is the figure forecast for "White Christmas" on the Paramount lot, of which organization he is now a member with three or four pictures in the works there.

Spectacle films no longer impress the public after the first few, according to Siegel, and once again it boils down to the story, although those films are aided

Schine Contempt Trial Enters Initial Phase

BUFFALO—Joseph E. McDowell, Justice Department trial counsel, has begun the presentation of evidence in the government's attempt to prove charges that Schine Circuit, Inc., has violated a 1949 anti-trust order to sell certain theatre properties and discontinue monopolistic practices. The government has charged that many of the theatres covered in the court decree were sold to corporations controlled by the Schine family.

Most important prosecution witness so far has been Mrs. Florence D. Torrey, assistant secretary-treasurer, Schine Circuit, who has been on the stand during three days of testimony. She has testified that more than 100 corporations are wholly owned by Schine Circuit, Inc., and that the company also owns more than 50 per cent of the stock in a number of others. Mrs. Torrey said that some of the Schine subsidiaries were in the theatre concessions, theatre operating, and printing business. She has testified that Hildemart Corporation is owned by members of the Schine family and that Elmart Theatres is a wholly owned subsidiary of Hildemart, but that Hildemart is not a subsidiary of the Schine Circuit.

The government has announced that it would show that Hildemart is an "alter ego" of the Schine chain. She disclosed that members of the Schine family paid $81,000 for stock in the Hildemart corporation, which is operated to run hotel properties. The members of the Schine family who purchased stock were Mrs. Hildegard Schine, wife of J. Myer Schine, president of the theatre chain; Mrs. Martha Schine, wife of Louis W. Schine, brother of J. Myer Schine; Doris, G. David, Rene, and Richard Schine, children of Hildegard and J. Myer Schine; and Doreen Schine, daughter of Martha and Louis W. Schine.

The prosecution has introduced a letter purportedly written by Mrs. Hildegard Schine showing that Hildemart was organized at her request.

During the first day of testimony, Walter R. Snyder, Ohio attorney, stated that during his negotiations on behalf of some of the owners of the Star, Delaware, O., Peter M. Klein, who represented the Schine Theatres in a previous transfer of Star lease from the Schine Theatrical Company to the Schine Delaware Corporation, represented Joseph M. Cohn, to whom the lease was assigned. The government has charged that the Star continued to be operated by Schine interests.

Raymond F. Watts, Anderson, Ind., a former Schine theatre manager, and Steve Polites, who purchased the Star from Schine, testified briefly regarding the negotiations.

McDowell also charged that the sale of the Opera House, Wooster, Ohio, was a fictitious transaction, to defeat the court order.

RKO Board Ends Stock Redemption Plan

Neither Atlas Nor Hughes Plan To Turn Holdings Over To Company; Market Price Above $6 Figure

NEW YORK—At a board meeting of RKO Pictures Corporation and RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., last week, stockholders were advised that no purpose would be served in further extending the periods for tenders of stock for redemption or for purchase by the company in accordance with the previous authorization to buy at $6 per share all or any part of the 1,262,120 shares of stock owned by Howard R. Hughes, the deadline for which was Dec. 15.

In connection with the making of the offer to purchase shares from Hughes, stockholders were advised that Atlas Corporation, which then was and still is the registered owner of 884,900 shares of RKO stock, had given the company appropriate assurances that it would refrain from tendering stock for redemption if and to the extent necessary to avoid any impairing of the capital of the company which might otherwise result from the purchase of Hughes' stock.

Since Oct. 1, however, the effective date of the last extension of the redemption period, only a relatively small amount of stock has been tendered by stockholders for redemption, less than 1,000 shares. Hughes has at no time tendered any of his shares for purchase by the company. This amounts to 1,262,120 shares registered in his name, and the offer of RKO to purchase his shares at the $6 figure has expired.

None of the 884,900 shares of stock registered in the name of Atlas Corporation has been tendered to RKO for redemption, and Atlas' management has advised the board that the stock of RKO owned by Atlas and its associates, aggregating between 900,000 and 1,000,000 shares, will not be tendered for redemption at any time during the remainder of the redemption period.

The RKO board has thus determined that the invitation of the company made to stockholders other than Hughes to redeem stock at $6 per share will not be extended and will expire at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1954.

The stockholders have been advised that the holdings of RKO immediately after the sale of its assets consisted of the $23,489,478 cash purchase price received from Hughes, equal to $6 per share of its capital stock then outstanding, including the shares owned by Hughes. Up to the close of business on Dec. 14, 1954, a total of 952,987 shares of stock of RKO had been tendered by stockholders and had been redeemed.

There are still outstanding, registered in the names of about 4,500 persons, between 700,000 and 800,000 shares of stock, exclusive of the substantial amounts mentioned above owned by Hughes and by Atlas Corporation and its associates. Pending the expiration of the period for redemption of stock, management's ef-

National Boxoffice Rises, Industry Survey Reports

NEW YORK—Standard and Poor's industry survey puts indicated national boxoffice for 1954, at $1,200,000,000 without taxes, compared to $1,007,500,000 last year. According to Standard and Poor the improvement reflects gains from the April federal admission tax adjustment and a slightly improved attendance trend. Average weekly attendance approached 50 million this year, compared with 46 million in 1953, and according to Standard and Poor, "A further gain is likely in the first half of 1955."

After slightly lower attendance in the early months of 1954, weekly theatre attendance has approximated the pre-television levels of 1946-48 during the summer.

Admission prices are only fractionally lower than averages a year ago, including taxes, indicating that a major part of the reduced federal taxes are being retained by the operators.

Theatre closings have stopped, with the number of active theatres increasing slightly since early in the year.

forts have been primarily to husband the cash resources of the company. Since the sale of assets to Hughes, interest income of the company from bank time deposits of funds has exceeded administrative and corporate expenses. Accordingly, at the present time, the holdings of the company consist of the equivalent of cash, equal to at least $6 for each share of stock now outstanding. Tax counsel has advised that under recently enacted new federal tax code, its substantial capital loss presently continues to be a capital-loss-carry-forward available under appropriate circumstances as a set-off against capital gains, if any, that might be realized by the company in the future. This capital-loss-carry-forward, based upon preliminary study, may be as much as approximately $30,000,000.

The stock of the company has recently been selling on the New York Stock Exchange at prices appreciably in excess of the redemption price, the closing transaction on Dec. 14 having been at the price of $7.375 per share. No stockholder is required to tender his shares for redemp-

Newcomers Best On Broadway

NEW YORK—With the exception of Radio City Music Hall, the Roxy, the Criterion, and the Victoria, the Broadway first runs were really feeling the effects of the pre-Christmas lull; and the wind up of some long runs last weekend.

According to usually reliable sources reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"TRACK OF THE CAT" (Warners). Paramount was down to $25,000 for the last 10 days, including the third week.

"THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE SHOW BUSINESS" (20th-Fox). Roxy hit $54,009 for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with the opening week heading toward $102,000.

"DEEP IN MY HEART" (MGM). Radio City Music Hall, with annual Christmas show on stage, garnered $107,000 from Thursday through Sunday, with the second session sure to top $173,000.

"THE COUNTRY GIRL" (Paramount). Criterion opened sensationally with this Bing Crosby opus, with $40,000 rang up from Thursday through Sunday, and with the first week sure of reaching $55,000.

"CARMEN JONES" (20th-Fox). Rivoli was down to $12,000 on the eighth week.

"UTOPIA" (EPI); "THIS IS YOUR ARMY" (Movietone News-U. S. Army). Globe, with this combo of Laurel and Hardy's French-made comedy and the military propaganda subject only tallied $7,500 for the first and only week.

"SITTING BULL" (UA). Mayfair dropped to $12,000 on the fourth, and last, week.

"ON THE WATERFRONT" (Columbia). Astor expected $10,000 for the 21st week and the last five days.

"A STAR IS BORN" (Warners). Victoria claimed a very good $20,000 for the 10th week.

"THE LAST TIME I SAW PARIS" (MGM). Capitol reported that the fifth, and last, week would hit $15,000.

"PHFFFT" (Columbia). Loew's State was down to $10,000 for the last nine days, including the sixth, and last, week.

U. S. Approves Rank Plan

tion, and any stockholder may refrain from doing so. If a stockholder does not tender his stock, he will continue after the expiration of the redemption period to be a stockholder, having his pro rata interest in the holdings and affairs of the company, the board revealed.

It was reported that those present at the board meeting were J. R. Grainger, president, RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., who flew in from Chicago; A. D. Simpson, vice-chairman, National Bank of Houston, and a director, RKO companies; Edward L. Walton, executive assistant to Grainger; G. Van Wagner, comptroller; William Clark, treasurer; J. Miller Walker, vice-president and general counsel; and Joseph J. Laub, assistant secretary of the board.

Paramount's International Meet To Become Annual Company Event

HOLLYWOOD—The international promotion coordination meeting held last week by Paramount will be made an annual event, Y. Frank Freeman, vice-president and studio head, said at the final session. The meeting, closed on a note of high enthusiasm, was described by Freeman as "most effective for all." He made his remarks at a joint session with distribution representatives who met at the studio concurrently during the week.

Jerry Pickman, vice-president in charge of advertising-publicity-exploitation, who conducted the promotion meeting, and A. W. Schwalberg, president, Paramount Film Distributing Corporation, also hailed the sessions. In addition to an interchange of ideas and forging closer bonds in Paramount's world-wide organization, the sessions included the screening of seven completed features and 11 others in partial form.

At conclusion of the screenings, Schwalberg termed Paramount's product position the strongest in the company's 40 years of operation. "This strength," he said, "is rooted in the fact that the studio has been completely converted to quality product to meet the needs of today's new selective market."

Paramount, he added, "is proud to have presented this past year so large a number of outstanding attractions, and is determined to maintain this pace year after year." The entire array of pictures to come in 1955, the sales chief said, is "truly representative of the top entertainment values the studio has indicated will be present in every production."

Don Hartman, Paramount executive producer, called on Hollywood to display daring, courage and selectiveness in picture making. Foreseeing grosses as high as 50 or 100 million dollars for a picture, "and it may well be Cecil B. DeMille's 'The Ten Commandments,'" Hartman gave the meeting an insight into Paramount studio's production policy. This, he said, was to plan and make only the best possible entertainment with best possible elements without compromise.

Oscar A. Morgan, general manager, short subjects, special features, and Paramount News, outlined the product to

Paramount Readies VV Product Short

HOLLYWOOD—A. W. Schwalberg, president, Paramount Film Distributing Corporation, announced last week that "Paramount Presents VistaVision," a 20-minute short, will be made available free to the nation's theatres early in January.

Filmed in the studio to give the public an inside view of the technical aspects of picture making, the productions shown in the featurette are "White Christmas," "To Catch A Thief," "Strategic Air Command," "The Far Horizons," "The Trouble With Harry," "The Seven Little Foys," "Run For Cover," "We're No Angels," "Lucy Gallant," and "Three Ring Circus."

Five hundred prints of the film will be made, which will be handled through division managers and supported by an extensive advertising campaign.

come from his department. "Just as VistaVision was demonstrated to be the big plus in 'White Christmas,' the first feature in this process, it has effectively proved itself in the short 'VistaVision Visits Norway,' which is the forerunner of other short subjects to be made in VistaVision," he said.

Hollywood's magic charm for overseas readers was described by Paul Ackerman, director of advertising, publicity, and sales promotion, Paramount International Films. Indicative of the avid interest, the department in New York receives 10,000 mail-order requests a year for special features from newspapers, magazines and radio commentators.

One of the features of the week's meeting was a presentation of overseas merchandising methods by Tony Reddin, London; Odette Ferry, Paris, promotion liaison for Continental Europe; and Ackerman and Albert Deane, Paramount International.

Charlton Heston, one of the stars of "The Ten Commandments," and his wife, gave a cocktail party.

Audience Poll Date Set At COMPO Meet

NEW YORK—The committee appointed by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations to make plans for an annual national audience poll that would choose the best picture of each preceding year will recommend to the COMPO governing committee that the first poll be held from next Thanksgiving Day to midnight of the following Dec. 7 and that the pictures eligible for the vote be those released and publicly exhibited between Nov. 1, 1954, and Nov. 1, 1955.

Choice of the date was made at a meeting of the committee held last week at the Sheraton Astor Hotel. Original date set for the poll, when the committee drew up its first plans last June, was the first two weeks in January, 1955.

Inability to get the poll under way for the January date and a desire to avoid conflict with the Academy Oscar awards in March were given by the poll committee as its reasons for setting the new date for the voting.

The committee decided to withhold other details of its plans pending a meeting immediately after the holidays with the COMPO governing committee, which consists of Sam Pinanski, Wilbur Snaper, and Al Lichtman.

Those attending the poll committee meeting were Alice N. Gorham, United Paramount Theatres, Detroit, chairman; Frank H. Ricketson, Jr., and Paul Lyday, Fox Inter-Mountain Theatres, Denver; Paul Levi, American Theatres Corporation, Boston; Ralph Russell, Palace, Canton, O.; Roy Kalver, Decatur, Ind., president, Allied Theatres of Indiana; Harry Mandel, RKO Theatres, chairman, COMPO press relations committee; and Charles E. McCarthy, COMPO information director.

Balaban Expresses Optimism

NEW YORK—Barney Balaban, president, Paramount, told stockholders in a letter included with last week's dividend disbursement that he expects the company's last quarter earnings to compare very favorably with last year. Basing his opinion on the company's backlog of product to be distributed, Balaban also was optimistic about next year's prospect for the company.

The Paramount studio was the recent scene of two important company meetings; one, the first international promotion coordination meeting in the history of the company, and the other a special divisional sales managers' conference. Following intensive daytime sessions, Don Hartman, Paramount executive producer, held a reception at his home; and seen, left to right, are Jerry Pickman, vice-president in charge of advertising-publicity-exploitation; star Martha Hyer; Herb Steinberg, national exploitation manager; and Burt Champion, publicity manager; and Gordon Lightstone, Canadian general manager; Howard G. Minsky, mid-east division manager; Sidney Deneau, assistant to the distribution vice-president; and Hugh Owen, home office distribution executive; and Hartman; Mrs. A. W. Schwalberg; Schwalberg, president, Paramount Film Distributing Corporation; Lightstone; Oscar A. Morgan, short subjects and special features sales manager; and Y. Frank Freeman, the studio head.

Warner's Income Up In First Full Report

NEW YORK—The net profit of Warner Brothers Pictures for the 12-month period ending Aug. 31, 1954, was reported at $3,976,000 or $1.60 per share on 2,474,329 shares outstanding on that date. The shares include 35,466 which were reserved for exchange for shares of the former Warner Brothers Pictures.

This is the first full year report since the 1953 reorganization of the company. Film rentals, sales, etc., increased $600,000 over the previous year from an increase in the remittable foreign film rental, which was offset by a decrease in domestic film rentals.

Income for the fiscal year amounted to $72,093,000. For the year ending Aug. 31, 1953, the income was $70,157,000, which combined the operations of the new Warner company and subsidiaries for the six months ending on that date and those of the predecessor company, excluding theatre operations, for the previous six months. In the latter category, the net profits were listed as $2,908,000.

The report shows that the company has made advances of $18,536,773 to independent producers, recoverable from net proceeds of distribution. It further pointed out that two pictures were produced abroad utilizing in part unremittable currency and that this policy will be continued.

Warners has declared a dividend of 30 cents per share on common stock, payable Feb. 5, 1955, to stockholders of record Jan. 14, 1955.

Exhib Group Raps Prices

MEMPHIS—The convention of Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi last week instructed outgoing president James Carberry to write to the general sales managers of all major film companies regarding the film shortage, and also went on record that prices were definitely too high.

Jack Keiler, general manager, Columbia Amusement Company, urged the exhibitors to regard TV as an ally, and to use it in advertising films.

At a luncheon at the Variety Club, the delegates heard M. A. Lightman discuss the Variety Club's convalescent home for victims of rheumatic fever.

The following officers were elected, Nathan Flexer, Waverly, Tenn., president; Carberry, Little Rock, board chairman; Roy L. Cochran, North Little Rock; R. E. Cox, Batesville, Miss., and Tom Ballas, Memphis, Tenn., vice-presidents. Representatives to TOA will be K. K. King, Searcy, Ark.; Leon Rountree, Holly Springs, Miss.; and M. A. Lightman, Memphis.

TOA Finance Group Advances

NEW YORK—Herman Levy, general counsel, TOA, has announced that the organization sponsored Exhibitors Film Financial Group, Inc., has filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission for permission to sell stock. The necessary papers were signed at an EFFG meeting in Memphis, attended by EFFG directors Alfred Starr, E. D. Martin, and E. H. Rowley.

"There's No Business Like Show Business"

This 20th Century-Fox musical in color and CinemaScope is a guaranteed hit at any boxoffice!

Money seems to be going out of style the way Darryl F. Zanuck spent it to make this opulent Irving Berlin masterpiece a picture that will long be remembered!

Marquees will be put to it—handling the stars appearing in it. The DeLuxe Color does an exceptional job, too!

The music will send them out happy—anyway you look at it.

It's great!

C. V. Yates Sues Rank

NEW YORK—Suits for a total of $2,630,000 have been filed by Charles V. Yates against the J. Arthur Rank Organization, Bertram Goldberg, and Samuel Howard. In one suit, Yates claims that the Rank Organization made agreements with him and the other defendants whereby he agreed to sell 44 full-length features, and that the Rank company failed to deliver.

In a second suit, Yates claims that he entered into an agreement for 40 pictures with Aran Pictures, Ltd., which he claims is a Rank subsidiary, but no delivery was made. Complaint alleges that Aran is a non-existent corporation and that the agreement was produced by three defendants or Rank agents, and that the Rank company is the real party to the suit. Both deals were alleged to have been made in 1952.

Yates claims that Goldberg and Howard were his partners in business until May 30, 1953, and since have refused to sue with him.

B'way Stage Mulls Toll TV

NEW YORK—The rejection or acceptance of toll TV by the legitimate Broadway theatres will depend on whether it builds or lowers grosses, claimed Herman Levin, president, League of New York Theatres, last week.

In the past, Levin said, television which has presented portions of plays to home television audiences has not harmed the boxoffice.

Virginia Mayo, star, Warners' "The Silver Chalice," recently joined radio-TV star Art Linkletter and the National Tuberculosis Association in offering the world premiere of the film to the town or city recording the greatest mail sales of Christmas Seals in proportion of population during the first three days of the annual drive.

Stereophonic Sound Exploitation Mapped

NEW YORK—A special exhibitor campaign book on stereophonic sound devised for promotional use by theatres having complete stereophonic sound installations has been prepared by 20th-Fox, it was announced last fortnight.

The latest sales aid issued by the company as part of its program of servicing exhibitors with technical and promotional material on recommended procedures for CinemaScope exhibition, the book contains complete advertising, publicity, and exploitation campaigns for the merchandising of stereophonic sound to the public.

Acknowledgment is made in the manual to Sidney L. Bernstein, Granada Theatres, Ltd., London; Joseph F. Bugala, Monessen Amusement Company, Greensburg, Pa.; and other exhibitors for ideas and campaign suggestions which have been incorporated into the press book.

Reproduced in the book are campaigns submitted by theatremen on stereophonic sound which have resulted in boxoffice advantages achieved in conjunction with the presentation of CinemaScope pictures.

The publicity section of the manual contains a series of news stories describing the development of stereophonic sound and its association in the worldwide success of CinemaScope.

The advertising section presents a group of eye-arresting ads selling stereophonic sound. Ads, in one, two and three column sizes are adaptable for any CinemaScope pictures in stereophonic sound.

Special ads for campaigns on "The Miracle of Stereophonic Sound," CinemaScope short subject explaining stereophonic sound and comparing it to regular optical sound, also are carried in the ad section.

The manual also contains suggestions for the exploitation of stereophonic sound via lobby and theatre-front displays, heralds, throwaways and direct mail pieces to local civic and scientific organizations, newspaper editors, broadcasters and telecasters and to the theatre's regular mailing list. Ideas for space-getting stunts and contests also are outlined in the section.

The book is being sent to every one of the 3,500 theatres in the United States and Canada currently equipped with stereophonic sound. It is also going to all leading production and exhibition executives and advertising and publicity directors. Theatremen overseas also will be supplied with the press book.

Filmmakers Plans Ad Campaigns

CHICAGO—Irving H. Levin, president, Filmmakers Releasing Organization, told a sales meeting last week that the company will expend its largest cooperative advertising campaign to date on the 1955 releases of "Crashout," and "Mad At The World." The number of theatres signed up for the two releases under the company's exhibitor guarantee plan already exceeds the 1,000 mark of "Private Hell 36," he said. Levin reported that record ad outlays include trade press advertising and the "biggest teaser ad campaigns in recent years," for ordinary paper insertion.

Canadian Alliance Eyes Sunday Films

TORONTO—Sunday movies make their appearance in many different ways, despite the ever careful and watchful eye of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada. A typical method is the advance charge via club membership in cultural film groups or film societies whose purpose it is to study the old and unusual in motion pictures.

But whatever the method used, be it the late TV film show which so many of the stations offer, or the club program, the Lord's Day Alliance is forever trying to find ways of closing down the offending organization. For instance, not too long ago, the Alliance, whose only reason for existence is the policing of Sunday observance in Canada, other than in Quebec where Sunday is wide open after lunch, sent out a bulletin "with a view to proper understanding of Canadian law in respect to Sunday observance."

Recipients of the notice included a number of organizations conducting cultural, non-profit motion picture exhibitions on Sunday. Under the Lord's Day Act in Canada, which under Section 4, forbids work which is performed as part of one's ordinary occupation, or which is done for gain, is also prohibited hiring of others to do such work.

As A. S. McGrath, general secretary, contended, "The actual handling of money on some day other than Sunday is illegal if such money is required as a condition of admission to a Sunday film showing." The Act makes it illegal for film exchanges to rent films for Sunday showing. Showings must not be charged for, be kept strictly private, and without advertisement, and should be "infrequent rather than usual."

Besides the cultural approach, another is the religious one, where subjects with a Christian or Biblical theme are exhibited in churches, halls, and even theatres for a "free-will offering." Active in this field is International Religious Films, of which L. A. Lamber, Toronto, is the director. Films are in 16mm. With the presentations, the National Opera Company, a local vocal group, presents some of its principals in portions from standard light and grand operas.

In seeking locations with 500 seats or more, Lamber advises theatre and auditorium owners that "we will also arrange and pay for all advertising and publicity, chairman, pianist, ushers, etc. With the films, each Sunday, we will present several excellent singers from the National Opera Company and will, occasionally, present the entire company with principals, and a large, well-trained chorus."

Canadian Comment

The value of non-theatrical short business is indicated in a news-letter sent out by Crawley Films, Limited, telling the story of a sponsored short subject which already represents an expenditure of $100,000. The film was made for Aluminum, Limited, for the business and industrial community. It is a comprehensive presentation of the company's principal plants in different parts of the world. The film is in libraries throughout the world, and 250 prints have been struck. By the end of last year, according to a letter from the company's director of public relations, some 700,000 persons had seen the film. Three-fifths of the film's cost was in prints. The cost per person for an audience's undivided attention was 14 cents.

A pattern for newspapers all over the North American continent is being set in Toronto through the interest in the film industry by the city's two evening newspapers. The lead in bringing the "new look" to the amusement section was taken by The Telegram, first with a change in the makeup of the amusement pages, then with the acquisition of the country's top film reviewer, Clyde Gilmour, and the rehiring of Stan Helleur to write about matters including entertainment. Immediately that The Telegram's program was seen, its leading competition and opposition, The Toronto Daily Star, the largest daily in Canada, began to clean up and remake its amusement pages to conform. One of the first things it did was the elimination of patent medicine ads from the amusement pages. One product of the new and better relationship of the industry to The Telegram was a meeting between industry leaders and executives of The Telegram. The luncheon, the first of a monthly series, was hosted by the Motion Picture Distributors. Theme of The Telegram's thinking was set by the managing director, J. Douglas MacFarlane, who said: "The movies are still the great mass entertainer, regardless of TV." None of the subjects was given a final answer, but the approach was exploratory in nature.

Perry, New York City, sound engineer with Westrex Corporation, who addressed two sessions of the workshop on the fundamentals of magnetic recording and recording techniques.

About People

NEW YORK—George Murphy, long known as Hollywood's unofficial ambassador of good will, last week assumed public relations duties at MGM in addition to his current representation on behalf of the studio and industry with theatre organizations.

In his new function, Murphy will be the studio's contact with national, state, and local civic bodies, as well as other activities formerly assigned to the late Ida Koverman.

Murphy has enjoyed prominence as the motion picture representative on many important national committees. As head of the Hollywood Coordinating Committee, he has received many honors for his public and philanthropic service, and last year was honored by the Boy Scouts of America for his efforts on their behalf.

NEW YORK—Marvin Camras, inventor of modern magnetic recording, will be presented the famed $1,000 John Scott award for scientific achievement on Jan. 31 at the Hotel Statler, it was announced last week. The 138-year-old award, the same honor bestowed on such notables as Thomas Edison, Orville Wright, and Madame Curie, will be presented at the winter meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Camras' extensive inventions currently are used in radio broadcasting, stereophonic and motion pictures, home entertainment, office dictation, memory units for high speed electronic computers, instrumentation, guided missiles, and many others.

NEW YORK—William A. Harper last week was named associate producer by Fred Feldkamp in his newly formed FF Productions. The independent company has scheduled two untitled features for production in 1955. Harper headed the Marine Corps photographic department during the Korean War. More recently he has been working in television and commercial film production.

HOLLYWOOD—Merian C. Cooper has announced a verbal agreement with Lowell Thomas to co-produce with him the third Cinerama feature, "Seven Wonders of the World." When the deal is formalized, it will not interfere with Cooper's job as vice-president in charge of production, C. V. Whitney Pictures, Inc., and president, Argosy Pictures, in partnership with John Ford.

NEW YORK—George Kerasotes, Springfield, Illinois, and Walter Morris, Knoxville, have been appointed to TOA's committee on organization and membership. The two have made plans to intensify the efforts of TOA to expand its membership.

NEW YORK—William P. Rosensohn, former executive vice-president, Box Office Television, has been elected president of the company, replacing Milton Mound, who is the new board chairman.

NEW YORK—Roy Brewer, Allied Artists branch operations head, will shift his headquarters from Hollywood to New York next month, it was announced last week.

Warners Gives "Army" To Emergency Relief Group

NEW YORK—The original negative of Warners' production of Irving Berlin's "This Is The Army," is being turned over permanently to This Is The Army, Inc., on behalf of Army Emergency Relief, it was announced last week.

With the cooperation of the army and of theatre owners and their patrons throughout the country, "This Is The Army" earned in excess of $7,800,000 for Army Emergency Relief. In December, 1943, Robert Patterson, Under-Secretary of War, praised the picture as a notable and "effective stimulus to civilian morale" and as a "splendid contribution to Army Emergency Relief" by Warners and Irving Berlin.

Defendants Win Point

NEW YORK—United States District Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo recently denied the petition of David H. Isacson and the law firm of Malkan and Isacson for a new trial in the suit of Fisher Studios, Inc., against Loew's, Inc., Paramount, and others, asking triple damages for violations of the anti-trust laws. The new trial was asked to annul the court's order disqualifying David H. Isacson from acting as attorney for Fisher Studios.

The attorney for the defendants charged that Isacson, while employed as an attorney by Sargoy and Stein, had access to confidential information from the files of the defendants.

Malkan and Fisher will be the new firm representing Fisher Studios, Inc.

UA Theatres Board Re-elected

BALTIMORE—The board of United Artists Theatres was reelected last week. Lineup includes Joseph M. Schenk, chairman; George P. Skouras, Joseph M. Seider, Bertram S. Nayfack, Milton Shubert, Harry D. Buckley, Douglas M. Moffat, Milton C. Weisman, Raymond V. Wemple, A. H. Frisch, and James M. Landis.

Regional Meetings Discuss RKO Plans

NEW YORK—Howard Hughes' "Underwater!" will go into general release on Feb. 9 with a minimum of 32 openings in branch key cities, Walter Branson, RKO world-wide sales manager, announced last week at the opening session of the company's regional sales meeting at the Hotel Warwick.

Branson also brought the sales staff up to date on details of the forthcoming product to be delivered for RKO release during 1955 by six major independent producers.

Midwestern sales personnel heard the same announcements in Chicago, where Sam Gorelick, midwestern district manager, presided at the opening of another regional sales meeting being held concurrently with the New York conference.

J. R. Grainger, president, RKO, discussed forthcoming releases and future productions at the Chicago meeting at the Blackstone Hotel.

Joseph Tushinsky, co-inventor with his brother, Irving, of Superscope, discussed the wide-screen process at both meetings. Herbert H. Greenblatt, domestic sales manager, took over the sales sessions in New York following Branson's opening remarks.

The meetings in both cities began with morning screenings of "Underwater!," after which a luncheon preceded the initial sales sessions. In New York, the Superscope-Technicolor release was shown at the RKO 58th Street, while in Chicago the film was screened at the Esquire. Also screened was "The Americano."

Another regional sales meeting was conducted at the Hotel Jung, New Orleans.

Tax Take Declines

WASHINGTON—A report of the Internal Revenue Service shows tax revenue from the federal admissions tax for September to be $1,530,000 as compared with $4,572,000 for September, 1953. The difference was caused by the Mason Bill's lowering of the taxes.

This Was The Week When . . . .

Allied Artists acquired distribution rights to "The Mighty Fortress," two-reeler featuring Billy Graham. . . . UA's "Black Tuesday" was set for its New York premiere at the RKO Palace on New Year's Eve. . . . Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower sponsored a special performance of UA's "Romeo And Juliet" at the Dupont, Washington. . . . Allied Artists' "Tonight's The Night" opened at the 52nd Street Trans-Lux with the New York Foundling Hospital receiving first night receipts. . . . Mara Corday, featured in U-I's "So This Is Paris," embarked on a tour of Indianapolis, Philadelphia, New York, Charlotte, Cleveland, and New Orleans to publicize the film. . . . The American premiere of Associated Artists' "The Bells Of St. Trinian's" was postponed one day to today (Dec. 22).

Carroll L. Puciato, president, Carroll Pictures, Inc., concluded negotiations with A. P. Waxman's organization to handle national exploitation, publicity, and advertising of "Princess Cinderella." . . . Jack L. Warner announced that Warners planned to produce "Faust" in color and CinemaScope, utilizing material from both the story and opera. . . . A contest sponsored by U-I and held by the famed Art Students League resulted in model Jeannie Johnson being chosen the ideal fifth century beauty and sent on a tour for "Sign Of The Pagan." . . . Allied Artists completed negotiations with Masthead Productions, Inc., under which it will release the latter's recently filmed feature, "Murder Is My Beat," starring Barbara Payton and Paul Langton. . . . Herbert J. Yates, Republic president, announced that five pictures are scheduled to go before the cameras within the next six weeks, including "Man From Texas," "I Cover The Underworld," and "Rebel Island."

by the large-sized screens. Today's filmmakers must concern themselves with the problems of casting which are difficult. It seems that there is enough medium talent around, but not enough top talent, and while it was thought movies would receive an assist from television via the development of people, this has not worked out along those lines to any great degree.

Stereo sound came in for its share of praise by Siegel, who claimed it was helpful in getting across musical numbers in proper fashion. He paid tribute to 20th-Fox for the development of the medium although there was no extra revenue in it. They have been spending huge sums of money and time in the development purely for the sake of increasing quality, he said.

Picture making no longer figures on "success insurance" via the use of top "names" in casts, but rather values today are pegged at good stories with top directors utilizing stars that fit the parts. The stars themselves prefer this method which is to their benefit as well. The future should see more and more participation deals in the making of pictures which will be helpful in turning out quality product in that it provides more incentive.

DIRECTION, DIRECTION: Irving Rapper, director of the forthcoming King Brothers' production, "The Boy And The Bull," was in town and reported that he was getting ready to start the film in Spain in CinemaScope and Eastman Color with no known stars. He expects to find a suitable youngster abroad, a bull in Spain, and extras either in Spain or in Italy. Technicians will come from both Hollywood and England, with most of the filming being exteriors.

The film, which will be released by RKO, is expected to cost over a million, with Rapper being in for a piece of the picture. He hopes that Ernest Hemingway may do the prologue for the film. Rapper reported that an advertising and promotion campaign on a national scale is presently being worked out so that the finished picture will have the proper presentation.

While on the subject of pix made abroad, he noted that critics, particularly in New York, who are influential and who are widely-read elsewhere, are frequently impressed with films made abroad and imported here. What they don't seem to realize is that those entries are made without any censorship problems, and if these aforementioned critics would spend their time and energies in combatting censorship here, then moviemakers might be able to turn out better product which might receive some of the accolades awarded foreign entries. He thought audiences should be the censors and would soon make their likes and dislikes known. Naturally, good taste should be considered in picture-making.

NOTES AND BARS: Leon Birnbaum, 20th-Fox's studio music editor, who recently worked on "There's No Business Like Show Business," was in town, and what was more natural for him than to meet the press so that he could talk about said film. Naturally.

Since we know from nothing about music, the conversation was a little one-sided, and he related that the advent of stereophonic sound on the sound scene has meant more work for music editing and scoring experts. In the old days, there used to be three or four sound tracks, whereas now there are as many as twenty in one film. Multiple tracks are also advantageous in that they permit more latitude in dubbing films.

Birnbaum reported that there are only about 40 top music editors in the field, and the demand is ever-present for more. Television is utilizing motion picture techniques in music and are raiding the ranks of the studios, further depleting the supply of skilled men in the field. Musicmen are busier than ever these days because of CinemaScope and stereophonic sound, especially as there has been an increase in musical subjects with the addition of special shorts to programs.

PREMIERE DEPARTMENT: A brilliant page in entertainment history was written at the Roxy as "There's No Business Like Show Business" was world premiered in a benefit for the Actors' Fund of America.

The opening, transformed into a gigantic tribute to the acting profession, saw a record outpouring of entertainment luminaries, and a record number of spectators who jammed to overflowing the Times Square area, renamed Show Business Square in honor of the occasion.

On hand to greet the Darryl F. Zanuck presentation were the celebrated song writer Irving Berlin; four of the picture's six stars, Ethel Merman, Dan Dailey, Johnnie Ray, and Mitzi Gaynor; and producer Sol C. Siegel.

A 21-foot bridge was erected under the marquee over which the stars passed on their way into the red-carpeted lobby. In stage ceremonies immediately preceding the start of the picture, Walter Vincent, president, Actors' Fund, accepted a check from emcee George Jessel for monies raised from the sale of tickets to the opening.

A sell-out crowd of world-wide celebrities packed the Criterion for the United States Olympic Fund benefit world premiere of Paramount's "The Country Girl," starring Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, and William Holden.

A check for the entire opening night proceeds was presented to Colonel Edward P. F. Eagan, chairman, National Olympic Finance Committee, by Thomas J. Watson, Sr., board chairman, International Business Machines Corporation, and Bernard F. Gimbel, Gimbel Brothers. The latter two industry leaders were members of the premiere committee. The money will be used to help send an American team to Melbourne, Australia, for the 1956 Olympic Games.

Draw Poker Readies First

NEW ORLEANS—Draw Poker Films of Texas, Inc., new independent production company, was recently organized here with George M. Leppert as president.

A Hollywood technical crew is being assembled and it is expected to make the first film in Spain.

Interested in the venture are Leander Perez, Jr., Jack Auslet, Bentley Byrnes, Oliver Livaudais, General Ray Huft, U.S. Congressman F. Edward Hebert, and George Tessier.

England

LONDON—Associated British Cinemas, circuit arm of Associated British Pictures Corporation, will spend 3,000,000 Pounds in the next three years to modernize its 400 theatres. Sir Phillip Warter, chairman, further revealed that by March, 1955, ABC will have 260 theatres equipped for anamorphic projection, while a total of 350 will have wide-screens installed. The ABC decision not to enter the commercial television field has freed at least 1,500,000 Pounds for theatre renovation.

Vistarama Available

HOLLYWOOD—Carl W. Dudley, president, Vistarama, Inc., announced last week that the Vistarama anamorphic lens, compatible with CinemaScope, will be available to all producers on a "very reasonable basis."

Dudley also disclosed that an American releasing corporation will use Vistarama in photographing "The Day The World Ended."

Gordon Simmons, owner, North Star Drive-In, Aldergrove, near Vancouver, British Columbia, and Mrs. Simmons were recently greeted by Diana Lynn on the set of Paramount's "You're Never Too Young" on a recent visit to the studio. Simmons, formerly in distribution, is a prominent member of the Canadian Motion Picture Pioneers.

Benjamin Sales Drive Winners Announced

NEW YORK—United Artists' Los Angeles, Denver, and Minneapolis branches have won the second lap of the Robert S. Benjamin drive, it was announced last week by William J. Heineman, vice-president in charge of distribution, and B. G. Kranze, general sales manager, who are serving as co-captains.

The Los Angeles exchange is managed by Richard Carnegie; Bud Austin heads the Denver branch; and Abbott Swartz leads the Minneapolis exchange.

The Benjamin drive will award a grand total of $50,000 in prizes to winners among United Artists' 32 U. S. and Canadian branches, which are competing in three groups of equal grossing potential.

Runner-up to Los Angeles in the first group is the Washington exchange, while the San Francisco branch takes third place. In the second group, second place has been won by the St. Louis exchange, with the Seattle branch finishing third. The Milwaukee branch captures second prize in the third group, and Salt Lake City wins the third-place award.

The six-month drive honoring Benjamin, board chairman, is being run in three six-week laps capped by an eight-week home stretch. The campaign backing United Artists' blockbuster releasing program closes March 5.

Johnston Sees Rise In Foreign Market

HOLLYWOOD—Eric A. Johnston, president, MPAA, predicted following his return from a one-month trip to the Far East last week that American film companies should gross $210,000,000 from the foreign market, including Canada, in 1955.

Visiting Japan, the Philippines, and Australia, Johnston discussed industry problems with government officials in each country. In Japan, Johnston held preliminary talks on the new film pact to replace the current one which expires in April, 1955. He also presented for study a number of alternate compensatory deals aimed at aiding the Japanese economy and at getting frozen American film revenues out of the country. The American quota under the present pact is 102 films per year and from July, 1953, till July, 1954, a total of $9,000,000 was remitted from the country, $5,600,000 in remittances and the remainder in compensation deals. Japan still has $7,000,000 in blocked American funds.

In the Philippines and Australia, Johnston said, compensatory deals must be resorted to more and more in order to get blocked funds out of these countries. In the Philippines, there is $4,000,000 in blocked funds and in Australia $500,000.

Although Johnston held talks in all countries in order to unfreeze blocked funds, no decisions were made. Johnston saw the possibility of returning to Japan if projected negotiations on a new pact hit a snag. He also said he would visit India, Ceylon, and other countries in the Far East next year. He called the Far Eastern market an expanding one for American motion pictures, pointing especially to the Indian market, which at present yields little to American film companies.

Asked to estimate the current foreign world boxoffice gross, Johnston said his "wild guess" would be about $2,000,000,000, converting foreign currencies at the official rate of exchange. In another "wild guess," Johnston estimated the gross foreign film rentals of American companies as between $550,000,000 and $600,000,000.

Technicolor Veterans Honored

HOLLYWOOD—Seventeen employees of the Technicolor Corporation who have completed 25 years of service during 1954 were honored at a banquet at the Rodeo Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel last week.

All these employees, who joined Technicolor in 1929, were presented with gold watches by Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president and general manager, in commemoration of the anniversary. The honored employees are Malcolm H. Ames, David L. Balser, Alfonso Blanco, A. E. Carlson, Gifford Chamberlain, Russell W. Conant, Ed Cook, Louise Corkran, Melville Coyle, Thomas Di Sessa, Francis J. Downey, Paul W. Fassnacht, Charles J. Fitzsimmons, Florence Harris, Arthur G. Jacobs, David J. Johnson, Floyd Lee, Gerald Mackenzie, Walter Myron, Glen Twombly, and Clarence Warne.

Mrs. Warburton Mourned

HOLLYWOOD—Mrs. Ruth Wilcox Warburton died here last week. She was the sister-in-law of Nicholas M. Schenck, president, Loew's, Inc., and the sister of Fred Wilcox, a director at MGM.

Field Marshal, the Viscount Montgomery, was a recent visitor to Warners studios as a guest of Jack L. Warner. From left to right on the set of "The McConnell Story" are Warner, June Allyson, Montgomery, and director Gordon Douglas.

*Valuable Exploitation Keys
To Profitable Merchandising*

Natlynn Joins Boost For "Show Business"

NEW YORK—A million dollar national advertising and promotion campaign linked to the release of Irving Berlin's "There's No Business Like Show Business" has been set by Natlynn Junior Original dresses, which are merchandising a full line of modes inspired by the 20th-Fox picture, it was announced last week.

One of the largest film-linked drives ever programmed, the campaign, to run for six months, will feature national TV, radio, newspaper, and magazine advertising, comparable regional and local level advertising, cooperative promotions including fashion shows and contests, and local theatre cooperation by the dress manufacturer's thousands of department and specialty store outlets. Full-page advertisements in Women's Wear Daily recently announced the campaign. Advertisements in Charm and Glamour have been scheduled to break this month.

Five thousand complete campaign kits prepared with the explicit purpose of obtaining full participation by five thousand retail outlets have been serviced to facilitate store promotions during the peak Christmas holiday season and concurrent with the picture's initial playdates.

Each kit contains an array of showmanship ingredients, including vinyl window streamers; radio and TV spot announcements; a fashion show; a booklet on how to run a fashion show; a four-page letter on how to make the promotion a success at the retail store; newspaper advertising mats; reproofs of this mat for interior displays; and a complete set of 8x10 glossy photographs showing the six styles in the promotional line plus production stills from the film.

Also featured in the kits are a complete list of 20th-Fox field exploitation representatives to be contacted for campaigns in their respective territories; specially recorded promotional records with a full orchestral accompaniment presenting the entire line of modes; hang tags fully crediting the picture; advertising proofs of the Charm magazine insertion; and tearsheets of the Women's Wear Daily full-page announcement ad.

Five hundred thousand Irving Berlin's "There's No Business Like Show Business" hang tags have been made up, and every piece of correspondence leaving Natlynn during the next six months will carry one of them. Fifty thousand cardboard boxes have been prepared in various sizes in which all Natlynn dresses will be shipped.

Co-op promotions are also an important part of foreign exploitation, as this recent London shop window saluting United Artists' "The Barefoot Contessa" proves. The Nylan tie-in, neatly underlining the film title, landed big-space displays in stores throughout Great Britain.

"Paris" Plugged Via Contests

NEW YORK—In one of the most comprehensive national merchandising tieups in the history of U-I, the company and Bates Fabrics, through two leading national manufacturers, Jerrell and Tailored Juniors, have joined forces for a national "So This Is Paris" contest with the winners in two different groups being awarded trips to Paris for two, via Pan American World Airways.

In the first section of the contest, the 60 Independent Retailers Syndicate member stores are running a dress design contest among their customers. Jerrell and Tailored Juniors are supplying their IRS outlets with special promotional material and are asking them to run special full page local newspaper advertisements tying in with the contest.

The second section of the contest involves the several hundred Jerrell and Tailored Junior retail outlets.

Huge Ad Campaign To Hail "Vera Cruz"

NEW YORK—A mammoth national magazine advertising campaign reaching a combined readership of 185,000,000, the most extensive ever undertaken by United Artists, has been set in behalf of Hecht-Lancaster's "Vera Cruz," Technicolor spectacle in Superscope starring Gary Cooper and Burt Lancaster, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation.

The jumbo ad slate heralding "Vera Cruz," first film released in the Tushinsky brothers' Superscope anamorphic process, will spot vivid color displays ranging from a half to a full-page in This Week, Dec. 19; Metro Comics, Dec. 26; Look, Dec. 28; Life, Jan. 10; American Weekly, Jan. 16; Seventeen, January; and Red Book, February.

The unique Life display consists of two half-page units, one featuring Gary Cooper and the other Burt Lancaster, appearing on facing pages. The Metro Comics insertion is in the form of a comic-strip synopsis of the Technicolor epic's action highlights.

All ads for the Superscope spectacle, with the exception of the half-page appearing in Metro Comics, are highlighted by arresting scratch-board drawings of Cooper and Lancaster. United Artists initiated the scratch-board art technique with the highly-effective campaign for Hecht-Lancaster's "Apache."

The wide-ranging "Vera Cruz" national ad program is timed to provide maximum support for Christmas holiday regional premieres throughout the country and saturation area bows that will follow shortly thereafter.

Lou Cohen and Norm Levinson, Loew's Poli, Hartford, Conn., recently created the above lobby cut-out which was a life-size blow-up of stars in 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business," along with that of Levinson and fellow employees. The standee was so realistic, one woman patron actually said to an aide, "Don't they get tired standing there all the time?" The display will be used again for other films in the future, including Loew's Golden Jubilee when that arrives.

Six Indies Set 12 For RKO '55 Release

HOLLYWOOD—Six major independent producers will be filming a minimum of 12 top-budgeted pictures, all of them in color and wide-screen process, for distribution by RKO with the start of 1955, it was disclosed last week by J. R. Grainger, president.

In addition, with six films currently in release and a backlog of four of the biggest-budgeted, most promising productions ever made by RKO completed and awaiting spring and summer release, the company is in the strongest, most mobile position it has been in since coming under the management of Howard Hughes.

Each of the following independent units has a schedule of major attractions ready to go before the cameras in color and wide-screen process for RKO release, Edmund Grainger Productions, King Brothers Productions, Benedict Bogeaus Productions, David Butler Productions, Nat Holt Productions, and Sol Lesser Productions.

Grainger has two deluxe pictures ready for filming in Technicolor and Superscope, "The Treasure Of Pancho Villa" and "Oh, Promised Land."

Just completed by Benedict Bogeaus for RKO release is "Escape To Burma," and an untitled top-budget picture.

First of three to be produced and directed by David Butler, "Miracle At Santa Anita," starts in January. In February, King Brothers start their "The Boy And The Bull," to be filmed in color and CinemaScope entirely in Spain. In June, cameras roll in England on "The Two-Headed Spy."

Nat Holt Productions has just completed "Seven Bad Men," filmed in Technicolor and Superscope, while a second production, as yet untitled, is slated to start within six weeks.

Already completed by Sol Lesser Productions is "Tarzan's Hidden Treasure," to be followed within the next few weeks by another Lesser film for RKO release.

The Editor Speaks

1954 WAS the year Hollywood settled down and showed the world, a doubting world at that, that they could produce, with remarkable consistency, high grossing motion pictures.

PAUL MANNING

THE LONG and impressive list of smash hits released during 1954 proves that, at long last, our picture makers have found the formula for the kind of film fare that hits the boxoffice gong mightily.

How ABOUT THESE as an example: "The High and the Mighty," "Rear Window," "On The Waterfront," "Magnificent Obsession," "The Caine Mutiny," "Knock On Wood," "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers," "Sabrina," "A Star Is Born," "Three Coins In The Fountain," "Carmen Jones," "The Barefoot Contessa," "White Christmas," "The Student Prince," "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "The Sign Of The Pagan," "The Country Girl," "Dial M For Murder," "Black Widow," etc., etc., etc.

THIS EDITOR can find no better way of winding up the year than by acknowledging the above production hits with a sincere "Well done, Hollywood."

WITH A QUICK glance over the simply sensational program for 1955 we know that Hollywood is really all out to prove the truth of its slogan, "Movies Are Your Best Entertainment."

Problems, Triumphs Crowd '55 Calendar

THE biggest story of 1954 would be hard to find in the mass of important events that crowded the industry's calendar in 12 short months. After a near miss in a previous legislative session, Congress, apparently aware of exhibition's crying need, took action on a tax reduction measure. Those states still operating censorship machinery saw their censor boards reeling from a series of heavy judicial blows at year end in the wake of Supreme Court decisions. The words "product shortage" took on increased significance as the majors curtailed production and the independent producer found a ready market for his wares. Exhibitor organizations took every opportunity afforded them in an attempt to stimulate production, with National Allied backing a plan submitted by producer Hal Makelim and TOA organizing a corporation composed of leading exhibitors to finance production.

Clashes between exhibition and distribution were frequent and bitter, with Allied threatening to appeal for industry regulation by the government if alleged trade abuses were not amended, but year's end saw renewed efforts toward arbitration and an excellent chance for speedy establishment of such machinery. The technical revolution continued unabated, and standardization was still a thing of the future, with many sources contending that it was not desirable and that variety was a boxoffice stimulant. Also looming large as 1954 drew to a hectic close was the spectre of subscription television, and exhibitors were prepared to fight it via a committee led by Allied's Trueman Rembusch and TOA's Alfred Starr.

The last mentioned committee was a precursor to what might very well be the big story of 1955, merger of the two great exhibitor groups. The voices favoring such a move comprised some of the most in-fluent men in exhibition, and as was pointed out repeatedly in 1954, exhibitors everywhere are faced with the same problems. Allied and TOA might differ in their approach to solving these difficulties, but it was felt throughout the industry that the best minds of each working together could certainly speed their solution.

For 36 years, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR has been an interested observer and eager participant in industry affairs, and so to MPE's headlines of '54.

A Quick Look At January Product Discloses Real Picture Quality

NEW YORK—All of the film companies put their shoulders to the wheel and their best foot forward during 1954 in a concerted attempt to bring back to the motion picture theatres the lost patron on quality alone.

A casual glance at announced product for January, 1955, shows that Allied Artists has scheduled "The Big Combo," with Cornel Wilde, Richard Conte, and Jean Wallace; "Treasure Of The Ruby Hills," with Zachary Scott and Carole Matthews; and "Bowery To Bagdad," with the Bowery Boys; Columbia has "The Violent Men," with Glenn Ford, Barbara Stanwyck, and Edward G. Robinson, in Technicolor and CinemaScope; "The Bamboo Prison," with Robert Francis and Dianne Foster; and "Masterson Of Kansas," with George Montgomery, also in Technicolor.

Lippert releases for January are "They Were So Young," with Scott Brady, Raymond Burr, and Johanna Matz, and "The Silver Star" with Marie Windsor, Barton MacLane, Edward Buchanan, and Lon Chaney; while MGM comes through with "Bad Day At Black Rock," with Spencer Tracy, Robert Ryan, and Anne Francis, in color and CinemaScope; and "Green Fire," with Stewart Granger, Grace Kelly, and Paul Douglas, in color and CinemaScope; and Paramount releases "The Bridges At Toko-Ri," with William Holden, Fredric March, Grace Kelly, and Mickey Rooney, in Technicolor.

RKO will have "Tarzan's Hidden Jungle," with Gordon Scott and Vera Miles, and "Underwater," with Jane Russell, Richard Egan and Gilbert Roland, in Technicolor and Superscope; United Artists has "Black Tuesday," with Edward G. Robinson and Jean Parker; "The Beachcomber," Technicolor production, with Robert Newton and Glynis Johns; and "Battle Taxi," with Sterling Hayden; U-I has "So This Is Paris," Technicolor, with Tony Curtis, Gloria De Haven, and Gene Nelson; "Destry," Technicolor, with Audie Murphy and Mari Blanchard; and "West Of Zanzibar," with Anthony Steel and Sheila Sim; and Warners has "Young At Heart," in WarnerColor, with Doris Day, Frank Sinatra, and Ethel Barrymore. Other companies have not yet announced their schedules, but theatregoers can expect the same high quality.

and withdraws from the IMPPA due to its expansion program.

24—Al Lichtman, 20th-Fox distribution head, proposes an all-industry conference to iron out trade problems.

. . . TOA independent production finance group comes into being, headed by Sam Pinanski. . . . COMPO board approves national audience poll.

McDonald, TOC general manager; Jay Goldberg, Realart and Lippert; Noah Schechter, representing the Schubert interests here; and Abe Maius. Reelected were Robert C. McNabb, 20th-Fox branch manager; Samuel J. Weiss, 20th-Fox salesman; William Onie, exhibitor; Allan S. Moritz, film representative; Attorney Saul M. Greenberg; and Harry Hartman. Herman S. Hunt and Vance Schwartz, former chief barkers, were named delegates, and Onie and Schechter, alternates, to the 1955 convention of Variety International.

Reports received here indicate that efforts will be made in the next session of the Ohio legislature to revamp the state's censorship law so it will by-pass objections of the federal and state Supreme Courts. One such proposed law would delete the word "censorship" by setting up a "board of examiners" which would issue "certificates of approval" instead of a censorship seal.

Record collection of $24,005 on the recent third annual "Old Newspaper Boys' Day," sponsored by the Variety Club, was reported after a final audit. The money is used for work of the Variety Club Foundation for Retarded Children and the local Goodwill Industries.

Nostalgic memories were revived with the recent reopening by R. V. "Without Pity" Bows
Sans Censor Seal

CLEVELAND — Emanuel J. Stutz, Circle, announced last fortnight he had concluded arrangements with IFE for the first picture to play here without a censor seal since the recent Ohio State Supreme Court ruling against the censor law.

The picture selected, "Without Pity," opened at the Circle and had been four times rejected by past censors, in its entirety.

Said Stutz, "I am proud of this opportunity to demonstrate to press and public of Cleveland the fine type of motion picture entertainment that our city had previously been deprived of. As a family man, citizen, and exhibitor I have devoted the last decade to this fight against the right of single individuals to rule the cultural and intellectual life of our city, and I consider this booking of 'Without Pity' to be a celebration of a truly historic victory for all of Ohio."

Frank Mandros, Cabin Creek, W. Va.; and Harold Moore, Charleston, W. Va.

Away on business recently were Jay Goldberg, Realart and Lippert, to West Virginia points; Robert McNabb, 20th-Fox branch manager, to Dayton, O.; and Lloyd Krause, RKO branch manager, to Columbus, O. . . . Annual Christmas parties for branch staffs have been the usual enjoyable affairs. The MGM party in Hotel Metropole included a dinner, games, dancing, and a visit by Santa; the 20th-Fox party in Hotel Alms was a family affair, with dancing following the dinner; and U-I had a screening followed by supper at its Film Row quarters.

T. O. McCleaster, 20th-Fox division manager, was in. . . . Lou Korte, formerly a 20th-Fox shipper, has returned as a booker after service in the armed forces. . . . Jay Goldberg, Realart and Lippert, is spending the holidays in New York City combining business with pleasure.

Duke Clark, new UA branch manager in Dallas, is remembered here as Paramount branch manager in Columbus, O., when the company had an office there many years ago. . . . Ralph Buering, Paramount public relations department here, was in Los Angeles on business. . . . Dorothy Habel, former biller, is now booker's clerk at U-I, replacing Violet Wagner, resigned. Lillian Toetfert, formerly cashier's department, is the new biller. . . . Sympathy was extended to Harold Rullman, Columbia salesman, on the death of his mother.

Cleveland

The Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors Association has set Jan. 6 as the date for its annual general meeting to elect officers. Henry Greenberger is the current organization president.

Harry Weiss is handling publicity for two United Artists' films, "Vera Cruz" in the Cleveland, Syracuse, Buffalo territories, and "Romeo and Juliet" in the Buffalo area.

Ohio Censor Asks
Reel Fee Slash

COLUMBUS, O. — Despite opposition from members of the Ohio censor board, chief censor R. M. Eyman said he is in favor of cutting the $3 per reel censor fee in any new censor legislation.

Eyman said that the amount of money obtained from film distributors in censor fees should be no more than necessary to cover costs of operation of the board. In the last fiscal year, the board received $233,774 in fees. The board's budget amounted to $48,336, leaving a surplus of $185,438, all of which went into a fund to support the audio-visual educational program in Ohio schools.

Eyman said he had no idea where the state would get the money necessary for future operation of the audio-visual program. He hinted that the censor board should be divorced from the education department but did not say to which state department it should be attached in the future.

The chief censor said that board members told him that complaints of film distributors about the $3 per reel fee "is just an alibi." Film men have declared that the fee is in reality a tax, assessed unlawfully. Under the Ohio Supreme Court's recent 5-2 decision, operations of the board have been declared "unlawful" and the board cannot prosecute distributors for failure to submit films for censorship and pay the fee.

Provision for lowered censor fees possibly will be included in the new legislation for a reinforced censor law asked by Governor Frank Lausche. Eyman declared that any new law would "have to be much more specific than the old law."

In the past, the Ohio board has cut out action which they thought might stir up racial or religious trouble or incite to crime. But Eyman thinks it is too difficult to pre-judge such effects. "The time to crack down on such films is when it has been plainly shown after public screening that they have caused trouble," he said.

In answer to a query about whether the board can draft a new law which will be acceptable to the Legislature and which will stand up in future court trials, Eyman said, "I wouldn't say I'm too optimistic about it. But then I'm not pessimistic, either."

The chief censor said that "it is quite clear that the law has not been declared unconstitutional nor void." He added that the policy of accepting films voluntarily submitted will be continued until the Legislature acts on the problem. The $3 per reel fee also will remain in effect until that time.

The Cleveland Cinema Club held its annual Christmas luncheon in the Higbee Lounge immediately following a business meeting presided over by its president, Mrs. Marue Jackson. Mrs. Grace Thomas, entertainment chairman, has arranged a special program for the event. . . . Joe Rembrandt, a victim of a Thanksgiving Day automobile accident, is again in circulation on Film Row.

Newest addition to Film Row service is Edward Boger's new restaurant in the Warner Bldg. . . . Irving Field, Cortland, Cortland, O., canvassed Cortland and nearby Mecca and Johnston to line up 54 merchants on the holiday screen advertising program. They also are sponsoring a free kiddy show at the theatre on Christmas night, with door prizes for each child. Field, in addition to donating the use of the theatre, is providing the Christmas tree and a bag of candy to every child.

Ernest Sands, Warners, branch manager who underwent surgery in New York, has been dismissed from the hospital and is now convalescing with members of his family. Ernie's mother, Mrs. Kate Shneiweiss, a heart patient in the same hospital, died there.

Florence Friedman, IFE office manager and booker, resigned to take full charge of the new home she and her husband bought a month ago. Her successor is Barbara Salzman, who joined the organization recently as secretary, and she, in turn, is succeeded by Dolores Van Staveren, previously with Columbia. . . . Abe Kramer, Associated Theatres, after a week of Ohio weather, returned to his Florida winter home. . . . Now vacationing in Florida is Alfred Vermes, independent theatre owner, and his family.

The annual Associated Circuit Christmas party was held in the Hallenden Hotel with the circuit executives as hosts to all of its managers. The girls of the organization are not in on the celebration. . . . Mrs. Nat Barach, wife of the NSS branch manager, returned from a ten day pleasure trip to New York. . . . Bernard Rubin, Imperial Pictures, was in Chicago to attend a Filmmakers sales meeting.

Detroit

"Duel In The Sun" is playing day and date showings through the city, booked by Albert Dezel through James Sharkey, Cooperative Theatres, and Jack Haynes, United Detroit Theatres. . . . A new branch office of the Van Praag Productions Company has been opened in Detroit's Dime Building. William Woodburn, former industrial film writer and producer, will be in charge. . . . MGM's ticket selling workshop, Boston, was brightened by United Detroit's Alice Gorham as a panel member representing the subsequent run side of the picture at the session.

District manager for Cinerama, Frank Upton, has been in Milwaukee and Chicago looking over the local pictures. . . . David Idzal got back from a coast trip in time to meet Mitzi Gaynor. Miss Gaynor, a former Detroit, with her husband Jack Bean, was given the home town girl treatment.

Dezel office manager Anne O'Donnell has moved across town to the west side.

Empress owner Joseph Ellul is in Florida running the Sans Souci Apartments at Fort Lauderdale. . . . Mel Donlon is operating at the Beverly. . . . Walter Conlan is managing the Globe, former manager Basil Julian having gone out of the theatre business to enter another field of endeavor.

Indianapolis

In a recent bulletin issued by Allied Theatre Owners of Indiana the new military post clearance plan was discussed; as were how to establish a sliding scale; whether censorship is "unlawful" or not; the playing of "This Is Your Army"; and comments on Allied's bill to regulate film prices. Another bulletin covered questions for the FCC to answer in connection with Zenith's petition to grant immediate authority for toll-TV; recent sales policies of Columbia, U-I, and Warners; and a request that members cooperate with Indiana Film Transit on service.

Pittsburgh

John McGreevey, head booker and buyer, J. P. Harris Circuit, was stricken ill on the way to Junction City, O., to bury his mother, and was rushed back home to the Mercy Hospital, where he got some good news. Surgery won't be necessary but a strict diet will.

Film Row was shocked and saddened at the sudden death of 47-year old Bob Leiber, Braddock owner. He had apparently been in perfect health only a few hours before he was stricken with a heart attack. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jack Judd, he being manager, Columbia exchange, have booked passage on the Caronia for a South American cruise.

The entire local U-I sales force attended a three day meeting in Cleveland on the new releases soon to be presented to the trade. Branch manager Frances Gheil and salesmen Maurice Silverberg, Milt Ripp, and Pete Quiter attended.

West Virginia Wheeling

Operators of the Capitol, Court, and Victoria have been accused of violating federal anti-trust laws by conspiring to force the Rex to close. The charges were disclosed in a suit filed on behalf of Publix Wheeling Theatre Corporation, owners, Rex, in U. S. District Court here. George Zeppos, manager, Rex, signed the legal document. Defendants are Wheeling Theatres, Inc., West Virginia Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., Victoria Amusement Company, all of Wheeling; Genessee Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., and Dipson Theatres, Inc., both of Batavia, N. Y.; Nikitas Dipson, New York; and Thomas Callas, manager, Victoria, here. According to the suit the defendants operate 42 theatres in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia. Dipson serves as general manager of the circuit. The suit charges "the defendants, together with other firms or corporations in which Dipson has a proprietary interest, have combined and conspired to monopolize the exhibition of first-run motion pictures in Wheeling, and the operation of first-run theatres in that city, and to eliminate the competition of the plaintiff . . . and to restrain interstate trade and commerce in the licensing of motion pictures for first-run exhibition." Zeppos further declares that the Dipson group is engaged in a scheme to deprive the Rex of first-run product by offering "unreasonably high prices" to the various film distributors. Zeppos' complaint further alleges that Dipson has threatened to cut off the

Cinerama Marks First Birthday

PITTSBURGH — The first anniversary of "This Is Cinerama" at the Warner was an all day celebration featuring civic and state celebrities.

The Golden Triangle Association representing the downtown merchants honored Cinerama with a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel's Monongahela Room. Samuel Rosen, executive vice-president, Stanley Warner Corporation, received a citation from Bernard R. Kant, vice-president, Golden Triangle Association, saluting Cinerama for the business it has brought to downtown Pittsburgh. Rosen was also the guest speaker for the luncheon. These proceedings were taped and broadcast over KQV that evening.

Later that same afternoon, the Cinerama management played host to over one hundred press, radio, and TV people with a cocktail party at the theatre.

The evening performance was sponsored by the Fraternal Societies of Greater Pittsburgh which represents most of the nationality groups in the tri-state area. On hand to help in the festivities was Carnegie Tech's famous bagpipe section of the Kiltie Band.

A plaque was presented to the Stanley Warner Cinerama Corporation by Joseph H. Sudimack, president, Fraternal Societies of Greater Pittsburgh, citing Cinerama as "a force for creating a closer bond between the peoples of the world."

Stanley Warner and Cinerama executives present for the event, in addition to Rosen, were Harry M. Kalmine, vice-president, Stanley Warner; W. Stewart McDonald, vice-president and treasurer; Lester B. Isaac, director of exhibition for Cinerama; M. A. Silver, zone manager, Stanley Warner; Clifford E. Giesseman, in charge of group sales for Cinerama; and Zeb Epstein, southeastern division manager for Cinerama.

Rex's supply of product unless the Rex's owners give the Dipson circuit a 50 per cent interest in the theatre. He also complains that Dipson has repeatedly urged the Rex's owners to close the house and purchase a half-interest in the Victoria for $42,500. He maintains "that the Court, Capitol, and Victoria" are being operated at a loss until such time as the defendants have achieved a monopoly of first-run pictures and first-run theatres in Wheeling." In conclusion, the owners of the Rex ask that the Court perpetually restrain the defendants from continuing to carry out the alleged conspiracy; that the defendants be prohibited from licensing for first-run showing in Wheeling more than three out of every four successive motion pictures released by each distributor; and that for a period of two years, the defendants be prevented from making an agreement with any motion picture distributor that would bar the Rex from showing a picture at the same time as one of the other theatres." The defendants were ordered to reply to the charges by Dec. 26. Callas was included as a defendant in the action, because Zeppos charges that since July, 1954, he has been operating the Victoria on behalf of the Dipson circuit.

Minneapolis

Projectionists in both independent and circuit theatres, members of IATSE Local 219, and operators of the houses are deadlocked on wage issues after expiration of contracts covering the past three years. The union is asking for a 30 per cent increase spread through a three-year contract. The theatre operators are countering the union demand with an offer which embodies a 25 per cent across-the-board cut and a one-man drive-in booth. The contract between the union and the independent houses expired Nov. 30. Contracts between the union and RKO Theatres and Minnesota Amusement Company expired Dec. 5. Talk of the possibility of a strike, possibly early in January, increased after union negotiations filed strike notices and asked assistance from both federal and state labor conciliators. A strike against the theatres would be the first of its kind here in about 30 years.

Exhib Services

HARTFORD, CONN.—The motion picture exhibitor has the responsibility of assuming "a position of leadership" in the community in all civic, communal philanthropic, and charitable matters, according to Albert M. Pickus, owner, Stratford, and national vice-president, TOA.

In a press statement here, Pincus asserted, "Next to the official family of a community, the theatre owner should earn and keep the number one spot in the good and welfare of his town."

"This is a fast-moving world but there is no question that the motion picture industry will keep pace with it—always seeking to give the greatest comfort and best kind of entertainment to its patrons."

"The producers and distributors are learning that they must produce and distribute the kind of pictures that the patrons of theatres want to see and not what the distributors and producers think those patrons should see."

"They should also have learned that there are no longer any 'seasons' or 'peaks' in exhibition but that a good picture will draw customers to the theatres any time during the year."

"Present indications are that the future of the motion picture industry is brighter. The industry has gone through its most vital transition period since the advent of radio. During the past five years, it has weathered well the competition from television and it has learned to utilize that medium to advertise motion pictures and as a training ground for development of new stars."

"No known form of entertainment can seriously compete with a steady flow of good pictures presented in modern motion picture theatres. The public is entitled to the very best in motion pictures. It is also entitled to the very best in comfort, in equipment, in courtesy, and in cleanliness. The exhibitors of this country have invested millions of dollars in the installation of new equipment in order to be able to present all processes to their patrons—wide-screen, CinemaScope, stereophonic sound, Perspecta-sound, VistaVision. They are prepared to invest more money for innovations that result from scientific research and that will make for the best and more enjoyable viewing of motion pictures."

"Closed Temporarily By Circumstances Beyond Our Control." This, in a small newspaper advertisement and on a box-office-window sign, was the notification given to the public by Paul V. Wallen, lessee-proprietor, Grand, that the theatre had been darkened. Appearing the morning after the projectionists closed the first-run by absenting themselves from the booth, in sympathy with picketing members of Local 14, Stage Workers Union, the insertion was the first information in local print that Grand faced trouble. The stagehands had picketed for eight days, during which the four operators reported for work. However, Local 322 voted for a walkout if the dispute were not settled and so notified Wallen. The controversy pivoted around the number of stage workers to be payrolled. Local 14 insisted on two, as had been the case for years. Wallen claimed one was all he required and patronage warranted.

Ben Smith, whose selling experience here, upstate, and elsewhere goes back to early silent days, returned to his native city for a medical checkup and treatment at Memorial Hospital. Smith, who moved with his wife to St. John, N. B., 18 months ago and who has done some checking in that area for MGM (his brother, Abe, is longtime MGM branch manager for the Maritime Provinces), was visited at the hospital by Charles A. Smakwitz, Stanley Warner zone manager; George H. Schenck, Tri-State Automatic Candy Corporation branch

Among many other merchandise tie-ups made recently on 20th-Fox's "Desiree," Roxy, New York City, was one with Helena Rubinstein on their "Command Performance" perfume. This resulted in the above special Fifth Avenue window display.

The Variety Club will give a farewell dinner for Charles A. Smakwitz, Stanley Warner zone manager, who has been promoted to a similar post in the larger Newark, N. J., sector, effective Jan. 1. Chief Barker George H. Schenck said a dinner was "the least we can do to honor Charlie Smakwitz, in view of all he has done for Tent 9, the motion picture industry and the city of Albany." He heads the Heart Fund, whose principal project has been Camp Thatcher. Smakwitz has been the industry's liaison here with the Governor's office.

Death came suddenly but painlessly to Edward F. Foley, 76, for 14 years aide at the Strand, a few hours after he had finished work. His wife, a niece, and two nephews survive.

Grace Kelly, co-star, Paramount's "The Country Girl," whose father, John, and brother, Jack, and sister-in-law are former U. S. Olympic stars, recently inaugurated "Olympics Day" at the International Winter Sports Show at New York's Madison Square Garden by launching the Olympic Fund bobsled. The fund will benefit from the world premiere of the Paramount film at the Criterion. All proceeds will go to send a U. S. Olympic team to the games next year in Australia. At the helm of the bobsled is Stan Benham, U. S. bobsled driver in the 1948 and 1952 Olympics.

Mitzi Gaynor, star, 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business," is seen displaying the "Draw Me" girl award which she recently received in New York after having been voted the ideal "Draw Me" girl by students of Art Instruction, Minneapolis.

Gloversville

Vandalism took a new turn when the wide-screen at Schine's Glove, adjoining police headquarters, was slashed its entire length and a large section was cut out, sometime after the theatre closed late at night. An usher's uniform was also ripped to pieces. Janitor Bert Morris discovered a rear door open. Theatre employees made temporary repairs to the screen, said to have cost $2,000.

Peekskill

Malvin Warshaw, manager, AB-PT's Paramount, is being transferred to the Juliet, Poughkeepsie, which will give him an opportunity to study art house operation, which has been the policy of the Juliet for the past 18 months. Succeeding Warshaw here is Fielding K. O'Kelly, who just joined the Paramount organization after having been with another circuit for the past 25 years.

Saranac Lake

Tony Anderson, Schine's Pontiac, recently obtained some fine co-op ads on "Woman's World" and "Sabrina." He also recently got a top front page center news break on a football rally he held.

Schenectady

Fabian's Erie, omitted Monday night screenings for a recital by Edna's School of the Dance.

Syracuse

To put across the art policy at Schine's Eckel, Frank Myers sent a special letter to members of Syracuse's Concert Organization, which has a considerable membership. He also appeared on radio and TV programs showing pictures and stills to audiences. On these programs, he had from five to as much as 15 minutes of time. A 40 x 60 was used in front of the theatre announcing the art policy and an easel was set up announcing coming attractions in the lobby, along with stills. Students and faculty of the University were made aware of the new policy at the theatre. Myers also got some swell newspaper breaks anent bringing the best in films as an art to town, etc.

NEWS OF THE

*TerritoryPhiladelphia Crosstown

The Arcadia closed for renovations and reopens Christmas Day. . . . Morris Packer, former theatreman, has formed a theatre service company for cleaning and shampooing of carpets and recovering of seats. He can be reached at HO 7-1771, 368 Daly Street.

Industry pioneers to be honored at the dinner of the Motion Picture Associates at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel on Jan. 18 are William C. Hunt, Abe Sablosky, Ben Amsterdam, and A. R. Boyd. Hunt began with a nickelodeon in Camden, N. J., in the early 1900's; Sablosky started with a nickelodeon in Norristown, Pa., at the turn of the century, and later became a vice-president, Stanley Company of America; Amsterdam began as a distributor in the early days and later became an exhibitor and formed the Atlantic Theatres circuit in southern New Jersey, while Boyd, in the industry since 1910, was co-founder, Stanley Company of America.

Through the cooperation of John C. Peden, Jr., manager, Green Hill, a preview of an Associated British Pathe Ltd. film was held at the theatre as a benefit for Smith Club's annual scholarship benefit.

William Rogers, Jr., production manager, "Hansel and Gretel," was in to work on publicity for the film, which is the SW Stanton's Christmas attraction.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment turned down a request to build a drive-in on the west side of Roosevelt Boulevard at Byberry Road. A. M. Ellis Theatres proposed to put the project on a 20-acre site now zoned limited industrial and "C" residential. It was to have cost $500,000, including purchase of the land.

Bill Kanefsky, William Goldberg's Studio, scored a laugh when he sent around to newspaper critics reasonable facsimiles of Gina Lollobrigida's famous contours made from bread dough. This, of course, was "subtle" exploitation of her latest film, "Bread, Love and Dreams."

Construction of one of the largest drive-ins in the country has been planned for a portion of the Duffield tract of more than 135 acres on the west side of Bethlehem Pike above Line Lexington. The site, with a pike frontage of about 2,000 feet and a depth of 3,200 feet, was zoned commercial at a recent meeting of the Hatfield Township supervisors. This property was sold recently to a syndicate, represented by Herbert F. Diener and Company. A commercial development, comprising a supermarket, junior department store and 30 smaller units also is being considered, it was announced. It was said that several of the larger motion picture circuits were interested in operating the drive-in.

Kenneth S. McGuire, manager, Playhouse, Washington, aided by U-I promotional representative David Pollard, may not have devised the most startling stunt in 1954 to promote a motion picture, but he certainly should be credited with one of the most original stunts developed in many a moon. To help promote U-I's "Sign Of The Pagan," McGuire recently took to the classified advertising sections of Washington newspapers to advertise: "Wanted to rent: Human skulls, must be aged. To be used for theatre decoration inspired by U-I's 'Sign Of The Pagan.'" McKenna not only got a full line of skulls as can be seen but obtained a feature story in The Washington Daily News and a picture break in The Washington Evening Star.

The salesmen were on their Christmas vacations; and many took the opportunity to make the Florida jaunt.

Sandy Gottlieb, Tri-State Buying and Booking Service, was on a Florida trip.

John P. Byrne, eastern MGM sales manager, was in for a few days conferring with Lou Formato and Bill Madden, district and branch manager, respectively.

Max Bronow, MGM booker, who recently underwent surgery, was back on the job; and thankful for all the industryites who were so nice to him during his siege.

Great plans are being made for the S-W Philadelphia zone office Christmas party. It should be a gala event as always. . . . Latest reports, confirmed by Kay MacNamee, on Bernice Herman Reier's pride and joy, now seven months old, are that she is a "living doll." Bernice is A. J. Vanni's former secretary.

Everyone was sorry to learn of the sudden death of Jean and Rube Pincus' father. . . . Arline Berman, Jack Brodsky's secretary, is leaving the company. . . .

Maryland Baltimore

More than 600 guests attended the Baltimore Variety Club's 16th annual dinner dance in the Emerson Hotel's grand ballroom. Henny Youngman, radio and TV star, was toastmaster. Out-of-town guests included Jack Beresin, Philadelphia, and George Hoover, Florida, past and present international chief barkers, respectively. . . . Rodney Collier, Stanley manager, put on an exceptionally big show for the premiere of "This Is Your Army." The Governor and Mayor attended, along with top Army brass; the 234th Army Band from Aberdeen, Md., marching units from Fort Meade, and a drum and bugle corps.

Burglars drilled a safe at the Mayfair, knocked off the combination, and stole the weekend receipts. An investigation showed no forced entry and it

MPA Dinner Chairmen Set For Pioneer Salute

PHILADELPHIA—District chairmen in charge of ticket sales for the dinner of the Motion Picture Associates to be held on Jan. 18 at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel were appointed at a membership meeting of the MPA at the RKO projection room last week. The appointments were announced by Sam Diamond, branch manager, 20th-Fox, and president, MPA.

The dinner, honoring pioneers of the area industry, will be held in conjunction with the gala dedication of the Nickelodeon in Franklin Institute, donated to the institute by William Goldman Theatres.

The chairmen and their areas are Tom Noble, Warners, Harrisburg, Pa.; Bill Hopkins, MGM, New Jersey; Jack Berger, UA, Scranton-Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Bud Bache, MGM, Philadelphia; and Eli Ginsburg, Republic, Delaware.

The $25-a-plate dinner will honor William C. Hunt, Abe Sablosky, Ben Amsterdam, and Al Boyd. Each of these men, with an aggregate of 200 years in the industry, has played an important part in the development of the industry in the Philadelphia area.

World famed actors, producers and directors, from Hollywood and New York, are expected to participate in the dedication of the Nickelodeon and the MPA dinner. George Jessel will be toastmaster of the dinner.

Goldman is general chairman of the dinner; Diamond is chairman of the dinner committee; vice-chairmen of the committees are Lester Kreiger, Stanley Warner Theatres; George Beattie, William Goldman Theatres; Lou Formato, district manager, MGM; and Lester Wurtele, branch manager, Columbia.

Goldman told the story of the Nickelodeon and the MPA dinner on radio station WIP last Sunday.

New Jersey Trenton

Jack Kosharek, house manager, Olden, has joined with the Junior Chamber of Commerce of this city in programming a Christmas party for one thousand needy poor children. A program of movies, including shorts and a holiday picture film and candy, popcorn, and toys for the toddlers is set.

Pennsylvania Allentown

Ward B. Kreag, Fabian city manager, and wife enjoyed three weeks of Florida sunshine at Miami Beach. Kreag was a little more than surprised on his return to find "White Christmas" still packing them in at Fabian's Colonial in its record four-week run.

Boulevard Drive-In's huge new CinemaScope screen has been darkened until better weather conditions about March 1, Harry Alberth, manager, reports. Alberth will spend his time between Rialto and Colonial two days a week, checking up on equipment at the Airport and Boulevard Drive-Ins, and a two weeks' vacation with his family.

Approximately 100 employees and their wives and husbands attended the annual Fabian Christmas party after a last show at the Colonial. Mrs. Ward B. Kreag, Mrs. Earl Arnold, and Mrs. Harry Alberth prepared the buffet table.

Nathan Silver, manager, Earle, was delighted to be able to advertise the opening of "Sign of the Pagan" at his theatre immediately upon a full page national advertisement of the picture in Parade magazine section appearing in The Sunday Call-Chronicle.

Bristol

The employees of the Bristol held their annual Christmas party at which they exchanged gifts. New Brenkert heads have been installed, the latest in sign letters, and new stage drapes put in place at this theatre.

Reading

Judge Forrest R. Shanaman, in Berks County court, sentenced an ex-Marine, Martin L. Kline, 19, to serve eleven-and-a-half to 23 months in jail for stealing $1,600 in cash from the Schad Theatres' Strand. In all, $907 was recovered.

Receipts from theatre and other admission taxes this year in Reading to Dec. 1 have been $123,315, compared with $130,729 for the same period last year, 11 months. City Treasurer John L. Hoch said he expects December, with an increase in tax revenues, to bring the total to $135,000 or more. If $135,000 is reached it will still be much below the total of $144,126 brought in by amusements ticket taxes in Reading for the whole of 1953.

J. Lester Stallman, manager, Astor, was invited to a showing for theatre executives in New York of Walt Disney's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." This picture will be the Astor's feature for the holidays.

Paul E. Reeser has again been named manager, March of Dimes campaign for January. Managers for seven eastern Pennsylvania counties held a meeting here to plan the campaign.

Representing Dr. Harry J. Schad, president, Schad Theatres, Inc., J. Lester Stallman, general manager, Schad Theatres, presented trophies to two Reading high school football greats of 1954, Jack Prutzman and Bruce Gilmore, at ceremonies in the Strand, managed by Kenneth Hinkle.

The ONE BEST since 1936.
Better REVIEWS!
More REVIEWS!
And MOST EASILY
SAVEABLE!

SAVEABLE REVIEW SERVICES were an innovation by MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR in 1936. Prior to that year many Trade Papers reviewed features and shorts, or at least listed them for reference purposes;—but none followed any uniform style or method that permitted saving in other than a heterogeneous glob in a scissors and paste pot scrapbook.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR changed all this! In 1936 it introduced a separate, saveable section, in which all reviews and indexes relating to any particular year were carefully brought to the executive theatreman for his current and future knowledge. Now imitated or adapted by most other Trade Papers, the basic method has never been improved.

But MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR went further than this! ONLY MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, down through the years, has maintained a 100% Review Coverage of ALL features and of ALL shorts, whether foreign or domestic, that were available to Executive Theatreman consideration. ONLY in MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR has continued to appear the MOST COMPLETE of all Reviewing Services. The record speaks for itself!

$200 per year (52 issues)
 IN THE U.S.A. AND CANADA

That's why . . . YOUR BEST TRADE PAPER . . . is EXHIBITOR!

Pictures in order of release, with principal players, are placed in the month of release. All dates are subject to change. Series westerns are indicated by a W following the title. AND FEATURING: THE SERVICESECTION

The tag end of 1954 certainly belonged to composer Irving Berlin, who had the unprecedented honor of being responsible for two films currently racking up fat grosses, Paramount's "White Christmas" and 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business," both of which will carry strong into the New Year. All this makes Berlin the man of the holiday season and gives the little fellow on his shoulder cause for merriment.

AS WE FACE THE NEW YEAR

A MUCH WISER industry executive once compounded what will probably live as the best known axiom of this industry, to the effect that "There is nothing wrong with this business that good pictures can't cure!"

As 1954 completes its history, we can look back at many months of "good pictures" and a "curing" of much of the public's boxoffice apathy that started in 1946. Good pictures once again made the difference. And better modern prices in the first-runs accounted for better national grosses than similar good pictures have received in many a day.

But there were still some things "wrong" that the "good pictures" didn't cure.

Mainly, there weren't enough of them. In many a key town and larger city, two first-runs could prosper but a third or fourth either needed to close or, through bidding or pooling, split the prosperity into smaller stacks. Subsequent runs and small towns where maximum patronage could be played off in three days could find one "good picture" a week but needed either to stretch it beyond the profit stage or to fill the rest of the week with secondary product that the public wouldn't buy.

Then also, the producers and distributors who owned the good ones naturally went after the last dollar, so that the theatreman doing a big gross, if only for a week or 10 days, found himself with little or no profit. And lastly, the industry seemed to be constantly beset with print shortages that made normal booking difficult or actually impossible.

To all three the answer seems to be the same. More good pictures!

So, at the year's end, and with frank and admitted piracy, may we wish all of our industry friends and theatre contemporaries A Bright and Prosperous 1955, with the assurances that "There is nothing wrong with this business that enough good pictures and prints can't make better!"

THE PERSONAL ACHIEVEMENT OF IRVING BERLIN

ADDING to the joyous outlook for 1955 are two lush musicals with the undeniable stamp of boxoffice greatness all over them, and both emanating from the distinguished musical pen of the celebrated composer, Irving Berlin.

To the best of our memory, no composer has ever before had two exceptionally big hits clicking away at the nation's first-runs within only a few weeks difference of national release dates, in the manner of "White Christmas" (Paramount) and "No Business Like Show Business" (20th Century-Fox). Judging from reports received from across the country, and from a lot of different types of theatres and towns, the Paramount show promises to set a record gross. And anyone who has had the pleasure of seeing the 20th Century-Fox show will guarantee that it also has what it takes to break the record barrier. So, in a season of big, impressive, and gilt edged motion pictures, we have Irving Berlin jockeying two of the certain money entrants.

Whether by chance or design, this is a personal achievement by a man who has contributed much to the music of our industry and of the nation. When the "Oscars" are awarded and the bows are given to greatness, Irving Berlin should be recognized as the man who contributed most toward a great start into 1955.

trade press last week at lunch and just talked generally, mostly about affairs Paramount, and from the session emerged the news that:

A. Twenty top quality features will be released in 1955, all of which are presently completed, and these will be released at the rate of two a month at least for the first six months. The only foreseeable problem that might complicate release would be a print shortage.

B. Company grosses will probably wind up behind last year despite the huge successes of features released, because of delays due to holdovers, contractual delays, print shortages, etc., but next year should see grosses rise to a new high with the 20 films scheduled outgrossing those years when more product was available numerically speaking. It was reported that at least half the films made at the studio are on a participating basis.

C. The executives present were very pleased that exhibitors were entering the production scene so that they will get first hand the real problems confronting producers. It will be a healthy thing to have them invest in pictures, and they will have a greater appreciation of the package of film that is delivered to their theatres. It will be further realized that in order to come through with quality, a deadline cannot be set and met, nor can pictures be turned out strictly for the sake of quantity.

Latest Bulletins

(Developments At Press Time)

Kassler, Reade Bare New Distribution Plans

NEW YORK—With the announcement of his company's acquisition of western hemisphere distribution rights of "To Paris With Love," Alec Guinness' first Technicolor comedy, Frank Kassler, president, Continental Distributors, Inc., today disclosed organization of a novel distribution plan designed to insure greater and preferred playing time for producers of specialized films, and assure a flow of product for exhibitors.

Known as the "continental plan," the program permits exhibitors to participate financially through the facilities of Continental Distributors, Inc., in the co-production, acquisition, and distribution of top-quality product, and is designed to ease the great product problem for specialized theatres.

Kassler made his announcement jointly with Walter Reade, Jr., president, Walter Reade Theatres, who is associated with him in Continental Distributors.

"The producer will feel the immediate effect in the assurance that his films will receive extended and preferred playing time in key situations," they declared, "and, since the exhibitor has an overriding financial interest in each Continental film, the planning, promotion, and advertising effort must necessarily be greater than for any other company's product."

Kassler declared that exhibitor participation in co-production and distribution would not entitle him to any reduction in normal terms.

"We feel," he said, "that the advantages to the exhibitor, in addition to an assured flow of quality product, lie in the fact that the films will be made available in local territories while still receiving the benefits of national publicity. The exhibitor will not only profit at the theatre level, but will share in the over-all profits of each film in which he participates. Further, an exhibitor will be able to plan his schedule so that 'panic bookings' can be eliminated."

As an example, if Chicago is established as a 10 per cent area, which means it accounts for 10 per cent of the national gross, then a participating exhibitor in that area would be permitted to participate in the plan up to 10 per cent of the established capitalization of the picture. He would have an opportunity to play the film first-run should he so desire and then he would supervise the further distribution.

Each capitalization will be different depending on the production costs, and participation by exhibitors in pictures will be on an individual picture-by-picture basis. Naturally, films can be bought by exhibitors who do not participate in the plan just as they buy any company's product.

Currently in release under the Continental banner are two Rank productions, "Tonight At 8:30," and "The Final Test."

DCA Officers Reveal Distribution Plans

Franchise Holders Named; Boasberg And Wormser Stress Low Overhead, Active Merchandising Of Each Film

NEW YORK—Tailor-made distribution, concentrating on one film at a time, and gearing to quantity product will highlight Distributors Corporation of America's film distribution, it was revealed last week at a press conference held by Charles Boasberg, vice-president and general manager, and Irving Wormser, vice-president and general sales manager.

Both Boasberg and Wormser stressed that "75 per cent of the major markets would be handled by the home office and the remaining 25 per cent will be sold under state franchises, operating under the supervision of DCA's home office. The home office supervision, coupled with genuine incentive selling will result in thorough marketing."

Within this framework it was revealed that the foreign market would remain open, and separate distribution deals would be made, picture by picture and country by country, treating each situation uniquely and tailoring it to fit specific products.

Boasberg and Wormser pointed out, "DCA with its low overhead and contracting and expanding operation, with its concentration on one film at a time, is in a position to generally distribute film at a 25 per cent distribution fee." Both Boasberg and Wormser stressed that DCA prefers to have an equity interest in the films that it distributes.

"Whenever possible we shall buy services and avoid the building of a high overhead, thereby committing us to quantity distribution. We now plan distributing four films a year and are in a position to step up this operation or contain it. We will avoid having a hungry distribution machine which has to be continually fed."

A major advantage of DCA's distribution was revealed when the vice-presidents revealed the active merchandising and exploitation plans of the company. Pointing to their first film in release, "Long John Silver," Boasberg and Wormser said that exhibitor stockholders joining with other exhibitors will have more than 400 theatres in the metropolitan area sponsor a "treasure hunt" tieup with Macy's department store, with similar arrangements in the works elsewhere.

The company is headed by Fred J. Schwartz. Franchise holders include Albany and Buffalo, Lewis J. Leiser, Leiser Film Distribution Company, Inc., Buffalo; Atlanta, Charlotte, and Memphis, Frank White, Howco Productions, Charlotte; Chicago, Max Roth, Realart; Cincinnati and Indianapolis, Jack Safer, Safer Film Distribution, Inc., Indianapolis; Cleveland, Imperial Pictures, Inc.; Dallas and Oklahoma City, Herman Beiersdorf, Dallas; Denver and Salt Lake City, Hal Fuller, Dimension Pictures, Ltd., Salt Lake City; Los Angeles, Irving H. Levin and Charles

Government May Name Allied As 16mm. Conspirator

WASHINGTON—A Justice Department spokesman confirmed last week that discussions are going on between the Justice Department and the federal attorney's office in Los Angeles concerning naming Allied States Association as a co-conspirator in the 16mm. anti-trust suit seeking the unrestricted sale of film to television. According to the spokesman, the final decision will probably be made by the federal attorney in Los Angeles.

The original complaint named six major producing companies, their 16mm. distributing subsidiaries, and two independent 16mm. distributors. TOA was cited for aiding the defendants in policing and enforcing their alleged restrictions on the sale of 16mm. film to outlets in competition with established theatres. At the time it was said that National Allied was not cited because the department had no evidence against it.

Kranz, Realart Pictures of California; Minneapolis, Donald Swartz, Independent-Lippert Distributors; New Orleans, Harold F. "Babe" Cohen, Lippert Pictures of Louisiana; Philadelphia, Jack Engel, Screen Guild; Pittsburgh, Bert M. Stearn, Co-operative Theatre Service; San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle, N. P. "Red" Jacobs, Favorite Films of California; Washington, Berkson-Mills, Equity Film Exchange; and Canada, J. L. Smith, Alliance Films, Ltd., Toronto.

Any deal or contract signed in the field must be approved by the home office which will also act as producer's representative on some of the films.

Strong Attractions Spur Holiday Grosses

NEW YORK—With strong attractions right down the line, Christmas week-end was very good indeed to the Broadway first-runs.

According to usually reliable sources reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"THE SILVER CHALICE" (Warners). Paramount claimed $67,000 for the opening week.

"THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE SHOW BUSINESS" (20th-Fox). Roxy reported $61,585 for Friday through Sunday, with the second week anticipated at $102,000.

"DEEP IN MY HEART" (MGM). Radio City Music Hall, with annual Christmas show on stage, garnered $108,000 for Thursday through Sunday, with the third week sure to top $187,000.

"THE COUNTRY GIRL" (Paramount). Criterion continued at a sensational pace with second week bound to exceed $65,000.

"CARMEN JONES" (20th-Fox). Rivoli jumped from $12,000 to $20,000 on the ninth week.

"ATHENA" (MGM). Globe was heading toward $17,500 on the opening week.

"GREEN FIRE" (MGM). Mayfair expected the opening week to reach $30,000.

"20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA" (Buena Vista-Disney). Astor opened with an excellent $63,000 expected on first week.

"A STAR IS BORN" (Warners). Victoria claimed a very good $23,000 on the fifth week.

"VERA CRUZ" (UA). Capitol had a great opening, with $95,000 estimated for the first week.

"3 RING CIRCUS" (Paramount). Martin and Lewis opus was heading toward a great $58,000 opening week.

"Gate" Wins Burstyn Award

NEW YORK—The Independent Motion Picture Distributors Association of America announced last week that the Japanese color film, "Gate Of Hell," has been chosen to receive the annual Joseph Burstyn Award as the best foreign-language film of the year.

Besley Crowther, motion picture critic, The New York Times, made the presentation to Jun Tsuchiya, Consul General of Japan in New York, at a luncheon of the Association yesterday (Dec. 28) at Rosoff's Restaurant.

The annual Joseph Burstyn Award was created as a memorial to the late Joseph Burstyn in honor of his services toward improved understanding among all nations through the free interchange of their finest films.

Film Board Names Myers

NEW YORK—Newly-elected officers of the Film Board of Trade were announced last week with Fred Myers, United Artists, president; Joseph Wahl, Republic, first vice-president; Joseph Sugar, United Artists, second vice-president; Myron Sattler, Paramount, treasurer; Saal Gottlieb, Loew's, secretary; and Lou Allershand, Loew's, sergeant-at-arms. Installation will take place in January. Louis Nizer continues as attorney and executive secretary.

Film Board Readies Move To Montreal

TORONTO—First move of equipment and personnel of the National Film Board to Montreal will begin in the fall of 1955. Dr. A. W. Trueman, government film commissioner, revealed his organization's plans at the opening of the Associated Screen News Workshop.

He said the NFB would be in its new Montreal headquarters in the spring of 1956, with the first movement due in the previous fall. The board plans to keep a staff in Ottawa which will likely number about 25 persons. Their duties will be largely liaison with government departments on sponsored film production.

Dr. Trueman said that work on the Board's new building on Cote de Liesse Road was held up on account of bad summer weather, but "not seriously." The building, he said, would house production, technical, distribution, and administrative activities under one roof. These activities are now being carried on in 11 different buildings in Ottawa, which handicaps both efficiency and morale.

The Board's existing facilities are being housed in 23,000 square feet less in the Montreal building than in the present dispersed situation in Ottawa.

In addition to an allotment of 125,000 square feet for existing facilities, 34,000 square feet are being provided for new services now provided in Ottawa by the Federal Department of Public Works, like the power plant and truck storage. The new facilities, the commissioner pointed out, would add nothing to the scope of the Board's activities. The Board at present was under the necessity of renting studio facilities at considerable expense. The new building would contain in the neighborhood of 400 National Film Board employees.

Costly French Film Is Detained By Customs As Possibly Obscene

NEW YORK—A multi-million dollar French motion picture, "Versailles," produced with the cooperation of a number of French government agencies, has been impounded by the United States Customs Department as "possibly pornographic," it was revealed last week by Jean Goldwurm, president, Times Film Corporation, which is importing the film for exhibition in this country.

Jacques Flaud, director general, Centre National de la Cinematographie, has cabled the Consul General in New York to take up the matter with the appropriate U. S. agencies, Goldwurm announced. The film importer also disclosed that he himself has telegraphed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, asking that they use their good offices "quickly to correct this blunder which would cause a misunderstanding between our two countries."

The Customs Department notice stated only that the picture, a Technicolor historical spectacle of French history which is the most costly and ambitious film ever produced in France, "has been temporarily detained as in possible violation of the provisions of Section 305 of the Tariff Act of 1930." (Section 305 refers to the admission into this country of obscene films, books, and art.)

"This ill-considered action on the part of a government agency is an affront to the Republic of France and to the French people," Goldwurm declared. "This film was produced with the full cooperation of the French Ministry of National Education. Moreover, the French Army permitted the Republican Guard and other military units to participate in the film. The most distinguished stars of the French theatre and screen are featured in 'Versailles,' which has been unanimously acclaimed by that country's critics and audiences as a great cultural achievement. This picture should be welcomed here at this time as an important instrument toward establishing the traditional cultural exchange between our country and France. Instead it is being treated as a piece of pornography. This is a gratuitous indignity to one of our closest and best-loved allies which will not be easily forgotten."

Herbert J. Yates, president, Republic, tries on the hat of Rear Admiral John M. Hoskins, the famous "Peg-leg Admiral," while the two recently visited on the set of "Timberjack." Rear Admiral Hoskins was in Hollywood from his Quonset Fleet Headquarters, Rhode Island, in conjunction with the forthcoming film story of his life, "The Admiral Hoskins Story," now being produced and to be released by Republic.

Goldwurm also pointed out that 20 per cent of the profits from the film, which has out-grossed "Gone With The Wind" and "The Robe" in France, have been assigned to the French government.

U-I sales and promotion executives recently gathered at the studios for an important annual sales conference to map distribution and production plans for 1955, and seen, seated, left to right, around the table are Mark Plottel, sales manager, Empire-Universal; David A. Levy, district manager; F. T. Murray, manager of branch operations and maintenance; Ray Moon, assistant general sales manager; David A. Lipton, vice-president; Milton R. Rackmil, president; Charles J. Feldman, vice-president and general sales manager; Alfred E. Daff, executive vice-president; Edward Muhl, vice-president in charge of production; Americo Aboaf, foreign general manager; P. F. Rosian, district manager; P. T. Dana, eastern sales manager; and Joseph Gins, district manager; and, standing, left to right, Clark Ramsay, executive assistant to Lipton; A. W. Perry, president, Empire-Universal; Fortunate Baronat, foreign publicity director; F. J. A. McCarthy, southern and Canadian sales manager; Robert Gillham, vice-president of Cunningham and Walsh; Maurice A. Bergman, eastern studio representative; Henry H. Martin, district manager; James Frew, district manager; Foster M. Blake, western sales manager; Irving Sochin, short subjects sales manager; Ben Cohn, assistant foreign general manager; Philip Gerard, eastern publicity manager; Harry Fellerman, sales head, U-I special films division; Archie Herzoff, studio advertising and promotion manager; Manie Gottlieb, district manager; Charles Simonelli, eastern advertising and publicity department manager; Morey Weiner, in charge of industry relations; Barney Rose, district manager; Jeff Livingston, eastern advertising manager; James Jordan, circuit sales manager; and Lester Zucker, district manager. Delegates were quite optimistic about new films.

Columbia Stockholders Support Management

NEW YORK—Columbia stockholders, at their annual meeting last week, approved all management proposals and reelected all directors.

Among the proposals approved by the stockholders was one to increase the amount of common stock from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 shares, enabling management to pay stock dividends and thereby conserve cash assets for further expansion.

Also approved was a proposal that all common stock be changed from no par into shares having a $5 per share par value. The employment contract of Harry Cohn, president, was extended.

Reelected as directors were Harry Cohn, Jack Cohn, A. Schneider, L. M. Blancke, N. B. Spingold, A. Montague, Donald S. Stralem, Alfred Hart, and Abraham M. Sonnabend.

A resolution by stockholder Victor A. Mardfin, opposed by management, that Columbia adopt cumulative voting for its stockholders' meetings was rejected.

The board reelected all officers. They are Harry Cohn, president; Jack Cohn, executive vice-president; vice-presidents A. Schneider, N. B. Spingold, A. Montague, B. B. Kahane, Jerry Wald, Paul N. Lazarus, Jr., Leo Jaffe, Joseph McConville, and Louis J. Barbano; secretary, Charles Schwartz; controller, Arthur Levy; assistant treasurer, Morton Wormser; assistant secretaries, Bernard Birnbaum and Duncan Cassell.

Schneider told stockholders that although the company has disposed of some of its very old westerns and cartoons to television, it has no intention of releasing its feature film library to video.

Reasons given for this were the value of the pictures for reissue and also their value if toll TV should come into being. The Columbia executive declared that he was not in favor of toll TV, but as a business man he must be prepared for any contingency that may develop.

New Releasing Group Planned

NEW YORK—Sam Nathanson, president, Gibraltar Motion Pictures Distributors, Inc., is currently forming a new releasing organization to handle independent product on the basis of a charge of 15 per cent, it was reported last week. The organization will be available, at first, only to organizations which make one or two pictures a year.

The new company will consist of 12 zone managers, each with one assistant, and a home office with a sales manager, assistant, an advertising staff and clerical aides. The physical films will be handled through National Film Service.

Nathanson contends that in almost all of the distribution centers, a maximum of 30 calls will cover 70 to 80 per cent of the territory.

Hayden Sues On "Suddenly"

HOLLYWOOD—Sterling Hayden, actor, sought damages last week in Superior Court of $250,000, charging that producers and distributors failed to give him equal billing with Frank Sinatra in "Suddenly." Hayden has also asked for an injunction to halt advertising or publicizing the film.

Wherever there's Music

...there's BMI

Music is heard and enjoyed everywhere and just about all the time. It is hard to imagine what life would be like without music.

It is equally difficult to conceive of any well-balanced program of music without hearing tunes that are licensed for performance through BMI.

For BMI has added immeasurably to the public's enjoyment of music during its 15 years of service to music and broadcasting. BMI, through its affiliated composers and publishers, continues to make available to the world a widely diversified music repertoire—popular, folk, standard, symphonic, operatic, educational—that fills every music need.

BMI-licensed music is heard everywhere, all the time—on radio and TV, in the home, the church, restaurants, night clubs, ballrooms, hotels, skating rinks, amusement parks, concert halls, juke boxes, motion picture theaters and wherever there's music.

National Board Votes "Waterfront" As Best

NEW YORK—"On The Waterfront," was chosen last week by the educational committee of the National Board of Review of motion pictures as the best film in 1954.

The other nine of the 10 best pictures chosen for 1954 were "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers," "The Country Girl," "A Star Is Born," "Executive Suite," "The Vanishing Prairie," "Sabrina," "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea," "The Unconquered," and "Beat The Devil."

The board chose "Romeo And Juliet" as the best foreign film shown in the United States during the year. Best director was Renato Castellani, director of "Romeo And Juliet." Grace Kelly was chosen the year's best film actress for her performances in "Country Girl," "Dial M For Murder," and "Rear Window." Bing Crosby's performance in "Country Girl" won him the vote for best actor. Best supporting actor and actress were John Williams, for "Dial M For Murder" and "Sabrina," and Nina Foch, for "Executive Suite."

Cited as outstanding examples of creativeness during 1954 were the choreography of "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers" by Michael Kidd; the modernization of traditional Japanese acting techniques by Machiko Kyo in "The Gates Of Hell" and "Ugetsu"; and the new methods of moving puppets employed in "Hansel And Gretel."

Club Women Select "Waterfront," "Country Girl"

NEW YORK—Two pictures, "The Country Girl" and "On The Waterfront," tied for top honors in the annual "best" selections of the editorial committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, it was announced last week.

Top acting awards of 1954 went to Bing Crosby in "The Country Girl" and Grace Kelly in "Rear Window" and "The Country Girl."

The Federation, with a total membership of more than 11 million women, also

COMPO's Audience Poll Is Subject Of Industry Ad

NEW YORK—The newspaper business is apprised of COMPO's coming audience poll in an advertisement COMPO published in the issue of Editor and Publisher last week.

Headed "A Newspaper Natural, It Seems To Us," the ad points out that cooperation with local theatres in conducting the poll seems a natural promotion activity for newspapers.

The advertisement emphasizes that the public poll "will in no way replace or interfere with the annual Oscar awards made in March by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Hollywood. Pointing out that the Academy awards are voted by studio production workers and consequently reflect professional preferences, the ad says, "The public poll we have in work will be aimed at registering the people's choice."

Emanuel Buys Loew's House

PHILADELPHIA—Jay Emanuel, theatre owner and publisher, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, announced last week the acquisition of Loew's Avenue B, Avenue B and Fifth Street, New York City.

The house will continue to be known as the Avenue B, and reopened on Christmas Day with United Artists' "Little Kidnappers" and "The Adventures Of Robinson Crusoe."

Brandt Theatres are handling the booking and supervision of the house.

announced that Elia Kazan was selected as best director for "On The Waterfront." Best children's performance went to Jon Whiteley and Vincent Winter in "The Little Kidnappers."

Other pictures selected as the 10 best were "Rear Window," "Executive Suite," "Broken Lance," "A Star Is Born," "Sabrina," "White Christmas," "Night People," and "Deep In My Heart."

Other awards went to "The Vanishing Prairie" as the best documentary and to "The Little Kidnappers" and "Hobson's Choice" as the best foreign films.

IATSE, Distributors Agree On New Pact

NEW YORK—A two year contract between IATSE and 10 major distributors was agreed upon last week, providing for an increase of $5.50 per week per employee and a reduction of the work week from 40 to 37½ hours. The raise will be retroactive to Dec. 1. Severance pay claims are also improved in the newly approved contract.

Representing IATSE in the negotiations were Harland Holmden, chairman of the committee and union secretary-treasurer; Louise Wright, international vice-president; Joseph D. Basson, international representative; and Richard F. Walsh, international president, who participated in the final negotiations.

The distributors were represented by M. M. Rosen, Loew's, Inc., chairman; C. A. Hill, 20th-Fox; Arthur Israel, Jr., and George Schur, Paramount; F. T. Murray, U-I; L. Leshansky, Warners; Eli J. Drexler, National Screen Service; Joseph E. McMahon and Albert Schiller, Republic; H. C. Kaufman, Columbia; J. K. Chapman, United Artists; and Frank E. Rosenfelt and William McShea, RKO.

About People

NEWARK, N. J.—Frank J. Damis, zone manager, who has supervised the Stanley Warner North Jersey Theatre Circuit for the past 10 years and is leaving that organization effective Jan. 1, 1955, has joined Confection Cabinet Corporation as a vice-president with headquarters in Newark, N. J., it was revealed last week. Confection Cabinet Corporation specializes in the servicing of vending machines and in the operation of candy counter concessions in theatres throughout the United States. In his new association, Damis also has combined with Ben, Manuel, and Sheldon Smerling and Charles Stern, Confection Cabinet Corporation, in the purchase of the Eastern Drive-In Corporation, a circuit of seven drive-ins in the Jersey area, consisting of Route 22 Union, Route 10 Morris Plains, Route 46 Totowa, Route 1 Brunswick, Route 4 Paramus, the "Shore," and "Fly In," Farmingdale. Damis will head the management and operation of the drive-ins in addition to his overall activities.

NEW YORK—Joseph A. McConville, president, Columbia Pictures International Corporation, since the company's founding, has been elected board chairman of that organization, it was announced last week. McConville is also vice-president, Columbia Pictures Corporation, the parent firm. At the same time the company announced the election of Lacy Kastner to the post of president, to succeed McConville. Kastner was also elected to the board of directors of Columbia International. Kastner, who has a wide experience in the foreign film field, has, for many years, been vice-president and managing director for the European continent and the Near East for Columbia International. He was named executive vice-president of the company in June of this year.

MGM Campus Gowns Set "Slipper" Tieup

NEW YORK—MGM has completed arrangements for a national tieup with Campus Bridal Gowns on "The Glass Slipper," starring Leslie Caron, and scheduled for release early in April to take advantage of the Easter holiday season. The attraction is another in "MGM's 1955 Motion Picture Theatre Celebration" which gets under way Jan. 1.

The entire spring output of the dress manufacturer will be geared to designs featured in the film and will be called "The Glass Slipper" collection. The show piece of the collection will be an exact copy of the ball gown worn by Miss Caron in the film.

Prior to the opening of the film in theatres throughout the country, the "Glass Slipper" and other wedding gowns by Campus will be featured in a special advertisement in Brides Magazine.

More than 110 stores in as many cities across the country, famous for bridal gowns, have been alerted to the forthcoming advertising display which will be accented by windows featuring Miss Caron's gown in "The Glass Slipper." MGM field press representatives will cooperate with all stores by furnishing material from the motion picture with due credit given to the local theatres and playdates.

"Underwater!" Tieins Mount

HOLLYWOOD—A rush of manufacturers to tie in their products with the underwater preview of RKO's "Underwater!", is already swamping the studio's publicity department, it was claimed last week.

In addition to the natural interest of makers of aqua-lungs, flippers and other skin diving equipment used in the movie, offers are pouring in from manufacturers of such waterproof products as flashlights, wrist watches, fountain pens, cameras, raincoats, "wetproof" cigarettes, and even a fish cannery.

Kelly In A Lather

NEW YORK—Forty-four million readers of national circulation magazines during January will view display ads spotlighting Grace Kelly, star of Paramount's "The Country Girl," under tieup with Lux Soap.

The ads, which will present the actress in portrait, will credit the picture. Full page ads will appear in Life, True Story, Family Circle, and This Week. This Week also will carry a large display ad, as will The American Weekly and Family Weekly (January 23).

Featuring a life-size statue of Ava Gardner and a display case of jewel-studded shoes, this window display in Los Angeles keyed effectively the engagement of UA's "The Barefoot Contessa" at the Fine Arts. The arresting exhibit is part of a nation-wide shoe promotion of "Contessa" line marketed by five leading manufacturers. Manager Bill Katsky's campaign included many fashion tie-ups and heavy radio-TV penetration.

Rail Tieup Aids "Freight"

NEW YORK—Through a tieup made last week by Sidney Kramer, RKO short subject sales manager, with the Association of American Railroads, railroad men throughout the country will be well informed concerning the RKO-Pathe two-reel Special, "Fast Freight," and will be directed to the theatres where the subject is playing, as dates are set.

Stories and stills will be distributed by the A.A.R. to the public relations directors of 85 major railroads and to editors of 40 company magazines. The 190 lines comprising the association are being urged to secure playdates on "Fast Freight" from RKO exchanges and to post them on their bulletin boards at all their offices and operation headquarters.

A special screening is being set up in New York for executives of a half dozen eastern lines that cooperated with Jay Bonafield, producer of "Fast Freight," story of a mile-long train operating on a strict time schedule, and the men who make it possible.

Ray Records "Show" Tunes

NEW YORK—Two of the songs featured in Irving Berlin's "There's No Business Like Show Business," "If You Believe," and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," have been recorded by Johnnie Ray for Columbia Records, it was announced last week.

The coupling of songs performed by Ray in the Darryl F. Zanuck presentation will receive a strong promotion campaign by Columbia keyed to theatre playdates of the 20th-Fox picture, which bows in 275 situations during the Christmas and New Year holiday season.

"Gangbusters" Contest Spurs Exhibs Interest

BOSTON—George Kraska and Douglas Beck, Embassy Pictures Corporation, last week announced the complete rules and regulations compiled by Terry Turner, Visual Drama, inc., on the New England and upper New York State theatre managers contest on the first full-length feature of "Gangbusters," written by Phillips H. Lord.

There are two fundamental rules of the contest, effort and results. Whether a sub-run, second-run, third-run, this has no bearing as against a first-run. The small theatre in a small town has just as much opportunity of winning one of the prizes of overseas trips as the first-run in a big town.

Two fundamental rules are applicable, and two rules only. First, the local activity in any manager's town or community must be documented by photographs or some means of identification so that judges not familiar with the territory, will know the stunt was carried through. This can take any form, a local community getting behind a manager to send him on one of the trips, etc. The proper distribution of tabloid heralds which will reflect itself in the attendance, is part of the campaign. The screenings for police chiefs, detectives, or for anyone who will work for the local interest, is also part of the campaign, as are newspaper tear sheets and other promotional efforts.

The judges will not be interested in your admission price or in the amount of money you take in, but only the number of paid admissions as it fits the capacity of the theatre. Prints for screenings may be secured from Joe Levine's office at Embassy, and Kraska and Beck, experienced exploitation men, will be glad to cooperate.

The judging will not take place until spring. Six sets of winners, six couples, will win trips. Four couples will go to Europe, and two to Honolulu. Couples who go to Europe will fly via first class de luxe airliner to and from the continent and will visit Stockholm, Paris, Rome, and London. The same de luxe airline accommodations cover the Honolulu trip, with hotel accommodations with meals available, tours, sightseeing, etc., included in both. It shapes up as a real inducement to theatremen.

Bon voyage gifts to winners include costume jewelry to the ladies; each couple will receive one man's and one lady's 17-jewel watch, two pieces of luggage, and a camera.

The trips may be taken any time during the period of Sept. 15, 1955, and March 1, 1956. A month's advance notice of the date on which the winners wish to depart is required, and the trip is non-transferrable. There is no cash settlement or substitution whatsoever on the trip or any of its component parts.

Jacksonville

Back in town were Louis and Jerry Gold, Gold-Dobrow Theatres, Pahokee, Fla. Jerry was recently elected 1955 president, Motion Pictures Exhibitors of Florida, and he came here to confer with Horace Denning, MPEOF board chairman, and Bill Beck, MPEOF secretary. Beck, who manages the Five Points, doesn't keep the public in the dark while the interior of the theatre is dark at night for a period of three weeks during the installation of a CinemaScope screen. He keeps the animated marquee lights ablaze with information about the new screen and redecorating work.

Other Florida installations of CinemaScope recently accomplished or scheduled in the near future were announced by Thomas P. Tidwell, 20th-Fox branch manager, as follows, Palms, West Palm Beach; Springs and Seminole, Tampa; Cameo and 4th Street Drive-In, St. Petersburg; Capitol, this city; Dixie Skydrome, Lake Worth; La Belle, La Belle; Apalachee Drive-In, Grand Ridge; Spears Drive-In, Graceville; Warner, Fort Lauderdale; Ridgewood, Daytona Beach; Outdoor Drive-Ins, Bartow and Clearwater; and Bunche, Ace, and Ritz, three theatres in Miami operated for Negro patrons only.

Miss Jacksonville for 1955 will be selected from among 15 contestants on the Palace stage next Jan. 7, reported George Krevo, Palace manager. The contest is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and the winner will be entered in the Miss America contest.

A pair of high-heeled shoes were glued to the sidewalk in front of the Florida with this sign between them, "These could have belonged to 'The Barefoot Contessa.'" Bob Skaggs, Florida manager, also collected a barrel of old shoes. One shoe of each pair was tagged with a sign saying "Return to the Florida. You will find the mate to this shoe and receive free theatre passes for you and your mate." The tagged shoes were distributed over the city at bus stops, schools, parks, and downtown street corners. For his exploitation of "Desiree," Skaggs had Western Union night letters sent to the top 100 business executives of Jacksonville, saluting them as "Napoleons" of industry and inviting them to attend a performance of "Desiree," using the wire as a pass. The list of executives had been supplied by the Chamber of Commerce, and many of the men accepted Skaggs' invitation. For the first-run of "The Last Time I Saw Paris," Skaggs had an airplane circling in the air above the Gator Bowl during one of the season's leading local football games. Trailing behind the plane was a 40-foot banner advertising the motion picture.

BRANCHES
Cincinnati

New officers of Tent 3, Variety Clubs, are chief barker, Robert C. McNabb, branch manager, 20th-Fox; assistant chief barkers, Herbert Gilles, branch manager, Paramount, and Harry Hartman, station WCPO salesman; property master, attorney Saul M. Greenberg; and dough guy, William Onie, exhibitor. New officers of the Ladies Auxiliary are president, Mrs. Herman Hunt; first vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Van Gelder; second vice-president, Mrs. Robert Jacobs; treasurer, Mrs. Abe Maius; and secretary, Mrs. James S. Abrose. Directors are Mesdames Saul Greenburg, Max Marcus, A. Straus, Vance Schwartz, Harry Pollins, and Stuart Jacobson, and past presidents, Mesdames Jack Finberg, M. M. Dennis, and Sam Weiss. Joint installation of officers is scheduled for late January. Auxiliary members staged a Christmas party for retarded children at the nabe Avon, with films and gifts distributed by Santa. A cocktail party was staged for Variety members and an open house for members and guests is set for Jan. 1, both in the clubrooms in Hotel Netherland Plaza.

The 15,000 residents of Sidney, O., are displaying considerable interest in the complete remodeling of the Ohio, acquired recently by the Chakeres Circuit from Stanley Warner. About $75,000 is being spent to make it a practically new house, inside and out. The Chakeres Circuit, headquartered in Springfield, O., now operates 39 houses in 29 cities in Ohio and Kentucky.

Dick McBeth, manager, Colony, Hillsboro, O., a Chakeres house, reported a car give-away promotion was a huge success. . . . Frank Collins, Chakeres general manager, is conducting a New Year's Eve attendance contest, with the manager of the house reporting the best boxoffice that night being awarded a prize. . . . Phil Chakeres, president, Chakeres Circuit, and his wife will be at their winter home in Miami Beach, Fla., after Jan. 1.

Branch managers and salesmen in the southeastern division of U-I were made acquainted with upcoming company films and formulated policies and promotion plans at an enthusiastic two-day meeting in Hotel Netherland Plaza. James Frew, division manager, presided, assisted by F. J. McCarthy, Atlanta, southeastern and Canadian sales manager; Charles Simonelli, advertising; and Ben Hill, publicity. Frank Schrieber, branch manager here, was host to the guests, who included branch managers William D. Kelly, Atlanta; James Greenleaf, Charlotte; Dick Settonn, Memphis; and Buford Styles, Jacksonville, and 25 salesmen from the various branches.

Meyer Adelson, Philadelphia, president, States Film Service, and P. K.

On a recent visit to Cleveland, Dorothy Dandridge, star, 20th-Fox's "Carmen Jones," sold tickets in the RKO boxoffice on opening day and literally blocked traffic on upper Euclid Avenue.

Wessel, Cincinnati, treasurer, attended a meeting of National Film Service in Chicago. Also on business trips were Herbert J. Gilles, Paramount branch manager, to Philadelphia; Lloyd Krause, RKO branch manager, to Chicago; Jay Goldberg, Realart and Lippert, to Cleveland; Edward Salzberg, Screen Classics, to New York City; and George A. Kirby, Republic branch manager, to Huntington, W. Va.

The office staff at Republic staged a Christmas party at the White Horse Inn in nearby Kentucky, and the office girls at UA had a dinner party at the Colony Restaurant. Office parties were staged at Columbia, RKO, UA, and National Screen Service. . . . Several Christmas parties for neighborhood children were held at the nabe Valley and the Dixie, Imperial, and Hiland, in neighboring Kentucky. Appropriate films and distribution of gifts featured the parties.

Cleveland

Many local neighborhood houses followed the annual custom of closing on Christmas Eve to permit their employees to spend the holiday with their families. In Akron, the sub runs closed Wednesday through Friday. . . . Loew's State, Loew's Akron, and Loew's Canton were trying out something new in the way of booking during Christmas week. "Lili" was offered for the morning show. Patrons attending were able to remain to see "Three Ring Circus," the regular attraction for the week, without having to pay for another admission.

Peter Dana, Universal-International division manager, and Peter Rosian, district manager, conducted a district meeting here to relay to the district branch managers and salesmen what they learned at the recent west coast executives' meeting. Present were Philadelphia branch manager Eddie Heiber; his assistant, Si Horowitz; salesmen H. Colton, James Coyne, R. Melvin, and Ed Potash; Pittsburgh branch manager Pete Quiter; salesmen M. A. Silverberg and Milton Ripp; Detroit branch manager Ted Levy; salesmen Lee Goldsmith and William Waldholz; Cleveland branch manager Carl Reardon; salesmen Jim Levitt, Edwin R. Bergman, and Bill Lissner. Duke Clark publicity representative, also attended the district meeting.

Arthur Marchand, Film Transit Company, and Mrs. Marchand had a pleasant surprise when their son, Corporal Ronald Marchand, flew in from Chandler Air Base, Ariz., where he is a member of a jet ground crew on a surprise leave. . . . The RKO Palace has a new carpet in its lobby. This is quite an event as it takes 414 square yards of carpeting to cover the spacious area. . . . Leo Greenberger, Community Circuit, states that he will reopen the Standard, a downtown grind house, right after the first of the year.

George Planck, a veteran in show business, has sold his Ohio, Loudenville, O., to Irving Mumper and will devote full time to his ice cream business. . . . Leonard Gray, Paramount resident publicity representative, is just back from the west coast.

Milton Mooney, Cooperative Theatres of Ohio, has his Christmas cards postmarked Yokohama, Japan. He and his wife are on a far eastern vacation trip. . . . Sanford Leavitt, Washington Circuit, his wife, and two daughters drove to Florida for the school vacation period to visit Joe Leavitt. . . . Also Florida bound via automobile is Ray Schmertz, 20th-Fox sales manager, his mother, wife, and family. I. J. Schmertz, 20th-Fox branch manager, will join them.

A $52,000 damage suit was filed in court here by Victor Salupo and Anthony Dennison, against the Masonic Auditorium for alleged breach of contract. Salupo and Dennison, heads of Group 16, formed to show foreign films that failed to get a state censor seal, contracted with the Masonic Hall representatives for the use of its auditorium to exhibit a series of five foreign pictures to its membership. After the series was advertised, the Masonic Hall representatives cancelled the contract. They notified Group 16 heads that the pictures announced for exhibition were not of a suitable character or in harmony with the Masonic Temple Association's standards. Salupo and Dennison then negotiated without success for the Hotel Manager auditorium, and finally secured a lease on the Moreland. Thomas Schulkins, in charge of rental of the Masonic Auditorium, says that he did not know the films in dispute were not censored. "Our contract reads," said Schulkins, "that all pictures presented in our auditorium must comply with all laws, rules, regulations, and ordinances of the city of Cleveland." The contract was entered into and broken prior to the Ohio Supreme Court ruling that pre-censorship is "unlawful." Salupo and Dennison are each asking $25,000 personal damage, claiming that the publicity was harmful to the success of their enterprise, and an additional $2,500 actual damage which they say includes their advertising campaign.

Bernard Rubin, 38, head, Imperial Pictures, only independent distributor in northern Ohio, succumbed in his office of a heart attack. His wife and three small daughters survive.

Detroit

Anthony Eugenio is decorating the Seville and the Rex, newly acquired

Sterling houses. . . . The Baldwin, Baldwin, Mich., was ruined after a fire swept through the building. Local law suggests arson, with the loss pegged at $30,000. . . . Harold Morrison, Carlton, manager, spread good will among the Albanian population when he showed "Skandberg," a story of Albania's George Washington. Folks of Albanian decent in native costume showed up for the opening to make it a festive occasion.

Police were looking for William J. Carden, manager, Loop, who disappeared on the way to the bank. Associated Theatres general manager Max Gealer said that Cardin left for the nearby bank carrying about $1,000 and driving Gealer's late model car.

Louis Spann, 50, exhibitor for the past 20 years, died recently. Other area deaths included Saul Sloan, another exhibitor, who died at 57, and salesman Kenneth Guibord's father, Reubin. . . . W. J. Thick, Bogar, Marshall, Mich., has been in the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Howard Pearl was showing Sarita Montiel, Mexican actress, around town. She's pushing "Vera Cruz." . . . Two drive-ins are in the works for next summer, the Phillips, Jackson, Mich., and an unnamed plant being built by the Ashman brothers in Saginaw, Mich. Koehler Brothers, Saginaw, put up both screen towers, and Long Sign Company, Detroit, is doing the signs. . . . Gold Coast Enterprises' Dave Korman has been doing brisk business selling speaker covers. . . . Midwest Circuit head Nathan Schreiber celebrated his 70th birthday. . . . Bill Spencer, operator, Waterford Drive-In, has returned from roadshowing Hudson and Pontiac cars.

James F. Sharkey, Jr., has been added to the sales staff by distributor Stanley Dudelson to handle small town bookings of "Karajmoja" and "Half-Way To Hell" for Hallmark in this area.

Newcomer Emery Williams is managing the Dawn. . . . Nita Shoemaker has switched to the Beverly ticket office. . . . Harry Weiss has left the Paramount ad office, replaced by Leonard Gray from Denver.

Hazen P. Thorn, projectionist, Ecorse Drive-In, died of a heart attack while deer hunting. Thorn, 53, is survived by his wife, one son, and four daughters, and had been active in Detroit area houses since 1943.

Indianapolis

Variety Club, Tent 10, had a 90-minute television report to the Indianapolis community concerning its activities in the field of cerebral palsy. A year ago this tent handled the cerebral palsy telethon which resulted in the raising of $264,000. Since that time, the tent has been in full charge of the recreational program used in conjunction with cerebral palsy therapy. A playground was provided and a suitable club house has been built. The tent has just leased new quarters on Film Row and will jointly occupy the building shortly after the first of the year with the Allied Theatre Owners of Indiana,

The recent first anniversary of "This Is Cinerama," Warner, Pittsburgh, was sponsored by the Fraternal Societies of Greater Pittsburgh, which represent all the nationality groups. They presented a plaque to "Cinerama" citing it as "a force for creating a closed bond between the peoples of the world." Seen above are Lester B. Isaac, right, director of exhibition for Cinerama; W. Stewart McDonald, left, vice-president and treasurer, Stanley Warner Corporation, receiving the plaque from Joseph Sudimack, center, president, Fraternal Societies of Greater Pittsburgh.

Lee Conrad, Park, Meadville, Pa., will do a turnabout and instead of showing a musical type of feature for his New Year's eve show will try a horror show.

Sam Galanty, Columbia division manager, was in to discuss product with Jack Judd, Columbia branch manager. . . . David C. Silverman local RKO branch manager, attended a three day meeting in New York with the RKO home office executives to discuss their upcoming product and their introduction to the trade of their new anamorphic process, Superscope.

Among the state visitors were Tommy Bello, Nanty Glo; Bert Redfoot, Windber; Charles Trozzi, Hermine; Voloris Hayes, Linesville; Chris Fourgis, Mount Pleasant; Ralph Edleman, Mars; Adolph Farkas, Johnstown; and Cuba Walker, Ideal Circuit, Johnstown.

Tommy Bello, Capitol, Nanty Glo, Pa., will take over the Penn, Blairsville, Pa., starting with the New Year. Saul Perl-

Wile Sees Flow Of More Prints

COLUMBUS, O.—There has been little, if any, response from distributors to the invitation of R. M. Eyman, chief Ohio film censor, to submit pictures voluntarily for censorship, reports Robert Wile, secretary of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio.

Wile said the print shortage may be relieved for Ohio exhibitors by the absence of censorship, since the companies no longer have to pay the $3 per reel fee for every print, "They will be more willing to bring prints into the state for simultaneous bookings. While this may not be felt in the first week, the situation may ease tough print problems."

Cuts have been restored in many pictures, said Wile. "As long as this involves a picture which has a Production Code seal, you need not worry, since the picture as you will get it played at least 42 other states and probably more, as Ohio's censors were the most capricious of all," Wile added.

"Nothing would help the cause more than for someone to complain about a picture which has a Production Code seal, was cut by the censors, and then shown uncut in theatres. We could then show this picture to a legislative committee as an example of the type of cutting that is being done."

The Catholic Times, official publication of the Columbus diocese, said editorially that the Ohio Supreme Court's decision "should not be taken as the death knell of state censorship but rather only as a rallying cry for those interested in seeing moral entertainment insured in our theatres."

Eyman stated that "what I'm after are those foreign films. Some of them are downright vulgar."

man, Warner salesman, will be his partner in this new venture. . . . Ray Neil, former manager and buyer, Lamp, Irwin, Pa., has resigned.

Marty Weiss, new Allied Artists salesman for Erie, Pa., and the mainline, did an outstanding job in securing pledges for the Will Rogers Hospital Christmas Salute in his territory. . . . Bob Caskey, veteran Paramount salesman, was stricken with what was thought to be a heart attack, but later turned out to be an indigestion attack. He is now resting comfortably at home.

Ben Amdur, Garden owner, has been elected president, Screen Guild. The other officers are Harry Hendel, vice-president; Harry Rachiele, treasurer; and Charles Mervis, secretary, all local theatremen. . . . Harold V. Cohen, critic, just became an uncle again with the birth of another girl, their third, to Marian and Eugene S. Cohen at the Magee Hospital.

Thomas Leach has gone to the SW Schenley as assistant to manager Harry Thomas. . . . Leona Ecker, Warners booking department and the sister of Variety Club Chief Barker I. Elmer Ecker, underwent surgery at the Mercy Hospital.

Balaban and Katz and Publix Great States Theatres gave Christmas bonuses to all employees. They were a week's check to part-time ushers, others $25, and to managers approximately $125. . . . Roy Disney, brother of Walt, huddled with Leo Samuels, chief of the Disney distributing subsidiary, and took time out to buy Mickey Mouse dolls as Christmas gifts. . . . Walter F. Mulaney filed a $125,000 suit at Charleston, Ill. against Frisina Amusement Company, alleging unfair competition against the Rickey, Mattoon, Ill. The theatre has been closed for two years.

The Chicago Loop Orthodox Synagogue will start erection next spring of a $500,000 edifice next to the Astor. The synagogue has been housed for the past 10 years in an office building which was damaged by fire a few months ago. . . . Alex Manta has contracted to install CinemaScope in his local drive-ins. . . . Angelo August Bosco, veteran projectionist, passed on leaving his wife, a son, and three daughters. Interment was Oakridge Cemetery.

The International Popcorn Association was accorded the American Trade Association Executives' Certificate of Recognition for "a great service to an industry which is often referred to as America's fastest growing." J. J. Fitzgibbons, Jr., head, Theatre Confections, Ltd., Toronto, accepted the award as IPA chairman. . . . Arthur Arvenson, Alliance Amusement Company supervisor, is beaming over his newly arrived Linda Rae. . . . Balaban and Katz gave its large annual Christmas party for employees and their families. . . . Manny Smerling, Confection Cabinet Company, was chosen to the board of governors of the Chicago Medical School.

James Jovan, Monroe owner, was still on the witness stand in the second week of his $300,000 triple damage anti-trust suit against Balaban and Katz Corporation, Publix Great States Theatres, Inc., and the nine majors, with his cross examination yet to be started. A jury trial was waived by Simon and Collen, attorneys for Jovan, Samuel Block, representing B and K and Paramount, and Miles Seeley the other majors. Attorney Simon, in his opening statement, said the defendants had withheld first-runs from the Monroe. Attorney Seeley stated that during the time complained of the defendants had abandoned the so-called Chicago booking plans when the Jackson Park decree came into effect and the Loop theatres started bidding for all films. A long hard fought legal battle before Federal Judge Julius Hoffman is anticipated, all local exchange managers having been subpoenaed.

The treasury of La Rabida Jackson Park Sanitarium was enriched by $74,177 at a Variety Club luncheon presided over by John Jones, chief barker.

Generous public response by theatre patrons accounted for much of the $70,177 check presented by Variety to R. O. Byerrum, La Rabida treasurer. Mrs. William Margolis, president, Women's Variety Club, gave a check for $4,000 from a drive in which Mrs. Ralph Smitha was chairman. The gift from Variety brought its donations to La Rabida thus far this year to $105,803. Dr. Albert Dorfman, director of research at La Rabida, said the money would do much for required equipment for rheumatic fever child patients, as would the newly established Willie Shore Memorial.

The Oriental is undergoing interior decorations, the most lavish since the theatre was built in 1926.

The Clarke, Mattoon, and Time, Mattoon, Ill., all Frisina houses, installed CinemaScope. . . . Albert Dezel, Inc., was chosen to distribute "Intimate Relations" in Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin. . . . Ivan Fuldaurer, MGM midwestern field representative, visited. . . . John Balaban, B and K chief, returned from a La Quinta, Cal., vacation.

Jimmy Stewart and his wife visited after attending the wedding of his 82-year-old father in Indiana, Pa. . . . Dave Friedman, Paramount, field representative, visited the home office. . . . The Lido, Michigan City, Ind., installed stereophonic sound.

A burglar broke into the U-I exchange but for some reason left without taking anything of value. Manager Lou Levy was probably the happiest guy when he found out nothing was taken as the thief missed a real haul. Levy had some 60 expensive gifts for the annual Variety Club party all wrapped and stacked on a table just a few feet away from the window which the burglar used to gain entrance into the building. Levy figured the thief probably thought the gifts were dummy packages.

In Quincy, Ill., Circuit Judge Fred G. Wolfe has appointed Donald S. Binkert receiver for the closed Orpheum and his official bond was fixed at $1,000. His principal duties, it appears, will be to collect rents from the various tenants in the Orpheum Building. The appointment of Binkert as receiver grew out of the suit for an accounting and receivership that was filed by Donald C. McConnell against John V. Hoeffler, coowner. The appointment was agreed upon by the attorneys for McConnell and for John V. Hoeffler and Perry Hoeffler, who recently resigned as manager of the closed theatre. An answer filed in the Circuit Court to the amended complaint of McConnell against the Hoefflers stated that Perry Hoeffler has no financial interest in the Orpheum but was merely employed as its manager. The answer also states that his father, John V. Hoeffler, was not present at a conference at the time Perry Hoeffler's employment as manager was orally agreed upon with McConnell. The answer denies that the Orpheum was closed because of the refusal of employees to work because of the alleged nonpayment of wages. The answer says the theatre was closed by "order of the union." It was admitted in the answer that the theatre employees were not paid their full salaries because of insufficient revenue from the operation of the theatre which, the answer states, was operating at a loss. The answer also admitted the theatre had failed to advertise in the daily newspaper for some time.

The Broadway Drive-In is being used during the day by the St. Louis Public Service Company as a parking area. The Broadway since the advent of cooler weather is operating only on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays.

Torrington

Ernest A. Grecula, formerly with the Hartford Theatres Circuit, and at one time manager, State, here for the Strand Amusement Company, has joined Walter Reade Theatres in New Jersey assigned as manager, Paramount, Plainfield, N. J.

Massachusetts Springfield

The Art had manager Jean DuBarry, Hartford, Conn., Strand as substitute. Ken Graham, Capitol assistant, was filling in. Aline Gamache, cashier, was replacing Ann Durant, resigned. Anthony Zorzi, was added as an aide.

The Capitol added Edward McGrady as an aide. Mrs. Jen Varelas, cashier, replaced Susan Yeakel, resigned to enter college. . . . James Totman, New Haven, assistant Stanley Warner zone manager, was in to huddle with Capitol manager Ande Sette. . . . Loew's Poli's Charles Gaudino was passing out the cigars. It's an eight-pound boy.

New Hampshire Dover

Strand has joined the trend toward special Saturday afternoon kiddie shows. At a recent showing of eight cartoons plus a feature, a free toy airplane was given every boy or girl attending. . . . Uptown also had a recent children's show, giving a free candy bar to the first 250 children attending.

Rhode Island Providence

William J. Trambukis, Loew's State manager, attended the MGM Workshop activities in Boston. . . . Loew's State chief engineer Jim McCusker recently returned after a vacation spent at Miami Beach, Fla. New employees recently appointed at the State include Katherine Murphy, Joseph Cassidy, and Alice Reeder. . . . The Avon Cinema was the locale of the Rhode Island premiere of "Leonardo Da Vinci."

Again presenting their annual holiday treat, Loew's State management offered a special "Tom and Jerry" cartoon show, with two solid hours of colored cartoons. A 25 cent ticket admitted adults and children alike to this pre-Christmas festival. . . . Despite extended efforts to settle the situation, the Pawtucket, R. I., Strand still remains closed as striking motion-picture operators refused to come to terms as the "black-out" entered the 10th week. This is the first time since motion pictures were introduced into this state that a first-run house has remained dark for such a period due to labor difficulties. According to spokesmen, no settlement is in sight.

The world premiere of Warners' "The Silver Chalice" was held in a Christmas-like setting at the Pontiac, Saranac Lake, N. Y., whose residents were awarded it in a nation-wide contest to sell Christmas Seals. Stars participated in a two-day round of parades, ice carnivals, and personal appearances.

An entertainment unit of six specialty acts and a pianist left for Saranac Lake to put on the first annual Christmas show sponsored by New York's Cinema Lodge of B'nai B'rith for the patients of the industry's Will Rogers Memorial Hospital. Milton Livingston, vice-president and publicity chairman, Cinema Lodge, accompanied the unit; and Ned E. Shugrue, executive director, Will Rogers Memorial Hospital who has coordinated the first entertainment junket, also made the trip. The Christmas show was made possible through the participation and full cooperation of American Guild of Variety Artists, AGVA, Theatre Authority and the American Federation of Musicians Local 802. Robert K. Shapiro, managing director, New York Paramount, is chairman of the Cinema Lodge project.

New Jersey Newark

The Warner, Ridgewood, N. J., had a toy giveaway. . . . An application has been filed and approved for the construction of a drive-in in Jersey City, N. J., at the southern end of State Highway 1.

Jeannie Johnson, model selected in the Art Students' League contest as the ideal Fifth Century beauty, and who will tour on behalf of U-I's "Sign Of The Pagan," is seen in New York recently with Stewart Klonis, executive director of the League; Gene Krause, Shawnee, Okla., who did the winning portrait; and Frank Riley, instructor of the League's illustrating class.

. . . A quick witted woman theatre cashier confronted by a knife-wielding bandit, saved the nights receipts by dashing into the Ritz, Elizabeth, N. J., from her ticket booth with the strong box tucked under her arm. Mrs. Lillian Tighe, 30, said she was counting money when a burly man appeared, flourished a long knife and demanded money.

The annual Christmas party for executives, managers, and their wives of the Stanley Warner Management Corporation was held at Mayfair Farms, Orange, N. J. Frank Damis, who is resigning from the firm as zone manager, was host for the evening.

Most of the Stanley Warner Jersey zone theatres will have special junior matinee shows on Dec. 31. Hats and gifts will be given to all the children.

New York State Albany

Industry leaders will join civic officials and friends in honoring Charles A. Smakwitz, Stanley Warner zone manager, promoted from Albany to Newark, N. received by Smakwitz, he prizes highly a letter from Spyros Skouras, 20th-Fox president and general manager of the Warner Circuit 20 years ago. Their association and friendship dates to then. Mrs. Smakwitz and their daughter, Helen, a student at St. Agnes School, will join him later in Newark.

An ancient and battered landmark is expected to disappear from the local scene following the purchase by Joel Carroll, Elmira investor, of the lease held by Fabian interests on Harmanus Bleecker Hall, destroyed by fire in the spring of 1940. Mrs. Christopher H. Buckley owns the property, but Fabian was managing it at the time of the fire. That organization held a long term lease, which is said to have six years of unexpired term. Mrs. Buckley, who ran the General Stark and Community, Bennington, Vt., following the death of her husband, has been drawing a substantial revenue from the Hall for many years. A Fabian spokesman in New York said that Carroll was planning an office building on the site.

"Be Present at Palace or Leland 'Surprise Night'" suggested newspaper copy for its pre-Christmas giveaway of a six-passenger Chevrolet sedan. Car was displayed in the lobby for two weeks, the promotion there being plugged as "Christmas Greeting Night," in cooperation with Don Allen and sponsoring merchants. Bill With, Palace manager, set up the co-op.

Variety Club launched its Big Brother drive for Camp Thatcher, following a meetings in the clubrooms. Norman Jackter, Columbia manager, served as general coordinator. Variety officers hoped to raise $5,000 via Big Brother donations. Approximately $7,100 for the summer camp was netted from the second annual Inter-City Boxing Championships and from special events collections, Chief Barker George H. Schenck stated.

A stage fire at the Colonial did considerable damage as Dr. Henry Brown, New York, was preparing to relight it Christmas week. Firemen had to don masks before entering the theatre, from which a heavy acid smoke billowed. They brought the blaze under control in a half hour.

The production of 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business," Roxy, was discussed recently by Sol C. Siegel with members of the trade press, in New York.

The home office girls of Loew's Theatres and MGM joined with Santa Claus in New York to present children of St. Clare's Hospital with over 200 dolls and mechanical toys for that extra bit of Christmas cheer. Girls in charge of the project, left, to right, are Eileen Delaney, Frieda Cohen, Barbara Morgan, Mary Ryan, and Roberta Elston.

Dan Dailey, left, one of the stars of 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business," Roxy, New York, was recently welcomed to the theatre by executive director William Moclair in front of Irving Berlin's "magic piano" on which he composed many of the songs featured in the film and which was on display in the theatre's spacious inner lobby.

Virginia Mayo recently arrived in New York to attend the world premiere of Warners' "The Silver Chalice" at the Pontiac, Saranac Lake, N. Y., which won the opening of Christmas Seal Drive competition sponsored by radio-TV star Art Linkletter in association with Warners and the National Tuberculosis Association.

Robert S. Benjamin, chairman of the board, United Artists, recently mapped arrangements for the American premiere of UA's "Romeo and Juliet," Sutton, New York City, with Eddie Dowling, right, chairman, March of Dimes Theatre Committee, which is sponsoring the benefit show, and committee member Magda Gabor.

Improved techniques in sound recording developed with the introduction of CinemaScope and stereophonic sound were discussed recently by Leon Birnbaum, 20th-Fox studio music editor, in a trade press conference at Danny's Hide-away Restaurant in New York. MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR's Mel Konecoff, with pipe, looks mighty interested.

Utica and Watertown; Clarence Dopp, Frankfort and Northville; Joe Miller, Menands; and Ben Smith, retired salesmen now living in St. John, New Brunswick. . . . Misfortune trailed Sidney Urbach, local certified public accountant, dough guy of Variety Club, and interested with Harry Lamont in several drive-ins. He first suffered a foot injury while playing handball, and when it healed, came down with appendicitis.

Ilion

The Ilion Sentinel recently ran an editorial which reflected favorably on Schine's Capitol, Ray Leveque, manager. It said, "We'd like to give Ray Leveque, manager, Schine's Capitol, a pat on the back for opening the doors of the theatre an hour earlier on cartoon-show days. It gets the kids in off the streets. In the old days the line would wind around the block, the children would be half-frozen, and about a quarter of them wouldn't even get in the theatre until the show was well along." This nice break was the editor's own idea. Leveque had nothing to do with it, whatsoever; and that's what makes it all the better. Leveque can be proud of himself.

Harrisville

Mr. and Mrs. George Holtrey closed the Royal for December and vacationed in Florida.

Saranac Lake

This winter resort community of 7,000 citizens paid enthusiastic tribute to Warners' "The Silver Chalice" and the contingent of Hollywood stars who came east especially for the world premiere of the CinemaScope and Warner-Color spectacle. The highlight of the festive two-day premiere took place when radio and television star Art Linkletter introduced Virginia Mayo, Jack Palance, Tab Hunter, Alan Hale, Marian Carr, Ann Robinson, Gonzalez-Gonzalez and Nancy and George O'Hanlon to the crowds who jammed the Pontiac for the first showing of the picture. Victor Saville, producer and director of "The Silver Chalice," was a specially invited guest at the opening. Except for the snow and the absence of palm trees, Saranac Lake took on a Hollywood look as searchlights flashed through the night sky and throngs gathered at the Pontiac for a first hand look at Hollywood glamour. Owing to the large demand for first night seats, "The Silver Chalice" was presented a second time, at 10 P.M., immediately following the in-person stage appearance of the Hollywood entertainers. Saranac Lake, whose residents were awarded the world premiere of the film as winners of the nationwide contest to sell Christmas Seals, gave a warm and enthusiastic welcome to the stars during their busy two-day festivities in the Adirondack community. The town's hospitality began with the stars' arrival via the New York Central on "The Silver Chalice Premiere Special." On hand to greet them were Mayor Alton B. Anderson, civic dignitaries and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce. During the next 48 hours, the stars entertained the town and were, in turn, themselves entertained. Taking advantage of the plentiful snow, the Hollywood visitors rode in horse-drawn sleighs, their first stop being the Hotel Saranac Lake where they were guests of honor at luncheon attended by town leaders and representatives of the press. The celebrities acted as judges for a Winter Carnival featuring contests among Olympic ice skating and skiing aspirants, in addition to a competition among top flight figure skaters. Before an audience of several thousand, among whom were students excused from school to attend the colorful carnival, the stars presented "Silver Chalice" trophies to the contest winners and Miss Mayo received a crown and sceptre designating her Queen of the Ice Show. That evening Saranac Lake's Chamber of Commerce was host to the Hollywood visitors at a buffet supper. A mile-long parade through the downtown streets of Saranac Lake featured dog sleds, bob sleds, a Christmas float, high school bands and a group of 50 marching children carrying Christmas Seal placards. In the afternoon, Mount Pisgah was the site of an exhibition of winter sports including downhill ski races, slalom events, tobogganing and a torchlight parade. The premiere proper began at 6:00 p.m. with the stars' arrival at the Pontiac. Following the first showing of "The Silver Chalice" premiere festivities were broadcast over more than 300 Mutual Network Radio stations and via the local ABC station, WNBZ. Art Linkletter was master of ceremonies for both the radio broadcasts and the stage show presentations of the stars. It was Linkletter, with Warners and the National Tuberculosis Association, who sponsored the nation-wide Christmas Seal Contest via his daily coast-to-coast TV-Radio "House Party" program. With a different Hollywood star appearing on his program each day, Linkletter for three weeks urged the country's municipalities to sell Christmas Seals, with the world premiere of "The Silver Chalice" going to the city or town that sold the most seals, in proportion to population. More than 300 communities in 43 states responded with whole towns joining forces in an enthusiastic effort to outdo each other and win the premiere.

SAVEABLE REVIEW SERVICES were an innovation by MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR in 1936. Prior to that year many Trade Papers reviewed features and shorts, or at least listed them for reference purposes;—but none followed any uniform style or method that permitted saving in other than a heterogeneous glob in a scissors and paste pot scrapbook.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR changed all this! In 1936 it introduced a separate, saveable section, in which all reviews and indexes relating to any particular year were carefully brought to the executive theatreman for his current and future knowledge. Now imitated or adapted by most other Trade Papers, the basic method has never been improved.

But MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR went further than this! ONLY MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, down through the years, has maintained a 100% Review Coverage of ALL features and of ALL shorts, whether foreign or domestic, that were available to Executive Theatreman consideration. ONLY in MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR has continued to appear the MOST COMPLETE of all Reviewing Services. ## The Violent Men

OUTDOOR

(CinemaScope) (Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Well-made action yarn.

CAST: Glenn Ford, Barbara Stanwyck, Edward G. Robinson, Dianne Foster, Brian Keith, May Wynn, Warner Anderson, Basil Ruysdael, Lita Milan, Richard Jaeckel, James Westerfield. Produced by Lewis J. Rachmil; directed by Rudolph Mate.

STORY: Following Civil War, dirt farmers and small ranchers are being forced out by the ruthless tactics of crippled land baron, Edward G. Robinson, who has vowed that he would present the land to his wife, Barbara Stanwyck, who in turn is in love with Robinson's brother, Brian Keith. Their daughter, Dianne Foster, hates Stanwyck because of her infidelity. Glenn Ford, former cavalry officer, wants only peace and since he has recovered from war wounds, he thinks of returning east with his fiancée May Wynn. He is resentful of Robinson's tactics and of being forced out. When one of his ranch hands is killed and when he can get no satisfaction from the sheriff, he kills gunman Richard Jaeckel in a battle which starts war. The available men become an efficient fighting force under his military direction. Wynn walks out on him revealing that she was using him to get east. Ford carries the battle to Robinson's home and burns it to the ground. Stanwyck escapes and is almost instrumental in getting Robinson to perish in the flames so that she can marry Keith, but he gets out and is aided by Foster. Keith sends out a force to destroy Ford, but Robinson orders all warfare to cease. Keith and Ford battle it out, with Keith getting killed while Stanwyck meets death at the hands of a jealous girl friend of Keith's. Robinson vows to rebuild, but in a different and peaceful fashion, while Ford and Foster look into a future together.

X-RAY: There's lots of thrilling action, intrigue, and excitement to be found in this entry that combines an absorbing yarn, good performances, and better direction and production into a film that should please most audiences. With CinemaScope and Technicolor to assist, this could go far as a welcome part of the program. The pace throughout is very good. The screen play is by Harry Kleiner, based on a novel by Donald Hamilton.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher program rates.

AD LINES: "They Could Push A Man Only So Far Until He Fought Back"; "A Thrilling Tale Of The Early West When Men Had To Be Violent Or Die"; "An Action-Packed Yarn With Suspense, Intrigue, And Thrills In CinemaScope And Technicolor."

Barry Kelley on the carpet. In that district is the bookie establishment run by Marc Lawrence under the protection of Kelley, who receives bribes. To Lawrence comes ex-convict Sam Jaffe, a criminal mastermind, who has planned a half-million dollar robbery of a large jewelry store, with a request for $50,000 operating funds to be gotten from prominent criminal lawyer Louis Calhern. The latter tells Lawrence to advance the money, not letting on that he is broke. The organization commences, with Hayden made the strong-arm man, James Whitmore to drive one of the cars, and Anthony Caruso to open the safe. Calhern, out of funds due to his high cost of living and paying for the friendship of Marilyn Monroe, unbeknownst to his wife, an invalid, calls in Brad Dexter, a private detective, to help him doublecross Jaffe, and take all the loot. The robbery goes off but alarms are set off by the blast, and a watchman appears, wounding Caruso badly. However, they all escape. Caruso dies; Hayden and Jaffe show up at Calhern's for the payoff. Hayden is wounded and Dexter killed. Calhern is spared, with the idea being that he go to the insurance company to offer to surrender the gems at a quarter of their value. Dexter's death leads police to Calhern, and when his alibi doesn't stand up, he kills himself. Meanwhile, the police surmise that Jaffe is the mastermind. Kelley forces a confession from Lawrence, and Whitmore is arrested. However, Hayden and Jaffe, still on the loose, are hidden by Hayden's girl friend, Jean Hagen. The two decide to separate, and Jaffe is arrested. Hayden heads for home with Hagen at his side. His wound causes complications, but he lives long enough to reach the scene of his boyhood.

X-RAY: When first reviewed in THE SERVISECTION of May, 1950, it was said: "There is an absorbing quality about this film. Suspense is on high throughout, and all concerned turn in a superb job. There is a goodly amount of action, topped by a pace-setting yarn, able performances by everyone, especially Jaffe, Hayden, Hagen, and Lawrence, and good direction by Huston, who is at his best in an excellent production. While there is a lack of star lustre, the film should prove immensely interesting to adult audiences who like their entertainment rough, tough, and down-to-earth. It is based on a novel by W. R. Burnett." Maximum aspect ratio: 1.75-1.

TIP ON BIDDING: Reissue price.

AD LINES: "A Criminal Mastermind Challenges The Police. The Result Is A Suspense-filled Thriller"; "He Was Tough But He Had To Be To Survive In 'The claring "Nuts" to the Nazis who ask for surrender, and the eventual lifting of the fog, the sun coming through and the airmen blasting the Nazis. Johnson, Hodiak, Murphy, Thompson, Whitmore, and some others live, and, tired and weary, march back singing the infantry song.

X-RAY: When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of September, 1949, it was said: "This will be ranked with the best films of World War II. It has everything that makes a showman's picture. Its production, direction, acting, etc., are tops, and the 117 minutes are crammed with suspense, comedy, melodrama, and everything needed to make it potent at the boxoffice. Only on one count is it deficient, the romance angle. Two women are seen, and only one in anything close to romance, with Denise Darcel arousing the boys a trifle. However, although this is a story of war, it represents a historic phase of World War II, and many patrons who ordinarily might avoid a war story should have plenty of interest in one of the most heroic stands of the U. S. boys in the late struggle. The acting, and that includes everyone is aces, and along the line there are sequences that will get laughs. The Dore Schary-William Wellman production, direction combination has made this a film that will be talked about, and, which offers a wealth of selling and tieup opportunities. The story is by Robert Pirosh, associate producer." Aspect ratio is 1.33-1.

TIP ON BIDDING: Reissue price.

AD LINES: "The Story Of The 'Bastards Of Bastogne' . . . Heroes Of World War II"; "Nuts Said The General . . . And 'Battle-ground' Tells Why"; "Here It Is . . . The First Great Film Of World War II."

ESTIMATE: Interesting meller has angles.

CAST: Stewart Granger, Grace Kelly, Paul Douglas, John Ericson, Murvyn Vye, Jose Torvay, Robert Tafur, Joe Dominguez, Nacho Galindo, Charlita. Directed by Andrew Marton; produced by Armand Deutsch.

STORY: Mining engineer Stewart Granger comes across an old mine of the Conquistadors and discovers promising signs of emeralds. Before he can carry the news back, he is attacked, robbed, and wounded by bandits. He is rescued by Priest Robert Tafur and taken to a nearby coffee plantation owned by Grace Kelly and her brother, John Ericson, where he recovers. He tells his partner, Paul Douglas, the good news. The latter is heading for a mining job in Canada but is persuaded to go along with Stewart. They get a crew together despite opposition by Tafur and work the mine, while alternating weekends at the Kelly plantation. Hampered by bandit attacks led by Murvyn Vye, cave-ins, etc., they are finally forced to suspend operations when the cave is closed by a rock slide and cave-in. Granger decides to work from the top of the mountain down and since this means extra money, he talks Ericson into coming in as a partner along with the plantation's money and the men needed to gather the coffee harvest. Douglas, sickened by Granger's greed, breaks with him and joins Kelly on the plantation while the priest enlists the aid of women and children to gather the harvest. The river nearby starts to rise because of the refuse from the mine and the plantation is threatened, but Granger refuses to desist. Ericson is struck by a boulder and killed, which separates Granger and Kelly even more. Granger finally does find some emeralds, but Douglas decides to mine the entire mountain, reroute the river and save the plantation. Granger is opposed until Vye and his bandits attack, whereupon Granger decides to go along with Kelly and Douglas after setting off the blast which engulfs the bandits and rerouts the river just before a violent storm breaks. Granger and Kelly are united.

X-RAY: Authentic settings, country scenery, and peoples assist in getting across this yarn involving a search for emeralds by adventurers. The story is fairly interesting and different and the cast gives a good account of itself. Direction and production are good, and the overall is aided by the use of CinemaScope and color. There is also a goodly amount of action. The screen play is by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher program rates.

AD LINES: "He Had One Passion In Life—The 'Green Fire'—Until The Right Woman Came Along"; "Burning Romance . . . Exciting Adventure . . . Rough, Two-Fisted Action . . . All In 'Green Fire'"; "No One And Nothing Would Stand In His Way. His Aim Was Wealth With The Aid Of 'Green Fire'."

Hell's Outpost (5315) MELODRAMA 90M.

ESTIMATE: Okeh programmer.

STORY: Veteran Rod Cameron arrives in a small mining town to call on Chill Wills, father of a late war buddy, but actually he is interested in getting hold of a valuable mining property held by Wills. The latter asks him to come in as partner after outlining problems that have to be met. John Russell, local banker and bully, is also interested in the Wills property as well as in town clerk Joan Leslie, in whom Cameron takes an interest. They have a fight, the stakes of which are either Cameron is to stay away from Leslie or Russell is to grant him a loan. Cameron wins and builds a road to start the mine working. Russell tries all forms of sabotage and finally arranges to set off a tremendous blast calculated to block the road and ruin the mine, Cameron catches him, they fight, and Russell is killed in the blast which paves the way for a better road. Cameron confesses his plans to Wills, who knew his intentions all along, and he and Leslie are free to plan for the future.

X-RAY: A fairly interesting yarn, adequate performances, and average direction are to be found in this entry that should make up okeh as part of the program. There's enough action and intrigue to satisfy average meller fans. The screen play is in by Kenneth Gamet, based on the novel "Silver Rock" by Luke Short.

AD LINES: "He Had A Mine To Work And Neither Hell Nor High Water Would Stop Him"; "Adventure . . . Thrills . . . Action . . . All At 'Hell's Outpost'"; "She Had To Make A Choice . . . The Winner Took All."

20TH-FOX

Devil's Harbor (429) MELODRAMA 71M. (English-made)

ESTIMATE: For the duallers.

CAST: Richard Arlen, Greta Gynt, Donald Houston, Mary Germaine, Elspet Gray, Vincent Ball, Howard Lang, Edwin Richfield. Directed by Montgomery Tully; written and produced by Charles Deane.

STORY: Richard Arlen, captain of a cargo boat breaks up a fight between Sidney Bromley and Michael Balfour and finds a small package which he stows away in his bag. Donald Houston, insurance investigator, has been trying to find out why so many drugs keep disappearing. The gang of crooks headed by Edwin Richfield tries to recover the package with little luck. Arlen finally discovers that the crooks are getting their information via a phone operator at the insurance company and he helps the insurance detectives and the police capture the thieves. He is amply rewarded and can pay off his debts and talk to sweetheart Greta Gynt about the future.

X-RAY: Audiences are familiar with Arlen but generally not with the others, and this coupled with a fair story, average performances, and fair direction and production put this entry in the lower half. It could serve as filler.

TIP ON BIDDING: Low bracket.

AD LINES: "Terror On The Waterfront"; "An Expose Of The Smuggling Racket That Could Lead To Murder"; "A Thrilling Tale Of Suspense And Terror On The Waterfront."

ALLIED ARTISTS

Black Tuesday MELODRAMA 80M. (Goldstein)

ESTIMATE: Okeh programmer.

CAST: Edward G. Robinson, Peter Graves, Jean Parker, Milburn Stone, Warren Stevens, Jack Kelly, Sylvia Findley, James Bell, Victor Perrin, Hal Baylor, Harry Bartell, Simon Scott, Russell Johnson, Phil Pine. Produced by Robert Goldstein; directed by Hugo Fregonese.

STORY: Killer and racketeer Edward G. Robinson and bank robber Peter Graves are scheduled to go to the electric chair for killings committed by both. Graves is offered a short reprieve if he will reveal the whereabouts of the $200,000 he stole, but he refuses. Death house guard James Bell is informed by Jean Parker, Robinson's girl, that his daughter, Sylvia Findley, has been kidnapped and that if he won't help Robinson escape she will be killed. He agrees and hides a gun beneath a chair that will seat death house spectators, newsmen, etc. New reporter Jack Kelly is assigned to cover for his paper, but he is kidnapped and gangster Warren Stevens substitutes. The break is successful, though Graves is wounded, and they take along as hostages priest Milburn Stone, doctor Victor Perrin, and guard Hal Baylor. Bell is killed during the getaway, with several others wounded. Their destination is a warehouse where Kelly, Findley, and a plane pilot are waiting. Perrin fixes up Graves as best he can and he agrees to get the money to finance the getaway with Robinson. Graves and Parker pick up the money from a safe deposit box, but a suspicious bank guard notifies the police, who shadow them to the warehouse. A cordon is set up whereupon Robinson threatens to kill the hostages one by one unless the police permit them to pull out. Kelly is wounded when he gets in Robinson's way and is prevented from being killed by Graves at Findley's silent behest. Baylor is the first killed. Several gangsters are killed, as is Parker. When Robinson threatens to kill the priest, Graves kills him, and then goes to his own death with gun in hand. The others presumably are saved.

X-RAY: Edward G. Robinson is once again the tough, half-crazed, killer-gunner and gangster, which role paved his way up the road to fame, and there is enough action, gun-play and killing to satisfy even the most blood-thirsty of fans. The story is interesting and fast-moving, and the cast, direction, and production are good, so that the end result emerges as a film that could show up well as part of the program where audiences like their pictures flaming hot and with little subtlety. The original story and screen play are by Sidney Boehm.

TIP ON BIDDING: Program rates.

Romeo And Juliet

140M.

(Rank)

(Filmed in England and Italy)

(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: High rating classical drama.

CAST: Laurence Harvey, Susan Shentall, Flora Robson, Mervyn Johns, Bill Travers, Enzo Fiermonte, Aldo Zollo, Giovanni Rota, Sebastian Cabot, Lydia Sherwood, Norman Wooland, Giulio Garbinetti, John Gielgud. Directed by Renato Castellani; produced by Sandro Ghenzi with Joseph Janni.

STORY: Actor John Gielgud opens with a prologue and introduction. The houses of Sebastian "Capulet" Cabot and Giulio "Montague" Garbinetti are feuding with one another until the Prince of Verona threatens drastic punishment if they don't cease and desist. Laurence "Romeo" Harvey falls in love with Susan "Juliet" Shentall and she with him although she is little more than a child. They meet with the aid of her nurse, Flora Robson, and Friar Mervyn Johns, and the latter agrees to marry them secretly. The feud flares up again and Harvey flees to Mantua. Shentall's father orders her to wed another nobleman, and she begs Johns for assistance which he provides in the form of a potion that will simulate death but will permit her to reawaken after internment in the family vault with Johns on hand to assist. Johns arranges to send word to Harvey of his plan, but his messenger is waylaid and delayed and when Harvey learns that Shentall has died, he returns, forces his way into the vault, and kills himself at her side. She awakens, sees him dead, and kills herself before Johns can stop her. The families realize how foolish the feud is.

X-RAY: Wonderfully portrayed and beautifully mounted, this classic by Shakespeare is presented in fine fashion that should please all who are familiar with the work and those who are students of Shakespeare. There is much in the way of entertainment here for those who would be introduced to the Bard for there is a story that holds interest throughout. There should also be a large amount of interest on the part of students whose courses include the work. The work was adapted for the screen by Renato Castellani. Maximum aspect ratio: 1.66-1.

TIP ON BIDDING: Better price for class houses.

AD LINES: "Another Great Shakespeare Classic Brought To The Screen In All Its Glory And Excellence"; "The Greatest Love Story Of All Time"; "There Never Was A Love Like Theirs."

WARNERS

The Silver Chalice (408)

137M.

(CinemaScope)

(WarnerColor)

ESTIMATE: Highly interesting entry.

CAST: Virginia Mayo, Pier Angeli, Jack

Palance, Paul Newman, Walter Hampden, Joseph Wiseman, Alexander Scourby, Lorne Greene, David J. Stewart, Herbert Rudley, Jacques Aubuchon, E. G. Marshall, Michael Pate, Natalie Wood, Peter Reyonlds, Mort Marshall, Booth Colman. Produced and directed by Victor Saville.

STORY: In the Greek city of Antioch, wealthy but childless merchant E. G. Marshall adopts the son of a poor friend, who shows talent as an artist even as a youngster. The lad is attracted to a slave girl whom he helps as she makes a bid for freedom. When Marshall dies some years later, his jealous brother Herbert Rudley denies the adoption ever took place and sells Paul Newman into slavery, thus becoming head of the house. Newmans' childhood sweetheart, Virginia Mayo, becomes the chief assistant of magician and sorcerer Jack Palance, and she warns Newman of a plot by Rudley to have him killed. He escapes with the aid of Alexander Scourby, one of the twelve apostles, who seeks his sculpting skill in making a silver chalice to hold a cup used by Christ at the Last Supper. In Jerusalem, he works with Pier Angeli, granddaughter of Joseph, keeper of the cup, and she falls in love with him. Palance and Mayo show up at the behest of Joseph Wiseman, who would create a revolution against the Romans who occupy the country by getting the people to switch from devotion to Christ to the magic of Palance. Angeli weds Newman to protect funds destined for use by the Apostles but realizes he still cares for Mayo. On the road to Antioch, the cup is stolen by Wiseman but regained by Newman after a bloody battle. In Rome he continues to work on the chalice. Palance and Mayo find favor with Jacques "Nero" Aubuchon and Palance fancies himself as a new Messiah, while Newman is commanded to sculpt a head of the Emperor. Palance promises the Emperor that he can perform better miracles than Christ and vows to fly from a huge tower. Newman is fed up with the antics of the court and Palance and impressed by the devotion of the Christians and finishes the chalice. Palance so believes that he can fly that he disdains to use trickery and falls to his death. The Emperor and others are enraged and order Mayo to fly and she goes to her death. During rioting by street mobs, the cup is stolen from Angeli again by Wiseman, who in turn is killed by the enraged crowd. The cup and chalice disappear. Newman and Angeli, in love, sail away to Antioch.

X-RAY: Based on the best-selling novel by Thomas B. Costain, this entry is impressive in scope and subject matter and though slightly overlong, its story is interesting and absorbing for the most part, with good and sometimes unusual production values enhancing the production as a whole. Performances are of general high calibre, with newcomer Newman and Palance particularly impressive. Direction is vibrant and CinemaScope and color help in getting across proper presentation. Since big-scale historical novels with religious themes have proven successful of late, there is reason to suppose that this too should prove itself big-time at the boxoffice. The screen play is by Lesser Samuels, who also acted as associate producer.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates.

AD LINES: "Every Breathless Moment Of Thomas B. Costain's Monumental Novel Becomes A Matchless Scene On The Motion Picture Screen"; "This Was The Time Of Redemption And This Was The Day Of Sin"; "The Mighty Struggle To Possess The Sacred Cup Of Silver And The Lovers And The Faith That Triumphed In Humanity's Darkest Hour."

Young At Heart (409)

ROMANTIC
117M.

(Print by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Entertaining entry headed for better returns.

CAST: Doris Day, Frank Sinatra, Gig Young, Ethel Barrymore, Dorothy Malone, Robert Keith, Elizabeth Fraser, Alan Hale, Jr., Lonny Chapman, Frank Ferguson, Marjorie Bennett. Produced by Henry Blanke; directed by Gordon Douglas.

STORY: In a small Connecticut town, there dwelt three beautiful sisters with their musical-instructor father, Robert Keith, and their aunt, Ethel Barrymore. One of the sisters, Dorothy Malone, announces that she and wealthy real estate man, Alan Hale, Jr., are engaged, which leaves the other two, Doris Day and Elizabeth Fraser to be concerned about their future although Fraser is being courted by plumber Lonny Chapman, who she considers nice but dull. Gig Young, talented and handsome composer, arrives to stay with them, and all of the girls have a silent crush on him although it's Day he's interested in. Frank Sinatra, piano player, composer, arranger, etc., arrives on the scene with his fatalistic attitude, convinced that the world is against him. Day is attracted and tries to cheer him up. When her engagement to Young is announced Sinatra leaves town. The wedding is arranged when a wire arrives announcing that Day and Sinatra have been married. They go to New York where things are tough, and a Christmas invitation comes to spend the holidays at home. Sinatra becomes bitter over the attentions accorded to Day by Young while she has neglected telling him he is to be a father. Sinatra decides to end it all by crashing the car he is driving. At the hospital Day pleads with him to live for her sake as well as that of the baby. Easter time there is another reunion with Sinatra, Day, their baby, the others, and everybody is happy.

X-RAY: There's loads of entertainment to be found here with proper amounts of fun, music, romance and drama mixed rightly so that the end result is a film that should be enjoyed by most adult audiences. The cast does a good job, and the direction and production are smooth and efficient. The use of color dresses it up so that it emerges as a neat package of entertainment. The screen play is by Julius J. Epstein and Lenore Coffee, adapted by Liam O'Brien based on a story by Fannie Hurst. Among the tunes heard are "Young At Heart," "There's A Rising Moon For Every Falling Star," "Hold Me In Your Arms," "Ready, Willing And Able," "You My Love," "Just One Of Those Things," "Someone To Watch Over Me," "One For My Baby." Maximum aspect ratio: 1.85-1.

AD LINES: "Nobody Knew What A Guy Like Barney Would Do Next, And She Didn't Care, Just So He Did It With Her"; "Doris Day And Frank Sinatra! Together For The First Time! Terrific From The First Moment"; "All Young, All Heart, And All Wonderful."

FOREIGN

Companions Of The Night

DRAMA
94M.

(Arlan)

(French-made) (English titles)

ESTIMATE: Adequate entry for the art houses.

CAST: Francoise Arnoul, Raymond Pellegrin, Pierre Cressoy, Christian Fourcade, Nicole Maurey, Marthe Mercadier, Jeanne Marken, Suzy Prim, Noel Roquevert, Andre Valmy. Produced by Metzger and Woog and Hoche productions; directed by Ralph Habib.

STORY: When Francoise Arnoul, unwed mother, is released from jail, she and her son, Christian Fourcade, get a lift to Paris from a friendly truck driver, Pierre Cressoy. Arriving without work, she is forced to enter upon her old occupation, prostitution. A heartless procurer, Raymond Pellegrin, sends her child to a home. Arnoul becomes embittered and hopeless, seeing no way out. However, she meets Cressoy again and he is willing to offer her love. He takes her and Fourcade to the zoo where he finds himself getting along well with the boy and offers her marriage. Pellegrin warns Arnoul against leaving his employ. Meanwhile, Pellegrin, who gets new girls for his house by leading them on with promises of love and marriage, gets into an argument with one of his disillusioned girls, Nicole Maurey. He kills her. Arnoul now can blackmail him into giving her her son and letting her go. Pellegrin sets out to kill her, but Cressoy saves her. Arnoul kills Pellegrin. Indications are that Cressoy will recover and Arnoul will be acquitted to join him.

X-RAY: An intimate insight into the prostitution racket in Paris, this should have plenty of angles for exploitation. The story is built on sentimentality and sharp contrasts between good and bad, but it is engrossingly told and holds interest. Aided by its frank approach to a taboo subject, this should be an adequate entry for art and exploitation spots. The screen play was written by Jacques Companeez.

AD LINES: "A Searing Story Of The Street Of Sin"; "A Stark Picture Of The Prostitution Racket"; "An Engrossing Tale Of A Woman Caught In A Trap With No Way Out"; "A Frank Glimpse On A Forbidden Portion Of Life."

An Inspector Calls

(Associate Artists)
(English-made)

DRAMA
80M.

ESTIMATE: Okeh entry for the art and class spots.

CAST: Alastair Sim, Arthur Young, Olga Lindo, Eileen Moore, Bryan Forbes, Brian Worth, Jane Wenham, Pat Neal, Amy Green, Catherine Willmer, Norman Bird, Olwen Brookes. Produced by A. D. Peters; directed by Guy Hamilton.

STORY: A well-to-do British couple are celebrating the engagement of their daughter, Olga Lindo, to Brian Worth. The occasion is interrupted by a police investigator, Alastair Sim, inquiring about the background of a girl who committed suicide. Sim learns from the father that the girl in question was fired by him. It is also learned that Worth had had an affair with her. Lindo also became involved with the girl when she caused her to be fired from a fashionable store. The mother, a leader of a charity organization, had refused to help the girl when she applied for assistance. Sim then introduces a connection between the girl and the errant son of the family, Bryan Forbes, the father of the girl's illegitimate child. Each member of the family becomes aware of his or her part in the girl's suicide. Meanwhile, they discover that Sim is really not a police officer but a mysterious visitor who came to make the family reflect on their own misdeeds.

X-RAY: This British import blends mysterious atmosphere with serious comments. Sim registers solidly as the superhuman inspector. Audiences at art and class houses should find this above average entry to their tastes. Desmond Davis wrote the screen play from the play by J. B. Priestley.

AD LINES: "A Piercing Study Of A Middle Class Family And The Discoveries They Make About Themselves";

"England's Noted Character Actor, Alastair Sim, In A Different Role"; "A Stimulating Film Based On J. B. Priestley's Broadway Hit."

One Summer Of Happiness

93M.

(Times)

(Swedish-made) (English titles)

ESTIMATE: Import can be exploited, especially by art houses.

CAST: Folk Sundquist, Ulla Jacobsson, Edvin Adolphson, Irma Christensson, Gosta Gustavsson, Berta Hall, John Elfstrom, Erik Hell, Nils Hallberg, Sten Mattsson, Arne Kallerud, Gunvar Ponten, Hedvig Lindby, Axel Hogel, Sten Lindgren. Produced by Norisk Tonefilm; production supervisor, Lennart Landheim; directed by Arne Mattsson.

STORY: A funeral is being held in a small cemetery in the country. Folk Sundquist enters, and in flashback is shown the love story of Sundquist and Ulla Jacobsson. Sent to work on his uncle's farm, Sundquist meets Jacobsson, and they join the young people of the village in putting on amateur theatricals in the uncle's barn. Frequently, however, they steal away by themselves. One night they seek shelter from a storm and hide in an attic where Sundquist's aunt finds them. Jacobsson is sent away, but Sundquist finds out where she is staying. They are now fully aware of being in love, swim in a lonely lake in a forest. Sundquist's father makes him return home, but he runs back to the farm and his love. A mentally deficient farm hand sets fire to the barn, but the show is put on anyway. The lovers endeavor to return home on Sundquist's motor-bicycle, but Jacobsson dies in an accident. Back to the opening scene, Sundquist can not stand the priest's reproaching words and he runs away from the funeral. Alone at the lake he looks for memories of Jacobsson.

X-RAY: While there are some good scenes in this much talked about film such as lovely shots of the Swedish landscape, the festivities of midsummer's night, including some excellent folk dancing, and a crackling good fire at the end, the picture generally drags. The two young lovers handle their roles acceptably, and even their nude bathing scene is handled with taste and, possibly, innocence. The film won the grand prize at the Berlin Film Festival in 1952, and the grand prize at Le Festival De Punta de Este in 1952. It is from a novel by Per Olof Ekstrom, with screen play by W. Semitjov. Original music is by Sven Skold. English titles are by Herman G. Weinberg. It should do best in art houses but might be exploited along "for adults only" lines elsewhere. Uncensored, the running time is 103 minutes.

AD LINES: "The Picture Everyone Is Talking About!"; "The International Prize-Winning Film"; "In An Outburst Of Complete Surrender On A Warm Summer Eve, They Find Supreme Joy!"

Profile

MYSTERY MELLER
65M.

(American Feature Attractions)
(English-made)

ESTIMATE: Import for lower half or art spots.

CAST: John Bentley, Kathleen Byron, Thea Gregory, Stuart Lindsell, Garard Green, Ivan Craig, Lloyd Lamble, Frank Henderson, Bruce Beeby, John Parkes. Produced by J. Temple-Smith; directed by Francis Searle.

STORY: Stuart Lindsell starts a new magazine and names John Bentley editor. Lindsell's second wife, Kathleen Byron, younger than he, likes to play around and makes a pass at Bentley, who's not interested. The latter is attracted to Lindsell's daughter by his first marriage, Thea Gregory. Garard Green, a disreputable artist who was Byron's first husband, tries to blackmail her unsuccessfully. Lindsell is told he has but a few months to live unless he undergoes an operation. He asks Bentley to take over some of his duties including the signing of checks after Green tells him of the situation between Byron and Bentley. When Lindsell dies, it turns out that much money has been withdrawn on checks signed by Bentley, who denies the whole thing claiming forgery. Byron offers to produce evidence clearing him if he will go away with her, but he refuses. Later she is found murdered and Bentley and Green are suspected. However, artist Ivan Craig is the murderer, jealous of Gregory's art work which is accepted for the cover and involved with Byron. Bentley pursues him until Craig falls to his death in the giant presses, and Bentley and Gregory can now plan for a future together.

X-RAY: Well-made, this entry has drama, intrigue, and a plot which should keep adult audiences fairly interested in the proceedings. There is some suspense. It could make up as part of the program in regulation bills, although the cast is relatively unknown, or in the art and specialty spots. (No screen play credit is available.)

AD LINES: "It Started With A Kiss And Ended With Murder"; "A Dynamic Tale Of A Wife Who Invited Murder When She Played Around With Other Men"; "Angel To One Man . . . A She-Devil To Another."

True Friends

COMEDY DRAMA
99M.

(Artkino)
(Russian-made) (English titles)
(In Sovcolor)

ESTIMATE: Routine Soviet import.

CAST: V. Merkurjev, Boris Chirkov, A. Porisov, A. Gribov, L. Gritsenko, L. Shagalova. Directed by Mikhail Kalatozov.

STORY: Three Moscow boys enjoy themselves playing on a raft on a small river. Years later, one is a noted surgeon, another is an expert in animal husbandry, and the third has become a famous architect and bureaucrat in the Soviet regime. The surgeon and the livestock expert lure the now pompous architect to come along on a cruise down a river on a small raft. In the course of the trip they become stranded on a small islet. They arrive at a collective farm where a minor bureaucrat is bungling a building project because of incompetent orders from Moscow, from the architect member of the trio, himself. The architect realizes that he is responsible. He corrects his error and returns to Moscow a humbler and more determined man. The shy livestock expert finds his old fiancée and gets up enough courage to propose marriage.

X-RAY: An innocuous little comedy, this should be best suited to those houses that specialize in Russian films. There is not much of interest to general audiences, and it spends much of its time on the intricacies of the Soviet system. The color photography is good.

AD LINES: "A Hilarious Romp"; "A Delightful Comedy With Warmth And Romance"; "A Rare And Human Comedy."

MISCELLANEOUS

Day Of Triumph

RELIGIOUS DRAMA
110M.

(George J. Schaefer)
(Eastman Color)

ESTIMATE: Well-made religious drama with special or limited appeal.

CAST: Lee J. Cobb, Joanne Dru, James

Griffith, Robert Wilson, Ralph Freud, Tyler McVey, Touch Connors, Toni Gerry, Everett Glass, Lowell Gilmore, Anthony Warde, Peter Whitney. Produced by James K. Friedrich; directed by Irving Pichel.

STORY: A band of rebels in ancient Judea hope to overthrow the Roman rulers and bring independence to their land. The leader of the rebels, Lee J. Cobb, and his chief lieutenant, James (Judas Iscariot) Griffith, hope to find a leader who will ignite a spark of enthusiasm among the lethargic people. A Galilean Robert (Jesus) Wilson, is seen traveling over the land with his followers, teaching a new doctrine of humility and love while performing some amazing healing. He captures the people as no one before and Griffith believes that this is the man to lead the revolt. He joins Jesus and becomes one of his chosen followers, hoping to win him over to the movement to free Israel. When Jesus arrives in Jerusalem, he is greeted with such enthusiasm that he could proclaim himself king, and the people would uphold him. He refuses, though, and Judas' plan seems destroyed. He, however, hopes yet to rally the people by turning Jesus over to the jealous authorities and thereby moving the people to revolt to save their "leader." The plan backfires and Jesus is condemned to death. His plan a failure and ridden by guilt, Judas kills himself. All his followers are despairing when Jesus appears to them risen from death.

X-RAY: Technically good, this Biblical tale is told in beautiful Eastman Color with settings that are simple but satisfactory. Produced and acted with sincerity, this purposely avoids lavishness and gaudiness. It tells the New Testament story of Jesus and his teachings simply with the movement for political rebellion as a unifying force. What is more, it gives Judas a motivation and purpose rather than just a force of evil. Since its theme is so directly concerned with the telling of the Christian legend, this might have a special religious appeal. In any case, it requires special type of handling. Arthur T. Horman wrote the screen play. It is possible that certain racial and religious sects may be offended by some of the characterizations.

AD LINES: "For The First Time The Full Story Of The New Testament Comes To The Screen In Color"; "Not Since 'King Of Kings' Has There Been Such An Achievement"; "A Simple And Sincere Telling Of The Christian Legend."

The Desperate Women

67M.

(Samuel Newman Productions)

ESTIMATE: Abortion racket film can be exploited.

CAST: Anne Appleton, Douglas Howard, Paul Hahn, Ben Daniels, Samuel Newman, Maria Girard, Virginia Leon, Karen Moore, Eve Meyer, Joseph Allen, Jr., Robert Lee, Theodore Marcuse, Richard Risso, Stanley Glenn, Rebecca Young, Karen Wolfe, Raymond Barrett. Produced by Samuel Newman and Louis B. Appleton, Jr.; directed by Louis B. Appleton, Jr.

STORY: When 'teen age daughter, Virginia Leon, dies as the result of an abortion, newspaper publisher Robert Lee puts his top reporters Anne Appleton and Douglas Howard on the case, determined to expose and break up abortion ring headed by underworld leader Samuel Newman and illegal doctors Paul Hahn and Theodore Marcuse. Police, headed by Ben Daniels, lend a hand and succeed in breaking up the illegal operation mill.

X-RAY: Suited for adult showings, this meller with a cast of unknowns will have to depend on sensationalizing to get by. It is a more or less sincere expose of a touchy topic. There is a good chase sequence as the abortionist gang is rounded up, and the film is entirely clean, despite its dealing with subject matter that is usually of the hush, hush type. The screen play is also by Samuel Newman.

This Is Your Army

DOCUMENTARY
55M.

(Movietone News-U. S. Army)
(Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Interesting documentary on U.S. army.

CREDITS: Produced by Edmund Reek; associate producer John J. Gordon; photographed by Jack Painter, A.S.C., and William Storz; written by James Altieri and Joseph Kenas; edited by Bill Kosh and John Hughes; narrated by Joe King. This was produced in cooperation with the U.S. army and is exhibited as a public service sponsored by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations.

STORY: Answered here is the question, what makes a soldier in the U.S. army. It follows recruits from the moment they arrive at the army installation they are assigned to, and it details his examinations, training, clothing issuance, drilling, field maneuvers, etc. All of the branches of the army are seen in action, as well as the various types and classes of weapons that must be mastered and the thousands of skills that are taught to newcomers and oldsters alike. Actual battle conditions are simulated.

X-RAY: This documentary probably serves a three-fold purpose. It shows the American people exactly what the army is doing and what can be expected of it, and the many functions that make up the organization; it also shows recruits, volunteers, and draftees what to expect when their turn to serve comes around; it will prove to the world at large that the army is a thoroughly experienced, powerful organization ready for action anywhere and at any time. It is done interestingly, and audiences should prove attentive. Exhibitors can play this as part of the program.

20,000 Leagues Under The Sea

122M.

(Buena Vista) (CinemaScope)
(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: High rating Disney feature.

CAST: Kirk Douglas, James Mason, Paul Lukas, Peter Lorre, Robert J. Wilke, Carleton Young, Ted de Corsia, Percy Helton, Ted Cooper, Edward Marr, Fred Graham, J. M. Kerrigan. Directed by Richard Fleischer; a Walt Disney presentation.

STORY: In 1868, the shipping lanes of the Pacific are terrorized by a strange monster which attacks and sinks ships. The government organizes an expedition to track down the stories, and aboard are Kirk Douglas, a harpooner; authority on undersea life, professor Paul Lukas; and his assistant, Peter Lorre. These three are the only survivors when their ship is sunk, and they come across a strange craft resting on the surface while its captain, James Mason, and crew are burying a crew member on the bottom of the sea. He permits them to remain on board figuring he may use them in the future, and they are astounded by the electrically operated marvels that are years ahead of their time, as well as the hatred of Mason for the outside world. Douglas tries to escape once but is driven back to the sub by headhunting natives. He also inserts notes in bottles thrown overboard at every opportunity announcing the eventual destination of the sub. Wounded by a battleship, they head for home, and tangle with a giant squid which almost takes Mason's life, but Douglas saves him. Douglas' messages have done their job, and warships and men await Mason. The latter gets ashore to his island and sets off a bomb which will destroy his secrets. He is fatally wounded and returns to the ship to die. He orders the vessel sunk as a tomb beneath the sea. Douglas manages to escape with Lukas and Lorre and they get far enough away so that the bomb that goes off and destroys everything and everyone doesn't affect them.

X-RAY: Walt Disney has once again come through with an off-beat subject that emerges as a high-grade and entertaining film bordering on science-fiction, with special photography and effects that put this in the better entertainment class. The story and plot are fantastic; but so well done and so absorbing that interest is held on high throughout. Direction and production are in the better category. The screen play is by Earl Felton, based on the novel by Jules Verne. One song, "A Whale Of A Tale," is heard as sung by Douglas.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates.

AD LINES: "An Absorbing Tale Of Adventure '20,000 Leagues Under The Sea'"; "An Experience Not To Be Forgotten"; "A Thrilling Science Classic Brought To The CinemaScope Screen In Outstanding Disney Fashion. It's An Entertaining Thriller."

The Short Parade

TWO REEL

Color Drama

A GIFT FROM DIRK. U-I—Special. 19m. Eddie Albert narrates this color short filmed in Holland, which relates the story of Dirk, a youngster who lives with his parents on a canal boat in Holland. Since his mother's birthday is coming, he wants to get her something special though not too expensive. He hears the story of the beautiful Firebird Tulip and he decides to give her one of these. At a tour of a huge tulip garden, he sees thousands of varieties but not the one he wants since it is too early for this one. A gardener comes to his aid and presents him with one that has yet to bloom, but it does when he presents it to his mother on her birthday. GOOD. (1201).

Color Musical

CHAMP BUTLER SINGS. U-I—Musical Featurette. 15m. A variety show is to be seen here with numbers or specialty acts by the Cheers, Allen and Ashton, Larry Raine, Stan Fisher, Frankie Carle and his orchestra, and Champ Butler. Among the numbers heard are "Blue Moon," "What Should I Do," "Dance Of The Comedians," "Boathouse Waltz," "I Need Your Lovin'," "Can't We Be More Than Just Friends," "I'm Coming Over To Love You Tonight," "Cake Walk." GOOD. (1301).

ROAD SHOW. U-I—Musical Featurette. 15m. Johnny Johnston has been requested by his fiancée to abandon singing in favor of acting as an agent so that they can settle down and get married. He arranges an audition of some of his talent for one of the owners of one of the Las Vegas night clubs, but instead of letting his singer go on, Johnston auditions every number. The club owner agrees to buy the show if Johnston goes with it as headliner, and he asks his fiancée to marry him and they can honeymoon in Las Vegas. Among the numbers heard are "Curtain Time," "Moonlight In Vermont," "Jose," "I'm Gonna Live Till I Die," "Time To Start The Show." This stars, in addition, Dani Crayne, the Cheerleaders, Dick Williams, the Sonia Shaw Dancers, John Saxon, and Archie Twitchell. GOOD. (1302).

ONE REEL

Color Cartoons

HELTER SHELTER. U-I—Walter Lantz Cartunes. 6m. Woody Woodpecker tries to build himself a home in a tree but is hampered by a dog who destroys his attempts. Woody, in turn, destroys his doghouse and when rain starts, they both seek shelter in the house of the dog's mistress and master, an elderly couple. She likes both creatures while the master can't stand either of them. Woody and the dog feud with each other until the climax when the man of the house is thrown out and the pets remain. GOOD. (1322).

I'M COLD. U-I—Walter Lantz Cartunes. 6m. Chilly Willy is a cold penguin that can't get warm. He discovers a fur warehouse and decides to try and get a pelt for a coat, but a huge, polite watch dog is on hand to frustrate him at every turn. GOOD. (1321).

Color Novelty

HOLIDAY AHEAD. U-I—Color Parades. 10m. Naples and surrounding towns and area is visited by tourists and the color camera including the ruins of Pompeii, Mt. Vesuvius, the Amalfi Peninsula, Capri, Sorrento, etc. Festivals and local customs and inhabitants are adequately covered. FAIR. (9388).

Novelty

CANDID MICROPHONE. Series 1, Number 2. Columbia. 10½m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of May, 1949, it was said of this re-issue: "In this highly engaging, laugh-provoking short, Allen Funt successively befuddles a locksmith and a garage mechanic after an explanatory forward and a brief sequence concerning a customer and travel directions. The locksmith comes to free a Funt aide locked in a vault, and is bickered with about the price, manner of taking off the lock, and his slowness in arriving. The mechanic is extremely funny as he attempts to fix a rigged motor despite Funt's harassing demands for speed. EXCELLENT." (7552).

DEAR MYRTLE. U-I—Variety Views. 10m. Arthur Cohen, who directed and wrote this subject, also appears as the principal actor, a character from Brooklyn who visits Italy and, especially, Rome with camera. Using a shapely Italian signorina as his guide they tour the area with plenty of appeal provided by the sweater clad guide. Having enough, he heads home with a gift for wife, some Italian cooked spaghetti, which she promptly plants on his skull. GOOD. (9347).

JUST PETS. RKO—Screenliners. 8m. Different people have different pets, from the usual dog and cat through the parakeet, parrot, deer, bear, skunk, etc. A big industry has grown up to service the pets with all kinds of clothing, food, toys in various forms. The animal hospital, too, has come into being on a widespread scale with all kinds of apparatus present for the treatment and diagnosis of various ills. The ASPCA is shown in action as well as rescuing a stuck kitten for youngsters. GOOD. (54203).

THE NERVE OF SOME PEOPLE. Paramount—Toppers. 10m. A number of people with hazardous occupations or hobbies are seen, including some who prefer to stunt on motorcycles on tight ropes over the Alps, window washers who keep skyscraper glass clean, acrobats who go through their paces atop the Empire State Building blindfolded, auto stunt drivers, the Steeplechase in England, and playing with dynamite the dangerous way. GOOD. (M14-1).

PORT OF MERCHANTS. U-I—Variety Views. 10m. The camera records 24 hours in the life of Copenhagen, its markets, its traffic, its romancing youngsters, its statues and palaces, its night life, etc. FAIR. (9348).

Sports

CANADIAN STAMPEDE. RKO—Sportscope. 8m. Every July, Calgary, Canada puts out a welcome mat for all to visit its celebration and exposition, at which time there are parades with Indians and cowboys, square dancing in the streets, and a big rodeo with all the trimmings, including a chuck wagon race. GOOD. (54304).

WHERE EVERYBODY RIDES. Paramount—Grantland Rice Sportlights. 10m. The camera goes to Holland to show that everybody rides there instead of walking, but on bicycles rather than cars. Vendors use bikes, as do youngsters to and from school, and special roads and paths are in existence exclusively for their use. A 23-day bicycle race is seen with a lot of excitement. GOOD. (R14-3).

JUST A REMINDER • • These PINK "SERVISECTIONS" are the industry's oldest and most reliable means of establishing a file of reference data that becomes more valuable with each passing month and year. . . . Published every-second-week (26 forms each year) they are compiled and indexed by the Film Season starting with the first issue of September and ending with the last issue of August. . . . Separately bound and separately numbered, the last page of each form always indexes all Features reviewed since the start of the particular season, and the preceding "SERVISECTION" page on which any review may be found. . . . Reviews of Short Subjects are indexed at regular intervals. . . . At the end of each Film Season you will have accumulated a complete and detailed history of all film distributed in it, for your later use in locating reissuable or replayable product.

COMPLETE BACK SEASONS—are available to Subscribing Theatres at 52c per set!

. . . plus the fact that this is the ONLY* reviewing service in the entire trade press that gives detailed analytical reviews to ALL Features and ALL Shorts distributed during any particular Film Season!!!

*THIS WE WILL BE HAPPY TO PROVE THROUGH A CONTRAST STUDY OF PAST SEASONS!

MORE ARTERIES FOR MORE BLOOD

THERE IS a great deal of common sense in the TOA decision, as expounded at a recent press interview by President E. D. Martin, Sam Pinanski, and Herman Levy, to only help independent production that will be channeled to exhibition through new or independent distribution outlets. The intent of this restriction is further explained by the added, "or if it in any way reduced that distributors number of releases."

The basic purpose of exhibitors investing in the production of motion pictures is to increase the total available supply. Exhibitors certainly don't believe that they know how to produce entertainment as well or better than their production specializing contemporaries.

Neither do they have any great desire to invest in a facet of this industry that is strange to them. But if they are going to invest their money via Hal Makelim, TOA, Fred Schwartz' DCA, etc., and take their risks, they want to be sure that numerical supplies do increase.

History proves that when independent producers release through a major outlet, the major outlet reduces some of its own effort so that only the same number of releases eventuate. With the features that are the industry's lifeblood at stake, the need is for more arteries delivering increased blood rather than the same arteries, however hardened, delivering the same volume from different sources.

CAN THE COLOR PRINT QUESTION BE ANSWERED?

IT IS INTERESTING to note that in these days of four or five different sources of color film, as contrasted to only a few years ago when Technicolor was the industry's main acceptable source, there is a claimed shortage of prints that distributors blame on the color laboratories.

While the average demand for color may be greater today, there were certainly more pictures in those former years, so that the volume of color prints shouldn't have increased in proportion to the increased sources of supply.

We were always given to understand that the Technicolor process was a very difficult, slow, and expensive one that had a definite capacity, even though there was no doubting the excellence of its results. We are just coming to realize how good Technicolor was, if, in the face of more theatres and more features, they were able to satisfy a demand that now can't be satisfied through their efforts amplified by those of three or four other supply sources.

Or, is this reasoning a true analysis of the current situation?

Oddly enough, when queried, the color companies say nothing!

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

A PRINT SITUATION already confused by problems of sound, size, and availability can only be aggravated should Warner Brothers heed those exhibitors asking that they be granted an option of purchasing "A Star Is Born" in either the 184 minute or 154 minute versions.

Certainly, it would be a bad general practice to make such changes after a film has been released in many sectors of the country. The situation should have been remedied long before release date in the Warners' cutting room. However, it was not, and the fact remains that audience turnover is a vital part of any boxoffice operation.

"A Star Is Born" deserves to play in any theatre if the exhibitor can buy it and make a profit. There will be few better pictures, and we have confidence that the widespread publicity campaign has made the public well aware of its entertainment value. It is this that will draw them to the theatre or keep them away, not the film's running time.

KONECOFF

THE 10-DAY period encompassing Christmas and New Year's was absolutely fantastic in first run situations on Broadway. The crowds spilled over into the streets or crawled at a snail's pace as they passed lines and more lines at most of the theatres. There was a certain spirit around that seemed to say that there are some pretty good films playing around, and there was a strong determination on the part of the public to see as many as possible.

Standing in line was no deterrent, and what's more important is that after the shows were seen they were enjoyed, according to the reports that we received.

CALLING ALL FISH: We've read one of the latest communiques from RKO over several times and we still don't know whether or not it's for real, so we'll let you be the judge. They say that to make sure that Howard Hughes' latest release "Underwater" is properly heralded, they are working as follows:

"Underwater billboards will be placed on the ocean floor off the Atlantic coast advertising the RKO Technicolor production. The signs will be painted on concrete and will feature a likeness of Jane Russell in a Bikini bathing suit.

"RKO is attempting to also buy advertising space on the bottom of all swimming pools in the U. S. in line with their policy of thoroughly exploiting 'Underwater'."

Note: We'll have more to say about this come premiere time Jan. 10th in Silver Springs, Fla.

New Year Arrives To Business Upsurge

NEW YORK—Business was generally good over the New Year holiday in the Broadway first-runs, with the Radio City Music Hall, the Roxy, Criterion, and Astor leading the parade.

According to usually reliable reports reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"THE SILVER CHALICE" (Warners). Paramount claimed $48,000 for the second week.

"THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE SHOW BUSINESS" (20th-Fox). Roxy reported $59,840 for Friday through Sunday, with the third week anticipated at $90,000.

"DEEP IN MY HEART" (MGM). Radio City Music Hall, with Christmas stage show, garnered $128,000 for Thursday through Sunday, with the fourth week sure to exceed $188,000.

"THE COUNTRY GIRL" (Paramount). Criterion reported a sensational $69,000 on the third week.

"CARMEN JONES" (20th-Fox). Rivoli announced that the 10th week would tally $14,000.

"ATHENA" (MGM). Globe was heading toward $15,000 on the second week.

"GREEN FIRE" (MGM). Mayfair expected the second week to reach $21,000.

"20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA" (Buena Vista-Disney). Astor claimed a terrific $60,000 for the second session.

"A STAR IS BORN" (Warners). Victoria jumped to $34,000 on the 12th week.

"VERA CRUZ" (UA). Capitol expected the second week to reach $70,000.

"3 RING CIRCUS" (Paramount). Loew's State was heading toward a $38,000 second week.

Shea Motion Denied

NEW YORK—The motion of Shea Enterprises to reargue the court case in which fees due E. C. Grainger were ordered arbitrated was denied last week by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Gavagan.

Grainger's services were terminated by Shea in 1951, at which time he requested arbitration. Shea charged mismanagement against Grainger and contended that Grainger's contract was invalid. Arbitration was deferred but the court recently found the contract valid. Shea's claim that the statute of limitations applied was upheld, however, which limits Grainger's possible recovery to six years.

Arthur W. Kelly Mourned

NEW YORK—Arthur W. Kelly, 64, former executive vice-president, United Artists, died in Nice, France, last week following surgery. He is survived by his widow, Josephine Kelly.

Kelly had held various positions with United Artists until 1944, then was named vice-president and United States representative of Eagle-Lion Films. In 1946, he was named president, General Motion Picture Corporation. He rejoined UA in 1947 as executive vice-president and held the post until he resigned in 1950 to organize his own television organization.

Industry Never More Prosperous—Skouras

20th-Fox Head Says C'Scope Is Sweeping Europe; Adds That Eidophor Should Bow In '56; 30 From Fox In '55

NEW YORK—Spyros P. Skouras, president, 20th-Fox, returned here last week after a 10-week trip and tour of free Europe to report that CinemaScope was sweeping Europe both with regard to exhibition and production.

As of last week, the U. S. has over 10,500 CinemaScope installations, with 4,000 of these containing stereophonic sound, while Europe at the year's end could account for over 3,000 CinemaScope installations with this figure expected to exceed 7,500 by the end of July.

Production-wise, Skouras estimated that between 50 and 75 features would be produced in 1955 in Europe following meetings with producers, directors, writers, etc., and of that number 20th-Fox has an interest in four or five.

From an exhibition standpoint, theatres are equipping as rapidly as equipment becomes available with even the Rank Circuit, foe of CinemaScope, falling in line so that they may play product in that medium from companies other than 20th-Fox. He reported that exhibitors gave CinemaScope and himself standing ovations, praising the medium highly, but at the same time begging that he keep rental terms reasonable.

Skouras reported that he has never seen the industry more prosperous than it is at present and that of the last 18 features released in CinemaScope in the world market, all are making money, something that has never happened in the history of the company. As a result, he is looking forward to a bigger year in 1955. He estimated that the public liked the improvements in entertainment presentation both as to quality and as to technical advances.

Skouras was in full accord with the opinions expressed by exhibitors everywhere, that there is a need for more product, particularly good ones. He announced that 20th-Fox would release 30 features in 1955, all in CinemaScope, as compared with the 31 released in 1954, of which 17 were in normal 2-D.

1954 will see 20th-Fox pictures grossing $41,400,000 from abroad with $65,000,000 grossed domestically. 1953 saw $38,000,000 grossed abroad while domestically the figure reached $67,000,000, when 40 films were released as compared to the 31 released in 1954.

Experiments on Eidophor, large-screen theatre television, are still continuing in Switzerland with General Electric scientists. He reported that the final result will emerge in CinemaScope shape. Demonstrations will probably be held for company executives later this year, but theatre installations will not get under way until at least the end of the year. 1956 should see it in use on a wide scale. Skouras added that 20th-Fox will not have anything to do with selling the equipment.

State Film Censors Mull Meeting Plans

NEW YORK—Dr. Hugh M. Flick, director of the motion picture division of the New York Education Department, the state's film censorship board, is planning for a meeting of state film censors, to be held in January or February, it was disclosed last week.

Dr. Flick stated that communications about the meeting are being sent to state censors, and that it has been suggested that the meeting be held in Virginia. Representatives of the state censorship boards of New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, and Kansas may attend, as may representatives from Massachusetts, which censors films shown on Sunday.

Dr. Flick was unable to state positively that representatives from Ohio would attend, in view of the recent State Supreme Court decision there, which practically destroyed the power of the Ohio board of censorship until new legislation is passed.

Dr. Flick predicted that there would be no change in New York censorship due to the change in the state administration.

Questioned about the possible sale of old product to television, Skouras opined that the film companies should not overlook or hurt the theatres by selling their backlogs to TV until theatres have sufficiently improved their entertainment presentation so that there will be little or no competition from the move.

With regard to toll-TV, here again Skouras felt that theatres should be given every opportunity to remain in business and should be protected. At best, TV sets can provide only mediocre entertainment and the future of the company depends on the prosperity of the theatres.

Skouras reported that experiments are still under way with an eye to improve further the CinemaScope camera lenses, and further demonstrations are scheduled to show these improvements. Presently Darryl F. Zanuck, production head, is producing a training film for the information of producers, directors, writers, cameramen, set designers, etc., to instruct them in the proper use of the CinemaScope lenses.

Rhoden Sees Rise In '55 Attendance

HOLLYWOOD—Elmer C. Rhoden, president, National Theatres, Inc., reported that the net income of the company for 1954 was $2,856,850, or $1.03 a share. This is an increase of 12 cents over the amount paid in 1953.

Rhoden reported that theatre income of $61,915,000 was $558,000 more than in the year ended September 1953, due primarily to the decrease in the federal admissions tax last April and to good public acceptance of CinemaScope pictures. He pointed out that these favorable factors overcame the effect of the shortage of pictures and the loss of 33 theatres due to the company's compliance with the government's consent judgment.

Declaring that "a number of excellent pictures will be released during the forthcoming quarter," Rhoden added, "we believe that this outstanding product will bring about a definite step-up in attendance during the second quarter of the current fiscal year."

Reporting that National's management is watching very closely new technical developments, Rhoden cited the company's investment of $1,000,000 in debentures of Magna Theatres Corporation for the production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical, "Oklahoma," in the new Todd-AO big screen process.

125 In C'Scope Predicted

NEW YORK—Twentieth Century-Fox, in its regular report to stockholders last week, predicted that 125 CinemaScope films will be released in the United States in 1955.

In addition to the U. S. product using the 20th-Fox process, the report shows that England has 16 pictures in production and others planned; France has three pictures under production and in preparation, while Italy and Spain have more than 15 in production or preparation. The report also shows the successful completion of the third oil well, while the fourth well is now at a depth of 6,600 feet.

UA Names Foreign Reps

NEW YORK—United Artists' representatives in Colombia and Uruguay were announced last week by Arnold M. Picker, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution. They will be Alvaro Rey in Colombia and Naum Lefcovich in Uruguay. Rey formerly was sales manager for RKO in Colombia, while Lefcovich was previously associated with RKO and Eagle-Lion in Argentina.

UPA Goes CinemaScope

HOLLYWOOD—All short subjects of United Productions of America in 1955 will be available in CinemaScope as well as in standard media, it was announced last week by the company's president, Stephen Bosustow.

Montague Announces Columbia Promotions

NEW YORK—In line with its policy of promotion within the ranks, Columbia revealed last week through an announcement by general sales manager A. Montague, an unprecedented number of promotions among its sales force throughout the country, highlighting managerial changes in six of Columbia's domestic branches.

Heading the announcement was the revelation that Wayne Ball, Los Angeles branch manager, has been advanced to the position of division manager for southern California and the Rocky Mountains, with supervision of the Los Angeles, Denver, and Salt Lake City branches. Succeeding Ball as manager, Los Angeles branch, will be Harold Green, currently manager, Salt Lake City.

Montague also announced that Mel Klein, for many years salesman, San Francisco, has been named manager under the supervision of northwestern division manager L. E. Tillman, and that Sam McFadden, salesman, Salt Lake City, has been named manager of that branch, succeeding Green.

Mon Whitcher, salesman, Dallas, has been named manager, under the supervision of southwestern division manager Jack Underwood, and Jerome Safron, salesman, Minneapolis branch, has been named manager, Cleveland exchange, succeeding the late Oscar Ruby. Safron will be under the supervision of mid-eastern division manager Sam Galanty.

Montague also released that John Winberry, for many years a salesman, New Orleans, will be named manager, Houston branch, which the company will establish shortly.

Dividend Payments Rise

WASHINGTON—The Commerce Department reported cash dividend payments of motion picture companies totaled $22,747,000 during the first 11 months of 1954, compared with $18,519,000 for the same period in 1953.

Dividend payments in November amounted to $2,533,000, compared to $1,018,000 in November of last year. The increase this year was due to large payments by Columbia, National Theatres and Stanley Warner Theatres.

Long Session Is Seen For Schine Contempt Trial

BUFFALO—The Justice Department's contempt trial against Schine Chain Theatres, and its executives and other defendants entered the second week of testimony with Mrs. Florence D. Torrey, assistant secretary-treasurer, on the stand.

She testified that Mrs. J. Myer Schine and Mrs. Louis W. Schine, part owners of Hildemart Theatres Corporation, were employed by Schine Chain Theatres, Inc. The two women are the wives of the defendant Schine executives. Payments for Hildemart stock made by the wives, however, did not come from the Schine Chain Theatres, testified Mrs. Torrey.

Judge John Knight adjourned the trial for the Christmas holidays. Attorneys estimate that the trial, which began Dec. 9, will last 10 more weeks.

Loew's Changes By-Laws

NEW YORK—Directors of Loew's, Inc., last week brought the corporation's by-laws into line with the provisions of the consent decree which ended the government's anti-trust suit.

One important change prohibits any officer, agent, or substantial stockholder of any other distributing corporation from serving Loew's as either officer or director.

The board also amended the by-laws to permit directors who do not receive compensation as officers or employees of the company to be paid on a yearly basis for their services as directors. Officers or employees are not compensated for serving as directors.

Pine-Thomas To Leave Paramount

HOLLYWOOD—Bill Pine and Bill Thomas are withdrawing their Pine-Thomas production unit from Paramount after the delivery of "Lucy Gallant," they said last fortnight.

Their future distributor has not been announced.

Pine and Thomas have been releasing through Paramount for the last 14 years and have produced 77 pictures which were partially financed by the studio. Under their new policy, Pine and Thomas are currently producing "Lincoln McKeever."

UA Theatres Plan SEC Stock Offering

NEW YORK—United Artists Theatre Circuit plans to register an offering of stock with the SEC, and also desires the ultimate listing of its common stock on a registered national securities exchange, it was learned last week.

These plans were revealed by President George P. Skouras in the annual statement of the company. They have made it necessary for the company to change its accounting to a more generally accepted practice. Although the company formerly included in its statements its share of the undistributed profits of all companies owned 50 per cent or more, it will now include only those earnings in companies owned 95 per cent or more.

Skouras reported that the company's investment in Magna Theatre Corporation (29.4 per cent owned by UATC), has made satisfactory progress.

The statement also disclosed that the company is working on refinancing its bank loans and thereby improving its working capital position, and noted that new types of equipment have been installed in most of the theatres.

Including the undistributed net profits of partly owned companies, United Artists Theatre Circuit had a net income of $256,626 for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1954, after deductions for federal income tax, depreciation, interest, and amortization. The net undistributed profits were $521,171.

Excluding the undistributed net profits of partly owned companies, UATC showed a net loss of $252,283.

"Waterfront" Leads Poll

NEW YORK—Top actor and actress in the Film Daily's 1954 "Famous Fives" awards announced last week, were Marlon Brando, for his performance in "On The Waterfront," and Judy Garland, in "A Star Is Born."

Named as best supporting players were Edmund O'Brien in "The Barefoot Contessa" and Thelma Ritter in "Rear Window."

Juvenile awards went to Kim Charney for his performance in "Suddenly," and to Sandy Descher for "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

"On The Waterfront" won an award for Elia Kazan for Best Director, and was also named as the best screen play of the year. This picture also contained the "find" of the year, actress Eva Marie Saint.

"Three Coins In The Fountain" was cited as the best photographed picture of the year.

N. Y. Critics Name "Waterfront"

NEW YORK—New York film critics last week named Columbia's "On The Waterfront" as the best picture of 1954. The picture also won the award for top director, Elia Kazan, and for top male actor, Marlon Brando.

The reviewers chose Grace Kelly as the best actress, for her performances in "Country Girl" and "Rear Window." The Japanese film "Gate Of Hell" was named the best foreign film.

Awards will be made late in January.

New Haven Manager Wins Fabian Drive

NEW YORK—Irving Hillman, manager, Roger Sherman, New Haven, is the winner of the "Fabian's Fabulous Forty" contest through which the Stanley Warner Corporation celebrated Si Fabian's 40th anniversary in show-business, it was announced last fortnight.

The announcement made by Harry M. Kalmine, vice-president and general manager, Stanley Warner Theatres, said that Hillman's prize included two weeks' vacation in England with Mrs. Hillman. Additional prizes which go to Mrs. Hillman include a mink stole, a diamond studded watch, set of matched luggage, and several years' supply of a number of famous perfumes.

The second national prize, a $1500 U. S. Bond, was won by William Wyatt, Virginian, Charleston, W. Va., and the third prize, $1000 U. S. Bond, was won by Frank Costa, Warner, Ridgewood, N. J.

For the best series of promotions, the award was given to Claude Land, Silver, Silver Springs, Md., and the best series of kiddie show activities was won by Jack Harvey, Palace, Danbury, Conn.

The winners of exploitation prizes on individual pictures were Howard Higley, Allen, Cleveland; Dominick Lucente, Broadway, Philadelphia; Henry Rastetter, Warner, Erie, Pa.; James Salmans, Sixth Street, Coschocton, O.; Iz Perlin, Stanley, Camden, N. J.; Sidney Hoffman, Metropolitan, Washington; William Wyatt, Virginian, Charleston, W. Va.; Willard Osborne, Granada, Santa Barbara, Cal.; and Al Plough, Stanley, Philadelphia.

The mink stole to Mrs. Hillman was a gift from Confection Cabinet Corporation, ABC Vending Corporation, and Tri-State Automatic Candy Corporation. The watch was presented by Pepsi-Cola Company; the luggage by Barnet Film Service; and the perfume by Jo-Lo Perfume Company.

U-I Sets Daff Drive

NEW YORK—With the slogan "Everyone A Winner" and the most powerful product ever set for release in a similar period, 39 Universal-International branches and distributors around the world will compete in the 1955 Daff drive, annual overseas sales push, announced last week by Americo Aboaf, foreign general manager.

Ben M. Cohn, assistant foreign general manager, has been named to serve as captain of the drive, which will run for a 17-week period beginning on Jan. 3 and concluding on April 30.

Latin America and the Philippines will compete in a drive-within-a-drive on J. Arthur Rank productions in addition to the Daff drive.

Bamberger Nominated

NEW YORK—Leon J. Bamberger was nominated recently for president of the Cinema Stamp Collectors. Other nominees include Jack Levy, first vice-president; Elias Sandberg, second vice-president; Seymour Glassner, third vice-president; Sid Weiner, treasurer; James Harvey, recording secretary; Milton Zucker, corresponding secretary; Herman Seltzer, sergeant-at-arms; and Jack Hoffberg, executive committee chairman.

Hyman Praises Companies For Pre-Holiday Releases

NEW YORK—The grosses of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres have been pushed substantially ahead of the pre-Christmas holiday business done last year, according to vice-president Edward L. Hyman, long time foe of the seasonal release system.

Hyman attributes this increase to the business done by pre-releases one week before Christmas, and contends that this proves that top product will draw no matter what the season of its release.

The film companies that took the unconventional step of releasing their big pictures immediately before the holidays were praised by the AB-PT vice-president for their boldness, which, he said, has paid off.

Although Hyman, long an advocate of an even year round releasing schedule, declined to single out individual companies, it was learned that "Three Ring Circus" in San Francisco and "Young In Heart" in Chicago had opened strong in AB-PT theatres.

Disney Earnings Increase

NEW YORK—The "Wall Street Journal" last fortnight quoted a company official as expecting earnings of Walt Disney Productions to be close to one dollar a share for the fiscal year ended on Oct. 31, 1954. The same period of 1953 reported earnings of 79 cents.

The contributing factors in the increase include profits from the television program, "Disneyland," a better box office, and revenues from the feature length true-life adventure films, "The Vanishing Prairie" and "The Living Desert."

The Disney organization is also expecting a saving by distributing its product through Buena Vista Distributing Company rather than through RKO, its former releasing agency.

First big releases for Buena Vista are "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" and "Lady And The Tramp."

Danny Kaye recently received a commemorative medal from United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund honoring him for his world tour during which he filmed a documentary, "Assignment Children," on UNICEF global activities, which will be released by Paramount. Here, Mrs. George Taubman, chairman of the California committee for UNICEF, makes the presentation in the presence of Olga Andre, president, Hollywood Foreign Correspondents, at whose Beverly Hills Hotel luncheon the function was held, and Mrs. Taubman's granddaughter. The Foreign Correspondents gave Kaye a plaque.

Rembusch Warns Of Toll-TV Danger

NEW YORK—Trueman T. Rembusch, co-chairman, joint committee on toll-TV, said last fortnight that he welcomes examination of the subject by the Senate Judiciary Committee. He says that the toll TV committee will contact members of Senator Kilgore's committee at the proper time.

Branding "the rosy picture painted by toll TV advocates" as inaccurate, Rembusch asserted that toll TV would, if allowed to use the free air waves, "not only destroy free television as we know it, but also the philosophy of broadcasting as we have known it for so many years in this country."

Rembusch pointed out that toll TV could get under way immediately without FCC approval if coaxial cable lines were run into homes as was done in the tele-meter test at Palm Springs.

He claimed that toll TV would, if allowed to use the free air waves, "create a preferred class of listeners and tie up present TV channels at choice hours so that those listeners not wanting to buy or those not having the wherewithall to purchase the licensed decoding device necessary to receive toll-TV programs would have no channel available for free television."

Rembusch went on to say that such a position would destroy the investment in theatres in this country, depress retail sales, and destroy advertising agencies dependent on revenue from free TV.

Westrex Adds Accounts

NEW YORK—E. S. Gregg, president, Westrex Corporation, announced last fortnight that 13 new motion picture recording and disc license agreements have been completed recently with studios in the United States, Japan, England, Italy, and Hong Kong.

The studios which have installed the latest Westrex recording equipment are Yokohama Cinema Corporation, Yokohama, Japan; Magna Theatre Corporation, New York; Leever-Rich and Company, Limited, London, England; Color Reproduction Company, Hollywood, Cal.; Gr. Cr. Rag. Vincenzo Ciardi, Rome, Italy; Carlos C. Rivas, Hollywood; Beeland-King Productions, Atlanta; Information Productions, Inc., New York; Osaka Sangyo K.K., Osaka, Japan; Langlois Filmusic, Inc., New York; and Asia Pictures Limited, Hong Kong. Burford and Rose Limited, London, England, and Electric and Musical Industries Limited, Hayes, Middlesex, are the new disc recording licensees.

UA Gross Rises

NEW YORK—United Artists' 1954 gross will be $43,000,000, more than $1,000,000 above the previous best estimate, it was revealed last week. The domestic market, the United States and Canada, will account for $27,000,000, while foreign earnings contribute about $16,000,000. This is the highest figure in the company's history. Three years ago, before the present management group took control, the gross was $19,000,000. Management looks for earnings in 1955 to reach $50,000,000.

Canada

Year-End Reflections Give Rise To Queries

TORONTO—As this is written, it is year-end. It is time when exhibitors from coast-to-coast begin to think about what the coming year will bring; Will business be better?

What are the factors? Television in Canada is rising in importance almost weekly with the increasing number of TV stations in the country, both national and private. It is only within the last year and a half that the government allowed private interests to build stations in Canada.

But whatever the expansion of TV in Canada, the country's largest theatre chain, Famous Players, is not to be left behind, as it has interests in two TV stations, one at Quebec City and the other at Kitchener, Ont. It also has plans to enter the pay-as-you see TV through its franchise for Telemeter.

Then there is the rising immigration in Canada, now declining. It has been a considerable factor in the last couple of years. Not only has it provided a base for all motion picture business, but through it, a number of specialty houses have been developed. For instance, in Toronto alone, there are five houses catering to the foreign-language groups.

Immigration, however, is dropping. In October of this year there were 11,526 persons admitted to Canada. This is a drop of 40 per cent below the same month last year. The government is beginning to pay attention to the requests of labor and farmers for a slow-down. There is a fear of a flooded labor market, a market which the country can't afford, according to some claims put forth.

Then there is the problem of the amusement tax. Various exhibitor groups are making attacks on the provincial governments for reductions. In Canada, the provinces have jurisdiction over amusement tax. In Ontario it is called the hospital tax. Campaigns are being prepared in Ontario and in British Columbia, while in Manitoba an onslaught has been made by the Manitoba Motion Picture Theatres Association, and the results are still awaited.

What about business itself? Canadian boxoffice receipts in 1953 were up three per cent, not as high as the rise in 1952 over 1951 of nine per cent. Business in 1954, however, was given a real shot in the arm, exhibitors agree, with the new techniques in film-screens, as predictions are made of a 10 per cent increase in the boxoffice take.

That take, however, has put exhibitors against a wall, they say and said at a convention of the National Committee of Motion Picture Exhibitors. They resolved to sit down around a table and see whether they couldn't have some adjustment with respect to the high rentals being asked by the distributors.

Jane Wyman, star, Paramount's "Lucy Gallant," was hostess recently on the set to J. H. Stodel, left, director, Schlesinger Theatre Organization in South Africa for 42 years, and Mrs. Stodel, and, right, Abe Blumberg, former mayor, Cape Town, and his wife, all of whom show interest.

Canadian Comment

The contribution theatres in Canada make to charitable causes is quite considerable, as may be gathered from the annual report of the executive secretary of the Motion Picture Theatres Association of Ontario. During 1953-54 there were 175 trailers boosting the sale of Easter seals by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, 60 for The Salvation Army's Red Shield Campaign, 70 for the Navy League, 28 for the Kinsmen's Illahee Lodge and 70 for the Christmas Seals campaign of the National Sanitarium Association. Every province had those that were connected with the campaigns of governmental and charitable organizations, among them trailers connected with recruiting and fighting forest fires, as well as for provincial drives only. A viewing committee of the Motion Picture Theatres Association of Ontario, headed by Morris Stein, views and approves or disapproves of clips and trailers submitted for showing on members' screens. Other provinces, through regional associations, try to control the type and number of trailers. All laboratories making trailers and all organizations sponsoring trailers were notified to limit them to 90 feet. Each trailer bears some indication that the theatre is a member of the Motion Picture Industry Council of Canada and that the announcement was presented without charge "as a public service."

CINE CHATTER—Exhibitors in a number of Ontario communities are watching, with interest, a trend among retail business establishments to increase the number of store hours, particularly by staying open in the evenings. . . . Arch H. Jolley, executive secretary, Motion Picture Theatres Association of Ontario, was re-elected vice-president, Musical Protective Society of Canada, of which Col. John A. Cooper, the founder, is honorary president. Among the directors are Angus MacCunn, Famous Players; Craig P. Hughes, Odeon Theatres; and William Redpath, General Films Ltd. . . . There's a new publication for French-speaking citizens of Toronto, called L'Alliance, offering exhibitors who play French pictures a new medium of sales. . . . The annual motion picture Christmas party was held in the Admiral Beatty Hotel in St. John with Graydon Matthews, manager, JARO, as chairman. . . . There are now 18 TV stations operating in Canada, with the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. providing a basic service to the affiliated private stations. In the very near future, it is expected that the whole country will be linked by a microwave network. . . . The students at Variety Village presented a program of carols and a dramatic presentation of "A Christmas Carol" by Dickens. This was the boys' theatrical debut. Principal Arthur Robertson feels that this will give the boys more confidence in themselves, and more such theatrical programs are expected. . . . Those eligible among the 1,300 or so employees of Canadian Kodak Company, Ltd., most of them employed in the plant near Toronto, will receive a bonus of $28.75 for each $1,000 earned during the five years of 1950-54 inclusive.

Argentina

In Buenos Aires, the Argentine branch managers of Warners held a sales meeting last week at the Hotel Normandie. Called by Jack Mindis, general manager, the meeting was attended by Antonio Peralta, Rosario; Felipe Ferrando, Cordoba; Oscar Zanotto, Bahia Blanca; Carlos Dlabach, Santa Fe; Castor Lacerca, Mendoza; and Cesar Badessi, Tucuman.

England

The J. Arthur Rank Organization announced that the first 14 top-budget pictures on its 1955 production schedule at Pinewood and Ealing studios, London, were now in various stages of production. Included in the lineup are Rank's initial two pictures in VistaVision, "Value For Money," in Eastman Color, with John Gregson, Susan Stephen and Diana Dors, and "The Spanish Gardener," based on the novel by A. J. Cronin. Location sites in several parts of the world have been set for a number of the forthcoming productions, which will run the gamut of entertainment from comedy and romance to drama and adventure.

France

Evidence of the success resulting from five years of Italo-French motion picture collaboration was demonstrated during the ninth meeting of the mixed Italo-French Film Accord Commission at Paris, when the movie-makers of the two countries assembled to discuss co-production and exchange problems. Delegates voted to extend the Italo-French co-production agreement of 1949 until March 31, 1955, while the film exchange accord was renewed until Dec. 31, 1955. The co-production agreement was extended rather than renewed pending Italian government action on the motion picture law. As soon as definite action on the new film law is taken, the Italians and the French will meet again to negotiate for renewal of the pact.

20th-Fox Announces Early '55 Schedule

NEW YORK—With the number of attractions from 20th-Fox in 1955 expected to hit 30, the company last week announced a program of releases between January and April 1955 calling for eight CinemaScope productions, all in color, and two standard films, one in color.

The diversified product line-up will see two CinemaScope productions released each month during the four-month period, augmented in February and March with standard pictures.

The line-up, commencing in January, numbers Otto Preminger's "Carmen Jones," in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, and "Prince of Players," in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, produced and directed by Philip Dunne.

February releases are "White Feather," in CinemaScope and print by Technicolor, a Leonard Goldstein presentation, produced by Robert L. Jacks and directed by Robert Webb; "The Racers," in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, produced by Julian Blaustein and directed by Henry Hathaway; and Panoramic Productions' "A Life In The Balance," a standard picture, produced by Leonard Goldstein and directed by Harry Horner.

March releases are "Untamed," in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, produced by Bert E. Friedlob and William A. Bacher, and directed by Henry King; "That Lady," in CinemaScope and color by Technicolor, produced by Sy Bartlett and directed by Terence Young; and "Our Girl Friday," a standard release in color, produced by George Minter and directed by Noel Langley.

April releases are "A Man Called Peter," in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, produced by Samuel G. Engle and directed by Henry Koster, and "Violent Saturday," in CinemaScope and color by Technicolor, produced by Buddy Adler and directed by Robert Fleisher.

Nine new CinemaScope short subjects, all in color, will also be released by the company in this period.

AA Has Backlog Of 10 Features

HOLLYWOOD—Allied Artists will wind up the current year with a backlog of 10 pictures, it was announced last week.

These films, according to executive producer Walter Mirisch, include "The Warriors," in CinemaScope, starring Errol Flynn, Joanne Dru, and Peter Finch; "The Annapolis Story," starring John Derek, Diana Lynn, and Kevin McCarthy; and "Shotgun," with Sterling Hayden and Yvonne De Carlo starred, each in Technicolor; "The Big Combo," starring Cornel Wilde, Jean Wallace, and Richard Conte, and "God's Angry Man," with Raymond Massey, Debra Paget and Jeffrey Hunter.

The others are "Treasure Of Ruby Hills," starring Zachary Scott and Carole Mathews; "Sweet Charity," starring Conte, Constance Smith, and Bruce Bennett; "Code 3," starring Bill Elliott; "High Society," starring Leo Gorcey and Huntz Hall; and "Murder Is My Beat," with Barbara Payton and Paul Langton.

Warners Supports Indies

BURBANK, CAL.—Jack L. Warner, executive producer, recently stated that Warners is now financing an industry record number of independent productions, has many more such deals in progress, and stands ready at any time to give careful consideration to others in its effort to supply needed films.

Warners' policy statement was inspired by current exhibitor demands for more product.

"At the present time," Warner stated, "we have 21 top budgeted independent pictures just completed, in production, or in preparation. They represent an investment of many, many millions of dollars, and the talent of the greatest array of the motion picture industry's foremost creative artists ever engaged at one time by one company."

About People

NEW YORK—Frank Bryan and Louis M. Weber have been elected vice-presidents, Skouras Theatres Corporation, it was announced last week by president Spyros S. Skouras following a meeting of the board of directors. Another new appointee named by Skouras was Irving Palace, comptroller.

Both new vice-presidents will retain their old positions with the Skouras organization, Bryan as treasurer and Weber as attorney, assistant treasurer, and assistant secretary.

NEW YORK—William J. German, president, W. J. German, Inc., has been named chairman, film laboratories committee of the National Conference Drive in observance of Brotherhood Week for 1955, and Irving Lesser, president, Producers Representatives, Inc., and Major Television Productions, Inc., has accepted the post as chairman, television films committee, it was announced last week by John H. Harris, national chairman, amusements division.

HOLLYWOOD—Alfred P. Chamie, AMPP, was elected chairman of the Motion Picture Industry Pension Plan last week, under the plan agreed to last October in which management and labor alternate top office. He succeeds George Flaherty, of IATSE. Other officers unanimously elected by the board of trustees were: Fred F. Meyer, vice-chairman; Herbert Aller, secretary; and Henry Wadsworth, vice-secretary.

NEW YORK—Taylor Mills, assistant to the vice-president, Motion Picture Association of America, won national recognition last week from the American Cancer Society for his role in the preparation and distribution of ACS movie trailers through the last 10 years. A plaque-certificate of appreciation was presented to Mills by Mefford R. Runyon, executive vice-president, Cancer Society, on the Nancy Craig television show over WABC-TV.

NEW YORK—Barney Balaban, Paramount president, was named last week to be chairman of the Brotherhood Week dinner to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria on Jan. 13. The dinner, launching the National Conference's 1955 drive, will honor J. Robert Rubin, permanent chairman of the entertainments division of the National Conference. 152 other executives have accepted posts as sponsors.

NEW YORK—Mort Blumenstock, Warners vice-president in charge of advertising and publicity, last week announced the promotion of Dick Lederer, advertising staff, to copy chief of the department under Gil Golden, advertising manager. Lederer came to Warners in 1950, after serving as copy writer for Columbia.

NEW YORK—Frank Milton, theatre and TV producer, has been named eastern talent head for Distributors' Corporation of America. He will be in charge of east coast casting and selection of literary properties, with special emphasis on the resources of the legitimate theatre.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Although it sounds trite by now, I want to add my compliments to those you receive daily on the service you have rendered in publishing the section of pictures which have appeared on television.

I wrote you a few comments some months back that I thought might help you pull a few unidentified pictures together. On the current KMTV (Omaha) list of December movies, I note "Blake Of Scotland Yard" with Ralph Byrd is not shown in your list. If you care to make the addition, I understand this is distributed by Unity TV films and is apparently an old Republic serial, edited down to feature size. It is showing on Dec. 22 and the following night is listed "Scrooge," with no cast. This is likewise not shown on your list, but is an old film.

My copies have been dogeared and I wonder if I offer to pay postage, if I could please have you mail me one copy each of the July 7 television listing and one copy also of the Oct. 20 pink section, bringing the earlier section up to date.

I believe I recall reading one time, where complete year volumes of the pink section reviews were available to subscribers at 50 cents a year. Is this correct? Is it possible to get a complete set of these since you started printing them?

A friend of mine has been giving serious consideration to starting a program service and thought if he did, a complete index of all your program reviews would be a very great help, if and when he got orders on older pictures on which he had to "make up something" if the proper mats weren't available.

BEV MAHON

Pella, Iowa

NOTE: Back issues of the pink review section have always been available to subscribers in complete numbered seasons until limited supplies are exhausted. As the above theatre operator was advised, current supplies are from September, 1948 ('48-'49 season) to date, and the charge is 52 cents per season.

Dear Sir:

Leonard Gordon, president of our association, and I have just completed four sectional meetings in Virginia.

From the comments we heard I would agree wholeheartedly with your lead editorial of Dec. 1 ("Uneasy Lies The Head").

Dear Sir:

"Uneasy Lies The Head" is an editorial (12/1/54) that is clever, well written, and to the point.

I hope it gets widespread reading. I'm calling attention of exhibitors to it.

ROBERT C. SPEDICK
Lincoln

New Haven

Dear Sir:

I want to congratulate you upon your editorial appearing Dec. 1, entitled "Uneasy Lies The Head." This editorial puts into words what I have thought for a long time.

I am the man that very harshly criticized you upon another editorial, which I think you will remember. You wrote me a lengthy letter of explanation, which I appreciate. I was wrong to be so rude, please accept my apology. You have been a theatre owner much longer than I am old. Even though I have been connected with theatres a good many years I have been a theatre owner only since 1950 and have read your publication even a shorter time than that. But I got mine the hard way and it is still coming the hard way. There are many things that I do not understand or know about the motion picture exhibition end and exactly nothing about anything else. Again, I apologize.

I wish you a very merry Christmas and the best of everything.

Gentlemen:

My complete 3 years supply of your Servisection pages were destroyed by mistake by our cleaning women.

I am at a loss without them, and, I would appreciate your cooperation, in sending me all the up-to-date, and past Servisections to me. I would appreciate at least a year's supply from Jan. 1, 1954 to the present date.

Calderon Heads Azteca

NEW YORK—Ruben A. Calderon has been named president of Azteca Films, Inc., distributors of Spanish language films in the United States and Canada. He succeeds Alberto Salas Porras, who is retiring to private life. Other officers named by Azteca's board of directors are Guillermo Calderon, vice-president, and Gustavo Acosta, secretary-treasurer.

While on the west coast recently Howard Minsky, mideastern division manager, Paramount; Tony Redein, Paramount ad department; Mrs. Minsky; Gordon Lightstone, general manager in Canada for Paramount; Y. Frank Freeman; and Hal Periera, studio art director, visited at Don Hartman's home.

MGM Sets Eight For Jan.-April Bow

NEW YORK—MGM will release eight pictures during the first four months of 1955, according to tentative plans announced last fortnight by Charles M. Reagan, vice-president and general sales manager. According to the schedule, there will be two pictures released each month, all in Eastman Color and seven in CinemaScope.

Leading off the list in January will be "Bad Day At Black Rock," the Dore Schary production, in CinemaScope, starring Spencer Tracy, Robert Ryan, Anne Francis, Dean Jagger, Walter Brennan, and John Ericson. This will be followed by "Green Fire," in CinemaScope, starring Stewart Granger, Grace Kelly, Paul Douglas, John Ericson, and Mervyn Vye.

For February there will be "Many Rivers To Cross," in CinemaScope, starring Robert Taylor, Eleanor Parker, Victor McLaglen, and Russ Tamblyn; and "Jupiter's Darling," in CinemaScope, starring Esther Williams, Howard Keel, Marge and Gower Champion, George Sanders, Richard Haydn, and William Demarest.

"Hit The Deck" will head the March duo. The CinemaScope musical stars Jane Powell, Tony Martin, Debbie Reynolds, Walter Pidgeon, Vic Damone, Gene Raymond, Ann Miller, and Russ Tamblyn. The second picture for the month will be "Interrupted Melody," in CinemaScope, starring Glenn Ford, Eleanor Parker, Roger Moore, and Cecil Kellaway.

For April there will be "Glass Slipper" and "Boulevard In Paris," the latter in CinemaScope. Michael Wilding, Leslie Caron, Amanda Blake, Keenan Wynn, and Elsa Lancaster head the cast of "Glass Slipper," while Anne Baxter and Steve Forrest co-star in "Boulevard In Paris."

Thedford Heads Evergreen

SEATTLE—William H. Thedford has been named president, Evergreen State Amusement Corporation, it was announced last week. For eight years he was assistant to the former president Frank L. Newman. Evergreen is a National Theatres affiliate.

Johnston A Grandfather

NEW YORK—Eric A. Johnston, president, MPEA, became a grandfather again recently with the birth of a daughter to Mrs. Harriet C. Fix in Spokane, Wash.

John P. Byrne, eastern sales manager, MGM, welcomes a huge crowd to MGM's third ticket selling workshop, held at the Bradford Hotel, Boston.

Mike Simons, conductor of the workshop, and Emery Austin, MGM exploitation head, shake hands with Harry Shaw, Loew's theatre division head, as Floyd Fitzsimmons, MGM press representative (extreme left), Lou Brown, advertising manager, Loew's Poli Theatres, New Haven, and Arthur Canton, eastern field press representative, look on.

Among those attending the Boston workshop were, front row, Loew Circuit, Felix Migliaccio, George T. Ramsdell, Burton J. Perkins, Walter Brooks, Joseph Quattricchi, Ed Haley; rear row, B and Q associates, P. J. Levesque, Morton Katz, A. Eison, Bernard Watts, Richard Allen, Thomas Kilcoyne.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR FEATURE

Learn From Leo

THE HOW-TO-DO-IT-YOURSELF craze currently sweeping the country has hit the industry, and, with the way being pointed out by MGM's exploitation experts, exhibitors are learning that there are more ways to sell a ticket than through a box-office window.

Next week, in Denver, Mike Simons, MGM director of customer relations, and Emery Austin, exploitation manager, will convene the company's latest Ticket Selling Workshop, and on these pages can be seen scenes from the previous two affairs in Boston and Indianapolis.

Pat McGee, well-known Denver exhibitor, is cooperating with MGM in the endeavor, and, as has been the case elsewhere, leading exhibitors representing all types of theatre operations, and top area theatremen will conduct panel discussions.

The workshop program is gaining momentum, with 14 definite dates set in exchange centers and other cities where exhibitors can convene with ease. More than 5,000 theatremen and affiliated interests are expected to attend.

In line with MGM's announced 1955 salute to the nation's exhibitors, the workshops are proving an excellent stimulus to the solving of local problems and the pooling of ideas leading to the development of new promotional and exploitation methods. Other dates on Simons' and Austin's calendar for January are Jackson, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn.

Irving J. Clumb, manager, Riverside, Milwaukee, takes over the microphone representing theatre circuit operations.

At the second MGM workshop in Indianapolis, left to right, are Bill Williams, Union, Mo., who served as a panel member and discussed "small town" ticket selling; Wayne Bodkin, advertising manager, Muncie Star, discussed newspaper advertising; James Buck, promotion manager, WISH-TV, spoke on TV promotion; Foster B. Gauker, Indianapolis manager, MGM, welcomes delegates from Indiana and Kentucky.

Managers and executives of M. Switow and Sons Theatres attending the Indianapolis workshop were George E. Jaeger, Guy A. Roehm, A. J. Kalberer, Curtis Dunn, Earl Payne, Joseph Hedden, Arthur Stanisch, John Phelps and Russel Bronson.

Mrs. Alice N. Gorham, director of ticket sales, United Detroit Theatres, delivers a talk on how to get extra ticket sales at the Boston Workshop.

Exhibitors from small Indiana towns included Lisle Kreighbaum, Times, Rochester; W. T. Studebaker, Logan, Logansport; and Harry and James Kornblum, Rosedale, Evansville.

Emery Austin and his press representative group, Charles Felleman, New York, New Jersey; Floyd Fitzsimmons, Boston, New Haven; Ed Gallner, Philadelphia; and Stephen Pirozzi, Albany, Buffalo.

Alliance Circuit managers from Indiana attending included Mr. and Mrs. Gib Ogles, O and C Drive-In, Greencastle; Ray Helm, Roxy, Peru; Howard Tilley, State, Logansport; Ken Fitz, Jefferson; and Marvin Kahn, Fort Wayne.

The sword

that pierces your heart . . . almost

Here make-believe gives tough battle to reality—virtually overcomes it for the duration of the show.

Size has much to do with this conquest. The wide, wide screen fills the eye from full left to full right—concentrates attention. At the same time, a sense of encircling nearness reaches out and engulfs the audience—makes it "one" with the action.

There are problems of production, processing, and projection with this new technic. They are present whether the film presented is black-and-white or color. Many of them have been solved by the motion picture industry with the help of the Eastman Technical Service for Motion Picture Film. Branches at strategic centers. Inquiries invited.

Sindlinger To Study New York Tax Effect

NEW YORK—New York City exhibitors hired market analyst Albert E. Sindlinger last fortnight to gather statistics on the effect of the city's five per cent amusement tax since its inception on July 1, 1954.

All New York theatres, independent or circuit operated, will be sent questionnaires to help Sindlinger round up statistics. The Sindlinger report will include tax statistics from July 1 to the end of December, a six month period. These figures may be used in preparing briefs and petitions for study by Governor-elect Averill Harriman if the New York City exhibitors seek repeal or amendment of the state enabling act which allows municipalities to enact legislation such as the amusement tax.

Included in Sindlinger's figures will be the first tax payment made by exhibitors to the New York City tax collector in September, a total of about $900,000, less tax breakage, withheld on court order, of $150,000. The amusement tax collected by the city for the months of July and August from all sources totaled about $1,291,950. The Sindlinger report is expected to be made public in early January.

Huge Beauty Contest To Benefit "Vera Cruz"

NEW YORK—A $75,000 national contest booming United Artists' "Vera Cruz" in every exchange area of the country has been set with the Exquisite Form Bra company, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation for UA.

The jumbo competition, which will be backed by an all-media campaign employing co-op ads, radio and TV plugs, full-scale newspaper publicity, store displays, and street bally, will additionally award $4,000 in United States Savings bonds to theatre exhibitors and managers mounting the best "Vera Cruz" contest promotions.

The contest, which will be held in conjunction with both key engagements and subsequent runs, is pegged to a search for a super-shapely miss who will qualify for the title of "Miss Exquisite Form." Final selections will be made by Gary Cooper and Burt Lancaster, who star in "Vera Cruz."

The grand prize winner will receive a $10,000 contract for one year of modeling and TV appearances, an expenses-paid trip to Hollywood and a studio audition. The 200 other well-curved finalists will share $65,000 worth of jewelry, home appliances, vacation trips and other valuable prizes.

To insure maximum support, Exquisite Form has prepared 22,000 special promotional kits for distribution to their dealers in department stores and women's shops from coast-to-coast. Accessories include window streamers, counter cards, co-op ad mats, and prepared publicity for newspaper, radio and TV. The company's 110-man field force will expedite liaison between dealers and theatremen.

Special exhibitor aids provided by United Artists include a "Vera Cruz" contest one-sheet and contest theatre trailer, both free, and an entry blank mat, which is available at National Screen Service.

The 11 manufacturers contributing prizes for the banner promotion will provide newspaper co-op ads, lobby exhibits, and store window and counter displays.

United Artists' field force will hypo the "Miss Exquisite Form" campaign with contest exploitation manuals detailing a step-by-step campaign to assure every exhibitor of maximum benefit in his locality.

Schine Sells "Circus"

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y.—The Schine Circuit has supplied its managers with an interesting brochure explaining various possibilities in setting up circus exploitation to promote engagements of Paramount's "Three Ring Circus." Included are contest ideas, unusual newspaper ads and effective tiesups with local merchants.

Through the courtesy of Paul Turnbull, manager, Granada, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, the Camera Club of Delta Secondary School was recently conducted on a tour through the projection room. John Owens, projectionist, is seen explaining details to two members of the Club. A good will gesture in the line of public relations work, Turnbull thus gained a three-column cut in his local newspaper and photograph and screen credits on the bulletin board at the Delta.

Book Tieup For "Prince"

NEW YORK—In conjunction with the national release of 20th-Fox's "Prince Of Players" in CinemaScope, a new popular priced edition of the Eleanor Ruggles best-selling book is being issued by W. W. Norton and Company of New York, it was announced by the publishing firm last fortnight.

Publication of the new edition, to sell at $1.98, will see a full-fledged promotional campaign launched by W. W. Norton directly linked to theatre playdates of the CinemaScope biography of famed actor Edwin Booth.

Originally priced at $4.50, the new edition of the popular book will carry full credits and film art on the front and back covers, and the publishers' thousands of outlets across the country are being alerted to participate fully in merchandising the book with the picture when it plays in their area.

To facilitate the programming of campaigns, 20th Century-Fox will furnish lists of playdates of the picture to the book publishers and will alert its field exploitation to work fully in setting regional and local activities in order to get maximum results.

"Giveaways" Plug "Paris"

NEW YORK—Universal-International has launched a four-week participation on seven network "giveaway" radio programs reaching an estimated 219,000,000 listeners to help promote "So This Is Paris." The programs are "Wonderful City," starring Harry Wismer on MBS; "Take A Number," starring Red Benson on MBS; "It Pays To Be Married," starring Jay Stewart on NBC; "Platterbrain," starring Joe King on ABC; "Second Chance," starring Johnny Olson on NBC; "True Or False," starring Tom Moore on MBS; and "Farm Quiz," starring Don Peterson on MBS.

Windy City Promotion Aids RKO's "Hansel"

CHICAGO—An extraordinary exploitation tieup with a local newspaper for Miachel Myerberg's "Hansel and Gretel" recently resulted in front-page plugs and dominance of the amusement for two weeks preceding the opening of the RKO release at the Loop.

In the biggest promotion for a motion picture in its history, The Chicago Tribune ran a coloring contest for 14 days, beginning with a front-page splash that heralded the theatre's opening date with complete credits for the film.

Every day a four-column cartoon of a scene from the film was centered on the amusement page. Throughout the promotion, a story was carried on the front page concerning the contest cartoon inside.

The contest was open only to children. Daily prizes of 180 "Hansel and Gretel" merchandise items were awarded to those who submitted the best colored cartoons. Two free trips to Hollywood served as grand prizes.

The outstanding promotion job was handled by Ralph Banghart, RKO field man, under the supervision of the RKO exploitation department.

"Contessa" Record A Hit

NEW YORK—Backed by a jumbo promotion blanketing music dealers and radio and TV stations in every key city of the United States and Canada, "The Song of the Barefoot Contessa" has passed the quarter-million mark in record sales, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation for United Artists.

The campaign booming "The Song of the Barefoot Contessa," which is being supported in the field by the exploitation staffs of both United Artists and RCA Victor, features a five-week dealer contest that will award the winners expenses-paid cruise vacations to Nassau. Other facets of the promotion include a personal tour for orchestra-leader Hugo Winterhalter and special screenings for disc jockeys and record dealers.

Radio Boost For "Combo"

HOLLYWOOD—A special television and radio campaign has been set for Allied Artists' "The Big Combo," starring Cornel Wilde, Jean Wallace, and Richard Conte, which goes into national release on Feb. 13.

At the same time, plans are being made for Wilde and Miss Wallace, if their film commitments permit, to make personal appearances with the opening of the picture in all key cities.

The format for the TV and radio campaign, is similar to that which was successfully employed in launching Walter Wanger's "Riot In Cell Block 11" and "The Human Jungle."

Newspapers Helped C'Scope Growth

NEW YORK—A dependable old Hollywood formula, heavy promotion and exploitation, with newspaper advertising as the "backbone," has sold 20th-Fox's CinemaScope to the American public and helped to "revive the movie industry's confidence," according to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The statement accompanied last week's release by the Bureau of a colorful brochure detailing the growth of CinemaScope from a bright idea with lots of promise to a new screen technique which has built a notable success.

Despite its supreme confidence that this was "it," the company had no illusions that success would be automatic. A 20th-Fox advertising man, quoted in the Bureau pamphlet, said as he looked back at CinemaScope's first big promotion project, "Our job was cut out for us. But what a job! Not only did we have an expensive motion picture to sell ('The Robe') but we had to introduce a new product, educate the public to a new type of motion picture screen, make them accept a sight-and-sound revolution that was the biggest thing since the coming of the talkies."

Advertising, the bulk of it in newspapers, was picked to carry the major share of the promotional load. Weeks before "The Robe's" formal premiere in New York, the city's newspapers "carried lavish advertisements" heralding both the new picture and the new photographic technique, the Bureau's story relates. "The Robe" was promoted similarly across the country when it opened in other cities and everywhere the success was phenomenal.

The same formula was applied to subsequent CinemaScope productions, and Spyros Skouras, 20th-Fox head, commenting in the brochure on the many factors behind CinemaScope's success, placed newspaper advertising "at the top of our list."

Charles Einfeld, the company's advertising director, long experienced in movie promotion and exploitation, saw the year's success as a re-emphasis of the power of newspaper advertising.

This strong dependence on newspapers, Einfeld added, is a major factor in the current success of "There's No Business Like Show Business" and the same promotional pattern "will be very much in the picture" as new CinemaScope productions are released.

Paramount Seniors Honored

NEW YORK—Fifty-one employees of Paramount were presented with gold watches, service pins, scrolls, and inducted into the Paramount 25-Year Club last week. The ceremonies took place at the home office of the company and were conducted by Barney Balaban, president, and Adolph Zukor, chairman of the board.

GOOD PROJECTION

*... Means
Better Business*

You can do something about the matter of whether theatregoers patronize you or the theatre down the street.

Don't let old fashioned equipment steal your profits. What good is a theatre with no audience? Old equipment just won't do. Theatres with obsolete equipment cannot compete with those modernly equipped. You can't fool the public, even though Barnum is reputed to have so claimed. Today's requirements demand equipment that is geared to the times. Things have happened with projection arc design in the last few years. Modern equipment is no relative of extravagance. It pays, doesn't cost. We're sure you'll junk your old projection arc lamps when you see the

NATIONAL EXCELITE "135"

PROJECTION ARC LAMP ... the lamp that is readily adaptable to all types of modern screen presentation.

National's Reflect-O-Heat unit permits the great increase in volume of light at the mammoth new screens, without a corresponding increase in heat at the aperture.

The Automatic Crater Positioning Control System insures that both carbons are so fed as to maintain a correct arc gap length and to keep the position of the positive crater at the exact focal point of the reflector. Thus, throughout the presentation, the screen light is always of the same color, without variations from white to either blue or brown. The projectionist is accordingly freed from the necessity of constantly supervising the arc so that he can devote himself to the care of other technical features of projection which are not on an automatic basis and which require continual attention.

The arc is stabilized by a stream of air which maintains a prescribed system of ventilation of the area surrounding the arc. This air jet prevents the hot tail flame of the arc from reaching the reflector, supplies enough oxygen so that no black soot is produced, and keeps white soot from collecting on the reflector in such quantity as to absorb heat which would cause breakage.

Unit construction permits easy removal of the elements for inspection in servicing.

Letter To A Youngster

We know that you are just five days old and probably still haven't had time to get over the festivities that accompanied your arrival. Although your older brother gave a good deal of his attention to the care and welfare of theatremen, he just did not have enough time to finish the job. So, if you don't mind, we would like to give you a short briefing on a few of the things that still have to be done.

For one thing, although a large number of theatres are already equipped with some of the lenses necessary to show the various wide screen systems, quite a few of the smaller exhibitors still find the prices a bit out of their reach. Fortunately the manufacturers are aware of this situation and you will find them very willing to cooperate in any way so that prices may be brought into line. Proof of this can be found in the recent price reductions announced for the Superscope and Super Panatar lenses.

Another situation which could stand a little investigation is theatre television. We know that it has been pretty hectic what with all the new screens, and lamps, and stereophonic sound, but we have been hearing about such things as the 20th-Fox color Eidophor system and a new RCA large screen television system, and it wouldn't hurt if the theatres were given another audience getter.

Speaking about stereophonic sound, it also wouldn't be a bad idea if you would try to bring a little uniformity to whole subject. It's gotten so that at times an exhibitor has to book his pictures according to the type of sound prints that are available, and the kind of sound system he has been able to install. With bigger, but fewer pictures being made nowadays, this can be quite a handicap, particularly in the drive-ins and smaller theatres.

While we are on this subject of equipment and exhibitors we would like to make the same request that we have asked of quite a few of your predecessors—why don't you see to it that ALL exhibitor, manufacturer and dealer organizations hold ONE joint Trade Show? There have been some encouraging steps taken to bring this about. Let's see if you can't be the one to finish the job.

This hardly begins to tell you of all the important things that have to be done. Matters such as improving the recently introduced systems, developing new and more exciting methods of screen presentation, indoor and outdoor theatre construction, etc., etc., but we think that it gives you the general idea.

There is every reason to believe that you are going to develop into a healthy robust year.

We would like to offer our wishes that you be a very happy New Year.

THE PROPER EQUIPMENT AND THE PROPER CLEANING PROCEDURE ARE THE KEYS TO KEEPING THEATRE CARPETS ALWAYS LOOKING THEIR VERY BEST.

Theatre Floor Covering Will Last Longer And Look Better With # Proper Carpet Cleaning

FORWARD-LOOKING theatremen recognize two marked advantages in regular systematic cleaning of carpets. Both advantages reflect in the cost and the profit aspects of theatre operation.

First, the appearance of a theatre's furnishings has a definite effect on box-office results. Patrons are favorably impressed with a theatre that can boast of bright, clean carpeting, and prefer it to one that has dingy floor coverings.

Second, good carpet maintenance plays an important part in keeping operating costs down. Routine cleaning removes the dirt and grit that injures carpet's pile and prolongs the handsome appearance and service life of the carpet. The cost of cleaning carpets is, without a doubt, far below that of replacing them.

It is recommended that two men, if possible, handle the carpet cleaning job. One man can operate the vacuum machine and do the hand-shampooing in areas not reached by the scrubbing machine. The other man prepares the solution and operates the scrubber. If only one man is available, he should do the hand-shampooing after the first vacuuming, and before the scrubber.

The Right Start

All carpeting should be thoroughly vacuumed before shampooing. If dirt or mud is heavily caked in the pile, it should be broken up by brushing vigorously with a dry, stiff bristle longhandled brush, then removed with the vacuum machine.

Immediately after vacuuming, make a thorough inspection of rugs for fading, dry rot, stains or moth damage. Irregularities of any kind should be noted before shampooing.

There are three basic tests commonly used to determine the effect of certain shampoos on colors. (1) Rub a damp towel over the carpet. On a majority of materials you will find this test sufficient and colors unaffected; in which case you will be perfectly safe in using a quality shampoo preparation. (2) If the first tests runs the colors, use a weak ammonia test solution—26 degrees. If colors are unaffected a very mild alkaline solution may be used (3) If colors run in the ammonia test use a 28 per cent acetic acid solution. If the colors hold fast, a synthetic detergent, with or without added sour, should be used.

Determine Pile Direction—This is done

PHYSICAL THEATRE

Vol. 10, No. 1

January 5, 1955

by rubbing the pile with the fingertips. It is important because the machine, in completing each lap, should lay the pile rather than raise it. To achieve this, you must operate the machine against the pile, starting at the left corner and moving across to the right. Then, on returning from right to left to complete a lap, and because the brush revolves counter-clockwise, the forward edge of the brush will lay the pile properly.

Shampooing

For highly concentrated products add one part shampoo to 16 parts of lukewarm water. On this basis, one gallon of solution will shampoo about 80 to 100 square feet, depending on pile depth. These figures are for hard-water areas. In water with average softness mix one part shampoo to 20 parts of water, and in soft water the ratio is one to 24.

In shampooing carpeting, it is important that you work in the proper direction in reference to the pile, as previously mentioned. Select the proper "starting" left corner by facing in the direction whereby the pile lies from your right to your left. Remember, the brush rotates counter-clockwise, so raising or lowering the handle moves the machine to the right or left. Open windows a few inches top and bottom when starting to shampoo; be sure the theatre is well ventilated until carpeting has dried.

When shampooing your carpets you (1) vacuum thoroughly. If dirt or mud is heavily caked in the pile, it should be broken by brushing it. Then (2) ties of any kind should be noted before shampooing is started. Next, (3) determine the pile direction by rubbing with your fingertips. It is important that the shampooing machine should lay pile, not raise it for best results.

Streak-free Method—With a little practice you will be able to do an even streak-free job. Correctly operated, the scrubber will contact the pile four times. In shampooing the first strip or top edge of the carpet, hold the machine so that it hugs the top, assuring that you are shampooing the pile to the very edge. Low spots due to tacking can be reached by further raising the handle. Turn on the solution and hold the scrubber until the foam is thoroughly worked into the carpet. Now move the scrubber to the right over a path parallel to the edge of the rug. Turn off the solution when the scrubber is approximately 18 inches from the right edge of the carpet. The solution already released will flow down into the brush to complete the pass. For the return pass, return the scrubber over the same path from right to left edge of the carpet with the solution turned off. Now repeat the procedure outlined to insure thorough cleaning of the top edge. Then lower the scrubber one full lap and proceed with solution three.

On all subsequent laps, lower the scrubber one full lap at the left edge of the carpet for the next solution pass and raise the scrubber three-quarters of a lap at the right edge for the next return pass.

Cleaning Aisles—Since most aisles are too narrow to permit scrubbing on a plane from the lobby to the screen, it is necessary to make shorter passes, from one side of the aisle to the other. Such scrubbing often does not permit the operation of the scrubber in the correct relation to the direction of the pile. In such cases good results may be obtained by laying the pile while wet-vacuuming after scrubbing.

Immediately upon completion of shampooing with the scrubber, the pile should be brushed two ways; first up and then down. This can be done with a long-handled pile-laying brush, or with the Most theatre aisles are too narrow to permit a proper pass with the machine. Since shorter passes must be used, it is necessary to take care.

vacuum machine's brush attachment. This reduces drying time considerably. If possible, avoid walking on the carpet until it is dry three to six hours.

It is important to vacuum the carpet carefully after it dries in order to remove sand and grit loosened by the scrubber and shampoo solution. Frequent vacuumings for seven to 10 days following shampooing will enhance the carpet's appearance.

Hints and Precautions

Shampooing under radiators in corners, and other areas that cannot be reached by the machine should be done first with a small hand brush. Particular attention should be given these areas because they are usually the dirtiest. Dip the brush in a pail containing shampoo solution and brush with a circular motion. When finished throw away this solution; do not use it in the scrubber tank.

Extreme caution is required when shampooing twist weave pile surfaces in order not to remove the twists. Dilute the shampoo solution one part concentrate to eight parts of moderately warm water. Operate machine on a separate piece of carpet until the brush is thoroughly lubricated with foam, then work on the twist weave surface, passing over the surface rapidly. A worn brush or one with a softer fiber fill is recommended for use on twist weave carpets.

Sand and dirt in a carpet cuts the pile, causing a lint which very often goes unnoticed until the vacuum or scrubber dislodges it. When excessive lint is encountered, clean the filters and brushes frequently.

When possible it is best to remove

Then you (4) attach the brush to the rotator, and (5) then mix the solution properly. One gallon of solution should shampoo 80 to 100 square feet, depending on the pile depth. This is for hard water areas. In water with average softness, mix one part shampoo to 20 parts water. Finally (6) adjust your machine with the wheel carriage lowered until the brush is well lubricated with foam. After a careful check you are ready to begin.

WHY Strong LAMPS

are different

The exacting high standards of screen illumination required for good presentation of the new projection techniques have been realized with the development of Strong's Lightronic crater-positioning system.

IT'S EXCLUSIVE WITH STRONG

It automatically maintains the correct arc gap length and the position of the positive arc crater at the EXACT focal point of the reflector.

NO MANUAL ADJUSTMENTS ARE NECESSARY

The projectionist is not chained to the lamp in order to keep a perfect light on the screen... a powerful light, evenly distributed, of constant intensity, and unchanging color value.

CORRECT LIGHT REQUIREMENTS FOR TWO DIFFERENT TECHNIQUES POSSIBLE ON THE SAME PROGRAM!

The unitized component design affords wide versatility in these lamps. The projectionist can, in a matter of moments, effect the simple changes necessary to attain the correct light requirement for any of the various techniques.

COMPLETE FLEXIBILITY

A choice of four different carbon trims can be burned in a total of seven separate manners to attain any desired degree of cost of operation, screen illumination, or burning time. Only one control is required for selecting any amperage within the range of a particular mode of operation.

THE MOST POWERFUL LAMPS

Burning 10 mm "Hitex" carbons at 135 amperes, or 11 mm regular carbons at 120 amperes, impartial foot-candle-meter tests prove the Strong "Super 135" the most powerful projection arc lamp, and you can't argue with a light meter.

INFRA-BAN BEAM COOLER UNIT

Diverts the heat rays away from the aperture, making possible a tremendous increase in usable light without a corresponding increase in heat at the aperture.

A stream of air directed just above the arc stabilizes its burning and prevents the deposit of soot on the reflector.

PEOPLE GO MORE OFTEN TO THE THEATRE WHICH HAS GOOD PROJECTION

As the only lamps produced complete within one factory, Strong lamps can be screen-engineered for maximum efficiencies. That's why more dealers sell and more theatres buy Strong-made projection arc lamps than any other make.

When the lamps are STRONG the picture is bright!

*Strong has also designed new

Combining Strength And Beauty Theatres Should Investigate

Decorating With Porcelain Enamel

IT is essential that your theatre present a handsome, attractive appearance if you are to retain the goodwill of your patrons and give them the all-important feeling of "being out" for the evening. However, with maintenance costs continually rising, the task of keeping theatres at a high point of attractiveness is becoming more and more of a problem.

For this reason, an increasingly large number of theatre operators are turning to new types of materials which will combine the features of durability, economy, beauty and low maintenance cost. Such a material is porcelain enamel. Until very recently, most people thought of porcelain enamel in terms of bathtubs and gas stations. However, modern architectural progress and intensive research have transformed porcelain enamel into a variety of uses never before contemplated, many of which can be profitably put into practice in your theatre.

Delicate And Strong

Porcelain is both delicate and strong—delicate enough to hold and capture forever every color in the spectrum—strong enough to stand up against the harshest treatment. Manufactured by several leading companies, it is now recognized as a prime building material, adaptable to almost every type of construction. Here are some of the uses to which it has been put: porcelain spandrels; coping; wall, roofing, and acoustical panels; murals; cement block facings; fire places; window stools and sills—even church steeples.

Priced competitively with other building materials, porcelain enamel is available in an unlimited selection of colors. It can be used in your theatre, for example, to redecorate your lobby even to the point of including strikingly designed murals "painted" by the manufacturer's ceramic artist. Actually, the glass colors used for the murals are smelted and fused to the steel core, thus guaranteeing an extremely durable finish.

Even the railings in your lobby can be constructed of muralized porcelain enamel. Instead of the usual brass railings, many theatre operators have added a festive cheerful note to their lobbies with gaily decorated porcelain enamel railings. Unlike brass which tarnishes easily, porcelain enamel will retain the brightness of its colors permanently. It needs no polishing agent, either. A damp cloth rubbed along its surface is all that is necessary to keep it clean and new looking, no matter how many hands brush up against it.

Wall Covering

One of the most important advances in the use of porcelain enamel as a wall covering is a product called Veos, which has been developed by the Porcelain Enamel Products Corporation of Rehoboth, Mass. Ordinarily when interior walls are to be renovated, elaborate and costly wall preparations are required. It is often necessary to replaster old walls or install special wood furring strips. When clay tile products are used, the old walls must be torn out, exposing the wood studding, and metal lathes installed to hold the required wet cement bed.

New Technique

Veos presents an entirely new and ingenious technique. Borrowing the standard modular idea of ceramic clay tile, Veos is manufactured in a complete range of rectangular shapes. Each unit is a small flange metal pan, with a ceramic porcelain finish. These shapes are manufactured in two standard modules, four and one-half inches and eight and one-fourth inches. The secret of the installation is a patented, grooved backing board, which is nailed up over the existing wall. The grooves of this packing board are in a rectangular grid pattern and are deep enough to accept the flanges of the Veos shape. These grooves provide quick precise installation, with alignment automatically controlled by the grid pattern. The Veos shapes are held in place with a specially compounded adhesive, and the intersections are filled with a white grouting cement.

This unique Veos installation method has particular significance for the theatre owner. Since the backing board provides a one-half inch of standard thermal and acoustical insulation, it improves the acoustical properties of the theatre and contributes a year-round saving, by reducing the load on the heating and air conditioning equipment. The savings to the theatre owner in costly wall preparations are obvious.

Veos offers the theatre manager a choice of two sizes and a wide variety of colors, as well as custom-decorated effects. The four and one-half inch module is the traditional size and is particularly well suited in cases where a regular tile effect is desired. The new large eight and one-fourth inch size has been developed at the request of architects and theatre managers who desire a more modern, bolder appearance.

Sizes Available

In the four and one-half inch module, tiles are available from one and one-half inches square to strips one and one-half inches by six inches. An interesting use of the one and one-half inches by six inches size was obtained in an Albany theatre, where the manager, who catered primarily to a youthful audience, had his candy stand tiled in peppermint stick colors. This was done with alternating stripes of white and red. The novel design and the immaculate appearance of the stand demanded the attention of patrons. The result was a significant upturn in the sale of refreshments.

The strength and toughness of porcelain enamel is especially important to you as an exhibitor. Since it is a public place, your theatre is subjected continually to wear and tear by hundreds of thousands of people. However, the porcelain surface will retain its luster and newness no matter how roughly it is treated. It is also immune to most types of vandalism. Kicks and scuffs wipe off easily, as do lipstick and crayon smudges. A heavy club smashed against a wall tile will only dent, not shatter, the tile, which can be easily replaced. A sharp knife will not scratch its surface.

Colors

Most of your theatre is in subdued, dim light. The use of color, therefore, in the lighted sections is vital in establishing the theatre's personality and character. Porcelain can be made in virtually every color of the spectrum, thus allowing your decorator to give full range to his imagination in beautifying your theatre.

Restrooms, for example, used to be tiled in sharp white, a color more appropriate for hospitals. However, it has been shown that the public is pleased with more striking combinations of colors. You'll be making a big hit with your patrons by styling their restrooms in pleasing hues and modern contrasting colors. You can further highlight the decor of your restrooms with colorful porcelain bathroom accessories. These fittings are mounted flush with the tiled area, yet fasten directly to the underwall structure. They are designed to become an integral part of the wall in appearance as well as strength.

If your decorator wishes your lobby and lounge refinished, he can choose from a full range of porcelain colors to create any impression desired—exuberance, perhaps, in the lobby, with bold gay colors. For the lounge decor, you might wish to suggest a restful dignity by using soft tones and muted colors as the basis for your design.

Even if you are contemplating only a limited amount of remodeling within your theatre, porcelain enamel can be of use to you. The versatility of color, size and shape of porcelain enable it to work easily into virtually any type of color scheme. Its unique durability, and its ability to withstand the continual wear and tear of all kinds of weather and the heavy traffic of theatre clientele, make it particularly appropriate for use in motion picture theatres.

Closed Circuit TV Big Business

NEW YORK—"Closed circuit television has come of age in the past 12 months as a potent selling tool for American industry," William P. Rosensohn, newly elected president of Box Office Television, Inc., said in a year end report to company stockholders.

In reviewing the company activities for 1954, Rosensohn reported an average of one closed circuit coast-to-coast meeting per month for a top rated industrial concern with a total gross volume of close to one million dollars.

The dozen closed circuit programs carried via BOTV's facilities were witnessed by over 300,000 people. In one instance, a two hour program produced for Ford, 35,000 people viewed the telecast, the largest audience ever to be joined together by large screen closed circuit video, it was claimed.

For the coming year, Rosensohn expects his company to double the number of closed circuit TV business meetings and conventions to a total of 50 with an increased income of $2,500,000.

In the field of technical advances, Rosensohn told his stockholders that the coming year should see the beginnings of widespread use of color TV in the closed circuit field. Also, his research department is experimenting with the possibilities of a type of TV similar to CinemaScope.

Automatic Change-Maker

Continental Coin Devices, Inc., recently announced the development of a new automatic change-maker which offers an efficient and economical answer to the request for change by indoor and outdoor theatre patrons.

A compact unit, the Change-Maker may be easily mounted on a stand, the wall or simply placed on the counter, it is claimed. Locations now using the device report a savings in employe time as well as an increase in good-will of the customers who appreciate this service.

Mechanically operated, the unit requires no electrical connections. It is said to be simple to operate and includes such features as a slug rejector, reinforced lock and heavy duty cabinet.

The Change-Maker is currently available in three models offering two dimes and a nickel for a quarter, five nickels for a quarter, and five pennies for a nickel. All models are said to provide room for a large capacity of coins, thus requiring infrequent loadings.

This compact change-making device can be used in drive-ins and conventional theatres. It is a handy extra service which patrons find useful.

Surface Coating

Wind, rain and sun's heat that leak through a deteriorated brick rear wall to threaten the structure of an old theatre building can be sealed out by an attractive new surface coating based on Vinylite resins and produced by Surface Engineering Company, Inc.

Bridging cracks and forming an unbroken surface, this coating is said to be flexible, durable, and elastic enough to withstand structural strains without rupturing.

Vinylite resins also make this easily washed masonry coating resistant to moisture, mould, mildew and industrial gases. Fully exposed to the south, the deteriorated brick rear wall (left) absorbed heat from the sun through most of the day and was in such poor condition that it endangered the interior surfaces of the building. Resurfaced with the new surface coating, the brick wall was completely sealed (right) and reflected sunlight so well that the interior of the wall was 10 to 15 degrees cooler on sunny days.

Hydraulic Hand Truck

An item which should have many uses, particularly in the drive-in theatre, is a two-wheel hand truck which embodies a hydraulic lift capable of raising loads as much as a quarter ton.

Known as the Shop Caddy, and manufactured by the Precision Equipment Company, this unit is ideal for loading and unloading trucks, stacking film and concession stand supplies, etc. Its lifting platform, in the down position, is at floor level for easy loading, it is said. When loaded a few strokes of the lever will raise the load to the proper height. A four speed pump ram is furnished as standard equipment so that the lifting speed may be set according to the load.

The Shop Caddy is said to have a lift capacity of 500 pounds, and a lifting height of 36 inches. Its platform is 16 inches long and 20 inches wide.

This two-wheel hydraulic hand truck should be of particular interest to drive-in operators. The unit is said to be capable of lifting 500 pounds.

Exit Light-Safety Sign Combination

Of interest to all theatre operators is the new line of automatic emergency exit lights and safety signs being manufactured by the Electric Cord Company.

These units are designed to operate from the regular 115 volt lighting circuit. In addition, they also provide instant, automatic emergency light when the source of power fails, thus making for greater safety in the auditorium, and helping to avert panic. This added safety feature is accomplished by batteries contained within the unit and a relay which closes the low voltage circuit automatically whenever the 115 volt service fails. Both wet and dry battery operated models are available.

The wet battery models contain equipment that automatically keep the battery at full charge, the firm claims. The dry battery models use standard six volt batteries, and all models contain two 115 volt bulbs and two six volt bulbs.

Safety-minded exhibitors might be interested in this exit light which provides an automatic safety light when the source of power is interrupted.

Knoxville Scenic and Synthetic Vision Corp. To Manufacture—Market Proscenium Package

DAYTON, O.—The Synthetic Vision Corporation proscenium package, featuring automatic formatting, will be jointly manufactured and distributed by Synthetic Vision and Knoxville Scenic Studios, Knoxville, Tenn., it was revealed last week.

According to the announcement made by S. L. Mitchell, President of Knoxville Scenic Studios, and Mrs. Jane E. Bernier, President of Synthetic Vision, all the necessary plans have now been made and the package is available on order, to all theatres.

This proscenium package, which has been installed at the Ames Theatre, features a wide screen frame and a superstructure which carries a combination stage curtain traveler and automatic formatting. This arrangement, it is claimed, not only provides a selection of four different aspect ratios to which the screen will automatically format at the touch of a button, but also has two buttons which allows the operator to manipulate the formatting and curtain to any other desired position. Therefore, it would be possible, for example, to show a newsreel at a 1.33:1 aspect ratio, the short subjects at 1.85, and the feature in the full CinemaScope aspect ratio, with each of these changes taking place automatically. Since the curtains are integrated with the black velour formatting, it is said that they always appear properly positioned in relation to the particular screen proportions being used.

The structure which supports this proscenium package, as installed at the Ames, is of aluminum and light steel tube construction and adequately supports the screen, valances, curtain, automatic formatting, motor drive traveler, track and devices. A control box in the booth incorporates a selector switch and push button.

The projection booth is equipped for wide screen and standard films, as well as stereo sound.

The New Miracle Mile Is Ohio's First

12 Month Drive-In

THE first drive-in theatre in Ohio equipped with in-a-car heaters for year-around operation, the Miracle Mile Drive-In, was opened in Toledo late in November.

This new drive-in is one of but four such theatres east of the Mississippi and north of the Mason-Dixon Line now operating 12 months in the year. The in-a-car electric heaters which operate off the speaker stands, were supplied by Arvin.

Plans were changed several times during construction to enable the builders to take advantage of new and improved equipment and ideas.

The present facilities for 1,500 cars will be increased to 1,870 cars in the spring, making it one of the largest in the United States.

Costing in excess of $500,000, the drive-in is located on Toledo's new "Miracle Mile," almost directly across from a $20,000,000 shopping center now being built on Jackman and Laskey roads, west of the city. It is owned by the Glass Mile Drive-In Theatre, Inc., and managed by Theatre Operating Company, both of Toledo. Al Boudouris, owner of the latter company, engineered and installed the projection, sound and field equipment.

The theatre was completed 14 weeks and two days after ground was broken despite 21 days of rain that prevented any outside work.

DRIVE-IN THEATRES

The Miracle Mile Drive-In has a cafeteria-style concession stand, provides double ramping to bring all cars closer to the screen, and is equipped with highway-type maintenance equipment for snow removal in winter.

The curved screen tower was designed for the presentation of all the new wide-screen projection processes, the screen itself being 60 by 120 feet. With the projection booth 425 feet from the screen, it is one of the longest projection throws in the country.

The screen tower consists of six steel frames set in nine bases and is of the "pin-type" construction with pipes of 10-inch diameter embedded in concrete. It is designed to withstand wind stress up to 125 miles per hour. In fact, towers of identical construction and design, withstood all three of the hurricanes which swept the East last year, it is claimed.

To speed entrance and exit, the Miracle Mile installed box offices strategically placed to handle six entrance lanes instead of the usual two. There are 12 exit lanes instead of the four which are common practice.

The marquee, said to be one of the largest in the world, is 57 feet long and

Seen (left) is the large and fully equipped cafeteria which has four cashiers to handle the more than 3800 patrons who can be served in an hour, according to the management. The field (right) has double ramping, and in-car heaters are made available to patrons for winter operation.

S. O. S. Offering Low Price Anamorphic Lens

NEW YORK—A survey of small town and neighborhood theatres recently made by S.O.S. Cinema Supply Corporation, uncovered a lack of ready cash for CinemaScope equipment. In some cases money recently spent for wide screen and wide angle lenses caused a drain on the family pocketbook. Yet, the shortage of product other than CinemaScope makes it imperative to equip for this wide screen technique.

Oscar Lightstone, S.O.S. vice-president, whose family has been in the exhibition end of the business for many years, feels he has the answer to this problem. An advanced anamorphic lens, Cinematic IV, is being offered by his firm at a new low price, and on time payments for as little as $200 down, it is said. To further reduce the financial burden, Lightstone's plan includes a special bonus offer. With every pair of Cinematic IV lenses purchased, the exhibitor gets a $100 credit to be applied against the prime lenses or any other equipment, now or in the future.

Cinematic IV, one of the newest variable lenses for all anamorphic systems, is claimed to be of advanced engineering and design. It features Micromatic control for all aspect ratios from 1.33:1 to 2.66:1 making it adaptable to VistaVision and Superscope as well as CinemaScope. Made of lightweight cast aluminum, the lens fits all projectors and mounts in front of the objective lens on Universal adapter brackets. A balance indicator and distortion controls as well as coated, achromatic optics are said to give brilliant screen images with the ultimate in steadiness and ease.

Lightstone states: "For the independent exhibitor to operate successfully, the installation of anamorphic lenses is a must. By eliminating the large initial investment I feel that every theatre in the country can now afford to equip for CinemaScope and profit by increased box-office returns."

The cinematic IV anamorphic lens.

Proscenium Package

One of the most important features of this system is said to be the fact that the curtain and mask combination is tracked from the top as well as the bottom of the structure. This prevents the curtains and masking from swinging pendulum fashion out of alignment at the bottom, and if the screen is tilted either forward or backward, it prevents the masking from rubbing between the masking and screen at all points from top to bottom.

The efficient operation of this system is said to depend upon maintaining absolute parallelism between the upper and lower tracks throughout the width of the screen. Because of the double tracking feature, the drive cable must be threaded in a loop the full length of the floor track, up behind the screen to loop the full length of the upper track and back down to the motor drive. The drive cable must also be kept under sufficient tension to maintain smooth operation.

The design of the package is said to be such that if the proscenium arch is not large enough to accommodate a screen of maximum height and width, the proscenium frame, since it supports scenic components as well as the screen, can be placed anywhere in front of the arch. The final effect is claimed to be comparable to a structural modernization to the proscenium end of the theatre whose costs would be far in excess of the proscenium package.

Some indication of the system's effectiveness may be gotten from the remarks of I. J. Klass, operator of the Ames, the theatre with the initial proscenium package installation.

"... Our attendance is running 30 per cent greater than a year ago and we attribute much of this to the good showmanship provided by this installation, and our ability to handle any aspect ratio."

The International Seat Corp., Union City, Ind., recently introduced their Pacemaker line of theatre seats which are said to have deeper, more formfitting and comfortable back and seat upholstery and construction retaining all interchangeable features of former seats. The new line has steel construction throughout with back attached to sideplates by steel wings welded in predetermined position, assuring proper pitch.

38 feet high and utilizes the interchangeable letters manufactured by Wagner Sign Service, Inc., Chicago. Dickey Advertising Service of Marion, Ind., designed and erected the marquee.

The refreshment building is 92 by 90 feet and is equipped with the latest stainless steel units and conveniences and, with four cashiers working, can handle in excess of 3,800 persons per hour. It will be operated by the Berlo Vending Company.

This building also houses the projection booth and rest rooms. The latter are equipped with the newest and most modern of sanitary conveniences and are finished in glazed tile. The entire building has a terrazo floor which took six weeks to grind and polish with a crew working seven days a week.

The newest in projection and sound equipment was installed. This includes three Century water-cooled projectors; high fidelity stereophonic sound, Strong Super 135 project arc lamps, Strong 135-ampere selenium rectifiers, four-inch diameter Kollmorgen objective lenses and Bausch & Lomb anamorphic lenses.

A full 1,800 watts of undistorted audio power are available to the Eprad three-unit, high fidelity, stereophonic sound speakers from the Century amplifiers which were specially modified and engi-

The boxoffices have been placed so that they can use six entrance lanes. There are 12 exits.

Superscope Prices Drop

HOLLYWOOD—The price of Superscope anamorphic lenses were reduced more than 40 per cent on Jan. 3, it was revealed last week, and distribution will be on a direct factory to exhibitor basis thereafter. Co-inventors Joseph and Irving Tushinsky announced that they were dropping the price so that the lenses will be within the reach of all theatre exhibitors.

Two lens-grinding companies and one casting foundry are now engaged in turning out the lenses and housings in order to keep up with orders, it is claimed.

neered. A specially designed sound equipment rack was used for the installation.

Some idea of the size of the Miracle Mile Drive-In can be had from the following facts:

It is located on a 22-acre site about four miles west of Toledo on a highly traveled highway which is expected to be made into a six or eight-lane expressway in the near future.

There were 5,000 yards of concrete and 25,000 yards of stone used in its construction.

If 190,000 feet of underground wiring used were converted into 14-gauge wire it would amount to 10,000 miles, enough to cross the United States three times.

When the theatre is in full operation, the connected electrical load is equal to that used by the city of Maumee, population 6,000, located just southwest of Toledo.

Pre-opening promotions, included the mailing of a specially prepared comic book mailed to 60,000 Toledo homes; a saturation campaign on both radio and TV; bus cards; bumper strips; downtown window displays of the equipment being used; various hand-outs and even a Santa Claus "arriving early so he wouldn't miss the grand opening" working the downtown streets. Full page newspaper ads were also utilized.

Boudouris, who will operate the Miracle Mile, operates five other drive-in theatres in Ohio.

furniture before shampooing. However, furniture may be moved to one side while one-half of the carpet is shampooed, and moved into cleaned portion while doing the other half. If it is necessary to keep furniture on a damp carpet, place a piece of blotting paper, heavy cardboard or aluminum foil beneath each leg immediately. Any metal that rests on damp areas may cause rust stains.

The statement that in order to succeed in the motion picture theatre field it is necessary to start at the bottom, has a very practical application in the maintenance of a theatre. The floors, and the materials that cover them are an extremely important part of the decorative scheme. They help to establish part of the individual atmosphere that is to be found in any well-run house. Therefore, it is the wise exhibitor who pays close attention to such a fundamental thing as attractive, well-kept and clean carpeting.

The Iowa-Nebraska Allied have appealed directly to Walt Disney for more favorable terms in buying Disney films, pointing out that under his new set up his representatives deal only with first-runs and important circuits. Leo Wolcott, chairman of the Iowa-Nebraska Allied board, stressed that for many years the sub-runs and small town houses have played his films, even if they lost money on them, because "we felt your productions were of the wholesome, family type which did so much to raise the motion picture to its once high estate in public esteem." Wolcott wrote, "We do trust that you will create ways and means whereby these small theatres will be offered your productions, as released, at rentals they can afford to pay." The association also called upon the film companies to make a number of pictures available to the small exhibitors at fair, flat, and profitable rentals the houses can afford to pay, before the freshness of the pictures are gone. Those listed included MGM's "Gone With the Wind" and "Julius Caesar;" Paramount's "White Christmas;" 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business;" Warner's "A Star is Born;" U-I's "Sign of the Pagan;" Columbia's "The Violent Men;" Disney's "Living Desert" and "Vanishing Prairie;" and U-A's "Sitting Bull."

The twin cities premiere of Allied Artists, "Tonight's The Night" in Minneapolis and St. Paul at Radio City and Paramount theatres were backed with a big scale ad, promotion and publicity program with Yvonne DeCarlo, one of the stars, making a two day visit and a series of personal appearances. The promotion program was organized through the facilities of Minnesota Amusement Corporation with Ev Seibel, publicity and advertising director, working in coordination with Allied Artists' field representative Irving Shiffrin. Miss DeCarlo was accompanied by AA publicity and advertising director, John C. Flinn. Prior to the arrival of the star, the campaign involved a heavy penetration of radio promotion using five local stations. Besides using special transcription spots featuring the voice of the popular "Lonesome Gal" of national radio fame, Radio City held a special preview tied in with WTCM. Two days before the preview the station's disc jockeys went into an around the clock series of plugs for the preview, offering the first five persons to phone immediately after the announcement of the mystery, preview tickets. Radio station WTON launched a search for three couples celebrating their wedding anniversaries during Miss DeCarlo's visit. This promotion offered a dinner date and guest at the opening of the film. The dinner party was recorded with Miss DeCarlo interviewing the three winning couples, and also received newspaper coverage plus WTON-TV newsreel plugs. The dinner was held at the Hotel Radisson with a leading bakery contributing a huge anniversary cake. Other appearances by Miss DeCarlo were at the radio, television station, newspaper offices, a students convocation open forum at the University of Minnesota, at Minneapolis' leading department store, where she was guest of honor during a fashion show. The store carried ads announcing the event with store posters heralding the event. She also appeared at the St. Paul's Women's City Club; and made a tour of historic mansions as part of a fund raising drive, whereby tours were sold to the public. Miss DeCarlo rode an old fashioned surrey for the benefit of newspaper and television photographers. The Minneapolis Star saluted the star with a four-column color shot used on opening day. While making personal appearances at two theatres, she was interviewed by disc jockeys in the lobbies. In addition to all of her other appearances, she appeared as surprise guest before an audience of 3,000 people at the Prom Ballroom finals of a month's long talent search. Starting two weeks prior to the opening the Radio City used a spectacular lobby display built around a turntable slide machine, illuminated with 12 color scenes from the film, 12 inches by 12 inches in size. Advance trailers and announcement of the appearance of Miss DeCarlo was featured in downtown and suburban Minnesota Amusement Theatres.

Samuel Richmond, who for the past two years has been manager, Beacon Hill, has resigned. No replacement has been named as yet. Richmond has planned a Florida vacation for three weeks, after which he will return to announce his new affiliation in the industry. He recently won a substantial settlement in his anti-trust suit against the majors in federal court here, which has been under litigation for four years since he operated the State, Lawrence, Mass. The Beacon Hill is owned and operated by Benjamin Sack, who spent the holidays in Nassau with his family. Continuing on as assistant manager is Harry Harding.

A fire at the Kenmore routed more than 100 patrons but there was no panic and no one was hurt. The fire started in the ceiling at the stage end of the house during the evening performance. The audience filed out quietly after the assistant manager Allan Philbrick stepped up front and in a calm way asked them to leave. Damages, estimated at more than $15,000, were caused by water and the roof had to be repaired. A three-alarm fire was rung in with Fire Chief Stapleton responding to the second alarm. He later stated he could not discover the cause of the fire. Louis W. Richmond owns the theatre property and operates the theatre as an art house. He had booked the IFE opera film, "Aida," as the Christmas day presentation. He immediately announced that the theatre will reopen in about 20 days and will present "Aida" at that time. He had planned a press party for Sol Hurok, producer. This event will also be postponed until the theatre is renovated and restored.

The Strand, Pawtucket, R. I., which has had a labor dispute concerning the booth, has reopened its doors after settlement of the problems. It is a New England Theatres house.

In downtown Providence, the Westminster, formerly the Victory, will reopen on Jan. 12 under new management and a new policy. The Victory has been closed for a year and a half and at one time was operated by the Snider Circuit. The new lessees are Fred Rogers, Howard Levin, and Joseph G. Cohen, who have taken a long term lease on the property. Rogers and Levin will manage the theatre, while Cohen will handle the buying and booking from his Boston office. The publicity and advertising will be handled by Donis Dondis. Seating 900, the Westminster will be operated on a first-run art policy, with UA's "Hobson's Choice" as the initial presentation. At the present time, the theatre is undergoing renovations in preparation for its gala opening.

Eliminations announced by the Bureau of Sunday Censorship included

"Bread, Love, and Dreams," (Italian), parts 1 to 10 (Deletions: Eliminate English captions and accompanying Italian dialogue, "Loose morals," in part 1; eliminate English captions and accompanying Italian dialogue, "Marshal, with 5,000 lire dress she'd be a pushover!" in part 5). ## New York State Albany

Cooperation of Albany Variety Club and Colonie Lions Club in a camp project for underprivileged girls of the area was slated for discussion at a Variety meeting on Jan. 3. Chief Barker George H. Schenck invited Lions officers to attend the meeting. Possibility of a joint arrangement was suggested when officials of both groups met at Mayor Erastus Corning's chambers in City Hall for a "Times-Union" picture with Tim Anspach, who conducted a used car dealers' auction. Last year, Tent 9 received the net proceeds of a similar auction.

The Stanley Warner zone offices on the second floor of the Strand building were closed following the departure of Charles A. Smakwitz to his new post for the circuit in Newark, N. J. The third floor, with its screening room, probably will be used for storage purposes. James Totman, assistant to Harry Feinstein, New Haven zone boss, will supervise the Albany sector, from New Hampshire.

"Hansel and Gretel," puppet feature which headlined the Christmas bill at the Palace, had an extra pitch for children via a three-day coloring contest conducted in cooperation with Albany Public Market and The Knickerbocker News. A total of 35 prizes were offered to youngsters.

Car giveaways by Fabian Theatres accelerated business for single nights in Albany and Schenectady, N. Y., during the pre-Christmas slowdown. Here, Palace and Leland were reported attracting good-sized houses with the promotion. Newspaper advertising called attention to "Surprise Nite . . . You May Be the Lucky Patron to Take Home the Prize Gift of Your Life!" A group insertion supplemented individual plugging by Proctor's Plaza, State, and Erie. Winner in Albany was a man present at Palace, already a car owner. The Chevrolet sedan was displayed in that theatre's lobby for two weeks prior to the big evening. Manager Bill With set up the promotion locally.

Guy Graves, Jr., son of Guy A. Graves, Schenectady, N. Y., city manager for Fabian and assistant secretary to Governor Thomas E. Dewey, was expected to join the Republican State Committee staff when W. Averell Harriman became chief executive.

A post-Christmas week vacationer was Norman Jackter, Columbia manager, who spent it with Mrs. Jackter and their three children in New York City. . . . Milton Levins, head booker-office manager, had charge in Jackter's absence. Jackter journeyed to Boston for a meeting with Boston and New Haven managers on the handling of Cinema-Scope pictures and prints. Company's first such release is "Violent Men." Jackter spent three days in New York, the week before the Boston confab, on business with Liggett and Florin and United Paramount Theatres.

A 34-year career in the Paramount exchange ended for Mrs. Marie B. Eddy, cashier and former office manager, when she retired at her own request. Mrs. Eddy is believed to have established the longest record of continuous tenure with a distributing company in Albany. The employees honored the veteran at the branch's Christmas party in Keeler's Restaurant when manager Dan Houlihan presented a handsome gift from fellow workers and exhibitors. Among contributors in the latter ranks were the Benton, Kallet, and Schine circuits. Eastern division manager Hugh Owen sent a letter of appreciation when Mrs. Eddy notified the company she planned to retire. Marge Doran, booker's secretary and a Paramount payrolee for 30 years, succeeded Mrs. Eddy as cashier. Another long-timer, Viola McKosky, ledger clerk, recently became a member of the Paramount 25-Year Club. Manager Houlihan presented Miss McKosky with a wrist watch and scroll to mark that milestone.

four walls, is being accomplished without closing the theatre. Prominent political, civic, industry and social personalities will take part in the premiere, which MGM has selected as one of three in the entire country to be saluted on an industry-wide testimonial to the motion picture theatres. Several other film companies have pledged that they will join with MGM in assembling a group of important Hollywood stars for an in-person visit to Kingston for the premiere. Arrangements were made, Reade said, directly with Nicholas Schenck, president, MGM; Charles M. Reagan, MGM's general sales manager; and M. L. Simons, director, MGM's exhibitor relations department. Reade added that MGM's selection of Kingston as a recipient of the "salute" would bring the city nation-wide publicity, since MGM will utilize its entire public relations facilities to focus attention on the event. He said his organization and MGM are working on plans to bring New York City newspapermen and representatives of the news wire and feature services to Kingston by special train or bus for the premiere. Help of Kingston officials, clubs, and business organizations in making the premiere a community-wide event will also be sought, Reade said, stating that he is working with Station

Mara Corday, U-I star visiting for advance promotion on "So This Is Paris," William Goldman's Midtown, developed an unusual publicity channel. Realizing that she had some last minute Christmas shopping to do, Miss Corday visited Wanamaker's and was impressed by the courteous service provided by one of the store's sales clerks despite the Christmas rush. Miss Corday invited the clerk to be her "pal for a day" and the girl accompanied her on her promotional rounds including a visit to the local hospitals, appearances at radio and television stations, and the dedication of the new municipal indoor tennis court. The promotion was developed by Ted Vannett, Goldman Theatres advertising and publicity head, aided by U-I promotional representative Milton Crandall.

The Boyd announced the "last seven weeks" of "This Is Cinerama," now in its second year. This may indicate that the local Cinerama house may get the world premiere of the second Cinerama attraction.

The public and parochial schools distributed 238,000 special student tickets for the run of RKO's "Hansel and Gretel," SW Stanton.

Delaware Wilmington

A proposed ordinance which would reduce the city license fee for motion picture theatres from $600 to $300 was introduced in City Council. The measure, sponsored by Councilman Pierce V. Marvel, would add 10 cents a seat to the fee for all cinemas with more than 750 seats. On Marvel's motion, the ordinance, given its first and second readings, was referred to the finance committee.

Theatres closed for the day before Christmas included Ben Shindler's Ace;

Star Caravan To Philly Grows

PHILADELPHIA—Rita Gam, glamorous U-I star; Paul Gregory, producer of the recently formed Gregory-Goldman Enterprises; Alfred W. Schwalberg, president, Paramount Film Distributing Corporation, and his wife, former silent film star, Carmel Myers, signified their intention last week to join the Hollywood caravan to the dedication of the Nickelodeon in Franklin Institute.

Participating in ceremonies for the Nickelodeon, a functioning replica of the earliest movie houses, on Jan. 18 will be top acting, directing, and production personnel from the motion picture capital. Academy Award winner Donna Reed and director George Sidney have also announced their intention of attending the dedication of the "shrine to the motion picture industry."

One of the principal events of the dedication ceremony will be the presentation of a medallion to Charles Laughton by S. Wyman Rolph, president of the Institute. Laughton will be the first non-scientist in recent years to be welcomed to life membership in the Institute.

In addition, Laughton will be the first celebrity to have his hands and feet impressed in concrete on an area before the entrance to the Nickelodeon. This area, now boarded, will be replaced, slab by slab, by concrete, on which prints will be impressed as celebrities visit the Nickelodeon.

Two additional events will be part of the Nickelodeon dedication. They are a luncheon given by the Franklin Institute preceding the Nickelodeon opening, and a dinner by the Motion Picture Associates of Philadelphia that evening at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. Also, the entire membership of the Franklin Institute, about 7,000 persons, has been invited to attend a special evening at the Nickelodeon on Jan. 21.

Donor of the Nickelodeon is William Goldman, head, William Goldman Theatres and Gregory-Goldman Enterprises, who is also general chairman of the MPA dinner. In keeping with the theme of cinema history, the $25-a-plate MPA dinner will honor four area pioneers of the motion picture business who started back in nickelodeon days, according to Sam Diamond, branch manager, 20th-Fox, and president, Associates. They are Al Boyd, Ben Amsterdam, Abe Sablosky, and William C. Hunt. Proceeds of the MPA dinner will go to the welfare committee of the group.

John Koczak's Earle, New Castle, Pa.; and Dan Cudone's Edge Moor. . . . The Earle held its annual pre-Christmas matinee for kiddies. . . . The Edge Moor held special matinees daily during the week before Christmas. . . . The recently reopened Park announced plans to install CinemaScope. . . . H. S. Eskin's Arcadia held a television giveaway. . . . The SW Grand gave away prizes and candy at a Christmas Eve show. . . . Thanks to all in the trade who sent us Christmas cards.

Mrs. Albert Zlatin, president, Variety Guild, Ladies Auxiliary of Tent 19, Variety Club, Baltimore, Md., recently presented to Chief Barker Rodney Collier a check for $1,000 for the Tent's charitable activities.

Maryland Baltimore

With an election coming up Jan. 10, the Motion Picture and Television Operators Union has nominated the following, John P. Codd, president; Earl Jackson, Jr., and Harry Bauer, first vice-president; Edward Silver and Leonard Cluster, second vice-president; Edwin Wyatt, recording secretary; Harry Kuzmal, financial secretary; William Holthaus, treasurer; Robert Cramblitt, sergeant at arms; and Charles Reisinger, business agent.

Leon Back, president, Allied Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Maryland, spent the past week in Atlantic City, N. J. . . . Edward Kimpel, Sr., manager, Leader, returned to duty last week, having recovered from injuries received in an auto accident early in December. . . . The Rialto, Rome Circuit, was closed the week before Christmas for redecorating. It reopened Christmas Day.

Ray Trumble, general manager, New and Keiths, for Jack Fruchtman, had his mother and father in town from Kansas for the holidays. They hadn't seen their son in several years. . . . Ted Kirwan, manager, New, and Mrs. Kirwan were in New York to see the musical hit, "Kismet." . . . Rodney Collier, manager, Stanley, with Mrs. Collier and their young daughter, visited Collier's relatives in Washington for a Christmas eve family dinner.

This attractive music store window display was used recently as part of the promotion on Warners' "A Star Is Born," Warner, Reading, Pa.

Hank Howard, RKO's Philadelphia office, was in town for advance on "Hansel and Gretel" at the Mayfair. . . . Jack Sidney, head of Loew's, here, put on a screening for the press and radio of "Deep In My Heart" at the Valencia. . . . Ted Routson, manager, Playhouse, is a patient at Sinai Hospital with pneumonia.

Hagerstown

SW Maryland recently sponsored a bus load of church people who attended a showing of "This Is Cinerama" at the Warner, Washington. City manager George Payette arranged the trip.

Leonardtown

Over 1,000 happy kids attended the Christmas party staged at the Park, Lexington Park, Md., which had them as guests at a cartoon show and presented them with fruit, candy and popcorn as they left the theatre to see Santa Claus in the person of manager T. L. Harrison, Jr., arriving on the Volunteer Fire Department truck. . . . Ray Trumble, promotion manager, Jack Fruchtman Southern Maryland Theatres, received a surprise visit on Christmas from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Trumble, Pittsburgh, Kans. Trumble and his wife are house hunting in and near Baltimore, Md., since Fruchtman has taken over the Keith and New there.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat A. Hodgdon operated the Park and Plaza, Lexington Park, Md., on Christmas day so that

New Jersey Atlantic City

Stanley Tannenbaum, son of Sam Tannenbaum, prominent local exhibitor, was married to Ilene Greenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greenberg, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Greenberg will be remembered as a former industryite, associated with Paramount Theatres for 25 years. He is now in the restaurant business in Poughkeepsie. Many film men attended the affair.

Trenton

RKO management materially boosted business at the Trent, one of its eight houses, during the holiday showing of film musical fantasy "Hansel and Gretel." Theatre ticket admissions were awarded in prizes to 20 teenagers in a coloring contest sponsored jointly by RKO and The Trentonian.

A New York City department store branch was opened on the site of the old State Street. The big store necessitated purchase of the theatre and 10 adjoining stores and office properties.

Pennsylvania Allentown

Manos Enterprises, Inc., has purchased a controlling interest in the Super Skyway Drive-In Theatre Corporation. Sol Shocker will remain as managing director and stockholder. The drive-in will reopen on about March 15 and will be enlarged to 1,000 car capacity.

Lancaster

Fire chiefs of the four companies in East Lampeter Township registered a formal complaint against motorists blocking McMinn Road, west of the Skyvue Drive-In. They told Township Supervisors that the road is sometimes completely blocked for as long as an hour after the movie ends, making it impossible for fire equipment to enter if a blaze should break out. After investigating several alternatives, the supervisors issued a warning to the owner that one lane must be kept open for inbound traffic at all times. Persons living back on McMinn Road also complained that sometimes they are forced to go five miles out of their way to drive home when the road is jammed. It was said that theatre traffic is directed by officers, usually a constable, hired by the theatre owner.

Reading

Several hundred local citizens, a trainload who went to New York for a one-day trip and saw "Deep In My Heart" in Radio City Musical Hall, will probably go to see it again when it comes to Reading. Sigmund Romberg, the central figure, was a young restaurant orchestra conductor here more than 40 years ago.

Elaborate decorations in lobbies and for the exteriors of theatres here were features of the holiday. Many school and college groups held parties in some of the larger houses.

Some of the suburban movie houses skipped matinees on Christmas day.

Manager Bob Diehm, Loew's, resurrected Reading's traveling billboard, mounted on a big truck, for "Deep In My Heart" publicity. As the truck was frequently tied up in dense holiday traffic with police powerless to complain if the truck had to stand in line for long periods, Diehm got extra value out of the billboard.

Paul E. Glase, theatre librarian of note and manager, Embassy, and other Fabian interests here, has a postal card prospectus in which a New York investment firm offered to sell stock in the David W. Griffith Enterprises of more than 40 years ago, and he also has a program of the old Liberty, New York, the showing of "Birth of a Nation" in 1915.

Scranton

Jane Wright, Comerford, has resigned, and has been replaced by Josephine Roberto, Capitol, who is succeeded by Mary Doughton. . . . Jane Williams, Capitol, was hostess to a group of fellow cashiers and candy girls of the Comerford Corporation at a buffet supper held last week at the Blue Lantern Restaurant. . . . A former employe of the Granada, Robert Lonergan, was reelected to his 16th consecutive year as executive director, Pennsylvania State Council of public employees. . . . The son of Mary Fahey, Capitol, John Fahey, a fourth year medical student at Georgetown Medical School, is expected home for the Christmas Holidays.

Virginia Tappahannock

The new Wartap Drive-In will be located on the Hall property just one mile east of Tappahannock on the Warsaw-Tappahannock Highway, according to an announcement by George Clanton, local exhibitor, who is building the theatre.

Variety Club Tent 13, Philadelphia

Members are urged to get their reservations in at once for the dinner on Jan. 10 honoring incoming Chief Barker Louis J. Goffman and outgoing Chief Barker Norman Silverman. This Bellevue-Stratford Hotel affair will feature an address by Morris Wolf. . . . The New Year's eve party proved a big success.

The ONE BEST since 1936.
Better REVIEWS!
More REVIEWS!
And MOST EASILY
SAVEABLE!

SAVEABLE REVIEW SERVICES were an innovation by MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR in 1936. Prior to that year many Trade Papers reviewed features and shorts, or at least listed them for reference purposes;—but none followed any uniform style or method that permitted saving in other than a heterogeneous glob in a scissors and paste pot scrapbook.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR changed all this! In 1936 it introduced a separate, saveable section, in which all reviews and indexes relating to any particular year were carefully brought to the executive theatremen for his current and future knowledge. Now imitated or adapted by most other Trade Papers, the basic method has never been improved.

But MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR went further than this! ONLY MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, down through the years, has maintained a 100% Review Coverage of ALL features and of ALL shorts, whether foreign or domestic, that were available to Executive Theatreman consideration. ONLY in MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR has continued to appear the MOST COMPLETE of all Reviewing Services. The record speaks for itself!

$200 per year (52 issues)

AND FEATURING: EXTRA PROFITS

J. Robert Rubin, permanent general chairman, amusement division, will be guest of honor tomorrow (Jan. 13) at the Brotherhood Dinner in New York sponsored by the National Conference, highlighting the Brotherhood effort which aids and fosters understanding.

NOW THEY'LL BE ASKING FOR YOUR AUTOGRAPH, MR. EXHIBITOR!

In our national magazine ads and in countless outlets of publicity we're telling the public about M-G-M's 1955 MOTION PICTURE CELEBRATION. We're reminding them that when there's a community service to perform, the theatres have always been there. Soon you'll hear of many stunts, tours and promotions acquainting the public with the Celebration that salutes you! Press Book, Pocket-Size "How To Sell" and all accessories available FREE at your Branch. It's up to you, Mr. Exhibitor, to capitalize on M-G-M's nationwide ballyhoo!

NEEDED—A NEW CODE OF ETHICS

"LET'S TALK THINGS OVER and reach our decisions as honest and honorable businessmen, and we can have no fears if we have no intent to do wrong." This is an excerpt from MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR's editorial, "A Place for Lawyers—and Every Lawyer in His Place," Dec. 15.

In the absence of fear, man has accomplished much; in talking out his problems rather than litigating them he has learned much—perhaps the most important thing being the point of view of the other fellow, his problems, his desires, his needs.

There are encouraging signs that our industry is approaching this happy situation: an effective arbitration program no longer seems so far in the future as it did a year ago; Al Lichtman, 20th-Fox director of distribution, among others who suggested that all branches of the industry get together to talk out their problems in top level meetings, found his proposal greeted enthusiastically on all sides.

Commenting on the above mentioned editorial, Lichtman said:

"I believe that we should hammer home the thought so well expressed in your article. There are some constructive lawyers in our business, who think the same as you and I, and they can help us to come to the right decisions. But first and foremost, let the businessmen get together, place their cards, face up, on top of the round table without reservation. If we do this I am certain that we can write a code of ethics for this business that can be a pattern not only for our industry in years to come, but a code of ethics that can be a guidepost for all other industries. We have the brains to do it, and I am sure we will have the will to carry it out."

Needed, a code of ethics! The words have a familiar ring. The industry found establishment of such a code necessary before, and, with the threat of government censorship spurring their efforts, a Production Code evolved, a system of self-regulation that made motion pictures the most widely accepted form of family entertainment on earth.

The threat we face today is as great and possibly more dangerous. If some intra-industry code of ethics is not worked out, outside forces will push for the power to control and regulate motion picture affairs. Ours is an industry that has grown in world importance to such a point where to think otherwise is fantasy.

Morris Wolf, well-known industry attorney, also commenting upon our editorial in an address before the Philadelphia Variety Club this week, said, "... in the early days lawyers played a much less conspicuous and a much healthier and happier part in the industry than they do in these days."

He stated that the editorial "makes mighty good sense to me. It does not seem reasonable that when different groups in the industry depend on each other for a living, they should spend most of their time and money trying to destroy each other. I am for peaceful coexistence, and I want to say as a lawyer that I felt a lot better about it when my time was used in making agreements to build up the industry than I have since so much of it is spent on the destructive court battles of the last few years."

At no time did we intend to belittle the important contribution of the industry lawyer. In this ever expanding and more complex business, his contribution promises to become even more vital. His duties, however, fall into the legal realm.

Let production, distribution, and exhibition accept their shares of the business and ethical responsibilities involved in industry operations.

By Mel Konecoff

THIS ORGANIZATION known as Hecht-Lancaster Productions is rapidly assuming major proportions and a bigger and bigger spot in the United Artists organizational setup.

KONECOFF

Harold Hecht, youthful president, was in town last week prior to leaving for a trip which may take him into England, France, Germany, and Spain on company business.

Firstly, he will be looking to setup settings for location shooting on "Trapeze," which will start around August at a budget of about one-and-a-half million. It will star Burt Lancaster and possibly Gina Lollobrigida, with Carol Reed directing, the latter two being subject to negotiations being completed.

This will be the first of four features contemplated for production in 1955, with the second to be "Operation Heartbreak" to be filmed in England around May at a budget of about $800,000, with possibly Alec Guinness in the lead, if his schedule permits. The third property to be filmed is "Until They Sail," a James Michener story, which Lancaster will direct at a budget of $1,200,000. The fourth picture will be based on a polo story called "The Last Chukker" with a similar budget. There is yet another project in which H-L is interested, and that is a cartoon feature being made by UPA based on Thurber's book "The White Deer." This will cost in the neighborhood of $750,000 and will take about two years to complete.

To be released in 1955 by the organization will be three features, all through United Artists, "Vera Cruz," which is shaping up as a record grosser thus far, "Marty," and "The Kentuckian." Hecht expected that 1956 will also see the company turning out four features, one of which may be "The Way West."

Holdovers Dominate

NEW YORK—Business struck an average pace last weekend with all holdover attractions.

According to usually reliable reports reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"The Silver Chalice" (Warners). Paramount claimed $42,000 for the third week.

"There's No Business Like Show Business" (20th-Fox). Roxy reported $33,000 for Friday through Sunday, with the fourth week anticipated at $48,000.

"Deep In My Heart" (MGM). Radio City Music Hall, with Christmas stage show, garnered $93,500 for Thursday through Sunday, with the fifth week sure to hit $144,500.

"The Country Girl" (Paramount). Criterion reported that the fourth week would hit $56,000.

"Carmen Jones" (20th-Fox). Rivoli announced that the 11th week would reach $10,000.

"Athena" (MGM). Globe expected the last five days of the third week would tally $5,500.

"Green Fire" (MGM). Mayfair expected the third week to come to $12,000.

"A Star Is Born" (Warners). Victoria held to a good $20,000 on the 13th week.

"20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" (Buena Vista-Disney). Astor claimed $40,000 on the third session.

"Vera Cruz" (UA). Capitol expected the third week to reach $38,000.

"3 Ring Circus" (Paramount). Loew's State was heading toward a $22,000 third week.

Ohio Censorship Ends

COLUMBUS, O.—The Second District Court of Appeals of Ohio last week declared the Ohio censor laws "unconstitutional and void," in reversing the anti-injunction ruling of Judge Ralph Bartlett of Franklin County Common Pleas Court and granting the permanent injunction against the Ohio censor board. This is the first time that an Ohio court has declared the censor laws unconstitutional.

Robert Wile, secretary, ITO of Ohio, said that the decision means that the censor board cannot censor even films submitted voluntarily. Wile also said the decision will strengthen arguments of anti-censorship forces in combatting any new censorship bills introduced in the Ohio legislature.

Regulation Bill Hangs Fire

WASHINGTON—Allied States Association will not decide whether to push its proposed bill for federal regulation of the industry until after the board meeting early next month, it was stated last week by Abram F. Myers, general counsel.

Myers said Allied's exhibitor defense committee report on the survey conducted in recent weeks to see if distributors have been living up to their promises on rentals, availability, and other items would affect the defense committee's recommendations to the board on the film regulation bill.

AA Negotiates Loan To Spur Production

HOLLYWOOD—Announcement was made last week by Steve Broidy, president, and George D. Burrows, executive vice-president and treasurer, Allied Artists, of the signing of a new one-year loan agreement with the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, Hollywood, Cal., and participated in by the Bankers Trust Company, New York City.

This new agreement expires Jan. 1, 1956, and provides for a revolving loan of a maximum of $1,750,000 and also permits guaranties up to $500,000 covering bank loans to producers releasing their pictures through Allied Artists. The previous loan arrangement with the same banks allowed borrowing up to a maximum of $1,250,000.

It was also announced that effective Nov. 26, 1954, a loan agreement was entered into between Allied Artists and DeLuxe Laboratories, Inc., New York, under which agreement DeLuxe Laboratories loaned to Allied Artists $350,000 the principal of which is payable over a five-year period in annual installments of $70,000 each.

Broidy and Burrows stated that the proceeds from this new financing would be used principally in the financing of the company's increased production program.

Army Film Problem Discussed

NEW YORK—Before meeting with Defense Department officials to continue discussions about the problem of films released to be shown at army camps, E. D. Martin, president, TOA, expressed confidence last week that the difficulties can be solved in a mutually agreeable fashion.

Attending the meeting with Martin were Walter Reade, Jr., former TOA president; Herman Levy, general counsel; and Morey Goldstein, chairman, sales managers committee, MPAA.

Martin called the Defense Department officials "most cooperative" in discussions dealing with the problems of civilian attendance at army post theatres, and the releasing problems faced by commercial theatres near army posts.

Martin later reported that he had a plan, which he declined to release before its presentation to Defense Department officials, which would, he believed, solve the problem without relegating the service theatres to subsequent-run status or disturbing any government regulations on the policies of the service theatres.

The idea, said Martin, is "to work out a release pattern" meeting with the approval of both the exhibitors and the services.

Former Pathe Executive Dies

WESTPORT, CONN.—Elmer R. Pearson, former vice-president and general manager, Pathe Film Exchanges, died last fortnight at the age of 70. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances Woodbury Pearson, and two brothers and two sisters.

Spyros R. Skouras, center, president, 20th-Fox, was recently presented by Simon H. Fabian, left, and Harry Oppenheimer, right, a special award from the American Fund for Israel Institutions in recognition of his leadership on behalf of Israel through the American Fund. Skouras was teted at a dinner concert at New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel attended by over 1,000 dignitaries. Fabian, head, Stanley Warner Theatres, was chairman of the event, while Oppenheimer is a vice-president of the Israel Fund.

Hanson Answers Schoeppel

HOLLYWOOD—Albert Hanson, trade relations committee chairman, SCFOA, branded as "untrue" and "a vitriolic attack on me through the trade papers," a letter written in mid-December by Senator Andrew F. Schoeppel, Republican, Kansas, newly replaced head of the Senate Small Business Monopoly Subcommittee, which charged Hanson with "complete falsehood, actual misstatements of fact, and half-truths."

Hanson claims that he never received the Senator's letter, and accuses the Senator of "using invectives to smear rather than to lead to the truth."

Schoeppel's letter was in reply to a mid-October letter written to the committee in which Hanson charged the committee with refusing "to listen to testimony or consider anything relative to sales."

Meetings In Central Spots And Prospectus Will Spread Story To Theatremen; SEC Final Approval Seen Near

NEW YORK—Exhibitors throughout the country will be invited to participate in the financing of the Theatre Owners of America film finance company, Exhibitor's Film Financial Group, Inc., via meetings held in various central points throughout the country and through a prospectus to be mailed to every exhibitor in the U. S., it was revealed last week by E. D. Martin, TOA president.

Tentative approval of the Security Exchange Commission has been obtained with final approval due this week as soon as completed applications are filed. Capitalization of the organization will be for $10,000,000, with 100,000 shares being issued at a par value of $100.

It is expected that the first meeting will take place in St. Louis in the near future, this being a central meeting point for eight states. All of the meetings will have least two finance company directors in attendance.

Martin was asked where the former affiliated circuits stood in the overall plan, and he reported that they are supporting the venture morally and are investigating the possibility of physical participation.

The EFFG, incidentally, according to its charter, has been permitted to produce and distribute films in addition to financing if it is so desired. Martin added that should anything happen to the plans or interfere with the finalization, all monies invested will be returned.

Switching to another subject, TOA stated it was willing to meet with Allied on common problems, and that a second letter has been dispatched to Allied president Ben Marcus requesting a meeting.

Lichtman Pushes Arbitration

NEW YORK—Al Lichtman, distribution director, 20th-Fox, claimed last week that it would be better if the arbitration issue was settled before any all-industry round table conference was called. Lichtman, author of the plan for the conference, said that he thought that arbitration "should be gotten out of the way first." He indicated that it would be too much of a problem to tackle both projects at the same time.

Lichtman noted that lawyers were drawing up the papers on arbitration, with both sides in agreement on major points, but declined to predict approval of the adoption draft by both sides.

The proposal to postpone the round table conference drew opposite reactions from TOA president E. D. Martin and Allied president Ben Marcus.

Martin favored the postponement of the conference, while Marcus and Allied general counsel Abram F. Myers labeled Lichtman's views as "astounding." Myers declared, "Lichtman's apparent repudiation of his own proposal will be most disappointing to independent exhibitors."

NLRB Rules Out Industry Jurisdiction

WASHINGTON—The general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board last fortnight decided that the board should no longer assert jurisdiction over the labor relations of an association of motion picture theatre owners, because the pattern of bargaining has changed from an association-wide one to one of individual theatre contracts.

The association involved was not named, but the council's ruling is in line with a long-standing policy. The announcement stated that an individual filed unfair labor practice charges against an association of motion picture theatre owners. In a former case involving the same companies, the board took jurisdiction on the basis that bargaining was abandoned and the theatres or theatre circuits bargained on an individual basis.

The announcement said the evidence disclosed that the contracts negotiated by the theatre differed from case to case, and that "apparently grievances are now being handled on an individual theatre basis, rather than on an association-wide basis."

Investigation also revealed, it was said, that the largest operation involved a chain of 14 or 15 theatres, which annually paid only $300,000 in film rentals. It was decided that the operations of the parties, considered on a separate basis, would not warrant the assertion of jurisdiction, and that since association-wide bargaining had been abandoned "the size of the operations as it pertains to individual chains is not such as to warrant assertion of jurisdiction."

Attorney Nixes Settlement

CHICAGO—Edward Blackman, attorney for the 32 West Randolph Street Corporation, former operator, Oriental, objected last fortnight to settlement proposals being discussed by other attorneys, the major distributors, and Balaban and Katz, and filed a brief in Federal District Court seeking permission to carry the case to higher courts.

Blackman has a 25 per cent attorney's fee interest in the case, filed in 1949, which sought $8,000,000 for alleged anti-trust law violations. The defendants have 20 days to answer Blackman's brief.

Achievement Awards Made

NEW YORK—Recipients of the 1954 Mark of Achievement Awards being made by the amusement industry division, Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, at their luncheon to be held at the Hotel Shera-ton Astor on Jan. 20th, were announced last week by Oscar Hammerstein, II, awards chairman.

The awards will be made to Elmer Davis, radio; Jackie Gleason, television; Grace Kelly, motion pictures; Mary Martin, legitimate theatre; Mitchell Miller, recording industry; Arthur Schwartz, music world; and a special award for 1954 will be made to Patti McCormack for her performance in "The Bad Seed."

The Mark of Achievement awards luncheon is the highlight of the amusement industry division's participation in the Federation's 1954-55 drive. Adolph Schimel is this year's campaign chairman.

Hughes-Odlum Deal Rumored

NEW YORK—Unconfirmed reports circulated last week that a deal had been made between Howard P. Hughes and the Atlas Corporation for Atlas to purchase RKO from Hughes and also to buy Hughes' share of RKO pictures.

Merchandising Topic Of 20th-Fox Meeting

NEW YORK—A full discussion of merchandising policy for nine releases during the first quarter of 1955 and a general review of company sales policy headed the agenda of an important two-day division managers' meeting called by Al Lichtman, 20th-Fox director of distribution, last week.

The conclave was to be attended by the company's seven domestic and Canadian sales heads representing the sales organization's 38 exchanges in the two countries.

Spyros P. Skouras, president, was scheduled to address the opening session, welcoming the field sales executives and outlining plans for the new year as well as reporting on his recently concluded six-week trip to Europe on the international progress of CinemaScope.

Joining with Lichtman in leading the deliberations was to be W. C. Gehring, executive assistant general sales manager; Arthur Silverstone, assistant general sales manager; Alex Harrison, western sales manager; and Glenn Norris, eastern sales manager.

A comprehensive program of national promotion, advertising and exploitation was to be outlined for the nine attractions, of which seven are CinemaScope and in color and two standard, one in color, slated for release January through March. Other topics under discussion were the expediting of prints to the field, stereophonic sound, and suggested ways of improving CinemaScope programming.

Division managers set to attend the meeting were Martin Moskowitz, Atlantic; T. O. McCleaster, central; J. M. Connolly, northeast; M. A. Levy, midwest; H. G. Ballance, southern; and Paul S. Wilson, assistant, southern; Herman Wobber, western; and Reville Kniffen, assistant, western; and Peter Myers, Canadian.

Attendance Rise Predicted

WASHINGTON—The Commerce Department last week predicted further increases in motion picture attendance in 1955. The prediction came from the Department's motion picture section, headed by Nathan D. Golden. It was part of an overall survey of 25 leading industry groups released by Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

The estimated box office gross of 1954 was put at $1,200,000,000. This was an 18 per cent increase over 1953, and brought the average weekly admissions close to 80,000,000 persons. The department survey also pointed out the increasing importance of the foreign market, which brought in nearly $200,000,000 in 1954.

Skouras Dinner Aids Israel

NEW YORK—More than $200,000 was raised by the $100-a-plate dinner concert presented at the Waldorf-Astoria last week honoring Spyros P. Skouras, president, 20th-Fox. The celebration was given by the American Fund for Israel Institutions, and featured Metropolitan Opera stars Rise Stevens and Robert Merrill, Pierre Monteux, and the symphony of the air, and New York City Ballet stars Diana Adams and Andre Eglevesky.

Abba Eban, Israel's Ambassador to the United States was principle speaker.

Final plans for the 1955 world-wide "Daff Drive" were set recently in New York by U-I foreign distribution executives with the goal being to better the marks of the past four record breaking years. Gathered around Americo Aboaf, foreign general manager, are Josephine Griffin, home office statistical department; Ben M. Cohen, assistant foreign manager and captain of the drive; Joseph Mazer, 16mm. sales head; Aboaf; Fortunat Baronat, foreign publicity director; Jack Dobbin, assistant to Felix Sommer, U-I foreign finance executive; Sommer; and Irving Weiss, foreign service manager.

Zenith Head Blasts Toll-TV Approval Lag

CHICAGO—Commander E. F. McDonald, Jr., president, Zenith Radio Corporation, last week charged that several groups of theatre owners are attempting to delay the coming of subscription TV because they know it will be a competitor capable of delivering new motion pictures and other boxoffice entertainment to the public more efficiently and much more economically than is now possible.

McDonald had reference to the opposition filed with the Federal Communications Commission by six organized exhibitor groups, opposing Zenith's request for immediate authorization of subscription TV, and requesting full blown hearings on the subject.

McDonald's remarks were addressed to a national convention of Zenith wholesale distributors at the Shoreland Hotel. He revealed that a number of theatre owners have already applied to Zenith for franchises to operate phonevision in their localities, when and if it is approved by the Federal Communications Commission. "The far-sighted action of these individual theatre owners is in striking contrast to the obstructive efforts of the organized groups," he said. "They have recognized phonevision's tremendous potential value and are anxious to secure franchises for their localities. Even though we cannot grant them at this time, we welcome these applications, because we realize that successful operation of phonevision will require the talents of men who are experienced in showmanship and who know the entertainment preferences of their localities.

"This does not mean," he said, "that subscription TV will kill the movie theatre any more than movies killed the legitimate stage, or than radio and TV killed the newspaper business. It will hurt some small theatres, just as every new business development hurts somebody, but that is all. No amount of home entertainment will satisfy the urge to get outside the home for an occasional fling. There will always be people who prefer seeing good movies and grand opera in the theatre, even though it will cost many times as much to see them in the theatre as at home."

McDonald revealed for the first time that with the latest phonevision equipment there will be no need for altering television receivers, either those now owned by the public or those being manufactured.

"Our decoding equipment can be attached readily to any television receiver," he said, "regardless of make, so that it will be a simple matter for any set owner to receive phonevision service."

McDonald said it was to the everlasting credit of the television industry that there had been no attempt made to gang up on theatre television, and questioned the legality of such a move.

"Some years ago," he stated, "many so-called 'four wall' theatres were in bitter opposition to drive-ins. Some ganged up on their new competitor, and eventually paid over millions of dollars in anti-trust damages." In contrast to the limited opposition recorded against subscription TV, he said, is the rapidly growing volume of

Industry Census Forms Go To All Branches

WASHINGTON—The Census Bureau last week mailed out its comprehensive business questionnaire to almost every producer, distributor, exhibitor, and service firm in the motion picture industry.

For the first time in 15 years, the whole industry will be surveyed in the same year. In 1948, a census of producers and service firms was taken and one of distributors and exhibitors in 1949, but not since 1940 have they all been surveyed together.

For the first time, the same division of the census bureau will survey the entire industry, producing better correlation than previously, when producers were surveyed by the manufacturing branch, distributors by the wholesale branch, and exhibitors by the service branch.

The questionnaire will go to every industry firm except those which have no employees. Income tax returns will provide the bureau with information on these forms.

SW Stockholders To Consider Changes

WILMINGTON, DEL.—The annual meeting of stockholders of Stanley Warner will be held here on Jan. 13. The stockholders will act upon a proposal to amend the certificate of incorporation to conform with the section of the by-laws providing that directors be divided into two classes and elected for a term of two years with the terms of each class expiring in alternate years.

Three directors will be nominated for election to two-year terms, Si H. Fabian, Samuel Rosen, and David G. Baird. Directors whose terms of office will continue and Harry M. Kalmine, Maurice A. Silver, and Dr. Charles F. McKhann.

The proxy statement revealed earnings of SW officials for the fiscal year ended Aug. 28 as Fabian, president, and Rosen, executive vice-president, a combined $196,774.77; Baird, chairman of the finance committee, $36,400; Kalmine, vice-president and general manager, $130,000; Silver, zone manager in charge of SW theatres in the Pittsburgh and Cleveland areas, $44,800.

The Fabian-Rosen remuneration was paid to Fabian Enterprises under an agreement between it and SW.

Frels Mourned

HOUSTON, TEX.—Ruben Frels, 55, head, Frels Theatre Circuit, died last week of a heart attack. Owner of 45 Texas theatres, Frels was a director of the Texas Drive-In Theatre Association and a past president of Allied States.

support that is coming from broadcasters, civic groups, actresses and actors, religious leaders, educators, and the general public.

GREEN BAY, WIS.—MGM's first big splash in connection with its "Motion Picture Theatre celebration" got under way here last week and is set to continue for two weeks of activity in connection with the openings of "Bad Day At Black Rock," Bay, and "Green Fire," Orpheum, on Jan. 21.

Theatre interests have indicated they will dress up the city with special lighting effects, bunting, and promotion-wise wake up citizens to the importance of motion pictures in general and the industry at large. The campaign is expected to spread to nearby communities.

Local merchants, a number of civic associations, local chapters of national business clubs and other groups will publicly pay tribute, through newspapers, radio, TV and other media, to the film industry with MGM taking the lion's share of the leadership in promoting goodwill between the merchants and other groups with the theatre interests. This tribute will acknowledge the part theatres have played in getting customers to come to town regularly to attend their favorite place of amusement and also shop on their visits to the main streets.

Ivan Fuldauer, MGM division field representative with headquarters in Chicago, and Louis Orlove, field press representative headquartering at Milwaukee, have arrived to start the ball rolling for the big event.

The first official state act to spark off the jubilee activity is an official proclamation signed by Robert C. Zimmerman, assistant secretary of state, declaring January as "Go To The Movies Month." The proclamation points out, in part, "with characteristic optimism, spirit and enthusiasm, theatres of Wisconsin are welcoming the New Year of 1955 with a 'Forward in '55' celebration, and, whereas, this celebration will bring to hundreds and thousands of moviegoers in Wisconsin a concentration of outstanding film productions during the first four months of 1955," winding up with a request that every city and community in Wisconsin also join and observe the period for celebration."

Illinois Joins Salute To Nation's Exhibitors

NEW YORK—Following close on the heels of a similar action by the state of Wisconsin, a second proclamation in connection with MGM's "1955 Motion Picture Theatre Celebration" has been issued, the latest by Governor William G. Stratton, Illinois, and countersigned by Charles F. Carpentier, Secretary of State.

The second acknowledgment of MGM's "Forward In '55," like the first, proclaims January as the "Go To The Movies Month," and adds that "The Motion Picture theatres of Illinois represent an important and unique activity."

The proclamation further states that "encouragement and support be given such aggressive plans and salute the thousands of motion picture theatre people who diligently strive to provide the best entertainment for the men, women and children of our state."

Reporter Is At Sea Over Ship Film Setup

TORONTO—Revenue from Canada's marine movie shows is a question mark, leaving the reporter completely at sea. Fact is there are so many distributors supplying the films to vessels plying out of Montreal that there is no way of computing the total amount taken in. There is no central booking agency like Movies En Route, Inc., N. Y., although the closest parallel is Associated Screen News, Montreal, which arranges the supply for the Canadian Pacific Steamship Lines.

These, however, are the known factors in the supplying of films for movies-on-ships-at-sea. Both 35mm. and 16mm. are used, with many of the latter being what is known as non-theatrical.

The connection between ASN and the CPR began in the days when the CPR owned the majority of ASN stock, at the time the film-lab was first organized.

Most of ASN's business is done out of Montreal, although a few of its bookings are for ships out of Vancouver, on the west coast.

The films are taken aboard at the home-port in lots of five or six, from the various companies, and staying aboard the ships for their round-trip on the ocean. Many of the pictures are first-run, utilizing prints awaiting release. All deals are flat, since most of the ships charge no admission.

Greatest share of the income is derived from the 16mm. films, equipment for which the ships have for the most part. Another source of income is that from the Royal Canadian Naval Film Society, which supplies the naval ships.

Much of the screen time is taken up by CPR and CNR films, films which extoll the praises of the vacation-land resort hotels operated by the railroads, and films from the National Film Board. These films are supplied free-of-charge, but distributors are not squawking because it was they who opened up an otherwise unknown market for 16mm.

film bookers are wondering who did most of the talking in the jury room. . . . Winner in group "A" in the first month of Dan Krendel's ballyhoo contest was Bob Harvey, manager, Capitol, North Bay, followed closely by Don Edwards, manager, Tivoli, Hamilton. In Group "B", George Forhan, Jr., manager, Capitol, Welland, pulled off first prize, while second spot was shared by Len Goyin, manager, Capitol, Peterboro, and Al Hartshorn, manager, Regent, Oshawa. . . . United Amusement Corporation, Montreal, declared an extra dividend of 15 cents a share along with dividends of 25 cents on the A and B shares and voting trust certificates, all payable Dec. 15 to holders of record, Nov. 30.

In London, Sidney Bernstein's Granada Theatres, Ltd., showed a net profit of 84,786 Pounds for the year ended Sept. 30, as compared with 72,572 for the preceeding year. Bernstein announced a dividend of five per cent will be paid on the ordinary shares, which are privately held. The 55 house Granada Circuit is converting completely to CinemaScope.

Latin American Record Seen For UA '55 Films

NEW YORK—United Artists' Latin American supervisor, Sam Bekeris, last week predicted a "record year" for his company in South and Central America.

Bekeris also stated that 1954 had been a "great" one for UA in Latin America with business "substantially" ahead of the previous year. Bekeris attributed the improvement of business primarily to the improved product available in 1954, but also mentioned the reorganization of the company and the greater cooperation of the home office to those in the foreign field as contributing factors.

Bekeris confirmed that the "frozen funds situation" is improving in Latin America.

COMPO Ad Assists Community Efforts

NEW YORK—How two newspapers made use of a recent COMPO advertisement in Editor and Publisher to fight a local admission tax and to aid local retail business was revealed last week by COMPO headquarters.

The advertisement was the 32nd in the COMPO series in the newspaper industry's trade paper. It reprinted a story in Variety that told how the merchants of Ellsworth, Wis., finding their business hurt by the closing of the local theatre, were raising a fund to keep the theatre operating.

In its issue of Dec. 20, The Radford (Va.) News Journal reprinted the advertisement as an argument for repeal of the local 10 per cent admission tax.

The next day, in Seattle, Russell W. Young, advertising manager, Seattle Times, sent the advertisement to each of the 12 members of the Downtown Promotion Committee, a group made up of advertising executives representing the larger downtown Seattle stores. The committee is responsible for planning and setting up most united promotional activities for the downtown Seattle stores and it works with the theatres each year on a huge "Back To School" show which uses the facilities of six of Seattle's first-run theatres.

In his memorandum to the promotion committee, Young said, "The attached is an interesting announcement showing that the public likes to be entertained, and when they are entertained they are in a better frame of mind, resulting in a happy community, making all business better. Just another reason for events like the Santa Claus Parade and the Back To School program."

Hempstead Case To Be Tried

NEW YORK—The State Court of Appeals last week ordered a trial for the case of Hempstead Theatre Corporation vs. Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc., and Circuit Vendors, Inc., wherein Hempstead is seeking to share in an anti-trust settlement of $2,000,000 won by Metropolitan, which is a tenant of the Hempstead Theatre Corporation.

Hempstead is claiming that an anti-trust settlement constitutes "gross receipts" upon which they, as landlord, can claim additional rent under the leases.

The court upheld the lower court in its decision that the case could not be dismissed for legal insufficiency, and must therefore go to trial.

UA Theatres Register Stock

WASHINGTON—United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., New York, has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission seeking the registration of 400,121 shares of its $1 par common stock.

Money raised from the sale of the stock will be used to retire outstanding bank debts, one with the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association of Los Angeles and one with the Marine Midland Trust Company of New York. The balance will be retained for general working capital.

Paramount's Gift to the Industry

A STATEMENT BY BARNEY BALABAN

It is important at this time, I believe, to review what Paramount's development of the Horizontal VistaVision Camera means—and will continue to mean—to exhibitors in terms of increased theatre admissions and to the future of our industry.

Paramount's first VistaVision picture, WHITE CHRISTMAS, has now played widely to solid top grosses, in many cases to all-time record-breaking results.

More important — WHITE CHRISTMAS proves the wisdom of Paramount's policy as regards the Wide Screen.

From the start our Company was unwilling to rush into adopting any Wide Screen system technically not yet perfected and which would place an undue economic burden on our customer, the exhibitor.

With faith in our Studio's fine scientific department, Y. Frank Freeman and I authorized expenditures of several millions of dollars in the efforts to develop to perfection a system of photography and projection which would furnish to exhibitors everywhere the best photographed pictures in the ideal 2-to-1 proportion on the largest possible screen at the least possible expense to the theatres.

The results, beyond our fondest dreams, are:

The Horizontal VistaVision Camera—and the complete conversion of our Studio to this system.

Ten VistaVision pictures already completed.

A few weeks ago, the top executives of our worldwide sales and advertising departments came to Hollywood and viewed these ten productions. They were extremely enthusiastic over what they saw. So eager were they to spread the proof of the outstanding values in these pictures and of the amazing merits of the Horizontal VistaVision Camera, that they urged the Studio to prepare a Special Film containing the highlights of the pictures.

Running 20 minutes, this Special Film is nearing completion and is titled:

We are arranging trade showings of this film for exhibitors and will subsequently furnish prints, without charge, to theatres for the entertainment of their audiences.

I sincerely believe that this is a most important film. I think that, seeing it, you will visualize for the first time A New World In Motion Pictures and its vast potentialities. I am confident that, having seen it, you will agree that the real technical and financial future of our industry rests upon the ultimate photographing and projecting of motion pictures standardized on the principles of the HORIZONTAL VISTAVISION CAMERA.

Industry Tax Estimate Vindicated By Yield

NEW YORK—Returns of the second payment of the New York City five per cent tax from all sources of amusement revenue in the city, amounted to approximately $2,420,000 for the three month period ended Nov. 30, 1954, it was reported last week.

Over 50 per cent of this figure came from exhibition returns. It is expected that a more detailed breakdown on how much the local theatremen have paid in tax and how much has been withheld as breakage may be available at a later date.

During the five months that the tax has been in effect, it has brought to the city a total revenue of $3,711,949. If this figure is mathematically extended to cover a 12-month period, total revenue from all sources is found to be $8,900,000. The City Budget official had originally estimated that the tax would bring in $9,000,000 from theatres alone, and $16,000,000 from other amusements.

Harry Brandt, president, Independent Theatre Owners Association, has maintained along with Emanuel Frisch, president, Metropolitan Motion Picture Theatres Association, that the tax cannot yield more than $4,000,000 yearly from theatres, and that the industry data submitted to Mayor Wagner, but rejected, was correct.

At this first press conference of the year, Mayor Wagner stated that the city would not repeal any taxes, including the admissions tax, until it can see what the financial situation is and what aid the city can secure from Albany.

Col. Signs Hayworth, Bogart

HOLLYWOOD—Columbia last fortnight was reported as signing an agreement with Beckworth Film Company, which formerly made Rita Hayworth films for Columbia, whereby Miss Hayworth receives a contract for $1,000,000 plus $300,000 for two films.

Humphrey Bogart was reported completing arrangement for sale to Columbia of his independent company, Santana Pictures, for over $1,000,000. He was also said to be considering a separate offer by Columbia to star in six films.

Hecht-Lancaster will shortly open an office in New York to investigate the organization's possible entry in the legitimate theatre and also announced was the formation of its own music publishing firm with the first tune to be "Hey Marty" from the feature "Marty," which will be used to promote the release. The play property, "Zorba The Greek," is presently being dramatized, and any properties for the stage probably will be filmed eventually by the company. The first play may not be ready until 1956.

Hecht said that he was very happy with United Artists as a releasing organization, and he felt confident that all future product would go through them. He thought that the possibility of a talent pool and school to be set up by independents ought to be investigated as a possible means of overcoming a talent shortage, but he admitted a lack of knowledge as regards the legal end.

HE DUNNE SAID IT: Philip Dunne, one of 20th-Fox's top screen writers, who marks his direct orial debut with "Prince Of Players," arrived here last week for promotional activities on behalf of the film as well as to see some plays and some talent for possible use in the furture pix.

The man whose screen writing credits include "The Egyptian," "Demetrius And The Gladiators," "David And Bathsheba," "Pinky," "Forever Amber," "The Robe," and others, will write and produce the film based on the best-selling novel, "The View From Pompey's Head," scheduled to start in the spring possibly with Gregory Peck in the lead. He may also direct the film as well.

Also on his schedule is another best-seller, "Katherine," which he will produce and direct. No date has been set on this yet since the script is still in the preparation stage although a goodly portion of it will be filmed in Ireland or Scotland.

"Prince Of Players," which stars Richard Burton and Maggie McNamara, and has a number of sequences from some of Shakespeare's more famous works, cost about one-and-a-half millions and was shot in 31 days in CinemaScope, a medium he is very excited about, incidentally. He

Disney Profit Rises; TV Benefit Stressed

LOS ANGELES—Consolidated net profit of Walt Disney Productions in the fiscal year ended Oct. 2, 1954, was $733,852, equal to $1.12 per share on the 652,840 shares of common stock outstanding, President Roy O. Disney said last week in his annual report to shareholders. This compared with a profit of $510,426, or 79 cents a common share, in the preceding year. Provision for federal income taxes in the 1954 fiscal year amounted to $840,000, compared to a provision of $365,000 a year ago.

Gross income for the 1954 fiscal year totaled $11,641,408, an increase of $3,275,547 over the $8,365,861 reported for the preceding year. Gross film rental income for the past year is not strictly comparable with that of prior years. Disney said, because of the adoption during the past year of the policy of distributing certain pictures through the company's wholly-owned subsidiary, Buena Vista Film Distribution Company, Inc.

Revenues from character merchandising, publications, music and non-theatrical film distribution were higher than in fiscal 1953, and continue to be an important and profitable part of the company's business, the report said.

Disney told the shareholders that the company's weekly television program has enjoyed an excellent reception from the public and its sponsors. Discussing this new area of activity, he said, "We have embraced television not only for itself and its possibilities, but also to exploit and sell our motion picture product. While we expect to make a profit directly from television sales, such profit will not be great. Our real gain will be in the marketing value to our motion pictures which are still our primary business."

The report stated that construction of Disneyland, located near Anaheim, California, is progressing satisfactorily with present plans calling for its opening in July, 1955.

Disney stated that in no previous year has the company had product for release as strong as is scheduled for 1955.

opined that the public should appreciate the film since its quality has been widely commented upon, and they are ready for something a little different in popular entertainment.

Dunne was of the opinion that major companies should turn out larger and fewer films so that high quality would be maintained, an impossibility when turning out films strictly for the sake of quantity. He did agree, though, that the number can't be too small since theatres must have quite a bit of product in order to remain open. The minimum price for which a feature can be turned out at a major studio these days, he estimated, was between $700,000 to $800,000.

THE METROPOLITAN SCENE: In conjunction with the national release of 20th-Fox's "Prince Of Players," a new popular priced edition of the Eleanor Ruggles book is being issued by W. W. Norton and Company, New York. Picture dates and campaigns by local book stores are being coordinated.

COMPO Greets New Year

NEW YORK—The 34th in the series of Council of Motion Picture Organizations, Inc., ads in Editor and Publisher extends best wishes for a happy new year states that the coming release of a large number of exceptionally fine motion pictures makes the wish more of a promise than a mere holiday greeting.

The advertisement asserts that there are several reasons for this "pleasant state of affairs," explaining that the public has given good pictures support; the industry lift received when the federal admission tax was reduced last April; and the fact that the novelty of television has worn off and people are going back to the movies for their entertainment.

Douglas To Produce For UA

NEW YORK—Arthur B. Krim, president, United Artists, and Kirk Douglas, motion picture star, announced jointly last week that Douglas had formed his own independent film company, Bryna Productions, to produce six pictures for United Artists release.

"Viking Raiders" and "Van Gogh" will be the first two films from Bryna Productions. Douglas will star in both.

Fulbright To Address Brotherhood Dinner

NEW YORK—Senator William J. Fulbright of Arkansas will be the principal speaker at the Brotherhood Dinner sponsored by the National Conference, it was announced last week by John H. Harris, national chairman, amusements division, Brotherhood campaign.

The dinner launching Brotherhood Week for 1955 will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel tomorrow (Jan. 13). J. Robert Rubin, permanent general chairman, amusements division will be the guest of honor.

More than 1,000 performers and executives from every branch of the entertainment industry will attend the dinner highlighting the Brotherhood effort, which fosters understanding among Americans of all faiths, races and creeds.

Warners To Consider Directorial Changes

NEW YORK—The annual Warners stockholders' meeting will be held on Feb. 2 at Wilmington, Del., it was announced last week. Stockholders will act upon a management proposal to amend the certificate of incorporation to conform with by-laws calling for the division of directors into two classes, with directors serving for two years, and with the terms of each class expiring in alternate years.

Three directors are to be elected for two year terms at one annual meeting, and five named for two year terms at alternate annual meetings. A majority of the board is therefore elected only at alternate meetings, and the election of nominees at the other meeting is not sufficient to change the management.

Management nominees at the Feb. 2 meeting will be Waddill Catchings, Robert W. Perkins, Albert Warner, Harry M. Warner, and Jack L. Warner.

Warners directors and those receiving in excess of $30,000 in the year ended Aug. 31 were Harry M. Warner, $104,000; Jack L. Warner, $104,000; Samuel Schneider, $104,000; Albert Warner, $78,000; Benjamin Kalmenson, $104,000; Samuel Carlisle, $40,050; Stanleigh P. Friedman, $65,000; and Robert W. Perkins, $78,000.

Academy Nominations On TV

HOLLYWOOD—The Academy Award nominations may be used by NBC as the basis for a 90-minute spectacular, it was surmised last week after the disclosure that the Academy had signed a six year contract for telecasting and broadcasting not only the Academy Awards ceremonies, as in the past, but also the nominations. Minimum fee to be received by the Academy for these features is $1,050,000.

The nominations date was given this year as Feb. 12, which is a Saturday, considered bad timing for newspapers but right for NBC program purposes. The film industry will have first refusal of sponsorship after 1955, which is committed to Oldsmobile.

Announcement of nominations has been routinely handled up to now, being nothing more than handing out press releases to assembled newsmen.

About People

NEW YORK—Erwin J. Bofferding, former assistant manager, suburban Minneapolis and St. Paul theatres and a former U.S. Department of Labor official, last week was elected a principal associate of Cresop, McCormick, and Paget, management consultants with offices both here and in Chicago. Bofferding was employed by the Minnisota Amusement Company from 1930 to 1935. He is the holder of a Rockefeller Foundation Fellowship, and received the degree of Master of Arts in Public Administration from the University of Minnesota in 1941. In 1942 he was named assistant chief of the Unemployment Insurance Service of the Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security in Washington, and was awarded the department's Distinguished Service Award before joining Cresop, McCormick, and Paget in 1953 as a staff associate.

NEW YORK—Eric Johnston, president, Motion Picture Export Association, announced last week the appointment of Amos Hiatt as special assistant to the MPEA treasurer to handle foreign exchange and compensation arrangements. Long experienced in the financial field, Hiatt formerly served as assistant comptroller of Pan American World Airways and as regional director for the Middle and Far East of Intercontinental Hotels Corporation. Hiatt's motion picture background includes service as treasurer of RKO-Pathe companies and as vice-president and director, First Division Productions. He also worked with the late Frederick Ullman in Beekman Films. Hiatt participated in a survey of motion picture distribution problems and wrote a book on the subject for the Harvard Business School.

NEW YORK—Mrs. Sherlee Weingarten Lantz, former casting director for the Theatre Guild and for Louis de Rochemont's independent film productions, has been appointed general talent representative in the east for Hecht-Lancaster Productions, it was announced last week by Harold Hecht, co-owner with Burt Lancaster of the production company which is releasing its films through United Artists. Mrs. Lantz, whose headquarters will be in New York, will be concerned with performing and other talent for the Hecht-Lancaster company.

NEW YORK—Joseph J. Laub has been appointed RKO assistant general counsel, it was announced last week by J. Miller Walker, vice-president and general counsel. Laub, a member of the legal staff for the past six years, has been chief assistant to general counsel in distribution, financial, and corporate matters, and has also served as assistant secretary, RKO and affiliated companies. He will hereafter also serve as secretary of affiliated operating companies.

HOLLYWOOD—Edward L. Alperson last fortnight announced the appointment of Richard D. Spierman as vice-president in charge of National Pictures Corporation activities in England and Continental Europe. Spierman has sailed for London to undertake his new duties.

A TV remote truck was used to broadcast the gala premiere activities. It was the first commercially-sponsored telecast of such an event.

HIGHLIGHTING production at 20th-Fox in 1954 was the $5 million production of Irving Berlin's "There's No Business Like Show Business" in CinemaScope, and one of the most memorable campaigns in years was turned in by the company in launching to great success the Darryl F. Zanuck presentation.

Faced by a record drive hitting and re-hitting all segments of the public through the utilization of all media, the musical giant starring Ethel Merman, Donald O'Connor, Marilyn Monroe, Dan Dailey, Johnnie Ray, and Mitzi Gaynor appears headed to fame and fortune.

Under the astute direction of vice-president Charles Einfeld, the 20th-Fox promotional team pulled out all the stops for the lavishly-mounted musical attraction. The world premiere at New York's Roxy was transformed into a giant tribute to the acting profession marking the first time show people were on the receiving end of a benefit opening. The gala launching saw all proceeds, running into thousands of dollars, turned over to the Actors' Fund of America and its allied organizations, the Episcopal, Catholic, Jewish, and Negro Theatrical Guilds, The Lambs, and The American Theatre Wing. To lend a personal touch to the proceedings, four of the picture's six stars, Ethel Merman, Dan Dailey, Johnnie Ray, and Mitzi Gaynor; producer Sol C. Siegel; and composer Irving Berlin converged on New York for promotional activities.

The personalities reached millions of persons, not only in New York but also in every corner of the nation, through a record number of TV and radio appearances, newspapers, magazine and wire service interviews, and personal appearances around Gotham.

Official civic recognition of the opening saw Mayor Robert F. Wagner proclaiming Actors' Fund Week in ceremonies held at City Hall. Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack officiated in ceremonies re-naming Times Square "Show Business Square."

Promotional icing was placed on the vitamin-packed CinemaScope and color by De Luxe cake on opening morning as stars Merman, Dailey, Ray, and Gaynor, joined by composer Berlin, manned the theatre's boxoffices selling tickets to enthusiastic patrons mobbing the bedecked Roxy.

It all adds up to big business for "Show Business."

Part of the premiere bally consisted of turning Times Square into "Show Business Square."

The Roxy managing director, William McClair, greets Dailey in theatre lobby, standing in front of Irving Berlin's "Magic Piano."

Leading restaurants and night clubs, such as Sardi's, allowed teams of actresses to sell premiere tickets on the premises.

Dailey is presented with a souvenir ticket to the premiere from actresses of The American Theatre Wing at Idlewild Airport.

Leon Birnbaum, 20th-Fox's studio music editor, met the trade press to underline the musical problems involved in the production.

As part of the all-out publicity campaign, producer Sol C. Siegel is seen discussing the five million dollar picture with the trade press.

Merman is seen arriving from Denver to help publicize the picture and attend the premiere.

BETTER MANAGEMENT

*Valuable Exploitation Keys

Vigorous Ballyhoo Hypos "Violent" Bow

BOSTON—The radio airwaves, store window, and street ballyhoo received the heavy play in the exploitation campaign fashioned by Paul Levi when Columbia's "The Violent Men" bowed at Boston's Pilgrim, flagship of Abner Pinanski's American Theatres chain.

Two contests were run simultaneously on Beantown radio stations. One was a limerick finishing contest which was part of the exploitation kit furnished by Columbia for the CinemaScope film. The second contest was suggested by the press book, and consisted of having the listener supply "violent" words which had the letters f-o-r-d, for star Glenn Ford. In both cases free tickets to the picture were the prizes. The stunts drew considerable interest to the playdate.

Another radio aid was the open end interviews with stars Barbara Stanwyck and Edward G. Robinson, which were given prominent play on three stations.

A tieup was effected involving the Dell pocket edition of "Smokey Valley," the novel from which "The Violent Men" was adapted. Posters linking the book and the film were placed in book stores, news-stands, on hotel cigar counters and other spots which handled the book. In addition, banners with credit copy for the playdate were strung on the trucks of the New England News Company, local distributors for the book.

The western aspect of the picture provided opportunity for several window tieups. Several book stores tied up "The Violent Men" with the book, "Pictorial History Of The Wild West." Other stores selling western garb for children built window displays around material plugging the picture.

Radio, TV Plugs Aid "Prince Of Players"

NEW YORK—Twentieth Century-Fox's "Prince of Players" in CinemaScope is receiving a major TV and radio promotional campaign keyed to its premiere opening yesterday (Jan. 11) at the Rivoli and national release later this month, it was announced last week.

The extensive drive will see the picture plugged to audiences of millions across the country, via personalities and appearances and special promotions on more than 25 top-rated national and local programs.

Philip Dunne, producer-director, has arrived in New York from Hollywood for the film's debut and has been set to appear on several popular shows. On the Tex and Jinx show, an NBC presentation, Dunne will be joined by the noted playwright Moss Hart, who wrote the film's screen play.

Multiple plugs for the picture will be achieved by the utilization of copies of the Eleanor Ruggles best-seller, published by W. W. Norton Company, as prizes and giveaways on quiz, chatter, and personality TV programs.

Paramount To Use TV

HOLLYWOOD—In line with Paramount's long-range publicity and exploitation planning, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis have made three television trailers for their latest film, "You're Never Too Young."

While the trailers won't be shown on television until the picture is released, scheduled for fall of 1955, Phil Pemberton, head, Paramount's trailer department, filmed the video shorts 30 minutes after production ended on the comedy, a unique achievement for exploitation of this type. Using the same camera crew, Pemberton took over from director Norman Taurog as soon as the picture was completed.

This is a reproduction of a recent full page ad run by The Philadelphia Daily News as a good will gesture toward the industry, particularly to local motion picture theatre advertisers. The attention the ad created was most favorable to both trade and public alike, with the newspaper coming in for considerable praise for the effort.

This is the way the RKO Orpheum, St. Paul and Minneapolis, recently handled the national Roto-Broil contest set up by Columbia's exploitation department for "Phffft." A radio station was the contest outlet in these situations.

CANDYDLY SPEAKING

THERE IS MUCH that is new in extra profits operation these days, and it would be easy for exhibitors to lose sight of important fundamentals. Increased variety of items carried, automatic vending facilities, and other advances have increased concession returns considerably. Stands are more attractive, on the spot merchandising has become more effective.

It WOULD be unfortunate, in the face of such an upbeat situation, for theatremen not to realize maximum profits from concession operation through something as basic as insufficient sanitation facilities or attendants who fail to realize the importance of a well-groomed, well-scrubbed look.

As SURELY as shoddy presentation of excellent films through careless projection or sound handling can hurt theatre business, poor handling of the excellent stock available for your candy stand can cut extra profits considerably. The candy stand operator is management's liaison with the public, responsibility not to be taken lightly.

NEATNESS, CLEANLINESS are important but nowhere near sufficient. Sales ability must also be present. Can the attendant take advantage of the merchandising possibilities inherent in modern concession operations? Are those items bringing in the best profit returns being properly promoted, adequately displayed? These are questions every exhibitor must ask himself. This is the task of every concession aide.

IT MIGHT BE FOUND necessary and advantageous to conduct a brief sales training course for theatre extra profits personnel; inform them of those items meriting concentrated sales efforts; teach them the valuable tricks of display and promotion. No matter how small or large an operation is, profits will increase through a careful observance of fundamentals.

—AL ERLICK.

The 800-car Bankhead Drive-In, Atlanta, a Georgia Theatres operation, does a brisk all-year business at this handsome cafeteria-style refreshment stand, featuring the beverage department, where two dispensers for Coca-Cola handle a business of from 140 to 160 gallons a month in the off season to much higher in warm weather. Grape and orange beverages are also served, and lighted canopy sectional signs facing the screen invite customers to partake of various items.

EXTRA PROFITS

the customer in 3-D...

Customers come in 3-D. First, they buy tickets. Profit for you. Second, they buy refreshment while in your house. More profit for you. And in the third dimension, they come back if they like what they get. Theater patrons enjoy the combination of entertainment and refreshment when you sell delicious Coca-Cola . . . and satisfied customers come back. For the money-making details on a variety of vending equipment, write The Coca-Cola Company, P. O. Box 1734, Atlanta, Georgia.

Cleanliness Sure To Increase Concession Profits

Attention paid to such fundamental details as proper grooming on the part of the candy stand attendant and sanitary handling of stock can make the difference.

"Pleasing ware is half sold." The words of this ancient proverb are as true today as they were when coined hundreds of years ago. For even in the days when merchant-farmers would crowd the open markets with their goods, the same reasoning that caused the public to buy from one stand and not the other is still in use. Times may change, but the basic appeals that cause one to purchase are timeless. Perhaps the most fundamental appeal of all is cleanliness.

A vital factor in keeping the financial complexion of a theatre a good healthy black, as opposed to a sometimes festal shade of red, is the extra profits activities. Recognizing the importance of the candy, soft drink, popcorn or ice cream stand, it is almost axiomatic that everything be done to increase the sales potential. The principle that a stand should be kept clean and attractive is so simple that there is sometimes a tendency to take it for granted and become a bit lax. However, no matter what the size of the town or theatre, an attractive, clean concession stand has a direct effect on sales and should be maintained at all times.

When a customer enters a theatre and finds some litter on the lobby floor or even a bit of dust around he might resent it and grumble a bit. Chances are, however, it will not mean that he will stop patronizing the place. But let this same customer step up to the refreshment bar and make a purchase, only to find it unclean, melted, or having an odor, there is every reason to expect that his contribution to the extra profits of that theatre will come to an abrupt halt. For while people might overlook carelessness in certain things, they will not tolerate it in something intended for their stomachs. The customer has every right to expect his candy or popcorn to be fresh and sanitary.

Storage Facilities Important

Since most items sold at a candy counter are of a perishable nature, a number of precautions must be taken. One of the major considerations is proper storage. You might purchase the finest products money can buy, but if you allow them to spoil because of improper storage facilities you face both a loss in reputation and sales. Although each individual theatre has problems peculiar to itself, there are a few general rules which should be observed.

When storing merchandise it should be in a room that is clean and completely free of vermin. Care must be taken that confections are not placed close to other items that have a strong odor. Chocolate, in particular, has a tendency to absorb these odors. Thus it is important that the storage facilities are large enough for the proper placing of merchandise. An overcrowded storage room leaves the way open for vermin and the waste resulting from crushed boxes.

Check Your Stock

The manager should always have a method of knowing which products are not moving. When stock is delivered the cases should be dated and arranged in such an order that the older merchandise is used first. An item that does not sell has a number of disadvantages, in addition to the obvious one of not making money. Returning to our principle of cleanliness, a display of merchandise that does not move soon becomes drab and unappealing. This tends to give the whole stand a less wholesome and attractive appearance, and decreases the desire to buy. It is important to keep the psychology of the buyer in mind.

Refreshment bar items may be healthful, but they are not a vital or necessary part of the diet. For this reason the average customer must be persuaded to make his purchase, and often the slightest inconvenience or discomfort will drive him away. If he is confronted with a spotless stand, and the items displayed in a fashion that creates a feeling of quality and wholesomeness, the passerby is well on his way to becoming a customer. Being aware of this it is often wiser to throw out a product that doesn't sell and accept the loss, rather than keep it in valuable space that could be used much more profitably.

Cleanliness Vital

A theatre may have a refreshment bar that is properly located, have attractive and modern equipment, and store the products so that they are in perfect condition. Despite these things, however, it is not getting the volume of sales it should. The answer may very well be found in the appearance of the attendant. In the Gilbert and Sullivan work, "The Sorcerer," there is a line that reads, "beauty will fade and perish, but personal cleanliness is practically undying, for it can be renewed whenever it discovers signs of decay." Those words could have been penned as sage advice to the operators and attendants of a theatre's confection stand.

The principle of cleanliness applies to everyone and everything connected with a stand. Returning to the psychology of the buyer once more, a stand presided over by an attendant attractively groomed with a quick pleasant smile, is often the most effective sales argument that can be presented.

Develop A Routine

Fully realizing the importance of this, progressive management has developed a routine that encompasses the principle of cleanliness. Before going on duty, the attendant sees to it that she has not overlooked any of the four "musts" for the food dispenser.

First of the four musts is clean hands. Thorough soaping and plenty of hot water should be used. No customer wants to be served by someone whose hands or fingernails are not clean or tidy. Next is neat hair. While being fashionable, the attendant's hair-do should be neat and in place at all times while on duty. A stray hair in food often means the loss of a customer. This point may be summed up by saying that loose hairs may mean lost sales. Third point is a spotless uniform. While it is not a must, it has been generally accepted that a uniformed attendant is definitely a sales factor, and would be worth the added effort and expense. However, whether garbed in a uniform or a simple dress, the attendant should see to it that her outfit is free from stain and tears. A spotted outfit often results in spotty sales. Last, but not least, is a clean face. Regardless of the attendants' personal opinions about lip rouge and make-up, she should moderate their use while on duty. Customers' appetites seem to perk up when confronted with the well scrubbed, wholesome face, as opposed to one that is heavily made up. Extra make-up decreases extra profits.

Extra Effort

The term extra profits should also bring to mind extra efforts. No business man has the right to expect his earnings to increase without doing something to bring it about. With the constant improvements in products and equipment, the candy counter of a theatre should be a healthy and growing source of income. In the dust raised by the flood of new gadgets and items, the exhibitor may show a tendency to overlook some of the fundamentals, such as proper appearance. However, even a fine diamond loses much of its attraction if it is placed in a shoddy setting. Always strive to keep up with the times, but also pay attention to the basic principles—and Cleanliness Is The First Principle.

Vinson Smith, Schine's Strand, Carthage, N. Y., is well aware of the value of a clean, attractive concession stand manned by a personally neat, smiling attendant, as can be seen in this photograph.

Beverage Unit From Nor-Lake

MINNEAPOLIS—Nor-Lake, Inc., manufacturers of commercial refrigeration equipment in Hudson, Wis., have issued a new, model SD-52 unit which combines large capacity and compact size in a self-contained sliding door beverage cooler.

Built for heavy duty use, it is constructed of cold rolled welded steel, with heavy-gauge galvanized liner, copper tubing, and stainless steel sliding doors. Adjustable temperature control and bottle decapper are standard equipment, and double compressor grills are provided if desired.

Beverage capacity of the cooler is 150 12-ounce bottles or 180 seven-ounce bottles. When used for milk, the unit will hold 300 one-half pint bottles or 600 half pint cartons in vertical position; 500 one-half pint bottles in horizontal position, 160 full pints, and 84 quarts.

Exterior dimensions of the cooler are 31" x 53" x 27"; inside dimensions are 13" x 47" x 21". Sealed compressor is 1/5 H.P. Shipping weight is approximately 345 pounds.

Sweden Dealer Appointed

SEATTLE—Appointment of another dealer for Sweden Freezers and Frigidmixers was announced recently by the Sweden Freezer Manufacturing Company, along with word of a new servicing organization in Canada. The new dealer is Richard W. Thompson, Wichita Falls, Tex., wholesaler of fountain and restaurant supplies. Thompson has been in business 35 years and adds the Sweden automatic fountain equipment to his line of fountain, drive-in, and cafe supplies.

The new service firm in Canada is the Don McNaughton Refrigeration Company, Sudbury, Ontario. This is a new company, organized by McNaughton who formerly was with Frigidaire. He will maintain a 24-hour refrigeration service in the Sudbury area, with special attention to Sweden equipment.

Indiana Exhibitor Wins Cretors Prize

CHICAGO—The $500 grand prize, in the contest to select a model name for the new Cretors popcorn machine designed by Raymond Loewy has been awarded to James S. Ackron, manager, Ritz, Tipton, Ind.

"Ambassador" was the name finally selected for the new Cretors from hundreds of entries.

Second-place winner was Cecil J. Callahan, Elberta, Nashville, Ark.; third-place winner, Mrs. F. Gordon Davis, Houston, Tex.; fourth-place winner, Tommy C. Thompson, Memorial Auditorium, Chattanooga, Tenn.; and fifth-place winner, Mrs. Edith Lillian Toon, Capitol, Fredericton, N.B., Canada. Runners-up in the contest were awarded certificates good for $100 on the purchase of one of the new Loewy-designed Cretors machines.

"The selection of the name," said Ackron, "was to me obvious. For to the exhibitor, in these somewhat trying days of movie-going, what has been our goodwill ambassador?—none other than a delicious carton of popcorn popped in a Cretors machine.

"I am sure," continued the grand-prize winner, "had Olson and Johnson written their script around a Cretors machine's proficient working, the title would have been 'Heaven's A-Poppin'."

The panel of judges that selected the winning name was composed of Fred C. Matthews, president, TESMA; Walter Reade, Jr., immediate past president, TOA; J. J. Fitzgibbons, Jr., immediate past president, International Popcorn Association; Raymond Loewy, designer of the machine; Trueman Rembusch, Syndicate Theatres, Franklin, Ind.; and Clark Rhoden, an official of The Popcorn Institute.

Milk Shake Dairy Bar

CHICAGO—Mills Industries, Inc., has introduced the new "Millshake" machine, an automatic milk shake dairy bar. It is claimed that the machine simplifies and speeds up the making of shakes and malts. The Millshake combines the product supply in a refrigerated 10-gallon mix container, flavors in built-in refrigerated pumps, freezing, and blending units.

Walter St. Clair, Indianapolis, left, veteran distributor, Cretors popcorn machines, recently handed a check for $500 to James S. Ackron, manager, Ritz, Tipton, Ind., grand prize winner in a nation-wide contest. In the background is seen the new Cretors popcorn machine designed by Raymond Loewy, which Ackron named the Cretors "Ambassador."

The confectionery industry recently received a tremendous boost on a television program over the CBS Chicago outlet, WBBM-TV. The title of the program was "Choose Your Career," with three high school students questioning the panel on the opportunities in the candy industry for young people. The panel consisted of W. H. Kelly, vice-president, Bunte Chase Candy Company; John Cummings, vice-president, Cracker Jack Company; Phil Schnering, executive vice-president, Curtis Candy Company; and Herman Schmidt, sales promotional manager, Cook Chocolate Company.

These are typical comments made by theater people when they hear about Manley's BIG trade-in offer.

They're all wrong. Manley is simply offering a special incentive to theater concession operators, as a part of their program to prove that a new modern popcorn machine will mean greater sales and greater profits. That's why Manley is offering exceptional trade-in allowances on old model machines. Manley knows that a modern, up-to-date Super Stadium popcorn machine will pay for itself in a short period of time. Why? Because you get better popcorn, greater popping volume, more repeat sales, use less supplies, handle big crowds faster and easier . . . all these things mean just one thing to you . . . more profit!

Self-Service Stand Aids Balcony Sales

WINDSOR, ONTARIO—E. C. Lamoureux, manager, Famous Players' Palace, recently installed a small self-serve candy and popcorn bar on the mezzanine of his theatre.

His ticket taking aide keeps a look out so that the "honor system" is carried out and the set-up is a wonderful convenience for balcony patrons as they are able to obtain extra profit items which ordinarily they would have to purchase on the main floor. The mezzanine bar, however, has not decreased sales in the main bar.

Any exhibitor with a similar balcony set up might find it additionally profitable to install a set up similar to that created by Lamoureux.

NCA Sets '55 Convention

CHICAGO—Charles F. Scully, president, Williamson Candy Company, will be general chairman of the National Confectioners' Association convention and exposition to be held June 5-9 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The exposition, which it is hoped will fill both the main and north exhibition halls, is being headed again by David P. O'Connor, Penick and Ford, Ltd., Inc. O'Connor reports keen interest in the show.

Chairman Scully has served as program chairman of previous NCA conventions, was chairman of one of the NCA Wartime Conferences, and has served as NCA vice-president.

Eifert Mourned

CHICAGO—Harold A. Eifert, head, Dunbar and Company, popcorn machinery manufacturing firm, died recently in Chicago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Eifert, and a sister and nephew. He was a veteran member of the popcorn industry and a long time member of the International Popcorn Association.

At the memorial services in Chicago, the International Popcorn Association was represented by Thomas J. Sullivan, executive vice-president. In lieu of a floral expression of sympathy, a donation was sent to Eifert's favorite charity.

J. J. Fitzgibbons, Jr., Theatre Confections Limited, Toronto, Canada, retiring president, International Popcorn Association, and new chairman, IPA board of directors, recently accepted a framed "certificate of recognition" from Samuel B. Shapiro, treasurer, American Trade Association Executives, Washington. The award was presented to IPA for a prize-winning entry in the annual ATAE National Awards contest among over 1,500 trade associations in the U.S. and Canada.

Trade Group Honors IPA For "Ingenuity"

WASHINGTON—American Trade Association Executives, an international trade association representing in excess of 1,400 trade organization groups throughout the U.S. and Canada, conferred a Certificate of Recognition upon International Popcorn Association during its recent convention. Samuel B. Shapiro, manager, Linen Supply Association of America, Chicago, and treasurer, ATAE, presented the framed award to IPA chairman, J. J. Fitzgibbons, Jr.

The honor was presented based upon an entry in the annual ATAE awards contest, sponsored by the trade group. Fitzgibbons and Thomas J. Sullivan, IPA executive vice-president, prepared the prize winning entry by telling the story of the organization of International Popcorn Association by the Popcorn Industry Organizing Committee two years ago. It detailed the formulation of the seven-segment organization, which became the successor to National Association of Popcorn Manufacturers.

Lauding the work of the committee members who made up the popcorn industry organizing group and the officers and directors of NAPM and IPA, Shapiro stated, "This award pays tribute to the ingenuity of those pioneers of your industry whose broad foresight gave birth to IPA. It also marks a great service to an industry which is often referred to as America's fastest growing. I predict that the popcorn industry will prosper and flourish beyond the imagination of any of its present day members and that IPA, with its unique seven-segment representation, will serve it well and be its most valuable asset."

Jacksonville

The suburban Edgewood, managed by Hal Stanton, is normally a second-run CinemaScope house, but it has entered the first-run field recently on two occasions with the United Artists releases of "Gilbert and Sullivan" and "The Thief" which had not been shown before locally.

The town had one of its largest crowds of the year when thousands of visitors, including many from Texas and Alabama, came to see the Auburn-Baylor football game on New Year's Eve in the Gator Bowl annual classic. This became theatrical news when seven exhibitors produced midnight shows to attract free-spenders after the game. These were Bob Skaggs at the Florida; George Krevo, Palace; and Sheldon Mandell, St. Johns, all managers of first-run downtown houses. Midnighting suburbanites were Al Hildred, San Marco; Bob Anderson, Southside Drive-In; Joe Charles, Capitol; and Carl Carter, Ribault Drive-In. The latter kept his outdoor open all night.

Temporary victims of the flu were Mrs. Lillian Parker, Brentwood manager; Jim McClellan, Edgewood assistant; and Mrs. Marye Sisson, Roy Smith Company, Tampa, Fla. . . . Jack Weiner, MGM's roving publicity manager, was reported in better condition a week after he suffered a lung puncture in a highway wreck. His work was being carried on by Judson Moses, MGM district office in Atlanta. . . . The birth of Bill Baskin's new daughter resulted in a wide distribution of cigars to friends of the Florida State Theatres booker.

The Murray Hill was being converted to CinemaScope by owner Cecil Cohen. Manager Joe Charles, Capitol, said that his theatre would also be so equipped.

L. D. Netter, Sr., FST president, and Mrs. Netter visited in Miami, Fla., during the year-end holidays. . . . Hal Stanton, Edgewood manager, went by plane to his former home in Fort Pierce, Fla. . . . FST advertising worker Mrs. Ernestine Noah visited friends in Tennessee. . . . Returning from vacation was Miss Marjorie Edenfield of the MGM office. . . . Another returnee was R. Cam Price, RKO branch manager, who spent several days in Birmingham. . . . Rube Joiner, former RKO booker here, was a caller from Atlanta where he now lives. . . . Bob Daugherty and Carl Floyd, Floyd Theatres, Haines City, Fla., were here on a booking and buying trip. . . . Lynn Goodyear, manager, Empire, Daytona Beach, Fla., visited the FST advertising office.

Manager of the reopened Fourth Street Drive-In, St. Petersburg, Fla., is Ezra Kimbrell. . . . Mrs. Evelyn Faris, who managed the recently closed Garden, Tampa, Fla., is now managing the Springs.

Plans were being made by Leonard Allen, Paramount publicist from Atlanta, for a special screening of "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" on the hanger deck of the navy's large aircraft carrier, Intrepid, moored at the nearby Mayport Turning Basin, in cooperation with Robert Heekin and French B. Harvey, FST executives. Contingent upon changes of plans by navy officials, the filming was set for Jan. 6, with invitations to be issued to community leaders, newspapermen, and radio and TV news casters. . . . Ken Laird, southeastern district manager, Buena Vista, was planning to move his offices from this city to Atlanta. Harvey Reinstein was to remain here as the Buena Vista salesman for Florida. . . . Bob Mullis, owner of theatres in Cedar Key and Gulf Hammock, Fla., called at the MGM office. . . . Mrs. Adeline Gathrop has reopened her Linda Drive-In at Palatka, Fla. with a new concession stand. . . . Walt Woodward, Wil-Kin Theatre Supply salesman, Miami, Fla., was here on business.

The suburban Capitol, managed by Joe Charles, ran advance newspaper ads announcing a change to CinemaScope pictures. . . . Without an advance in prices, the Ribault Drive-In of Carl Carter presented an added attraction of Bill Forkum, in person, being dynamited from a small coffin enclosure. . . . Horace Denning, Atlantic Drive-In, had a pre-Christmas Santa Claus who provided all children with free favors. . . . Drive-In screens were dark on Christmas eve to give employees an extra holiday. . . . A film festival of the best pictures of 1954 was booked at the Edgewood, managed by Hal Stanton, during December.

Orphans of the city were treated to a free party with a live Santa Claus and a special showing prior to the first-run of "Hansel And Gretel" at the Palace. Hosts were manager George Krevo and newsmen of The Florida Times-Union, morning newspaper.

French B. Harvey, former Daytona Beach, Fla., city manager for Florida State Theatres, who has been advanced to an executive post in advertising and publicity in the FST home office here, was recently inducted into the city's Advertising Club. . . . Ed Sheil, formerly of the FST accounting staff, is now managing the FST candy and popcorn warehouse. . . . Visiting friends in the city was Adeline Gathrop, owner, Linda Drive-In, Palatka, Fla.

Bob Daugherty, Floyd Theatres general manager, was in from Haines City, Fla. . . . Another visitor was Byron Adams, UA district manager in Atlanta. . . . Rainy and cold nights have recently hampered drive-in operations in north Florida. . . . Whitney Lindsey, Roy Smith Company, was a victim of pleurisy for several days. . . . Jim Hussey and Fred Adams, Pine Hills Drive-In, made a donation to an Orlando, Fla., charity out of boxoffice receipts.

James L. Cartwright, FST district supervisor, Daytona Beach, Fla., and Robert Heekin, local FST supervisor, announced a number of exploitation activities of theatre managers in the north-east Florida section during the fourth week of an annual Managers Opportunity Drive. Among the activities were Lorraine Jackson, Victoria, New Smyrna Beach, Fla., held a teen-age jamboree for holidaying students; Joe Gatrell, Colony, Winter Park, Fla., had a store record display prior to the opening of "The Glenn Miller Story"; Tim Crawford, Rialto, Orlando, Fla., had a decorated lobby, an animated Santa Claus, and Christmas motifs at the candy counter; Herb Roller, Ritz, Sanford, Fla., presented the Duxbury School of Dancers in a half-hour stage show, along with the Seminole High School Glee Club; Joe Charles, Capitol, had a miniature display in his very small lobby which consisted of a doll in a bed advertising "Susan Slept Here"; Lillian Parker, Brentwood, had a "name the star" contest in the lobby with passes going to winning guessers; Joe Fleischel, Athens, DeLand, Fla., tied-in with Ford and Mercury dealers for a joint theatre and auto advertising stunt in front of the theatre; Norris McCullum, Matanzas, St. Augustine, Fla., had a peep box in his lobby, and inside was a blowup of Eva Gabor as the slave girl in "Captain Kidd And The Slave Girl"; Lynn Goodyear, Empire, Daytona Beach, Fla., tied-in with a bank for a "cartoon-a-scope" children's matinee with 12 cartoons; Bob Skaggs, Florida, prior to his first-run of "Desiree," sent promotional night letters to 100 local business leaders.

James Frazier was assigned as assistant, Town, replacing Everett Walshon, who resigned to join the Miami Beach, Fla., police force.

Joe Panosetti, also known as Joe Pano, walked into police headquarters and confessed he had stolen $1,500 from the Coral, by rifling the petty cash box, padding payrolls, and charging personal bills. Harry Botwick, general manager, Florida State Theatres, said the company would not prosecute as there was no conclusive proof that Panosetti stole the money from the theatre where he was employed, as he claimed.

In Tampa, Fla., the 20th Century, Auto Park, 40th Street, and Floriland

Drive-Ins advertised a free Christmas party for all patrons, with gifts for all children under 12, appearance of "Santa Claus" at all theatres, and at the 20th-Century Drive-In, free candid photos of children up to five years of age. All four houses were closed for the two days preceding Christmas and reopened Christmas Day.

Managerial shifts include Carl Jamroga, from relief manager to be house manager, Miracle, Coral Gables, Fla.; Mel Haber, from house manager, Miracle, to be assistant, Carib, Miami Beach, Fla.; Harry Kronewitz, from assistant, Carib, to be relief manager for the Wometco first-run houses and to assist in publicity and exploitation of first-run attractions.

Harry McCabe, is new in the Wometco main office, replacing Charles Ross, who resigned to take a position in Hollywood, Fla.

Louisiana Shreveport

One of the biggest theatre deals here in several years was transacted with the sale of the last four theatres of the Don George Chain for a sum "in excess of a half-million dollars." They were purchased by Thomas L. McElroy, president, McElroy Theatres, and O. D. Harrison, local hotel operator and head of a wholesale tobacco company. The theatres are the Don; Venus; Davis, Bossier City, La.; and the Don Drive-In, Bossier City. "I have been in the theatre business for a long time and hate to leave it," George said, "but other interests have become too demanding of my time." He is president, Interim Television Corporation. While McElroy will operate the new theatres, Harrison, his partner, will own the real estate.

Mississippi Oxford

Jessie Franklin Adams, owner and operator, Rebel Drive-In, died recently from a heart attack. He was 72. Universal-International is handling area distribution for "This Is Your Army," Technicolor feature produced by Movietone News in cooperation with the U. S. Army, and which the Army is interested in having played in as many theatres as possible. Area exhibitors are cooperating in setting playdates.

Cleveland

The Ohio Censor Board has dropped its case against the local Group 16, charged with showing uncensored films. Since the suit was filed in the local courts, state censorship has been abolished by a ruling of the State Supreme Court.

Sam Fritz, manager, Hilliard Square, plucked a second daughter from his Christmas tree. The 7 pound 2 ounce young lady named Vicky Anne checked in at Lakeside Hospital. Santa Claus also brought a surprise present to Mary Lou Weaver, secretary to Warners branch manager Ernie Sands, when her son, Sgt. Forrest Weaver, brought home a brand new wife. After a short visit the newlyweds departed to report at the air force headquarters in Salina, Kans.

I. J. Schmertz, 20th-Fox branch manager, flew to Miami to spend the holiday with his wife and family who preceded him.

Ernest Sands, Warners branch manager, was in Florida completing his convalescence from surgery. He planned to be back in his office after Jan. 10. . . . Arthur Ehrlich, who retired from the movie business after more than 25 years, is back in it. He has joined the newly opened Buena Vista exchange as booker. . . . Jerry Lipow, Paramount salesman, was in Buffalo on a pleasure jaunt.

Imperial Pictures, which recently suffered the loss of its owner, Bernie Rubin, will continue operation under the same policy with Mrs. Bernie Rubin as head, in partnership with Alfred A. Sunshine. Sunshine, who will also continue his well established Advanads business of manufacturing coming attraction cards, takes over the product buying and sales. Mrs. Rubin will assume office responsibilities. Imperial Pictures, the only local independant state rights distributor, holds most of the leading independent franchises including Filmakers, Lippert, Distributors Corporation of America.

George Manos, who is adding a new drive-in in Cochocton, O., to his circuit of both conventional and outdoor theatres, has contracted with Selby Industries, Akron, O., for an all-steel CinemaScope tower which will have a 44 foot by 100 foot curved, tilted surface of the new Selby triangular truss construction.

Jack K. Vogel, Wellsville, O., architectural engineer, who has specialized in drive-in construction in both North and South America, is doing a $75,000 remodeling job for Harry Good and Robert Gump's Dayton Drive-In, Dayton, O. Major improvement is construction of a new modern concession building, increasing the screen size, and adding three more ramps. A patio will be flanked by two all-year-round air conditioned 125 indoor seating areas, providing a total of 250 indoor seats. The functional, modernistic design used throughout provides for smooth flow of traffic from the ramp area to either the concession, rest rooms, indoor seating areas, or the patio. Traffic provision is also made direct from the rest rooms to the patio. Aluminum full glassed doors are provided for all front entrances. The three new additional ramps as well as additions to the present ramps will feature a new ramp control system and 200 in-car heaters for contemplated year-round operation.

Irving Field is giving up his lease on the Cortland, Cortland, O., to devote all of his time to the manufacture and sale of a new lens which he developed. According to Field, this is a variable ratio anamorphic lens which adapts a regular 2-D lens to anamorphic print projection without any additional attachments. The lens is ground to Field's original optical formula and has the advantage of giving superior light and depth of focus. Field also claims that it is easier to operate than any present existing lens on the market and is low in cost.

John Oliver, Paramount booker, resigned to move to Florida and into a new business. Sam Wyman succeeds him at Paramount. . . . All of the exchanges celebrated the holidays with affairs in the downtown hotels and restaurants. . . . Paul Gusdanovic, head, Gusdanovic Circuit, and his wife left to spend the rest of the winter in Florida. . . . M. B. Horwitz, general chairman, I. J. Schmertz 50th anniversary testimonial dinner on Jan. 17 in the Hollenden Hotel, is getting enthusiastic acceptances from film men from all parts of the country, with all indications pointing to an unprecedented attendance. . . . Leroy Kendis, Associated Circuit, and Mrs. Kendis are enjoying a vacation on the west coast.

Albert "Happy" Hoak who used to be assistant manager and treasurer at B. F. Keith's Toledo under Joseph Pearlstein, was recently honored by Lucas County officials for 22 years service as a deputy treasurer. He was one of 20 men with 20 or more years service in the county treasurer's office who received a gold emblem.

Detroit

Boris Bernardi, who was for a long time manager, Roosevelt, and ad man for Wisper-Westman Theatres, was in town. Bernardi is now company manager for "Oklahoma!" National Company, which was at the Shubert Lafayette. The Nedelanders who own the Shubert announced plans for operation of their newly acquired Riviera. Boston
Crosstown

Two major films from different companies are to have their world premieres in this city on the same day. On Jan. 19, "Gangbusters," the Terry Turner action film distributed by Joseph Levine, Embassy Pictures, will open at the Paramount and Fenway, while U-I's "Six Bridges To Cross," partially filmed in Boston, will open at the Keith Memorial. Both films are using a strong radio and TV saturation campaign and both have amassed a large number of territorial bookings. "Gangbusters" has 300 bookings in New England at this writing, while the other film has chalked up 135.

Anthony J. "Tony" Zinn has been appointed manager, Beacon Hill, by owner Benjamin Sack, replacing Sam Richmond, who resigned. Zinn has spent his entire industry career with RKO Theatres. He started 26 years ago as assistant manager and treasurer, RKO Boston, and when that theatre was taken over by the Cinerama interests, he transferred to the RKO Memorial in the same capacity under Ben Domingo, managing director. In 1943, he married the assistant treasurer at the Boston, Camille Carpenter, and the couple now live in Somerville, Mass. As manager of the Beacon Hill, he has as his assistant Harry Harding, who has been with the house for two years.

Recent visitors to Florida for vacation periods were Michael Redstone, Philip Smith, Maurice "Fishy" Green, Samuel Richmond, and Edward Lider, the latter spending two weeks visiting his father-in-law, Nathan Yamins, at his Palm Beach winter residence.

Arnold Berger, district manager for drive-ins for Philip Smith, Smith Management Company, has resigned to operate his own business interests, including a drive-in in Stamford, Conn. No replacement will be made as his duties will be divided among other members of the Smith staff.

Lockwood and Gordon Enterprises, in association with Sam Rosen, New Haven, has acquired the drive-in site on River Street, Bridgeport, Conn., from Seymour Levine for an open air theatre. This site is the only one in the city limits with the nearest open airer in Milford, eight miles away, where E. M. Loew operates one. Charles Abramowitz is drawing plans for the L and G ozoner, which, when ready for an early summer opening, will mark the 12th drive-in under the Lockwood and Gordon banner.

The Alston, Allston, Mass., closed for the past three years, has been sold by American Theatres Corporation to R. W. Mann, owner of the store property next door, who has started tearing down the building for a parking lot. . . . Eddie

Klein, head, Bay State Films, is in Massachusetts Memorial Hospital for a serious operation. . . . Leslie Bendlev, Community Playhouse, Wellesley, Mass., and his wife are on their annual winter cruise vacation to warmer climes of which they never tire.

Eliminations announced by the Bureau of Sunday Censorship included "Fountains of Rome," part 1, (Deletions: eliminate scene showing statue of man with sex organ exposed, in part 1.) (IFE). "Theodora," parts 1 to 11, (Deletion: cut to flash all scenes showing Theodora's bare abdomen during dance; in part 2, cut to flash scene showing Theodora in scant costume at head of hayloft stairs; in part 2, cut to flash scene showing Justinian bending over Theodora in scant costume on hayloft floor; in part 2, eliminate scene showing Archal with his head on Theodora's breast; in part 6, eliminate dialogue, "Perhaps you would like me to walk around naked," to and including, "I'll have to find someone else to feed it," in part 9). (IFE).

"Vera Cruz," parts 1 to 11 (Deletions: eliminate dialogue, "We'll I'll be a dirty son of a——," in part 2; cut to flash struggle on ground between Pittsburg and Nina, in part 3). (United Artists).

Film District

Division manager Irving Saver, Alexander Film Company, and his wife are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter Wendy Ellen, at Richardson House.

Ernest Comi and his wife celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a delightful surprise party for 35 guests arranged by their daughter, Joyce, and their son, Ernest, Jr. The senior Comi is general manager, Capitol Theatre Supply Company. This equipment house in one week installed five theatres for CinemaScope optical equipment. They are the Park, East Jaffrey, N. H., for Mario Dedo; the Johnston, Johnston, R. I., for Mario Votolato; the Orpheum, Foxboro, Mass., for Francis Perry; the Center, Jamaica Plain, Mass., for Jack Saranga; and the Wilbur, Eastport, Me., for Mrs. Marjorie Nutt.

New Haven
Crosstown

New manager of the Whitney, Hamden, Conn., is Bernie Goffin, who has been manager, Crown. Goffin fills the vacancy made when Truman Ferguson passed away. . . . Visiting Paramount manager Jim Darby over the New Year's weekend, was his brother "Dick" Darby and wife. . . . Congratulations will be in order on Jan. 31 when Paramount assistant manager Walt Wilson will be celebrating his second wedding anniversary.

Morris Moriarty, Paramount projectionist, left for the southlands. He stopped off in Virginia to visit with his daughter and then proceeded along to Florida. . . . Henry Cohn, Dixwell, was quite busy over the holiday period. In addition to two large sponsored kiddies shows, which involved 4,000 kiddies, paid for by the New Haven Savings Bank and Bill Murphy, assistant manager, Allyn, Hartford, Conn., recently greeted local Boy Scouts, who appear in Exploitation Productions Incorporated's "Jamboree," prior to a local showing. In a tieup with the scouts, 25,000 heralds on the film were distributed.

Meadow Street

In addition to making a play for the New Year's Eve business, theatres throughout the state also had programs appealing to the younger trade. Matinées for children were scheduled for Dec. 31 with special gimmicks being used to draw the kiddies trade. Stanley Warner houses had "Kartoon Scope Shows" with cartoons. In some SW theatres, pencil boxes were given. Among SW houses which sponsored the "Kartoon Scope Shows" were Empress, Danbury; State, Waterbury; Commodore Hull, Derby; Capitol, Ansonia; State, Manchester; Roger Sherman, New Haven; Cameo, Bristol; Palace, Norwalk. . . . Other kiddies shows were held at the Strand, Winsted; and Arch Street, New Britain.

Doug Amos, district manager, Webb, Wethersfield, Norwalk Drive-In, and other theatres, flew to Puerto Rico for a vacation trip. . . . Sheldon Tromberg, who recently took some training at Republic, has been transferred to the

Lou Cohen and Norm Levinson, Loew's Poli, Hartford, Conn., recently had this modern juke box on display in the lobby as advance bally for MGM's "Deep In My Heart."

As part of a recent extensive promotional campaign on MGM's "Beau Brummell," Loew's State, Providence, R. I., manager William J. Trambukis, arranged a stunt which featured the presentation of a "Beau Brummell" statuette to William P. Gorman, general manager, Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel, on the popular "Breakfast At The Sheraton" live television show, which is telecast over WJAR-TV. Left to right are Johnny King, m.c. of the show; Gorman; Trambukis; and Nancy Dixon, star of the program.

Philadelphia Republic branch where he's now student salesman. . . . Crown, Hartford, Conn., is reported closed. . . . New student trainee at United Artists is Gilbert Ellis, from New York. . . . His dad is also in the movie business.

John Thompson is the free lance exploitation representative who did a splendid job of ballyhoo assistance for "Vera Cruz," when the United Artists production was in Bridgeport, Conn., and New Haven. . . . Charles Lane is progressing with his plans for a twin drive-in on the Branford Road. . . . Carberry, Bristol; Luxor, Unionville; and Mayfair, Terryville, all in Connecticut, are now equipped for Cinema-Scope. . . . Strand, New Britain, Conn., is continuing to get good exploitation cooperation from Birnbaum's store. . . . Large display advertisement in newspaper and lobby of the new Magnavox television brought bally for "Young at Heart." . . . Mara Corday, actress, was in New Haven to publicize Universal-International's "So This Is Paris." Alex Schimel, U-I branch manager, arranged a press, radio, and TV luncheon for the star at Kayseys and the result was plenty of publicity for the film.

Robert Taylor was due in for the local premiere of MGM's "Many Rivers To Cross," Loew's Poli. He will also visit Boston and other New England cities for personal appearances and help exhibitors participate in "MGM's 1955 Motion Picture Theatre Celebration."

This huge reproduction of the famous novel by Thomas B. Costain was used recently in the lobby of the Metropolitan, Boston, in advance of Warners' "The Silver Chalice."

Circuits Loew Poli

Plans were being made for the world premiere of "Many Rivers To Cross" at the Loew's Poli on Jan. 26. An elaborate two day program is being set up with one of the highlights being the appearance of Robert Taylor at the Poli in a ceremony in conjunction with Winchester's. . . . The First National Bank and Trust Company took possession of the Bijou Theatre Building in the sale involving $200,000. . . . In Meriden, Conn., Tony Masella arranged with The Meriden Record to have a first baby of 1955 contest and received a full page display in the paper publicizing "Desiree."

Connecticut Bradford

Charles Lane, owner, New Haven Drive-In, North Haven, has disclosed plans for a drive-in theatre on a newly-acquired 47-acre tract of land here.

Hartford

George E. Landers, Hartford division manager, E. M. Loew's Theatres, is back from a vacation. John Silverwatch, manager, Hartford Drive-In, Newington, Conn., handled the downtown E. M. Loew's during Landers' absence. . . . State Treasurer Joseph A. Adorno, retiring from the State post, received a silver service set from his staff as a parting gift during a department party at the State Capitol. He is a son of Sal Adorno, Sr., general manager, M and D Theatres, Middletown, Conn.

Lou Cohen, Loew's Poli, wired local newspaper editors, "We're starting off the 1955 season with a bang!" Remainder of telegram listed stars and properties slated for local showings. . . . Mara Corday, star of U-I's "So This Is Paris," met the press at a Statler Hotel luncheon, hosted by Jean DuBarry, Stanley Warner Strand, and Bill Brooker, U-I exploiteer.

Mike Adorno, assistant general manager, M and D Theatres, reopened the Middlesex, Middletown, Conn., following installation of high fidelity sound. . . . Ray McNamara, Allyn, was in Boston on New England Theatres business.

Bernie Menschell and John Calvocoressi, Manchester Drive-In Theatre Corporation, are working on improvements at the Bolton Notch Drive-In, including increasing car capacity from 750 to 1,000. . . . Milt LeRoy, Blue Hills Drive-In Theatre Corporation, heads to Miami, Fla., in February on a brief vacation.

Ray McNamara, Allyn, had an usher paging Bing Crosby in downtown hotel lobbies in conjunction with opening night for Paramount's "White Christmas." For "Three-Ring Circus," McNamara used a similar gag, with an aide this time walking through same lobbies, paging Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. On his back, of course, appeared a film poster.

Norm Levinson, assistant manager, Loew's Poli, goes to Minneapolis as newly-appointed MGM press representative for that exchange territory. He has been with the Poli interests in Connecticut since 1940.

Manchester

Jack Sanson, Strand, Hartford, Conn., manager, who recently checked out of Manchester Memorial Hospital following illness, has returned to his office. He is a Manchester resident. . . . Jean DuBarry, manager, Art, Springfield, Conn., was relief manager.

Rockville

The Interstate Theatres' Palace, managed by Arthur P. Poirier, has installed what is believed to be the first recorded announcements of current attractions outside of metropolitan New York. The equipment, connected to the theatre phone, was installed by the Southern New England Telephone Company, and answers incoming calls automatically and tells patrons what pictures are playing and when the next performance starts.

Southington

P. J. DiFazio, New Britain, Conn., businessman, has started construction of this town's first drive-in a 750-car capacity project. Opening is planned for the spring.

A commendable long-range public relations idea was launched by Arthur Alperin, Colonial, Southington, Conn., when he decided to assist Bristol-Southington Cinerama enthusiasts in arranging a show train trip to "This Is Cinerama" at the RKO Boston, Boston, in February. Persons making the trip will be guests at a subsequent date of Alperin at the Colonial.

Wethersfield

Doug Amos, district manager, Lockwood and Gordon Theatres, visited Bill Daugherty, Webb Playhouse, prior to leaving on a three-week vacation in Puerto Rico.

Winsted

Mrs. Hazel Florian, Lockwood and Gordon Strand, believes in promoting post-shopping hour trade. On evenings when downtown stores are open late, the Strand newspaper ad carries this line, "Tonight, our feature film will be shown at 6:30 and again at 9:30 to

The highlight of a recent meeting of Sentry Lodge B'nai B'rith, was a presentation by George Roberts, president, of a 21-inch television set to the West Roxbury, Mass., Veterans Hospital. window of a local business. . . . The Scenic also sponsored its annual free Christmas show for children.

Meredith

A Christmas party for children was held at the Key here. Only admission required was canned goods for Christmas stockings. The party was sponsored by the American Legion, a local pharmacy, and the theatre.

Nashua

The Daniel Webster offered free coffee and donuts to women shoppers during the Yule season every day. The management also gave a Christmas party for youngsters, with a big screen show, while Santa Claus had gifts for the kiddies. . . . Park recently held a grand opening under new management. The theatre, newly decorated, features CinemaScope, and advertises the lowest prices in Nashua.

Newport

Ersley A. Blanchard, manager, Coniston, received a full column in the local paper after attending the MGM "Ticket-Selling Workshop" in Boston. The story in the local Newport-Lake Sunapee Times, which carried a picture of Blanchard, praised his "alert showmanship" in bringing the latest films to Newport.

Plymouth

Interstate played host to more than 500 youngsters in a special Christmas party. Sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and theatre manager Sherburne Graves, the party featured free candy and ice cream, plus a free movie.

Rochester

Scenic sponsored a free all-cartoon show for the kiddies recently, with tickets obtainable from three local markets.

Rhode Island Providence

Frank M. Gookin, veteran theatre service engineer for RCA in New England, has received a well-deserved promotion. With headquarters at Andrews Air Base, Washington, Gookin will serve in RCA's government operations division as liaison executive between his company and the Air Corps. . . . In reply to good natured criticism aimed at his advertising policies by another theatre operator, Joseph Jarvis, owner-manager, Gilbert Stuart, published a paid newspaper advertisement, stating in part, ". . . we admit our ads are not just a little corny, but all corny. . . . but, truthful salesmanship, and we will go right on telling people all about our little theatre regardless of whether we get new carpets, stage curtain, or a new furnace. . . . right now, it's CinemaScope." Jarvis is outstanding in this area for the type of advertising he runs in local newspapers. He invariably runs a short synopsis of the pictures in his ads, and comments on their value.

A touch of the old west and the spirit of the Christmas season were combined recently in the rolling bally that cruised Manhattan to tip off holiday crowds to the opening of United Artists' "Vera Cruz," Capitol. The stage coach, one of the three that toured New York and key suburban shopping centers, carried a cargo of candy imprinted with details of the film's Broadway premiere. Other stunts included, second from left, a search for America's shapeliest lasses, with $75,000 in prizes as the bait. This was ballyhooed in the Capitol lobby as shown. Grand prize winner will net a $10,000 modeling contract, a trip to Hollywood and the title of 'Miss Exquisite Form'. A juke box was installed in the Capitol lobby and plugged recordings of the title song from the film. Co-star of the film, Denise Darcel, is seen beside the juke box with Harry Greenman, managing director, Capitol. On the right, Miss Darcel is seen signing autographs for fans in the lobby.

Among the 51 Paramount employees recently inducted into the Paramount 25-Year Club at New York home office ceremonies were the above pictured with Barney Balaban, president; Adolph Zukor, board chairman; Austin C. Tent 9 suffered no loss in sharing the profits of Tim Anspach's used-car dealers auction with the Colonie Lions Club. Anspach sold twice as many automobiles at his Albany-Schenectady Road rooms as he did during last year when the Variety Club received about $800 for Camp Thatcher, from the auction. . . . Lions Club officers dined with Variety Club members and attended a regular Tent 9 meeting to discuss the possibility of joint sponsorship of a summer camp for area underprivileged girls.

Ed Wall, Paramount field representative for the Albany and Buffalo exchange areas, made his screen debut in the 20th Century-Fox Filmrow studio, where a 10-minute short of an interview he had recently held with Paramount executive producer Don Hartman, in Hollywood, was shown. It preceded a preview for critics of "The Bridges of Toko-Ri." The filmed outline of company product for the coming months is designed for use on television stations in the areas covered by the Paramount Film Distributing Corp. exploiteers. While it marked Wall's "acting" bow-in, the short was not his first experience with motion picture production. He authored several scenarios, one of which was basis for a Paramount comedy short, "The Football Game," a couple of years back.

The tangled affairs of Larry Cowen, former manager, Proctor's, and veteran Fabian employee, took another turn when his 80-year-old mother filed a grand larceny charge, alleging theft of $6,000 in jewelry. Mrs. Francis Cowen, widow and resident of the Jewish Home for the Aged, Troy, N. Y., since Cowen's disappearance, stated that she turned her jewelry over to him for deposit in a box at the National Commercial Bank in Albany. He "diverted it to his own use," the mother claimed. Cowen disappeared on Sept. 4. Shortly after it was announced that Cowen had taken an indefinite leave of absence. Richard Murphy was transferred to Proctor's as his successor, from the Plaza, Schenectady, N. Y. Cowen, police say has passed a series of worthless checks in towns of eastern New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut.

March of Dimes Drive Kicks Off in Theatres

PHILADELPHIA — This week, Jan. 12-19, has been designated as the theatre collection period for the annual March of Dimes campaign.

Edward Emanuel, chairman, motion picture committee, appeals for an all-out support in the fight against polio, and reminds that the Philadelphia chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., is sponsored by the Variety Club of Philadelphia, Tent 13.

Assistance in taking up the collections and the provision of containers for collections is being handled by Mrs. Bernice Engel, president, Ladies' Auxiliary, Variety Club, and Charles Goldfine, Variety Club. They may be reached at LO 8-0540.

Tremendous strides have been made in conquering polio, and it is hoped that the money raised this year will enable the Foundation to culminate a successful drive against the dreaded disease.

Sunday Movie Vote Stymies High Court

PHILADELPHIA — The State Supreme Court last week asked for additional briefs regarding precedents in an appeal for a bill in equity to throw out the Sunday movies referendum in Hanover Township on Nov. 3, 1953.

The high court directed opposing attorneys during arguments on the appeal to file the additional briefs showing whether an equity suit ever was successfully used to void an election in the State. Justice Charles Alvin Jones said the high court now was being asked in effect to establish a "completely new procedure which would disrupt elections in the future entirely," and which would permit elections to "drag on for months in equity courts."

Attorney for the appellants charged that the York County court erred in dismissing their bill in equity and terming alleged irregularities at all five wards in the township "trivial." The attorneys said the recount conducted by the York County Common Pleas Court, sitting as a recount board, showed "tremendous mistakes" were made in the election which presented an "opportunity for fraud."

Counsel for the election board and and the Hanover Ministerial Association contended it was not proved that the outcome of the election would have been changed were it not for the irregularities. They also said the recount board was forced to certify the original count because the condition of the ballot boxes prevented the establishment of a perfect recount.

The Sunday movie proposal lost in the original count by 18 votes and in the recount by 21 votes. The appellants told the Court that irregularities by the election board included marks on ballots not made by voters, the dividing of the election board into teams to count votes on various issues, the inclusion of 24 ballots picked off the floor of the first ward polling place, the absence of a lock on the third ward ballot box, and the finding of more than 500 fifth ward ballots wrapped in paper outside the ballot box.

MGM: William Zoellner, short subject salesman, is a visitor from the home office. . . . Lucille Ryan, booking department, had a birthday. . . . Cal Bien, salesman, New Orleans, visited the exchange over the holidays.

Delaware Wilmington

City Council approved the ordinance cutting in half the Wilmington license fee of $600 paid by motion picture theatres when the measure was presented for its final reading by Pierce V. Marvel, Republican, although Paul G. Donohue, Democrat, voted no. The new license will cost $300 for houses with up to 750 seats, while for cinemas with more than 750 seats there will be a 10-cent charge for each additional chair per year. Theatres paid a $300 annual city license fee before January, 1947, when the fees for all businesses in the city were doubled. The new fee bill will now be submitted to Mayor August F. Walz, whose approval is necessary before it becomes effective. . . . The photo products plant and laboratory of the Du Pont Company in Parlin, N. J., paid out $1,712,831 in purchases of materials and services and $8,389,128 in payroll during 1953, according to an announcement by the firm.

ESTIMATE: Okeh programmer for the duallers.

CAST: Richard Denning, Virginia Grey, Kathleen Crowley, Richard Reeves, Robert Roark, Mort Marshall, Arthur Space, Steve Pendleton, Whit Bissell, House Peters, Jr. Produced by Herman Cohen; directed by Sherman A. Rose.

STORY: Kathleen Crowley awakens after a deep sleep induced by a large dose of sleeping pills to find the entire city deserted with only a body or two around. Frantically, she seeks anyone, finally meeting Richard Deeming, who was also incapacitated when the city was evacuated. They come upon another couple, Virginia Grey and Richard Reeves, still celebrating in a cafe from the night before and the four take refuge in a hotel from mysterious robots patrolling the streets. A psychopathic killer, Robert Roark, joins them and dominates them at gun point. Army officers and scientists are seeking a means to destroy the robots without leveling the city with atomic weapons. Roark plans to escape with Crowley and tries to force the others to decoy the robots away but is forced to shoot Grey and wound Reeves, who kills him. They flee to the roof, followed by a robot which kills Reeves, with Denning and Crowley saved in time by an electronic counter-weapon which renders the mechanical men inactive.

X-RAY: A different story which is fairly interesting and which starts out highly promising but then goes formula, plus capable characterizations by the cast and average direction and production, put this in the average programmer class. ## PARAMOUNT

The Bridges At Toko-Ri (5405) DRAMA
103M.
(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Well-made, interesting entry.

CAST: William Holden, Grace Kelly, Frederic March, Mickey Rooney, Robert Strauss, Charles McGraw, Keiko Awaji, Earl Holliman, Richard Shannon, Willis B. Bouchee, Nadene Ashdown, Cheryl Lynn Callaway. Produced by William Perlberg and George Seaton; directed by Mark Robson.

STORY: Lieutenant William Holden, navy pilot, returns from a mission but is forced to abandon his plane before he can reach the aircraft carrier. He is rescued by helicopter pilot Mickey Rooney and his assistant, Earl Holliman. Admiral Frederic March is concerned over the safety of Holden, who reminds him of his two sons whom he lost during the war. When the ship reaches Japan, Holden finds his wife, Grace Kelly, and two youngsters waiting for him. Their first evening together is interrupted by a call to rescue Rooney who has been jailed for brawling. March meets Kelly and explains what the future may hold and how she can best carry on should something happen to Holden. The holiday over, duty takes him and Commander Charles McGraw on a reconnaissance mission over the important bridges of Toko-Ri which they come through safely. The next day the bridges are bombed, but at the secondary target, Holden's ship is hit. Rooney lands in a helicopter and Communist fire kills Holliman and destroys the ship. By this time it's too dark to attempt further rescue, and Rooney and Holden hold as long as possible but are eventually killed. March receives the intelligence reports which tell the story.

X-RAY: There are a number of scenes to be found here that are touching, others that are filled with action and suspense, and still others that are highly dramatic, all of which when coupled with highly capable performances and penetrating direction by Mark Robson results in a superior film worthy of better boxoffice returns. Perhaps there will be some who will claim that the unhappy ending is too realistic or that some of the theorizing is distracting or that the story is slim, while still others will state that movies have grown up and become more adult because of the realism injected at the end, and that the feature has gained in stature because it has followed the best selling book by James A. Michener faithfully. Whatever the stand, the end result is better entertainment. The screen play is by Valentine Davies.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates.

AD LINES: "Tomorrow The Deadliest Mission . . . Tonight The Greatest Love"; "A Thrilling Best-Seller Brought To The Screen Faithfully Makes For Wonderful Entertainment"; "A Top Cast In A Top Book . . . It's Unforgettable Entertainment."

The Americano (509) OUTDOOR MELODRAMA 85M.

(Filmed in Brazil)
(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Satisfactory outdoor action meller.

CAST: Glenn Ford, Frank Lovejoy, Cesar Romero, Ursula Theiss, Abbe Lane, Rodolfo Hoyos, Jr., Salvador Banguet, Tom Powers, Dan White, Frank Marlowe. Executive producer Sam Weisenthal; producer, Robert Stillman; director, William Castle.

STORY: Texas cowboy Glenn Ford arrives in Brazil with three prize Brahma bulls for delivery to a rancher for $25,000, which he and his brother are to use to buy a ranch of their own in Texas. He learns from Cesar Romero that the rancher has been killed and hires Romero to guide him to the ranch. Their journey is interrupted by Ursula Theiss and several cowboys feuding with the dead rancher's partner and head foreman Frank Lovejoy. They help him deliver the bulls while Romero disappears. Lovejoy asks Ford to remain and help build up the ranch and its cattle, but he heads for home, is waylaid and robbed. He returns to the ranch until he can receive his money, the theft of which is blamed on Romero, a famous bandit. Lovejoy's foreman, Rodolfo Hoyos, kills Theiss' foreman. Ford is captured by Romero's men and learns Lovejoy ordered him robbed from Abbe Lane, girl friend of Romero. Ford falls in love with Theiss. When Lovejoy's men raid another small landowner, Ford takes sides against him after getting his money back. With Romero's help, he captures Hoyos and persuades him to confess all to the police. They go after Lovejoy who takes refuge in the jungle where he and Ford shoot it out with the American emerging victorious.

X-RAY: Containing lots of action and intrigue plus unusual backgrounds and costumes, settings, etc., to be found in Brazil, colorful scenery properly recorded in color by Technicolor, an unusual plot twist, and efficient performances by the cast, this entry shapes up as good melodramatic fare. There is a sexy dance scene by Abbe Lane as well as a song, "The Americano." Direction and production are in the better category. The screen play is by Guy Trosper based on an original story by Leslie T. White.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher program rates.

AD LINES: "He Had A Way With Cattle and Women . . . This Grim Americano"; "When A Texas Cowboy Swings Into Action In Brazil . . . Watch Out"; "An Exciting Tale Of Adventure Filmed In Brazil In Technicolor."

Quest For The Lost City (60M.) DOCUMENTARY 60M.

(Made in Guatemala)
(Color)

ESTIMATE: Interesting documentary.

CREDITS: Introduction by Tom Harmon; produced by Dorothy Howell; narrated by Hal Gibney; featured and starred are Dana and Ginger Lamb; presented by Sol Lesser.

STORY: Here is told the story of two adventurous individuals, Dana Lamb and his wife, Ginger, who seek a lost city buried deep in the jungles that lie on the Mexican-Guatemalan border. With a minimum of cash, they decide to walk down the coast of Mexico, but an opportunity to buy an old model T Ford for very little cash switches their mode of transportation. They put together a plane with bits and pieces and use that to explore the country from the air. Spotting their objective, they go in by foot, and living under primitive conditions and meeting with savages from the prehistoric past, they finally arrive at the ruins of what once was a proud city in the Mayan civilization.

X-RAY: Based on the book of the same name by the two adventurers, this entry is exciting and highly interesting and should entertain audiences with its ingenuity, little photographed objects, scenery, and animals. The two "stars" are resourceful and their existence amid jungle settings is a thrilling experience. It should make a fairly good addition to the program. The narration is written by Dorothy Howell.

TIP ON BIDDING: Low bracket.

AD LINES: "A Man And A Woman Battle Against The Jungle In High Adventure"; "Thrill To Discoveries Never Seen Before"; "A Lost City Of The Incas Draws An Adventurous Couple Onward . . . Ever Onward."

20TH-FOX

The Other Woman (430) DRAMA 81M.

ESTIMATE: Okeh programmer for the duallers.

CAST: Hugo Haas, Cleo Moore, Lance Fuller, Lucille Barkley, Jack Macy, John Qualen, Jan Arvan, Carolee Kelly, Steve Mitchell, Mark Lowell, Melinda Markey. Written, produced, and directed by Hugo Haas.

STORY: On the set of a Hollywood production, director Hugo Haas, needing a girl to say a few lines in a hurry, agrees to let model Cleo Moore, on the set, take a crack at it. He isn't satisfied and lets her go whereupon she vows to get even. She lures him to her apartment following a party and feeds him a drugged drink, making sure that her boy friend, Lance Fuller, is on hand to see him awaken. She tries to blackmail him, claiming he got her pregnant, and she threatens to tell his wife and father-in-law, head of the studio. He establishes an alibi with his secretary, sneaks out another exit, and, in a fit of rage, strangles her. The crime is at first blamed on peddler John Qualen but conscience causes Haas to confess.

X-RAY: There's enough intrigue, sex, and drama to put this in the fair program category with adult audiences getting the most out of this. Performances are average, direction and production are okeh with the story fairly interesting throughout. National Legion of Decency: "B."

TIP ON BIDDING: Program price.

AD LINES: "A Bold, Daring Drama About 'The Other Woman'"; "She Had A Way With Men . . . Any Men"; "He Knew She Meant Trouble Yet He Couldn't Resist Her."

Prince Of Players (102M.) BIOGRAPHICAL DRAMA 102M.

(CinemaScope)
(Color by Deluxe)

ESTIMATE: Quality drama calls for special selling.

CAST: Richard Burton, Maggie McNamara, John Derek, Raymond Massey, Charles Bickford, Elizabeth Sellars, Eva Le Gallienne, Christopher Cook, Dayton Lummis, Ian Keith, Paul Stader, Louis Alexander, William Walker, Jack Raine, Charles Cane, Betty Flint, Mae Marsh. Produced and directed by Philip Dunne.

STORY: In 1848, Raymond Massey as Junius Brutus Booth is billed as "America's Greatest Actor," but mental disturbances and the urge to drink interfere. His career is kept alive through the efforts of his 11-year-old son, who learns his Shakespeare beneath the stages of various theatres. They return home where another son and daughter keep house. Nine years later, Massey can act no longer and retires despite urgings of tour manager Charles Bickford that he continue. Son Richard Burton takes over, completes the tour amid much acclaim. He also assumes that he has a touch of his father's madness until he meets actress Maggie McNamara. They get married and he is inspired to better acting and a more settled existence. His brother, John Derek, jealous of Burton's success, joins the southern rabble rousers yelling for war. Burton is a success in England, but pregnant McNamara has tuberculosis. Their daughter is born in London as the Civil War breaks out. Derek serves as a spy for the south. They return and McNamara is ordered to a cold, dry climate. Burton returns to drinking. McNamara tries to go to him but collapses and dies. He remains to visit her grave daily, straightens out, and returns to acting. The war is over and as President Lincoln watches a play in Ford's Theatre, Derek shoots him. He leaps to the stage, breaks his ankle, but manages to escape. Trapped in a barn, a gun shot wound is fatal as the barn is burned. Burton is urged not to appear at a scheduled performance since the crowd is in an ugly mood, but he appears on stage and sits out their wrath which turns to admiration and then cheers.

X-RAY: It's a little difficult to visualize average audiences appreciating this properly unless their love for Shakespeare and the drama of the stage is strong. On the other hand, there is much to offer them in the way of absorbing drama, fine characterizations, and superior direction and production. The end result is an intense film containing numerous entertainment qualities that must be sold to the public so that it can be seen and appreciated. The angles are there. The idea is to use them properly. The screen play is by Moss Hart, based on the book by Eleanor Ruggles.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates in many situations.

AD LINES: "Absorbing Drama In A Tale Of America And Its Stage"; "The Love Of A Wonderful Woman And An Outstanding Talent Made Him . . . 'The Prince Of Players'."

Twelve O'Clock High (131½M.) MELODRAMA 131½M.

ESTIMATE: The Peck name should help war reissue.

STORY: In post-war London, a middle-aged American businessman buys a battered jug, recalls the memories that it brings back when, during World War II, he was attached to a bomber squad as an administrative officer. His group is commanded by Colonel Gary Merrill, and the losses in planes and men have been heavy. The commanding general relieves him of the command and puts General Gregory Peck in charge. Peck proceeds to make himself hated by all concerned. All the pilots put in for transfers. Dean Jagger, the only one that understands, tries to delay the transfers so that Peck can have some time to work with the men. Although Peck rides his men hard, losses are reduced and efficiency is at a peak. Eventually, the men withdraw their requests for transfers, and morale picks up. He flies many missions with his men, and eventually reaches the same point that Merrill reached worrying about his command. He cracks up. When the men return, he realizes that his job is done.

X-RAY: When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of January, 1950, it was said: "A well-made yarn about the Air Force, this is calculated to do top business. In the main, the drama is concentrated in or about the airfield, with one mission shown in detail as to action. Interest is on high, performances are in the quality class, direction and production are tops, and all-around it should be scheduled for welcome reaction from all types of audiences. The film is based on the novel by Sy Bartlett and Beirne Lay, Jr., who also wrote the screen play."

TIP ON BIDDING: Reissue price.

AD LINES: "A Thrilling Tale About The Air Force In Action"; "A Popular Novel About The Air Force Transferred To The Screen As Quality Entertainment"; "A Gripping Story Of The Air Force With Favorite Stars."

UNITED ARTISTS

Battle Taxi

82M.

(Tors-Arthur)

ESTIMATE: Okeh programmer.

CAST: Sterling Hayden, Arthur Franz, Marshall Thompson, Leo Needham, Jay Barney, John Goddard, Robert Sherman, Joel Marston, John Dennis, Dale Hutchinson, Andy Andrews, Vance Skarsted, Michael Colgan, Captain Vincent McGovern. Produced by Ivan Tors and Art Arthur; directed by Herbert L. Strock.

STORY: Lieutenant Arthur Franz, jet pilot assigned to pilot a helicopter in an air rescue unit commanded by Captain Sterling Hayden, doesn't care for his assignment and is a bit reckless with his helicopter, resulting in frequent admonitions by Hayden. He is assigned to pick up a wounded infantryman which he does, only to see the rest of the patrol threatened by a Red tank. He harasses the tank until jets can swoop in to finish the job. Hayden chews him out but vows to make him a proper rescue pilot. Assigned to a base deep in Red territory, Franz picks up a downed pilot and hears another call come in from a pilot downed in the ocean nearby and wounded. Against orders and despite the low gas supply, he makes the second rescue and is forced to land near an enemy truck to get gas. Another mission to pick up a downed pilot results in the 'copter being shot down by waiting Red and Franz being wounded. Hayden flies in a doctor while jets keep enemy soldiers from coming too close while the doctor performs an emergency operation. The rescue is effected, and Franz recovers to become a good helicopter pilot and member of a worthy team.

X-RAY: Produced with the cooperation of the Air Force and the Defense Department, the feature contains official film clips expertly tied in with the balance of the picture which shapes up as a fairly interesting program entry. The story is well-developed and it moves at a satisfying enough pace with performances, direction, and production about average. The screen play is by Malvin Wald based on a story by Wald and Art Arthur.

AD LINES: "An Exciting Story About Air Rescue Work With Helicopters In Korea;" "The Choppers Had Work To Do Under All Kinds Of Conditions"; "When Standed And Wounded GIs Yelled For A Taxi, Air Rescue Was On Hand To Take Them Home."

Vera Cruz

94M.

(Hecht-Lancaster) (Made in Mexico)
(Superscope) (2 to 1)
(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Action-packed meller has much to offer.

CAST: Gary Cooper, Burt Lancaster, Denise Darcel, Cesar Romero, Sarita Montiel, George Macready, Ernest Borgnine, Morris Ankrum, James McCallion, Jack Lambert, Henry Brandon, Charles Buchinsky, Jack Elam, James Seay, Archie Savage, Charles Horvath, Juan Garcia. Presented by Harold Hecht; produced by James Hill; directed by Robert Aldrich.

STORY: Gary Cooper, adventurer and ex-Confederate officer seeking to make money fighting in the Mexican revolution, meets gun-fighter Burt Lancaster and buys a horse from him, only to learn it's been stolen from an army officer who pursues. They evade the troops after which Cooper knocks Lancaster out and takes his horse. The two join forces and agree to fight for the Emperor Maximilian since he will pay the most and serve under Cesar Romero in escorting a coach bearing Countess Denise Darcel to a seaport. There is a fortune in gold concealed in the floor of the coach to pay for troops to come to Mexico from Europe. Darcel, Cooper, and Lancaster have ideas about the gold, ostensibly agreeing to share with the others. The group in under attack several times by the forces of rebel leader Morris Ankrum who arranges for Sarita Montiel to secretly keep an eye on the shipment. She and Cooper are attracted to each other. Romero, aware of the intrigue gets the gold and puts Darcel under arrest in Vera Cruz. Cooper and Lancaster join Ankrum's forces in attacking the city for a fee from the gold, with Montiel convincing Cooper he is fighting for the right side. They capture the city and Lancaster tries to make off with the gold, but Cooper stops him. In the resulting gun duel Lancaster is killed and the gold is turned over to Ankrum and the people.

X-RAY: This has action and more action, gunplay, fist fights, roughhousing, pitched battles with hundreds and hundreds of extras, plenty of noise, excitement, thrills, touches of romance and sex, and a plot that moves at a rapid pace. High-powered performances by the cast, particularly Cooper and Lancaster, are also to be found in this first release in the Superscope anamorphic process. This is one entry that should provide action fans with plenty of material to keep them happy. Direction and production are good. The entry should give a better account of itself boxoffice-wise. The screen play is by Roland Kibbee and James R. Webb, based on a story by Borden Chase.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher rates.

AD LINES: "They Trusted Each Other Only As Far As Their Guns Could Shoot"; "A Thrilling Action-Packed Adventure Yarn In The New Revealing Superscope, With Color By Technicolor"; "They Had A Way With Guns And Women And Millions In Gold."

Jail Bait

70M.

(Howco)

ESTIMATE: For the lower half.

CAST: Lyle Talbot, Dolores Fuller, Steve

Reeves, Herbert Rawlinson, Theodora Thurman, Clancy Malone, Timothy Farrell, John Robert Martin, Cotton Watts, and Chick. Produced and directed by Edward D. Wood, Jr.

STORY: When Clancy Malone is arrested for carrying a gun, his sister, Dolores Fuller, bails him out and begs him to stay out of trouble for the sake of their father, Dr. Herbert Rawlinson, plastic surgeon. Despite a warning by inspector Lyle Talbot and detective Steve Reeves, he gets another gun and meets Timothy Farrell, hoodlum with whom he was involved in a hold-up. They hold up a watchman at a theatre, and are forced to kill him and wound a secretary. Malone is terrified and confesses to Rawlinson, who advises a confession to the police. Before he can reach them, Farrell kills him and hides the body in the apartment of his girl friend, Theodora Thurman. He next forces Rawlinson to operate on him and change his identity on threat of killing Malone. Rawlinson discovers the body of his son but says nothing, going through with the operation. Several weeks later, Rawlinson removes the bandages as the police close a trap, and they find the face of Malone unveiled. Farrell gets his just deserts.

X-RAY: A fair story, amateurish performances, fair direction and production, and an exploitable title are about all that are to be found in this item which can be used as filler for the lower half. The original screen play is by Alex Gordon and Wood.

AD LINES: "Stay Away From Them . . . They're 'Jail Bait'"; "Thrills Of The Underworld"; "He Was A Man Of Many Faces."

TWO REEL

Color Historical

THE BILL OF RIGHTS. Warners—Technicolor Specials. 22m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of August, 1939, it was said: "This sincere historical subject tells how the pleas for the Bill of Rights began; how eventually all the colonies desired to have it be included with the Constitution. While this is well made throughout, it hasn't the sock of some of the others of the series. GOOD." (2005).

Sports

FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS. RKO—Sports Specials. 15½ m. This annual review of the season's outstanding gridiron contests packs plenty of thrills for those who like football. It is a well edited subject with the games covered being Georgia Tech-Tulane; Oklahoma-Texas Christian; Purdue-Notre Dame; Army-Duke; West Virginia-Penn State; Ohio State-Wisconsin; Arkansas-Mississippi; SMU-Arkansas; Ohio State-Michigan; Harvard-Yale; Notre Dame-Southern California; and Army-Navy. GOOD. (53901).

VistaVision Color Travel

VISTAVISION VISITS NORWAY—Paramount—VistaVision Special. 17m. The VistaVision Technicolor cameras travel by land, sea, and air to cover Norway and show its peoples in the country at their daily tasks and amid picturesque settings as well as the cities with its markets, buildings, parks, and waterfronts. The natural beauties of of the country are also to be seen in this work produced and narrated by James A. Fitzpatrick. Musical accompaniment is played by the Oslo Philharmonic Orchestra. GOOD. (T14-1).

ONE REEL

CinemaScope Color Cartoon

GRAND CANYONSCOPE. Buena Vista—Walt Disney—CinemaScope Cartoons. 7m. Technicolor. Donald Duck takes a guided tour of Grand Canyon along with other tourists and he uses a camera with flashgun attached indiscriminately getting all kinds of animals riled up until he is chased all over with the canyon suffering and landmarks obliterated. Donald is forced to try and restore the canyon to its former majesty with pick and shovel. EXCELLENT.

Color Cartoons

BABY BUGGY BUNNY. Warners—Bugs Bunny Specials. 7m. When Bugs Bunny finds a little boy on his doorstep, he starts acting like a father but what he doesn't know is that "baby" is really an escaped bank robber and midget who's wanted by the police. Things move rapidly as the climax occurs. GOOD. (2724).

THE CAT CONCERTO. MGM—Gold Medal Reprint Cartoons. 7m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of April, 1947, it was said: "Tom is a concert pianist in this Academy Award winning cartoon, rendering Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody. His playing disturbs Jerry; the mouse, who is asleep inside the baby grand. The ensuing battle has Jerry slamming the covering for the keys down on Tom's hands, etc., while Tom tries to trap Jerry between the strings, and to sock him with the piano hammers. The finish has Tom exhausted from trying to not miss a note while continuing the battle with Jerry, who gets the upper hand when he starts playing the piano from the inside. As Tom falls across the keyboard in a faint, Jerry takes his bows. Both sound and drawings are well above average. EXCELLENT."

PART TIME PAL. MGM—Gold Medal Reprint Cartoons. 7m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of March, 1947, it was said: "Tom, the cat, is instructed by the cook to make sure that Jerry, the mouse, doesn't get into the refrigerator; but during a chase the cat winds up in the cider barrel, and emerges drunk with the result that he helps the mouse raid the icebox. Once he sobers up the chase is on again, until he accidentally drinks some bay rum after-shave lotion, and once more is a pal to Jerry. The cook wakes up, and chases Tom over the horizon. GOOD."

POLAR PLAYMATES. Columbia—Color Favorites Reissues. 7m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of May, 1946, it was said: "This introduces a baby penguin and cub polar bear who steal fish from an eskimo fisher lad as fast as he can catch them. When the chase over the ice flow and snowy wasteland is on, the little boy becomes endangered with a shark, but the penguin and polar bear save him because they not only like the fish he catches for them to steal but they evidently like being chased by him. The characters are cute. FAIR." (7606).

SHEEP AHOY. Warners—Merry Melodies. 7m. A sheep dog guards his flock from a designing wolf who has ideas about the sheep, with the situation a rough one for the wolf. At the end of the shift another sheep dog takes over the watch while another wolf takes over from his by-now exhausted brother. GOOD. (2707).

Comedy

SO YOU WANT TO KNOW YOUR RELATIVES. Warners—Joe McDoakes Comdies. 10m. Joe McDoakes, president of the Good-Doers Club, respected and loved by all and ready to help any one, is selected as a surprise guest on a television program which honors worthy members of the community by bringing forth the past, relatives, and friends. Joe is confronted by ex-convict relations, a strip teaser who is his first wife, the fact that he stole money when he was younger, the fact that he was a coward during the war, his elderly and destitute mother and father from the county poorhouse, etc. His friends wife and boss walk out on him and he takes off for the North Pole where he starts a chapter of the Good-Doers Club with several eskimos. FAIR. (2402).

Musical

LECUONA CUBAN BOYS. Columbia—Thrills Of Music Reissues. 10½m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of December, 1947, it was said: "The Lecuona Cuban Boys are introduced by disc jockey Fred Robbins, and proceed to play and sing three numbers with a South American beat. Heard are 'Jack, Jack, Jack,' 'Ti Pi Tin,' and 'Dark Eyes.' GOOD." (7953).

A MIRACLE IN MUSIC. Philadelphia Piano Orchestra—American Films. 8m. This artistic short features the Philadelphia Piano Orchestra, 23 girls playing 12 grand pianos, conducted by Carle Kinsley, who arranged the music, which produces a symphonic effect with the use of pianos only. Directed by Vyvan Donner, and produced by Edmund Reek, the music played is "Marriage Of Figaro" Overture; "Halacost For Strings"; "Two Guitars"; and a Russian Gypsy melody.

The piano orchestra has played over the Mutual network for the U.S. Government and was heard by short wave by an estimated 100,000,000 people all over the world. It has also made transcontinental tours for seven years. The reel is owned by Philadelphia Piano Orchestra and distributed by American Films. GOOD.

STAN KENTON AND ORCHESTRA. Warners—Melody Master Bands Reissues. 10m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of February, 1947, it was said: "Giving a brief history of this musical aggregation, this features vocalist June Christy and the band with other soloists in 'Kenton Blues,' 'Down In Texas In The Heart Of San Antone,' 'Don't Blame Me,' and other numbers, while Jerry Gale, comedy dancer, also does a number. FAIR." (2804).

Novelty

A BIT OF THE BEST. Warners—Varieties. 10m. With tongue in cheek, this reel concentrates on the action of silent days when Rin Tin Tin was a big star, and it shows how he guarded a dam with master Jason Robards. His girl, Virginia Browne Faire, visits with him with her dog, a female. A villain tries to wreck the dam and Robard is tied up, Rin Tin Tin is wounded yet he manages to save Faire when she is almost drowned. All ends well with Robards and Faire reunited, the dam saved, and Rin Tin Tin together with his girl friend. GOOD. (2603).

CANDID MICROPHONES. Columbia—Reissues. Series 1, Number 3. 10½m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION in March, 1950, it was said: "Allen Funt again utilizes his hidden microphone and camera. He poses as a vastly inquisitive gasoline attendant quizzing a truck driver and his wife, an omnipotent haberdashery tailor mismeasuring a customer, and a "modern dance" ballet instructor mal-instructing an eager novice. GOOD." (7553).

Sports

RODEO ROUND-UP. Warners—Sports Parade. 10m. Usual rodeo events are to be seen here with thrills from wild cow milking, steer riding, wild horse race, rodeo clowns, steer bulldogging, etc. FAIR. (2503).

Color Travel

MEXICAN POLICE ON PARADE. MGM—Fitzpatrick Traveltalks Reissues. 9m. When first reviewed in THE SERVICESECTION of March, 1943, it was said: "The Mexican Police, of a military nature, perform for the camera, with emphasis on motorcycle stunting, cavalry tricks, and a special marimba band. It is a colorful subject, heightened by our interest in another good neighbor. GOOD."

THE J. ARTHUR RANK SWITCHEROO

WE DON'T KNOW whether someone sold the eminent British producer-distributor-exhibitor a bill of goods, or whether it is an effort at that subtle British humor that we every now and then have such difficulty understanding, but one of the most ridiculous trade statements in many a moon deals with the possible needs for the J. Arthur Rank Organization to buy or build theatres in the U. S. in order to get for its pictures the distribution to which it feels entitled.

Having met the distinguished Rank at several trade gatherings, and having had the chance to observe his solid common sense, and show sense, we can only conclude that someone is "pulling someone's leg."

It is certain from our own experience as an independent theatre operator, from our intimate daily contacts with other theatremen, and from our daily correspondence with still other theatre operators from coast to coast, that there is currently the greatest shortage of playable and acceptable theatre merchandise that this industry has ever known. True, the public is being selective, and will only buy what it wants to see; it also will pay more to see what it wants than ever before. It is only when you try to "stretch" a good one or sell the public what it doesn't want, that you can get really hurt; and, unfortunately, in any situation with more than two first-runs, you've gotta do that or close up.

There just aren't enough good pictures to go 'round!

This is the kind of market that should be made to order for Rank, if he will just make some pictures to order for it.

We understand on good authority that Rank's "The Ivory Hunter" played to 13,000 dates in this country without benefit of owned theatres, leased theatres, or any pressure heavier than public tastes. That is a play-off that should satisfy Rank or anyone else. On the other hand, "The Lavender Hill Mob," another of Rank's offerings and a good one, could only catch on at the "art" and "class" level and wouldn't come close to that play-off in spite of plenty of sales pressure. And the great majority of other British shows only play a few "sure-seaters" in the metropolitan areas while others never get off the ground.

In England, and elsewhere in the British Empire, as we understand it, a quota of 25 to 30 per cent is enforced, supported by penalties in order to get the offering of Rank and others their equitable share of their English market. Naturally, we can't give them such guarantees, and we don't think that guaranteed outlets, either built or leased, will change the tastes of the American public anymore than subsidy and quota have changed the tastes of the British.

We are sure that American theatremen, unfettered by producer or distributor ownerships, have no prejudice against any product source. Their only interest is in good playable entertainment that the public will buy, and in their profit potential in playing it.

Should Rank have a hit on his hands, in today's market he could send a janitor to sell it and could get his terms. In fact, he would find himself swamped with American theatremen pleading to be sold.

So, Rank doesn't need to build theatres, or to lease them either. All he needs is some good pictures that measure up to America's entertainment demands. We'll guarantee him a play-off that will make his cars spin.

Maybe Rank should review the sage advice of another Englishman that has stood the test of centuries. He may even rank Rank as a showman and judge of the public's entertainment tastes. For it was William Shakespeare who stated, without consideration for whether it was American or British, "The Play's The Thing!"

We'll buy that as a theatremen. And we think Rank is smart enough to buy it, too.

Jay Emanuel

next thing we knew, we were on one of two special planes bound for Florida and the special underwater premiere of "Underwater" at Silver Springs.

Those TWA planes are wonderful and we disembarked at Jacksonville loaded with wonderful food, champagne, and good thoughts to be whisked aboard buses to make the trip to Ocala and our destination a few miles beyond behind a police escort. It was pitch black, so no chance for a sun tan that day.

Cocktails for several score newspaper, magazine, and radio and TV representatives were served in a wonderful museum containing old-time carriages and automobiles and appropriately enough named "Carriage Cavalcade" after which the group adjourned across the road to the Silver Springs Restaurant for southern fried chicken y'all. By this time, two plane loads of west coast newsmen, stars, and starlets and studio representatives arrived and they went through the same procedure.

The next morning, up bright (?) and early, breakfast and then rides in glass bottom boats, a jungle cruise down the Silver River where some of the old "Tarzan" films were made with Johnny Weissmuller, and hundreds of photographs were taken at the Silver Springs dock as stars and starlets posed in and out of the water, with and without equipment. Just about the only ones without cameras were the monkeys and us, and I sometimes suspected the monkeys had 'em, too.

Broadway Business Average

NEW YORK—Despite the arrival of several new films, business was just about average in the Broadway first runs.

According to usually reliable reports reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"The Silver Chalice" (Warners). Paramount reported $18,000 for the last four days of the fourth week.

"There's No Business Like Show Business" (20th-Fox). Roxy claimed $19,959 for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, with the fifth week anticipated at $37,000.

"Deep In My Heart" (MGM). Radio City Music Hall, with Christmas stage show, garnered $73,000 for Thursday through Sunday, with the sixth week sure of $105,000.

"The Country Girl" (Paramount). Criterion reported that the fifth week would hit $49,500.

"Prince Of Players" (20th-Fox). Rivoli expected the opening week to reach $12,000.

"Theodora, Slave Empress" (IFE). Globe claimed the first week would tally $15,000.

"Green Fire" (MGM). Mayfair was heading toward a $13,000 fourth, and last, week.

"A Star Is Born" (Warners). Victoria held up well with $18,000 claimed for the 14th week.

"20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" (Buena Vista-Disney). Astor claimed $39,000 on the fourth session.

"Vera Cruz" (UA). Capitol expected the fourth week to reach $30,000.

"3 Ring Circus" (Paramount). Loew's State was heading toward a $20,000 fourth week.

to Ross Allen's Reptile Farm and some fascinating demonstrations, after which came a few moments of relaxation before going into town where the majority of the attendees were able to view the film in SuperScope on the screen of the Marian. While there we also got a chance to walk over to the opposition house, a Moss operation, the Ritz, managed by Harold Privalle, formerly with Loew's in NYC. He reported that business was pretty good with television not too disturbing a factor in the area as yet and that the house was just about ready to convert to CinemaScope.

Back to Silver Springs, a few miles out of town, for dinner and the premiere of the film which had Jane Russell, Richard Egan, and Lori Nelson, who star in the film, going down to sit on the underwater benches for the benefit of the scores of photographers on hand along with the other starlets and Gordon Scott, the new actor selected to play Tarzan in forthcoming films. There were a few hardy newspaper people who ventured down in the cold waters with aqualungs, masks, and waterproof Timex watches, but on the whole most of the others saw parts of the film from the boats with underwater portholes that are used for viewing the underwater splendors of the springs. A cocktail party climaxed the proceedings at the edge of the spring.

Johnston Asks Changes In Industry Taxes

MPEA Head Asks Treasury For Foreign Earnings Credit, Exemption For Profits Of Foreign Films

WASHINGTON—In two letters sent last week to Dan Throop Smith, assistant to Treasury Secretary Humphrey, relating to the film industry's tax situation in foreign countries, Eric Johnston, president, Motion Picture Exporters Association, suggested amendments to present tax bills which would aid American film exporters.

Urging the Treasury Department to include the film industry in the 14 per cent tax credit allowed certain businesses on foreign investment earnings, Johnston called the present bill unfairly discriminatory to the industry. Johnston expressed the desire that "a greater awareness of the exact nature of our business and our problems abroad will be manifested in proposing again a 14-point tax credit on foreign investment holdings."

Calling attention to the industry's heavy foreign investments and far flung operations, Johnston wrote, "To compare these investments and operations with a branch bank or an air transportation office in a single large city of some foreign country is utterly unrealistic." He added that "the provisions of last year's tax bill discriminated against an American business operation that met all of the tests laid down for eligibility for the credit."

Johnston also proposed the exemption of foreign film producers and distributors from the 30 per cent withholding tax now imposed on their film rentals in the United States. He called the withholding tax "an open invitation to foreign governments to retaliate against American companies by unfairly taxing their operations abroad." He added that the tax is based on the "fantastic misconception that 60 cents out of every dollar of film rental is not profit."

According to Johnston, the tax yields little revenue, and the treasury would collect larger income tax payments from United States companies if these companies were granted reductions from tax payments abroad. He also desired that the industry be taxed on net income and not on an arbitrary percentage of gross income.

President Eisenhower, in a recent special foreign trade message to Congress, requested that United States companies be taxed on certain overseas income at 14 percentage points less than the rate on domestic income. Last year's treasury proposal excluded film companies from these benefits, and the President's message gave no indication as to whether the Treasury had changed its views.

Film Sale To TV Cleared

HOLLYWOOD—The injunction prohibiting Republic from releasing 85 Roy Rogers films to television was vacated last week by Federal Judge Pierson Hall. Hall's decision in the Rogers-Republic case was recently reversed by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Toll-TV Committee Meets To Map Strategy

NEW YORK—The first meeting of the full membership of the joint committee on Toll-TV will be held today and tomorrow (Jan. 19-20) at the Sheraton Astor Hotel.

The committee, headed by Trueman T. Rembusch and Alfred Starr as co-chairmen, will map anti-toll-TV campaign strategy, with eyes upon the Congress and the Federal Communications Commission. The meeting will also deal with the campaign's financing. It is expected that the committee will implement its demand that producers stand up and be counted on the toll-TV issue.

In addition to Rembusch and Starr, the committee consists of Philip F. Harling, Fabian Theatres executive; James Arthur, Cabart Theatres Corporation; and Abram F. Myers and Herman M. Levy, general counsels of National Allied and TOA respectively, who make up the committee's legal advisors.

Franchise Bids Kept Secret

CHICAGO—Ted Lietzel, head of public relations, Zenith Radio Corporation, last week flatly refused to identify exhibitors said to have applied for franchises to operate Phonevision in their localities. He also refused to state how many exhibitors were involved and in what localities they were.

Lietzel was queried in connection with the assertion of Commander E. F. McDONALD, Jr., Zenith president, that if Phonevision is approved by the FCC, a number of theatre owners have already applied for franchises.

The financial participation of Theatre Owners of America in the fight against toll-TV was one of the subjects of a meeting held between E. D. Martin, president, Walter Reade, Jr., former president, Herman Levy, TOA general counsel, and Leonard Goldenson, president, American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres.

TOA, along with Allied States Association, is a member of the joint exhibitors committee on toll-TV.

The exhibitors' committee is fighting to prevent quick FCC approval of toll-TV.

Loew's Asks Delay For Stock Shuffle

NEW YORK—Loew's filed a petition last week with the District Court here asking for a postponement of two years in the deadline for distribution of stock in the new theatre company. The two-year extension was provided for in the consent decree, if the company was unable to divide its funded debt between the production company and the new theatre company, and could not get similar financing to replace it. The deadline was Feb. 6, 1954.

Justice Department officials claim that they are prepared to tell the court that they have found nothing to dispute in Loew's claims, and that though the decision on facts is up to the court, if the court decided for Loew's the extension is automatic.

The Loew's petition said that the present holders of the debt do not want to divide the debt, on the grounds that the present debt is backed by the assets of production, distribution, and exhibition, whereas the parts of the divided debt will be backed by only part of the company's assets. The present debt is at an extremely low interest rate, which would not be duplicated in any new financing.

Only the stock in the new theatre company is involved in the two-year extension.

Circuit Appeal Denied

WASHINGTON—The appeal of Fanchon and Marco, Inc., against the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals decision throwing out its anti-trust suit against eight distributors, National Theatres, and Fox West Coast Theatres was denied last week by the Supreme Court.

Fanchon and Marco claimed that the defendants had conspired to deny first-runs to its Baldwin, Los Angeles, but both the Los Angeles District Court and the Circuit Court found for the defendants in the action.

Last Movie Holdout Succumbs

NEW YORK—Government officials of the Sheikdom of Kuwait have lifted a ban against the medium and authorized the formation of a company to build theatres and import films. This will permit the 200,000 residents to see motion pictures for the first time. The independent state is located on the Persian Gulf and was believed to be the last holdout against film entertainment.

NT Deadline Extended

WASHINGTON—National Theatres last week was given another extension of its divestiture deadline under the original 20th-Fox consent decree. The new interim extension was until Jan. 31 to allow Justice Department officials and National Theatres executives time to work out a final order for carrying out the remaining divestiture. At the end of last month, NT still had 10 theatres to divest.

Theatre Receipts Rise, But Attendance Falls

TORONTO—More money is being spent by the average Canadian on movies than ever before, according to the full report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics recently issued. The report, a statistical study of the motion picture industry, covers 1953.

It is stated that Mr. Average Canadian spent $8.30 on movies as compared with $5.61 in 1943. The highest spenders on films in Canada live in British Columbia where the per capita expenditure was $10.56. The next highest was Ontario where $9.67 was spent. Low spender was Newfoundland, $4.03. A logical explanation for this is found in the spread out nature of the province combined with the fact that there are few theatres.

Receipts for Canada's 1,906 theatres, excluding taxes, was $100,889,361 or two per cent above the previous year, but the number of paid admissions decreased by nearly three per cent from the year previous. Amusement taxes of $12,760,235 were paid while 241,182,726 persons passed through the turnstiles.

The film exchanges in Canada however, handled a volume of business amounting to $35,446,293 which represented a 4.3 per cent increase over the $33,979,599 handled in 1952. There was an increase in film rentals from $32,911,042 in 1952 to $34,436,609. Of the total film rental receipts of $39,436,609, 83.8 per cent or $28,871,729 represented 35mm. films for theatrical use. The value of 16mm. rentals for theatrical use was $2,022,112.

No indication is made in the report of how much of this money was remitted to the U. S. Of course, not all of this would go directly to the producers, some moneys being taken off for overhead in Canada. All moneys taken in Canada are allowed to be remitted to the producer, less 10 per cent representing a portion of the income tax taken by the government.

New films of all types released during 1953 numbered 3,521, of which 2,983 were for theatrical use on a commercial basis. The bulk of the films came from the U.S., followed by France, then Great Britain, Canada and Italy. U. S. exported 779 films to this country, while France sent over 290, Great Britain 147, Italy 41, and Canada itself put two film titles on its screens.

Other countries sent 30 films. These involved such widely-separated geographical locations as Hungary, USSR, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Spain, Australia, and India. Of the total new features released in this country, 981 were in black and white while 308 were produced in color.

There were 33 film companies operating in Canada in 1953, employing a total of 1232 persons in 124 exchange offices paying a total of $3,540,676 in salaries and wages.

England

In London, the British Film Production Fund last week reported that in the year ending July 31, 1954, exhibitors paid into the fund under the Eady levy 2,750,518 pounds, compared for 2,732,726 in the previous year. At the present rate of exchange, one Pound equals $2.80. A total of 2,498,187 Pounds has been disbursed to producer-distributors. Of this, 2,231,880 Pounds has been paid to 55 recipients in respect to 679 films of 3,000 feet, and 266,307 Pounds to 91 recipients in respect to 725 films of 3,000 feet or less. There remains 111,147 Pounds to be distributed. Principal payments were made as follows: Exclusive Films, 884,437 Pounds; General Film Distributors, 746,346 Pounds; British Lion, 409,235 Pounds; Associated British-Pathe, 230,747 Pounds; Independent Film Distributors, 152,971 Pounds; and Eros Films, 120,818 Pounds. Eight subsidiaries of the major American film companies share a total distribution of 187,407 Pounds; with United Artists at the top with 42,205 Pounds; next comes MGM with 35,780 Pounds; and Republic, 32,981 Pounds.

Japan

"This Is Cinerama" had its gala premiere at the Tokyo Imperial, following a preview performance attended by government officials and cabinet members. Japan is the fourth overseas nation to show the multi-dimensional film medium. Toho Company is presenting the film in Japan by arrangement with Robin International, Inc., which has international distribution rights from Stanley Warner Corporation. Special commentary was recorded in Japanese. Imperial schedules three showings daily and four on Sunday and was sold out through January. Response is enthusiastic as indicated by lines of over a thousand at the box office from 8 A.M. to 10 P.M. The first theatre designed especially for Cinerama showings has been erected in Osaka, where "This Is Cinerama" opened on Jan. 15, under the same theatre policy.

Mexico

In Mexico City, Eduardo Garduno, head, Mexican Film Industry Bank, predicts that more and better production in 1955 will result from improved organization for placing pictures at home and abroad and better financial help due to the organization of the trade's own bank.

Both government and trade want increased prestige for Mexican films abroad, according to the banker, so exceptional pictures are the aim. In 1954, an average Mexican picture cost between $64,000 and $72,000, but this year a production must cost $160,000, according to Garduno, to insure quality.

Industry Honors Rubin At Brotherhood Dinner

NEW YORK—More than 1,000 entertainment industry leaders representing a wide variety of faiths and races gathered in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last week for the ninth annual Brotherhood Dinner sponsored by the amusements division of the National Conference.

The dinner, launching the Brotherhood campaign for 1955 under the slogan of "One Nation Under God," honored J. Robert Rubin, permanent national chairman of the annual American show-business effort to foster understanding among people of all religious beliefs and creeds.

Senator William J. Fulbright, Arkansas, delivered a keynote address on the topic of world brotherhood to performers, executives, and other representatives of the film industry, radio, television, the theatre, sports, music, and scores of allied enterprises.

Featured speakers included Chancellor William P. Tolley, Syracuse University, who discussed the role of education in advancing inter-faith relations, and Everett R. Clinchy, president, National Conference. Louis Nizer was toastmaster.

Barney Balaban, president, Paramount, and chairman, dinner committee, presented Rubin with a plaque in recognition of his long service in the field of human relations. Rubin has been chairman of the Conference's amusement division since 1936.

Hyams Named Israeli Distrib.

NEW YORK—A company to provide the motion picture industry of Israel with representation in the western hemisphere has been established by Barry Hyams, Inc., and agreements have been reached with Zvi Kolitz, Si'kor Films, producers of "Hill 24 Doesn't Answer" for Hyams to direct the American distribution of the first wholly Israel-made feature motion picture, it was revealed last week.

Prior to returning to Israel, Yehoshua Brandstatter, head of IMPS, concluded arrangements with Barry Hyams, Inc., to represent the studios here, and to distribute its series of varied-length subjects, the titles of which are "Son Of Sulam," "We Choose Life," "Let's Look At Israel," "Songs And Dances," "Jonathan And Tali," and "Tent City."

The new company also reached an agreement with Brandstatter on the production in Israel of a series of half-hour stories of the Old Testament in color for general and educational distribution.

Skourases Plan Two For UA

NEW YORK—A new corporation was formed last week by Spyros S. Skouras and Plato Skouras, sons of 20th-Fox head Spyros P. Skouras, to make two pictures for release through United Artists. The pictures are "A Kiss Before Dying" and "A Killer Is Loose." No casts or directors have been chosen for the films, one of which is scheduled to get underway in February with Jacks and Goldstein producing. The contract is entirely separate from the one between Jacks and Goldstein to produce 10 pictures for United Artists.

Fabian Reports All SW Interests Successful; Company Earnings Up

WILMINGTON, DEL.—Simon H. Fabian, president, Stanley Warner Corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting here last week that the second Cinerama presentation, "Cinerama Holiday," will open at the Warner, New York City, on Feb. 8.

Pointing out that Redbook named "Cinerama Holiday" the picture of the month, Fabian said, "Sneak previews and early press reviews forecast that this feature produced under the personal direction of Louis de Rochemont, will prove an exceptional boxoffice success. Following the New York premiere, four more cities will begin the run of 'Cinerama Holiday' before the end of February, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and St. Louis."

In response to a question by a stockholder, Fabian expressed the hope that a mobile unit for showing Cinerama in smaller cities without permanent installation may be ready this spring.

Gross SW income for the first quarter of the current fiscal year, which ended Nov. 27, 1954, was $23,320,455 as compared with $13,794,100 for the same quarter one year ago, Fabian said. Net profit after all charges was $1,110,144, equivalent to 50 cents per share, compared with $523,100 or 21 cents per share on the common stock for the corresponding quarter last year.

The figures for the quarter ending include the operations of International Latex Corporation, which was acquired on April 30, 1954.

All major branches of Stanley Warner are operating profitably, the share owners were told in answer to a stockholder's question, but company officials declined to give a breakdown for competitive reasons.

Fabian said he will recommend to the board next Monday a 25 cent dividend payable Feb. 25, and looked forward with assurance and confidence to the continued growth, expansion, and further diversification.

"Nearly 250 of our theatres," Fabian said, "have been equipped with wide-screens and the necessary supplemental equipment and 170 theatres have been equipped with stereophonic sound units . . . We have completed our divestiture program required under the terms of the consent decree and subsequent court order."

The stockholders reelected to the board included Fabian, Samuel Rosen, executive vice-president, and David G. Baird, chairman of the finance committee, with Fabian and Rosen each receiving 1,833,247 votes while Baird received 1,833,200. According to the proxy statement, Baird owns no stock in the company.

About 83.9 per cent of the outstanding stock was represented at the meeting, which was presided over by former Federal Judge Hugh M. Morris.

An amendment to the certificate of incorporation, providing for two year terms for directors, was adopted by the stockholders. Price Waterhouse and Company were again named independent public accountants.

Company officials present included Fabian, Rosen, W. Stewart McDonald, vice-president and treasurer; David Fogelson, secretary; Charles Schwartz, counsel; and Harry Goldberg, advertising and publicity director, as well as A. J. Vanni, Philadelphia out-of-town zone manager, and Lewis S. Black, Wilmington city manager.

Lardner Appeals

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court was petitioned last week by Ring Lardner, Jr., to overturn a Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals ruling, upholding the 20th-Fox's decision to discharge him under the moral turpitude clause in his contract for refusing to answer questions regarding alleged Communist associations before the House Un-American activities Committee in 1947. The case will probably set a precedent for deciding similar suits brought by industry workers who were fired for refusing to answer questions.

NT Research Fund Gets First Workout

LOS ANGELES—Fox Midwest and Fox Inter-Mountain organizations are making the first use of the $500,000 research fund established by National Theatres last month to discover what influenced patrons to see "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea," it was announced last week.

The research fund is available to all NT showmen, and Elmer C. Rhoden, president, National Theatres, urges them to take advantage of it.

Skiatron Tests Begin

NEW YORK—Arthur Levey, president, Skiatron Electronics and Television Corporation last week announced the starting of intensive high frequency tests in the Hartford, Conn., area, where more than 235,000 UHF convertors are already in use. The FCC authorized field tests over WGTG-TV have been marked by "very satisfactory" reception of both video and audio signals on Skiatron's new UHF decoders, according to Levey.

Discussing the acceptability of toll-TV, Levey said that nationwide surveys by economists hired by Skiatron have confirmed the acceptance of pay TV by approximately 82 per cent of the public sampled in the principle markets. Subscriber-Vision, which will be produced world-wide by Skiatron TV Corporation, is now ready to go into operation immediately upon the FCC's approval.

Branson's Father Dies

NEW YORK—Charles E. Branson, father of Walter E. Branson, RKO's world-wide sales manager, died last week in Stanton, Neb. He was 80 years old. Branson left immediately to attend the funeral services.

Survivors include the widow and another son.

20th-Fox Sales Session Stresses Production Plans, Merchandising

NEW YORK—The costliest and most ambitious production program in the history of 20th Century-Fox will see Darryl F. Zanuck placing 10 top-budgeted properties before the cameras during the next six months, Al Lichtman, director of distribution, disclosed at the opening session last week of a divisional sales meeting.

Speaking at a specially-called parley of domestic and Canadian sales and home office sales and advertising executives to chart merchandising plans for product to be released during the first quarter of 1955, the sales head termed the line-up as the most formidable boxoffice attractions in years.

Pictures in the CinemaScope line-up are "House of Bamboo," starring Robert Stack, Robert Ryan and Shirley Yamaguchi, produced by Buddy Adler and directed by Samuel Fuller; "Pink Tights," starring Dan Dailey and Sheree North, produced by Samuel G. Engel and directed by Henry Levin; "Sir Walter Raleigh," starring Bette Davis, Richard Todd, Joan Collins, and Jay Robinson, produced by Charles Brackett and directed by Henry Koster; "The Left Hand of God," starring Humphrey Bogart and Gene Tierney, produced by Buddy Adler and directed by Edward Dmytryk; "The Tall Men," starring Clark Gable, produced by Howard Hawks and William A. Bacher; "A Many Splendored Thing," starring Jennifer Jones and William Holden, produced by Buddy Adler and directed by Henry King; "Lord Vanity," starring Clifton Webb, Robert Wagner, Martine Carol, and Peter Ustinov, produced by Charles Brackett and directed by Delmar Daves; "Seven Cities of Gold," a Charles Brackett production; "How To Be Very, Very Popular," starring Marilyn Monroe, produced and directed by Nunnally Johnson; and "The View From Pompey's Head," a Philip Dunne production.

With 13,500 theatres equipped for CinemaScope throughout the world and 17,000 expected by March of this year, the new entertainment medium has been embraced both by the public and exhibitors, Lichtman said.

CinemaScope with its important adjunct of stereophonic sound, he added, has caught the imagination of the world public and that to meet the demands of audiences, the rate of theatre installation in the United States and Canada is proceeding at an average of more than 200 per week. To meet this growing source of theatre outlets, virtually every major producing studio and many independent producers are turning their time, talents, and top attractions to CinemaScope, he declared. This upswing in CinemaScope production will see approximately 125 releases in the new medium during the current year.

Continuing his remarks, the director of distribution urged division managers to mobilize their respective staffs for closer liaison with exhibitor customers. He emphasized that a constant exchange of ideas and information is vital to the continuing success of both groups, and that better trade policies will result from this spirit of harmony and teamwork.

News Tip Offered In 35th COMPO Ad

NEW YORK—A suggestion that there's a good story in the local history of each community's motion picture theatre is the theme of the 35th COMPO ad published last week in Editor and Publisher. The peg for the story, the ad explains, is that it was 60 years ago this year that the first public exhibition of a motion picture took place in a converted shoe store in New York City.

The ad, directed to editors of local newspapers, says, "The theatre in your city, of course, is not 60 years old, but it might make a highly readable local story to trace the development of the 'passing fad' of the movies into the deep-rooted, irreplaceable part of the community life which they have become."

New DCA Outlets Named

NEW YORK—Three new franchise holders have joined in Distributors Corporation of America's program of tailored distribution, announced Charles Boasberg, vice-president and general manager, and Irving Wormser, vice-president and general sales manager last week.

They are Albert Dezel, Detroit, Albert Dezel Productions, Inc.; W. H. Gaffney, Kansas City, Dixie Enterprises; and William Benjamin, Milwaukee, Screen Guild Productions.

Franchise holders will sell secondary markets of DCA pictures. "Hunters Of The Deep" is DCA's first release, with nine others already announced.

Better forms of theatre programming, at conventional and drive-in theatres, should be explored, he declared, with showmanship and imagination as the by-word.

Discussions on the merchandising and promotion of 10 pictures scheduled for release through April and a review of general company sales policy were also held. "Prince of Players" was screened for delegates.

Leading the talks with Lichtman were Charles Einfeld, vice-president; W. C. Gehring, executive assistant general sales manager; Arthur Silverstone, assistant general sales manager; Alex Harrison, western sales manager; and Glenn Norris, eastern sales manager. Murry Silverstone, president, 20th Century-Fox's International Corporation, also was present for the product and policy discussions.

Regional and local exhibition conditions in the United States and Canada were the topics of discussion at the concluding session, held under the respective chairmanships of Harrison and Norris. Participating in the talks were Lichtman, Gehring, and Silverstone.

Returning to their offices after the meetings were Martin Moskowitz, Atlantic; T. O. McCleaster, central; J. M. Connolly, northeast; M. A. Levy, midwest; H. G. Ballance, southern; and Paul S. Wilson, assistant southern; Herman Wobber, western, and Reville Kniffen, assistant western; and Peter Myers, Canadian.

Loew's SEC Report Reveals Exec Salaries

WASHINGTON—Loew's, Inc., paid J. Robert Rubin, who retired as vice-president and general counsel last August, $1,200,000 for his residual rights in MGM films, it was disclosed last week in a Loew's statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The statement also listed officer's salaries for the year ended Aug. 31, 1954. The salaries listed are Nicholas M. Schenck, president, $224,786; Dore Schary, vice-president, $200,000; Howard Dietz, vice-president, $104,286; Leopold Friedman, vice-president, $130,357; Benjamin Thau, vice-president, $189,383; Charles C. Moskowitz, vice-president, $156,429; and Joseph R. Vogel, vice-president, $156,429.

Vogel and Friedman have resigned as directors and officers to join Loew's Theatres.

A payment of $33,800 to retired vice-president William F. Rodgers and of $176,816 to Rubin, also retired from the vice-presidency, were noted. All directors and officers as a group earned $1,996,867, it was noted.

Loew's reported that Rodgers received out of an escrow fund $3,914 monthly during the fiscal year and will continue to receive such payments until 1962, and thereafter at the rate of $2,175 monthly until June, 1967.

The report also revealed that a provision had been added to Schary's contract for him to render consulting services in connection with production for a period of nine and a half years after Jan. 18, 1958, the date of expiration of his exclusive services, such services to be paid for at the rate of $1,923 a week.

Rodgers and Rubin, in accordance with the terms of the companies retirement plan, elected to take a cash payment in lieu of an annuity for life of $28,482 and $41,795 annually, respectively.

Schine Phone Records Probed

BUFFALO—According to government evidence last week in the contempt trial of the Schine Circuit, telephone service to the Elmart Theatres, Inc., office in Schine Chain Theatres, Inc.'s home office building in Gloversville, N. Y., was provided through the Schine switchboard and charged to the Schine company.

The evidence, including photostatic copies of telephone company records, was introduced to support the government's claim that Elmart Theatres was operated under the Schine Corporation's control. The telephone records of the Schine Theatres and of Darnell Theatres, another defendant in the suit, were also put in evidence by government trial attorney Joseph E. McDowell.

A government witness was questioned by the defense in an attempt to bolster the defense claim that an unfavorable market for theatres, brought about by television and drive-ins, prevented the Schine Theatres from making divestitures as ordered in Judge Knight's 1949 decree.

The witness was Frank Nolan, operator of drive-in theatres in Ohio and Kentucky, and former district manager in the Ohio area for Schine Theatres prior to and after the decree.

DISTRIBUTORS CORPORATION OF AMERICA!

700 Fete Schmertz At 50-Year Dinner

CLEVELAND—Seven hundred theatremen and distributors from Ohio, Detroit, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Albany, Washington, and New York were expected to attend the exhibitors' testimonial dinner to I. J. Schmertz, branch manager, celebrating his 50th anniversary of association with 20th-Fox early this week at the Hollenden Hotel.

This announcement was made by arrangements committee co-chairmen Moe Horowitz, Nat Shuz, and Jack Silverthorne, and including Joe Lissauer, Leo Jones, Jack Shulman, Marshal Fine, Edward Prinsen, Bert Leftkowitz, Jack Armstrong, and Leonard Greenberger.

Al Lichtman, 20th-Fox director of distribution, was head of a delegation of home office executives set to join with other industry figures at a gala event.

With Lichtman was to go W. C. Gehring, executive assistant general sales manager; Arthur Silverstone, assistant general sales manager; Glenn Norris, eastern sales manager; Jack Bloom, assistant to the eastern sales head and major circuit contact; and Roger Ferri, editor of Dynamo.

Among the many personages to attend the salute to Schmertz, who also is celebrating his 28th anniversary as Cleveland exchange head, were to be Moe Silver, Nat Feldman, Gerald Shea, Ray Moon, Jim Sharkey, Ray Smith, Sam Galanty, Milt Cohen, Pete Dana, Howard Brown, Ira and George Sichelman, Chief Justice of Common Pleas Court Hon. Judge Sam Silbert, and Hon. Judge Arthur Day.

UA World Gross Soars

NEW YORK—United Artists and its subsidiaries earned a world gross of $43,100,000 in 1954, announced Robert S. Benjamin, board chairman, last week.

The annual record of gross income since 1951 when the present management came to United Artists, is 1951, $19,900,000; 1952, $29,300,000; 1953, $38,600,000; and 1954, $43,100,000. The 1954 gross represents a new high in the 35 year history of the company, Benjamin said.

The French-made "Holiday For Henrietta" was set for its American premiere on Jan. 24 at the Fine Arts, New York. . . . Columbia announced a quarterly dividend of $1.06¼ per share on the $4.25 cumulative preferred stock, payable on Feb. 15 to holders of record on Feb. 1. . . . "The Wages Of Fear," winner of the Cannes Film Festival, was set to follow "Animal Farm" into the Paris, New York. . . . The National Theatres board voted a quarterly dividend of 12½ cents per share on outstanding common stock, payable on Feb. 3 to holders of record on Jan. 20. . . . Robert Strauss started on a 15-city tour to publicize Paramount's "The Bridges at Toko-Ri."

Seen getting set recently for the world's first underwater film premiere are Lori Nelson, co-star, RKO's "Underwater!" with Willard Volt, president, Volt Rubber Company, left, and Swim-Fins designer Owen Churchill. Similar outfits were worn at the world's first drive-in premiere when the film was shown under water at Silver Springs, Fla., with two plane loads of celebrities and newspaper representatives flown from Hollywood and New York for the unique event.

WASHINGTON—A report, issued last week by the Securities and Exchange Commission, covering trading by officers and directors in film company stocks, shows the following transactions, all taking place in November.

George D. Burrows bought 24,750 shares of Allied Artists to bring his holdings to 28,486 shares; in Paramount stock, Barney Balaban, president, sold 5,000 shares, leaving his holdings at 14,400 shares; Y. Frank Freeman sold 200 shares, leaving himself 1,500; Maurice Newton bought 300 and gave away 300, leaving his holdings at 1,000; William F. Whitman bought 1,600 shares of RKO Theatre Corporation common for a total holding of 1,900 shares; Joseph A. McConville sold 2,000 shares of Columbia common, leaving his holdings at 4,951 shares; Elmer C. Rhoden bought 2,000 shares of National Theatres common, increasing his personal holding to 23,300 shares, plus 10,225 controlled through holding companies; Preston Davie sold 300 shares of U-I common, leaving himself with 109 shares.

Recent trading in industry stocks has been regarded as heavy.

About People

NEW YORK—Hazard E. Reeves, president and chairman of the board, Reeves Soundcraft Corporation, announced last week the election by the board of two executive vice-presidents and one new vice-president. Frank B. Rogers, Jr., a vice-president since 1951, becomes executive vice-president in charge of Soundcraft operations, and Homer W. Clapper, president, Bergen Wire Rope, a Soundcraft subsidiary, becomes an executive vice-president in charge of that division. William H. Deacy, who joined Soundcraft in 1952 as a sales engineer, was elected a vice-president in charge of sales engineering.

NEW YORK—Spyros S. Skouras, president, Skouras Theatres, has accepted the post of chairman, New York area exhibitor committee, National Conference's Brotherhood Drive for 1955, it was announced last fortnight by John H. Harris, national chairman, amusements division of the Brotherhood campaign. Exhibitors will support the Brotherhood Drive by soliciting membership contributions from theatre patrons. Features of the showmen's campaign include special posters, display boards, valences and brochures.

NEW YORK—Richard Altschuler, vice-president and world-wide sales director, Republic, last week announced the appointment of Edmund C. Grainger as sales manager in charge of circuit operations. Grainger was recently affiliated with RKO Theatres in charge of buying and booking. Prior to that time he was president, Shea Enterprises, and for many years he was eastern division sales manager, 20th-Fox.

NEW YORK—The confectionery sales department of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres will be managed by Walter McCurdy, it was announced last week. This position was formerly held by Herbert Hahn, who is presently handling stockholder relations for the company. McCurdy was associated with Kendall Mills prior to his going to AB-PT in 1953.

NEW YORK—Robert J. Corkery and Irving Maas were elected vice-presidents of the Motion Picture Export Association last week, during a meeting of foreign managers. Corkery will remain director of Latin American affairs, while Maas retains his job as head of Far Eastern affairs.

NEW YORK—Olin H. Clark, eastern story editor, MGM, last week accepted the chairmanship of the motion picture division for the 1955 April Cancer Crusade of the New York City Cancer Committee, according to John Reed Kilpatrick, president, Cancer Committee.

NEW YORK—The appointment of Neil Agnew as national sales manager of the Eastman Color feature, "Day Of Triumph," was announced last week by George J. Schaefer, distributor.

Schneider Signs Warners Pact

WASHINGTON—A Warner Brothers report filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission last week revealed the signing of a new five-year contract for Samuel Schneider, vice-president.

The new contract states that Schneider will be paid $1,750 per week, plus $250 weekly extra for entertainment purposes.

Gordon Scott tells us that future Tarzan pix might well be produced in color and that plots will revert back to more faithful following of the Edgar Rice Burroughs books and plots . . . Joe Tushinsky told us that his lenses were getting wonderful reception whenever they go into a theatre and that the price has been reduced to less than $400 per pair with them doing their own distributing. About two thousand houses have them presently and a number of features are being scheduled in his process, SuperScope . . . The underwater projector was made of a special water resisting plastic imbedded with aluminum to increase reflective properties (No. 4). On hand were most of the top company executives including Arthur Krim, Robert Benjamin, Bill Heineman, Max Youngstein, F. W. Winikus, and others. Nice party.

THE METROPOLITAN SCENE: The January issue of McCall's has a pictorial layout on the Disneyland Amusement Park scheduled to open next summer while Time and Woman's Home Companion have stories on Disney product to bring the publication picture up to date. . . . Yet another item to be noted is that Gina is in the news again with a three-page color picture layout and story on Miss Lollobrigida in Collier's. . . . Max Weinberg, free-lance script-writer, was off for Rome on a picture assignment. . . . "Prince Of Players" had a special "Players Premiere" prior to the regular opening with all the casts of Broadway plays invited. . . . The "Go See Picture of the Month" for January selected by the New York Subways is "Prince Of Players." . . . Okeh pressbooks are out on "Untamed" and "Six Bridges To Cross." . . . Attention-getting mailing piece went out to exhibitors on "The Far Country," with Jimmy Stewart. . . . The first film to be held over at the RKO Palace in five-and-a-half years was UA's "Black Tuesday," in which Edward G. Robinson rubs out actors right and left. . . . Big production in pressbooks is out on "Hansel And Gretel" and okeh issues are out on "Abbott And Costello Meet The Keystone Kops," "Black Tuesday," and "Three Ring Circus."

"Tuesday" Gets Rise From Bread Tieup

NEW YORK—A national co-op promotion combining a strong slate of newspaper ads and wide-ranging retail store support has been set in behalf of United Artists' "Black Tuesday" with the Hollywood Bread Company, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation for UA.

The ad campaign spotlighting "Black Tuesday" will blanket every exchange area of the country with insertions in 137 top-circulation newspapers. The displays, featuring a photo of Jean Parker, are timed to break with local openings and will carry prominent playdate announcements.

More than 4,300 super-markets and grocery stores carrying the Hollywood line will drumbeat the United Artists release with window streamers and counter builds employing display cards, scene stills and playdate credits.

Balaban Explains VistaVision

NEW YORK—Theatremen, newspaper editors and critics, and television and radio commentators throughout the country are receiving in the mails from Paramount branches reprints of the company's four-page trade paper insert presenting an account by Barney Balaban, president, of the unlimited potential and the new trend that VistaVision is setting.

Manager Bill Roberts, Los Angeles, Los Angeles, recently used this giant "medicine man" as street bally for United Artists' "The Golden Mistress." The towering tribesman padded through downtown district to spread word of the opening.

"Chic" Salutes "Romeo"

NEW YORK—United Artists' "Romeo and Juliet," internationally-honored Technicolor film, will receive a three-page salute in the February issue of Chic magazine, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising and publicity.

The big-space story-and-picture layout booming the J. Arthur Rank presentation features Susan Shentall, who stars as the heroine of Shakespeare's classic drama. The Chic break for "Romeo and Juliet" follows spreads in national magazines including Life, Time, Vogue, Mademoiselle, and Cue.

Varied Bally Helps U-I's "Bridges" Debut

BOSTON—The local world premiere and the New England territorial saturation kickoff of Universal-Internationals' "Six Bridges To Cross" is being backed by a record integrated television, radio, and newspaper advertising campaign with more money being expended on the combined campaign than in any similar territorial launching of a film in the history of U-I, it was disclosed last week.

"Six Bridges To Cross," based on the famous $2,500,000 Boston robbery, will have its world premiere at the RKO Memorial today (Jan. 19) launching more than 150 dates in the territory.

The record integrated television-newspaper advertising campaign has been set for Boston; Providence; Augusta, Bangor, and Portland, Me.; Manchester, N. H.; Springfield, Mass.; New Haven; and New Britain, Conn.

In addition to the record territorial advertising campaign the picture is also being backed by a record territorial personal appearance tour with Tony Curtis and George Nader, stars of the film; Claudia Hall, featured in the film; and Joseph Dinneen, veteran Boston crime reporter on whose Collier's Magazine story "They Stole $2,500,000—And Got Away With It," the picture is based, scheduled to visit 14 cities in the territory for television and radio appearances and participation in local promotions. The picture was shot in Boston and the surrounding territory.

MGM Spurs Exploitation

NEW YORK—Starting with the recent fourth Workshop meeting at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, Denver, MGM introduced a new idea for getting exhibitors to submit campaigns on pictures.

As soon as exhibitors are sent letters of invitation to the Workshops from now on, such invitations will be followed by a pink sheet, printed in black, and inviting them to submit ideas that have proven successful in the exploitation of MGM product.

Exhibitors are to be permitted as many entries as they wish to make; but they must be received by the date of the Workshop held in their area. A judging committee will select the best entry and the winners will be announced at the conclusion of the Workshop session. If enough entries are submitted, it is planned to compile a handbook to be published and distributed to exhibitors.

Tune To Plug "Stranger"

NEW YORK—"Not As A Stranger" will have a title song with music by Jimmy Van Heusen and lyrics by Buddy Kaye, it was announced last week by Francis M. Winikus, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation for United Artists, which is releasing the Stanley Kramer production.

The Editor Speaks

1955 WILL BE a crucial year for the motion picture industry. It will be the year in which Hollywood will be able to prove that it's tremendous surge towards making better, really better motion pictures, is not just a flash in the pan, but rather the result of an honest analysis of its past faults and a sincere dedication to maintain this healthy progress.

PAUL MANNING

DURING THE PAST YEAR the public has heartily endorsed our efforts by returning to the movie theatres in ever increasing throngs. Now that we "got 'em coming!" we got to "keep 'em coming!!" And the only way to do that is to give them their money's worth.

TODAY, a major feature film costs many times what it did several years ago, with the result that major studios cannot find enough tried and proven artisans in whose hands to entrust these multi-million dollar productions. And with these films given longer first-run playing time it was only natural that smaller situations were left with a product shortage.

THIS PROBLEM, a serious one with some, is only temporary. As production begins to get into the groove the number of features produced will surely increase. This will pile good pictures up against a starting line, which will shorten the gap between first, second, and third-runs.

THE EXHIBITOR who really loves this business, who will equip his house to exhibit pictures at their technical best, and who will use showmanship to make his patrons happy, will still be around when the "good old days" are here again!

Bob Hope, portraying Eddie Foy, Sr., in Paramount's VistaVision-Technicolor biography, "The Seven Little Foys," finds that he and his family fill a stage to capacity as he introduces his offspring to the delights of vaudeville performing.

Taking time out from comedy, Hope, in one of the quieter scenes from the picture, prepares to buss co-star Milly Vitale.

Bob Hope Cashes In On A Switch To Biography

Popular comedian finally plays a character other than himself, and Paramount comes up with a winner in "The Seven Little Foys." A New York preview audience acclaims the film, set for spring release, with an unprecedented rave ratio of 98 per cent.

BOB HOPE, who has piled up a fortune from pictures, radio, and television, by playing himself, for the first time on the screen plays a character other than himself in his forthcoming film, and it appears that he is about to reap another fortune—for exhibitors as well. Hope will ring big in 1955.

THIS is the thinking at Paramount about "The Seven Little Foys," in which Hope is seen as Eddie, Sr., since the sensational reception accorded the musical biography at the recent sneak preview at the Paramount, New York. The capacity audience stood to cheer and stomp approval of the film when the curtain closed on the final scene. A record 70 per cent of the audience lingered to fill out comment cards, setting another record of 98 per cent raves on those turned in.

RATING THE PICTURE a potential top grosser, the release date has been set tentatively for late spring, with A. W. Schwalberg, president, Paramount Film Distributing Corporation and Jerry Pickman, vice-president in charge of advertising, publicity, and exploitation, setting all-out release and promotion plans.

"THE SEVEN LITTLE FOYS," Hope's first VistaVision picture, in Technicolor, was filmed by a three-way partnership of Paramount, Hope Enterprises, and Scribe Productions. Principals of the latter, for whom "Foy's" is a first production, are Jack Rose and Melville Shavelson. Early Hope radio writers, they collaborated on one of Hope's previous biggest grossers, "Sorrowful Jones." Not only did they write the "Foy's" screen play, but Rose produced and Shavelson directed. It is the first time in the latter capacities for both men.

AND EVEN before the New York sneak, enthusiasm was running so high that Hope Enterprises and Scribe Productions entered into a new agreement to film three more Bob Hope starrers within the next five years, and Paramount and Scribe signed a separate multiple-picture agreement.

PRIOR TO THE TEAMING for production of the "Foy's," the Eddie Foy story had made the rounds of every major studio and independent production company in Hollywood since publication of Foy's autobiography, "Clowning Through Life," in 1928, the year the great song and dance comedian died. Though the book contained colorful showbusiness background and countless humorous incidents, there were no takers. Shavelson and Rose, when they hit on doing the Foy story for the screen and took the idea to Hope, began where the autobiography ended. It had chronicled Eddie Foy's life from early childhood to the close of his performing days as a "single."

"THE SEVEN LITTLE FOYS" begins with his romance with the Italian ballerina he married, and follows through with the memorable vaudeville tours of Foy and his offspring, "the little Foys."

THE FILM is surefire boxoffice, according to the verdict of preview comment cards, which run from detailed accolades to the single word indorsement, "Superb."

IT TOOK A LIFETIME for the Foys to build up a story for Hope. With this picture, Bob Hope's legendary Midas touch has apparently gotten its second wind and Hope, as we said previously, will ring very big in '55.

—P.M.

On the set, the popular comic admires the LAUREL AWARD he won for Paramount's Son of Paleface."

Miss Vitale, a ballerina, performs while Hope, as Foy, stands by very apparently admiring the dance form.

A comic becomes a beast of burden as pop, with the whole family in tow, stops to catch his breath.

Men That Make Music

Composer-Conductors

Conductor-Directors

MAX STEINER

RAY HEINDORF

VICTOR YOUNG

EVEN IN THE DAYS when motion pictures were silent, the exhibitor was smart enough to know that no picture was complete without music. The movie pianist of that day was the guy who played the piano, swept the theatre, took the tickets, and hustled sweets during intermission.

MOVIES AND MUSIC have come a long way since that day. But, and this is important, they have come together, knowing that they are inseparable.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, through its celebrated international LAUREL AWARDS, has brought deserving recognition to the efforts of outstanding musicians who contribute their talents to the making of motion pictures.

WE ARE HAPPY to bring you in this edition the three top composer-conductors and the three top musical directors who were voted LAUREL AWARD honors in the poll of 1954.

TODAY, MOTION PICTURES are in the happy throes of a technical revolution that will have as one of its most important effects that of making the position of filmdom's music men even more important.

NO BRANCH of moviemaking has progressed more rapidly in recent months than sound techniques. Stereophonic sound improvements lending movies the directional realism of the concert stage have raised the place of melody in pictures far above that of providing effective backgrounds for changing moods.

SHORT SUBJECTS are rolling out of major studios depicting the great works of music masters with all the excitement and realism, tonal clarity and beauty that was hitherto limited to concert halls for the enjoyment of a comparative handful of spectators.

NO WONDER, then, that the time has come for exhibitors and the public to salute the men that make music.

Meet Otto Preminger

OTTO PREMINGER

OTTO PREMINGER is the new 1955 model for what may become the ideal movie-maker of the future. Preminger has distinguished himself as a screen producer, director, writer, and actor, and has accomplished the same distinctions in the fields of television and the stage. To give his career another dimension, he has achieved fame in these realms both in the U. S. and in Europe.

IN STILL another department, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR itself, Preminger is a triple-threat man. He has already won two LAUREL AWARDS. One was for the Best Comedy Picture Of The Year which was awarded to this producer for his "The Moon Is Blue."

THE OTHER LAUREL went to Preminger for his superb performance in "Stalag 17." Included in the new LAUREL poll is "Carmen Jones," which he produced and directed for 20th Century-Fox release.

PREMINGER STARTED his career in his native Vienna when he first appeared as an actor in Der Theater in Der Josefstadt, then under the aegis of the late and great Max Reinhardt. As Reinhardt's protege, Preminger rose to the position of producer and director within a period of five years, making him Europe's youngest stage producer at the age of 23.

HE PRODUCED, directed, and acted in Clare Boothe Luce's play, "Margin For Error." In Hollywood, he appeared in a series of cold-blooded Nazi officer roles. Again proving his versatility, he started producing and directing again, turning out "Laura" and many other fine pictures. He produced and directed "The Moon Is Blue" both in the stage and screen versions. There was quite a hassle when he released this picture without the seal of approval of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, and the incident was one of the contributing factors which brought on a revision of the Code.

RIGHT NOW, Preminger is very busy as usual. His plans include the upcoming presentation on Broadway with F. Hugh Herbert of the continental stage comedy success, "The Vintage Years," which should get on the boards late this month.

HE IS ALSO preparing to produce and direct a picture based on the life of ## GOOD THINGS TO COME FROM HOLLYWOOD...

Buena Vista's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea"

MILLIONS of moviegoers have long been aware that Walt Disney has carried the art of animated cartoons to the highest standard of excellence. But—with his "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" he races to a front position in the ranks of real "live" motion picture production.

"20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" tested the genius and resourcefulness of the Disney organization and they have come through with flying colors.

THE FANTASTIC BEAUTY of the undersea photography, the vivid imagination which gives modern day excitement to the Jules Verne story, and Disney's wonderful casting all blend to give the moviegoer a magnificent view of the wonders of motion pictures when it really gets down to business . . . 20,000 leagues down!

THE DIRECTION of Richard Fleischer indicates that this talent is headed for top productions from here on. He maintains a fine balance between his human actors and the marvels of the monster undersea craft constructed by the incredible Captain Nemo (played by James Mason).

ALL IN ALL . . . big, big business can be expected from this New Year's gift from our good friend and superb craftsman, Walt Disney.—P. M.

If any further proof be needed of Walt Disney's uncanny ability to produce a winner, whether it be in the cartoon field or live action, it appears to be forthcoming in "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea," starring Kirk Douglas, James Mason, Paul Lukas, and Peter Lorre. Noted above are two scenes from the underwater spectacle, and bottom row, producer Disney with a model of the fabulous Nautilus and director Richard Fleischer.

Mahatma Gandhi. He recently conferred with Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi, India, and has received the latter's approval of the story outline.

THE PRODUCER-DIRECTOR is already looking around for a screen property with which to follow up his hugely successful "Carmen Jones," which is being talked up in many quarters for an Oscar this year. He has tentatively decided on a modernized version of one of the most popular and best known operas, "The Barber Of Seville," and has slated it for production sometime this summer.—P. M.

Song Inspires Cartoon

HOLLYWOOD—A new career opening for Mary Jo Rush has her agent husband Art Rush quite pleased. Her song about a penguin, "Chilly Willy," has inspired screen cartoonist Walter Lantz to create a new cartoon character of the same name. The song will be featured in the first cartoon.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Rush was a rising young contract player at MGM, but she retired in favor of home and family. Rush has been Roy Rogers' personal manager for the last 16 years.

Pat Wolfe is Don Tilzer's new assistant in the advertising department, Claughton Theatres. . . . Everett Hall, comptroller, Claughton Theatres, is going into the army. Ray Frantz is replacing him. . . . Home office employees of Claughton Theatres were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Claughton at their Urmev Hotel. . . . The Center was the unanimous choice of all judges in the Wometco Christmas decorations contest for concession units. The Center, and the next two winners, the Town and Surf, Miami Beach, Fla., received monetary prizes from confection department head Van Myers. Myers stated that the units were better decorated this year than any year in his memory and that most everyone showed effort.

On "Three-Ring Circus," Don Tilzer, Claughton publicist, had a man on stilts doing outside ballyhoo by walking in the Orange Bowl New Year's Eve parade. In addition, Tilzer had ushers of the Royal, Variety, Miami Beach, Fla., and Trail, dressed in clown costumes, complete with clown makeup. He secured air time in various contests on four local radio stations, as well as plugs over a popular local television show. Through stills from the picture planted in The Coral Gables Shopper and The West Trail Shopper newspapers, he had a "Movie Quiz" contest, offering passes to readers who could identify the stars in the pictures in the papers. The stunt achieved a wide response.

Dick Treccase, manager, Surf, Miami Beach, Fla., had a free kiddie show on a recent Saturday morning, with a nearby delicatessen as sponsor. . . . The Claughton Theatre chain sold five of its Tampa-St. Petersburg, Fla. holdings to Murray Stohl, who has been an operator of theatres in New Jersey and Florida for many years. Papers in the deal were signed by A. W. Corbett, general manager for Claughton Enterprises, who came over to Tampa with Curtis Miller, supervisor for Claughton in South Florida. Involved in the transfer were the Roxy, St. Petersburg; and the State, Palma Ceia, Cinema and Northtown, Tampa, Fla. Mrs. Lillian Claughton, president of the chain, stated that the sale reflected no pessimism over the movie business but was based on a desire to eliminate the element of management by "remote control." She said that she is at present looking for new houses to add to the Miami area chain which now includes the first-run Embassy, Royal, Variety, Trail, Circle, and Normandy.

Charles Buchanan, chief of service, Carib, Miami Beach, left after four years with the house, to take a short vacation before going into the Air Force. . . . Variety Club installed new officers in the Rubaiyat Room of the Algiers Hotel, Miami Beach, Fla. A cocktail party was followed by dinner and a full evening of entertainment. Presentation was made of the second annual "Good Samaritan" award to Wometco Theatres and WTVJ in the persons of Mitchell Wolfson and Sidney Meyer, coowners. An additional presentation was made of three "Great Guy" awards to newspapermen Jack Bell, Paul Bruun, and Dan Mahoney. . . . Wometco hospital list included coowner Sidney Meyer and John Cunningham, manager, 27th Avenue Drive-In. Both are now well on the road to recovery. . . . Tom Rayfield, manager, Carib, Miami Beach, Fla., secured a full-page ad in the Miami Daily News Amusement Annual at no cost to the theatre through a tieup with Irving Berlin's Menswear shop, Lincoln Road, in connection with Irving Berlin's "White Christmas," playing at that time at the Carib, Miami, and Miracle, Coral Gables, Fla. . . . Wedding bells rang out for Bertha Barrett, Lincoln, Miami Beach, Fla.

Theatres here took advantage of the appearance of singer Vic Damone at a night club and he made stage appearances at the Coral, Coral Gables, Fla.; Florida, and Lincoln, Miami Beach, Fla., for "Deep In My Heart"; and at the Sheridan, Miami Beach, Fla., in connection with their showing of "Athena." . . . Jamaica, B.W.I., has been selected by American interests as the site for a two-stage studio building to cost $300,000. The American group, headed by associates of Princeton Film Center, which also has a central Florida studio, is being assisted financially by the Industrial Development Corporation of Jamaica. . . . Silver Springs, Fla., folks are chuckling over the situation wherein a California studio, RKO, flew newsmen and radio and TV personalities down to Florida in the winter tourist season to see a film made in part in Nassau. The film referred to is "Underwater," which had a Jan. 10 world premiere at the famed resort. . . . The Town inaugurated an extra "owl" show, commencing at approximately midnight, nightly, at regular evening admission prices.

Efforts to continue Ohio's movie censorship, despite high court rulings, was walloped again in a decision by the Second District Court of Appeals, which reversed a lower court ruling that had denied RKO, TOA of Ohio, and two exhibitors an injunction against censorship and collection of fees by the State censorship board. Under the present setup, the board may still pass judgment on films submitted voluntarily, but may not charge a censorship fee. Several bills to legalize a modified form of film censorship are expected to be introduced in the current session of the state legislature.

"The French Line," Howard Hughes production starring Jane Russell, opened Jan. 13 at eight local neighborhood houses, Main, Esquire, Beechwood, University, Cleve, Lane, Westmont, and Parsons. "The French Line" was banned last year when submitted to the Ohio censor board.

Two proposals for establishment of an underground parking garage on the Broad and High street side of the State House have been introduced in the Ohio Legislature. Bill offered by Senator Robert Shaw, Republican, Columbus, is aimed at preventing the city of Columbus or private interests from gaining control of such a facility. His bill provides for a state commission to control such a structure. Bill by Representative Arthur Katterheinrich, Republican, Auglaize county, would authorize leasing the ground to the city. Sketch printed in Columbus newspapers showed a possible future extension of the parking garage along State Street, which is directly across the street from Loew's Ohio, RKO Grand, and the Hartman. The Broad and High site is within a half block of Loew's Broad and RKO Palace. Initial garage would have a 1200-car capacity.

Cleveland

Henry Greenberger was unanimously reelected to serve a second year as president, Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors Association, at the annual general meeting. All the other officers were also reelected. They were vice-president, Joe Rembrandt; treasurer, Ted Vermes; and Louis Weitz, general manager and secretary. A buffet luncheon was served before the business meeting started at which the guests of honor were Judges Samuel Silbert, Edward Blythin, Harry Hanna, Donald Lybarger, Joseph Silbert, Arthur Day, Dan Wsserman, John J. Mahon, John Thomas, Perry Jackson, and Louis Tetrash, as well as city officials.

Ernest Sands, Warners branch manager returned to his desk after a six week absence for surgery and convalescence. . . . Sam Stecker, Associated Circuit, and Mrs. Stecker left for the annual winter vacation in Florida.

Howard Minsky, Paramount division manager, and his assistant, Bob Weber, held a two day conference with the local branch personnel to brief them on the company's new product and policies. Those who attended the invitational screening of "The Bridges of Toko Ri" at the Colony had a preview of the new Paramount product.

Horace Adams, president, Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, has commissioned Jack Vogel, Wellsville, O., architectural engineer to modernize three of his drive-ins, namely the Rochester Drive-In, Rochester, N. Y.; the Euclid Drive-In, Wicliffe, O.; and the North Drive-In, Marion, O. Projects include enlarging screen towers, increasing the size and facilities of the concession buildings, and adding ramps.

Philip Dunne, producer, "Prince of Players," for 20th-Fox, was guest of honor at a press luncheon held in the Statler Hotel. I. J. Schmertz, 20th-Fox branch manager, was official host. . . . Leroy Kendis, Associated Circuit, returned from a brief west coast vacation.

John C. Wein was reelected business agent, Local F-5, IATSE, for another two years term. This is a post he has held continuously since the local was formed in 1942. At the annual meeting at which Wein was again named business agent, all officers were reelected as follows, Edward Graves, president; Arthur Engelbert, vice-president; Marie Roessel, financial secretary; Grace Dolphin, recording secretary; and Fred Dzik, sergeant-at-arms. Wein and Graves will represent the local at the eight district IATSE convention, and Wein and Miss Roessel will be its delegates to the Cleveland Federation of Labor convention.

Putting the new thirty-seven and one-half hour week policy into practice was causing considerable confusion inasmuch as there was no uniformity of operating schedule. Some exchanges were opening at their previous regular time and closing at 4:40 p.m. Some were extending the luncheon period and closing at 4:45 p.m. Still others were opening later and closing at 5 p.m.

Nat Barach, National Screen Service branch manger, is shopping for vacation clothes but he is not going on a vacation. Instead he will attend the NSS convention in Miami Beach, Fla., but he was forewarned to bring along a wardrobe suitable to the occasion, including boating and fishing equipment. . . . Herbert Horstemier has moved his independent booking office into larger space in 409 Film Building. His former third floor space will be taken over by the adjoining Imperial Pictures, which will continue to distribute reissue product in this territory, maintaining the same service established by the late Bernie Rubin, Al Sunshine, who now heads the business in partnership with Mrs. Rubin, announced.

Paul Ellis has retired from active duty with the Robins Amusement Company, Warren, O. He has been with the circuit for more than 25 years. Lately, he has been in only fair health and is currently spending his new found leisure in Arizona . . . Joe Shagrin, owner, Foster, Youngstown, O., had a busy December. Mrs. Shagrin celebrated her birthday; Joe celebrated his birthday; and they both celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. . . . Jack E. Thompson, salesman, Paramount Detroit branch, has received a certificate of membership in Paramount's 25 Year Club. Howard Minsky, Paramount division manager, made the presentation with Detroit branch manager Tom Duane looking on.

Detroit

About face in financing—a college here is financing the new Wonderland Drive-In. $600,000 will go into construction when David Korman starts work on the 1,700 car spot in northern Detroit suburban area. Cliff Brown, Temple, Kane, Pa., is mighty proud of his only son, Harry, Jr., who was made a company commander at the Virginia Military School.

For the first time in years, Film Row will not have a bowling league. Suitable alley arrangements could not be made. . . . The Ideal and Roxy, Johnstown, Pa., are running full time after being closed Dec. 14th. . . . Mr. and Mrs. James

Judge Explains Censor Ruling

COLUMBUS, O.—Judge John C. Nichols, who wrote the Appellate Court's decision ending state censorship, castigated Attorney General William O'Neill and Judge Ralph Barlett for not keeping before them "more clearly the nature of their oaths to support, uphold, and defend the United States Constitution and the Ohio Constitution." Nichols said if they had done so, "I am sure the decree would have been to the contrary and their fine talents not wasted in whittling away at these great charters of human liberty under which United States citizens have lived, prospered, been happy and secure in the rights and privileges guaranteed by the Bill of Rights."

Nichols added, "The guarantees of freedom of speech and press are couched in the unmistakable language that no law shall be passed abridging such guarantees."

"That language is not susceptible of interpretation that some laws having that effect may be passed while other laws may not be passed," said Judge Nichols. "Congress has passed no law which abridges the right to transmit films by television, although television has brought motion pictures into the homes of millions, although many of us are convinced some of such pictures have no educational, religious, or humorous characteristics."

Judge Nichols warned the motion picture industry that "any violation of universally-recognized laws of decency and morality will bring condemnation and may destroy this instrumentality capable of so much good in furthering morality, education, and wholesome amusement."

In condemning censorship, Judge Nichols said, "Who am I to impose upon another my conception of what is beautiful, moral, educational, or amusing?" He said that parents have a responsibility in choosing what films or television plays their children see.

R. M. Eyman, chief Ohio censor, is known to be writing a more strongly-worded censorship bill which is expected to be introduced in the present session of the General Assembly.

"It's just another nail in the coffin of censorship," said Wile of the decision. "I don't see how any committee of the Legislature can ignore the opinions of the Court of Appeals, the Ohio Supreme Court, and the United States Supreme Court."

Laux, SW Hollywood, had a fifth child, a girl, Sandra. . . . The largest family night crowd attended the RKO night at the Variety Club. Dave Silverman, RKO branch manager, was heartily congratulated on this fine turnout.

Jimmy Hendel, United Artists manager, was elected national secretary, Kappa Nu fraternity, at the recent convention held in New York. . . . MGM has installed CinemaScope screen and lenses for the local exchange. . . . Dr. H. C. Winslow, owner, Park, Meadville, Pa., was honored on the Erie television station WSEE as one of the most prominent citizens of this area.

Among state theatres adding CinemaScope in the past weeks were the Lake, Sandy Lake; Grant, Millvale; Lamp, Irwin; Grand, Port Allegheny; and the Village, Salisbury. . . . Marcia Joseph, Republic booker, and her husband moved into their new Eastmont, Pa., home and Larry Seidelman, Republic branch manager, has moved his family from Omaha to this city.

Tom Duane, former Republic manager, and now manager, Paramount, in Detroit, recently was a Film Row visitor. . . . Sam Milberg and Joel Golden, RKO salesmen, both received new Ford V-8s.

A story came out during the holidays that Frank Thomas, Film Row projectionist, has turned over all profits on the sale of Christmas cards to charity. His son, Bob, who was killed in action in Korea and in whose memory a memorial stone has been erected on Film Row, had been selling these cards, and his father took over when he left for service.

Fifteen neighborhoods are scheduled to run a giant double feature bill from RKO first-run in the area. The features are "Passion" and "This is My Love."

The State, Ambridge, Pa., closed for several weeks, re-opened Christmas day with a first-run policy. . . . Dave Leff, IFE district manager, was in for the holidays. He formerly lived here as the local branch manager for United Artists.

John Rigas, Coudersport, Coudersport, Pa., gathered a five column coop ad by contracting the local Chevrolet dealer for a tie-in copy plugging "The Student Prince." Slugged "A Toast to the '55 Chevrolet," the ad featured a scene mat showing the film's stars singing a toast and carried prominent picture and theatre credits. . . . The Vox, Ligonier, Pa., has closed, but the Ligonier, Ligonier, will continue to operate, according to its owner, Alvin Seiler.

Paramount will hold a trade screening of "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" at the Shadyside. . . . It looked as though John McGreevey, Harris buyer, was on the way to recovery, but a sudden turn for the worse has kept him at the Mercy Hospital. . . . The Penn, Blairsville, Pa., recently taken over by Tommy Bello, Nanty Glo, Pa., and Saul Perlman, will be managed by Bello's son John.

Ohio Canton

R. Ulmer and Bernard Dobbins, Park, North Canton, O., are new members of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio.

Columbus

"Julius Caesar" heads the list of 10 best films shown in Columbus during 1954, in the opinion of Norman Nadel, Citizen theatre critic. Others include "The Caine Mutiny," "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers," "On The Waterfront," "A Star Is Born," "The Little Fugitive," "Broken Lance," "Rear Window," "The Living Desert," and "The Glenn Miller Story."

Arlington, neighborhood house, operated by the Academy Theatres until its closing some time ago, has been converted into an ice-skating academy by Charles Hain. This is the first such installation in the central Ohio area. . . . Leo and Milton Yassenoff, Academy Theatres, were part of the Ohio State party attending the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Cal.

Convention of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio will be held on Feb. 28 and March 1, announced Robert Wile, ITCO secretary. Dates originally announced as March 1 and 2. Convention will be held here at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel. William C. Gehring, general sales manager, 20th Century-Fox, and Abram F. Myers, Allied general counsel, have accepted invitations to address the delegates. Wile said that several other nationally prominent speakers are being lined up. Convention will open with a luncheon Feb. 28 for all registrants. First business session will start at 1:30 p.m. Monday. There will be a sneak preview of an April release from a major studio on Monday evening at a downtown theatre. On Tuesday, March 1, MGM will conduct the Ticket Selling Workshop starting at 10 a.m. There will be a luncheon Tuesday for delegates and members of the Ohio Legislature. The MGM Workshop will resume at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. Lieutenant Governor John Brown will present the organization with a scroll at the Tuesday evening banquet in recognition of Ohio theatres' contribution to the state highway safety program. Brown was an ideal choice to make the presentation having formerly operated the Civic, Wellston, O.

Senator Charles Mosher, Republican, Oberlin, O., introduced a bill in the Ohio Senate to repeal all film censorship in the state. Mosher is chairman, Senate education committee, which passes on censorship proposals. Bill listing more specific definitions for banning films than the present law was introduced in in the Ohio House of Representatives by Representative Andrew Putka, Democrat, Cleveland. His bill would exempt news, scientific and educational films, but specifies that obscene films, those inciting to crime, and containing vile and profane language or contempt for law, and promoting use of narcotics or habit-forming drugs shall be prohibited. Bill containing a more strongly-worded law than the present statute also is expected to be introduced in the Ohio Legislature. This bill is being prepared by R. M. Eyman, chief film censor, at the specific request of Governor Frank Lausche.

In a recent bulletin the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio gave an explanation of National Allied's stand on "government regulation"; the dropping of prices on lenses; film prices; new "snoop proof" tickets; and policing themselves on censorship. It is stated that "there have been no arrests by the police for the showing of obscene pictures. The cooperation of exhibitors has been matched by that of independent distributors. It was stressed that continued cooperation of theatremen will be appreciated.

William McLaughlin, assistant manager, Michigan, Detroit, is seen alongside of the huge stairway piece erected in the lobby of the theatre heralding Warners' "The Silver Chalice."

Dallas

The barkers of Variety Club Tent 17 turned out in good numbers to attend the installation of new crew members and officers and pay tribute to the members departed in 1954 in the memorial tribute conducted by Wallace Walthall, ceremonial committee chairman. Al Reynolds opened the meeting and called upon international representative C. A. Dolsen to install the new officers. After being duly installed, Kendall Way took the presiding chair. Way recalled the great inspiration and leadership for Boys Ranch progress which was furnished in past years by Mike Rice, whose untimely passing prevented his rise to position of chief barker. Charles Darden, chairman, Ranch committee, explained a procedure that has been working out nicely for the Ranch boys on their birthday. Some Variety member beginning with Dr. O'Dell in October gives a party for the boys having birthdays in that month. Al Reynolds and his wife had the boys for the November birthday party and Joe Caffo and Fred Patton jointly gave the December birthday party. Al Reynolds was called upon and after stating that the New Year's party was a great success, announced that a gin rummy tournament would be held some time the latter part of February, with the usual golf tournament again in April or May. Jimmy Allard, chairman, heart committee, reported.

Out-of-town visitors on the Row include C. C. Caldwell, Eunice, N. M.; Henry Houseman, Jr., Reno, Vidor, Tex.; Bob Fry, Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Watson, Eagle Drive-In, Azle; Jack Groves, Jr., Post Oak Drive-In, Houston; Tad Gould, River Oaks, Ft. Worth; A. L. Lawson, Associated Popcorn, Houston; Al Mortenson, Southwestern Theatre Equipment, Houston; and Eddie Reyna, Victoria.

The Phil Isleys returned from New York where they were visiting their daughter, Jennifer Jones. . . . Marguerite Rowland, formerly with Debbs Reynolds Booking Service, is now with Buena Vista films. . . . Carolyn Keith has left Altec to be with her husband in Bryan, Tex., until he is discharged from service. . . . Doris Hart, formerly with Falls Booking Service, is now with Tower Pictures. . . . Mrs. Virginia Bullard, formerly with Fox, is now employed with Ezell and Associates. . . . Mildred Freeman spent a few days in Carlsbad, N. M., with relatives. . . . At the opening session of the State Legislature at Austin, Tex., Governor Allan Shivers proclaimed January as "Movies Month In The State Of Texas," calling attention to the "significant business and entertainment contributions of the theatres of the state." Present for the unusual occasion was Anne Francis, who appears in MGM's "Bad Day At Black Rock," making a personal appearance tour of eight key towns where the film is slated to open as one of the many plans in "MGM's Motion Picture Theatre Celebration."

Denver

Tom Brennan, district manager, Fox Intermountain Theatres, announced that Carlin Smith, independent theatre operator, has taken over the Paramount and Strand in Cheyenne, Wyo. On March 1, Brennan said, the theatres will be taken over by Capital Avenue Theatre Company, Cheyenne. No financial details were released.

Mike Simons, MGM director of customer relations, and Emery Austin, exploitation head, were in for the fourth Workshop held at the Cosmopolitan Hotel with over 300 in attendance.

Ed Resnick, salesman, Warners, Portland, has been transferred to Denver as salesman, and will cover the southern district. He succeeds Howard Campbell, who resigned recently to become booker for Westland Theatres. Resnick was in Denver as a Warners salesman several years ago.

Robert Selig, assistant to the president, Fox Inter-Mountain Theatres, and Mrs. Selig went to Hawaii on vacation. . . . The Denver Shipping and Inspection Bureau is mailing out its annual phone list of exchanges and others in the industry to theatres, businesses, and individuals. If you want a copy and do not receive one, write to Lynn Fetz, manager.

Fred Paloski, Lippert branch manager, Salt Lake City, came to Denver for the screening of "They Were So Young." . . . In memory of Joe Scott the receiving room of this center will be known as the "Joe E. Scott Memorial Room." All of his friends wishing to contribute to this memorial fund should send checks payable to Heart of Variety, William Barker, Tent 16 property master.

In a recent bulletin of Allied of Iowa, Nebraska and Mid-Central, the group takes issue with Barney Balaban, president, Paramount, and Adolph Zukor, chairman of the board, who allegedly said recently that the industry would be better off without several thousand theatres; that Paramount would continue as planned to release just 20 pictures this coming year; and that "Paramount has tried the quantity-rather-than quality policy and had gone broke on it," adding, among other things, that "people do not go to the theatre today from habit." The group states, "The biggest calamity that could ever hit the motion picture industry would be if distribution succeeded in closing all small town and sub-run theatres. They would soon find that their first-run palaces would eventually crumble like the well-known house of cards."

St. Louis

In Marion, Ill., Stewart Cluster, who operates the Palace, Johnston, Ill., has been revealed as the theatre owner who will operate the 500-car and 600-car drive-in that is being constructed on the west side of State Highway 37. Tom Luce, owner and operator, Ritz, Celina, Tex., announced the completion of the installation of CinemaScope equipment. . . . Funeral services were held at Victoria, Tex., for Ruben Frels, 67, veteran South Texas theatre owner who died following a brief illness. He headed the Frels Theatres, Inc., which operated a group of 14 theatres with headquarters at Victoria, Tex. . . . CinemaScope has been installed at the Joy, Mount Vernan, Tex., owned and operated by Roy DeViney.

Abe Willis, manager, Palace, San Saba, Tex., reported the completion of the installation of CinemaScope equipment. . . . Lee Lipscomb, manager of the Jacksboro Drive-In, Fort Worth, Tex., operated by Ezell and Associates, announced that three perfect ammonites, prehistoric fossils which are estimated to be over 200 million years old, were found during excavations at the drive-in to enlarge the capacity to 1,500 cars. The formations have been on display at the snack bar and drawing a huge crowd. Experts from national organizations are expected to come here to examine the finds and to examine the site for other formations.

Seattle

Film Row enjoyed a long New Year weekend, with all exchanges closed Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. . . . Lee Scott, Modern Theatre Supply, has just returned from supervising installations of equipment at the Onalaska, Onalaska, Wash., owned by William Lyon. The equipment consisted of a new RCA Dynalite screen, anamorphic lenses, and drapes and curtain control. . . . Chuck Rosenmeyer, Paramount, spent New Year's in Portland. . . . Lou Pressler, head, Foreman Drive-Ins, left for a vacation in the south. . . . Al Larpenteur, Northwest Releasing Corporation salesman, started on an eastern Washington road trip.

John Hall, operator, Ki-Be, Benton City, Wash., was on the Row. . . . Henry Haustein, Paramount branch manager, returned to his desk after his annual vacation to San Francisco. . . . Samuel Pinanski, New England exhibitor chairman for the 1955 campaign of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in observance of Brotherhood Week, announces the following appointments of state chairmen, Richard Smith, Massachusetts; Ray Kiniry, Vermont; Fenton Scribner, New Hampshire; Connie Russell and Ralph Tully, co-chairmen, Maine; and Myer Stanzler, Rhode Island.

At the annual election of officers of the Variety Club of New England held at the club's headquarters at the Hotel Statler the entire slate was reelected. The reelection of Walter A. Brown as chief barker marks the fourth consecutive year that the popular president, Boston Garden, has held this office. Others reelected were Philip Smith, president, Smith Management Company, first assistant chief barker; Michael Redstone, president, Redstone Drive-In Theatres, second assistant chief barker; James Marshall, general manager, Film Exchange Transfer Company, dough guy; and Kenneth R. Douglass, Sr., president, Capitol Theatre Supply, property master. Canvasmen elected to serve for one year were Arthur Lockwood, James Mahoney, George Roberts, Benn Rosenwald, James Stoneman, Arnold Van Leer, and Richard Berenson, and the past chief barkers Samuel Pinanski, Louis Gordon, Murray Weiss, and Theodore Fleisher. Elected to the heart committee were Harry Browning, Samuel Dane, Kenneth Douglass, Reuben Landau, and Irving Wallins. Named as delegates to the national convention were Brown, William Koster, Redstone, and Murray Weiss. Koster was reelected executive director.

Max Naylor, manager, Metropolitan, won a week's trip to Bermuda for two, all because Mrs. Betty Bloom, Dorchester, Mass., won the first prize on the national TV program, "The Big Payoff." She wrote the winning letter "Why I Feel Young At Heart" in 25 words or less and also received an expense-free trip to Bermuda.

Three industry men sat at the head table at the March of Dimes kick-off dinner at the Hotel Vendome. James M. Connolly, division manager, 20th-Fox, is vice-chairman, greater Boston chapter. Last year he was the 1954 campaign director. John Feloney, branch manager, 20th-Fox, is chairman for distributors and exhibitors of the drive for 1955 and announced that the MOD trailer is available for theatres for the week of Jan. 19, at which time collection boxes will be set up. Charles E. Kurtzman, northeastern division manager, Loew's Theatres, Inc., is a member of the advisory board, and a past president and campaign director, Greater Boston chapter. The 1955 campaign director is General James F. McManmon, whose vice-chairman is attorney Whitfield Reid. George Swartz, former exhibitor and distributor, is president. Other industry men at the dinner were Herman Rifkin; Walter Diehl, Local 182, IATSE; Phil Engel and John Peckos, 20th-Fox.

Mrs. Betty Bloom, Dorchester, Mass., winner of a letter writing contest on "How I Stay Young At Heart" held in connection with Warners' "Young At Heart" via CBS-TV "Big Payoff" program, and duplicate winner Max Naylor, manager, Metropolitan, Boston, are seen as they recently received the good news. The prizes are all-expense-paid trips to Bermuda.

Following the press screening of Allied Artists' "Tonight's The Night," starring Barry Fitzgerald, the film critics talked long distance to the star from the Hotel Statler to Santa Barbara, Cal. Harry Goldstein, publicist for AA, and Jack Saef, tub-thumper for the Paramount and Fenway, where the film opened, were in charge of the luncheon and the phone call. To speak personally with all the critics on the Boston newspapers took more than an hour, including the tape recording made by Priscilla Fortescue, station WEEI, which was used on her program. Each critic asked the popular star different questions so that the results of the phone calls made interesting reading in the local papers. Alta Maloney, Boston Traveler, asked him if he ever tired of playing Irish roles. His answer was "I never hope to get away from them. But one thing is sure—I never want to play a stock type of Irishman. I like to show how bright the Irish are. I would even relish playing an unpopular Irish character." Elinor Hughes, Boston Herald, asked Fitzgerald if he were going to make another film soon with John Ford. He answered, "We have talked about another film but it is very much up in the air. Working with Ford is a great privilege for he always seems to know exactly what he wants to do and does it with the least waste of time." Prunella Hall, Boston Post, asked him if it were true he had settled down in Ireland permanently after finishing his current film, "Finian's Rainbow." "Oh no," he answered, "I'm living here in California where my home is in Santa Barbara. Between pictures I occasionally do a radio show and I've appeared on several television programs recently. If a picture comes along that I like, I'll do it." Marjory Adams, Boston Globe, asked

Fitzgerald if he planned to return to the stage. "Oh no," he answered, "I'm too old to go back to the theatre. In 'Tonight's The Night' many of the actors who worked with me in the Abbey Theatre years ago were in the cast. It was quite a reunion and we had a happy time." Peggy Doyle, Boston American, asked him in what section of Ireland the film was filmed and he answered, "Probably I shouldn't mention this fact but the film was shot in England, 40 miles outside London, in a section that looks like Ireland, of course."

American Theatres Corporation displayed a nice token of goodwill when they saluted the first anniversary of "This Is Cinerama" by using a banner over their regular ATC Movie Guide ads in the daily papers. The banner read, "ATC Salutes Si Fabian and Sam Rosen, sponsors of 'This Is Cinerama,' Celebrating Its First Anniversary."

The Yarmouth, Yarmouth, Me., which has been operated for nearly 10 years by Marshall Carleton, is now under the management of David Score, son of Louis Score, Maine exhibitor. Louis Score originally leased the theatre from the owners and sub-let it to Carleton in 1945. . . . Richard Oberman, son of the popular Nate Oberman, head booker, MGM, is now in the booking department at RKO, handling the Maine, Vermont, and New Hampshire accounts. Oberman has finished his two-years army service, but before his enlistment he had spent several months at National Screen Service.

Joe Longo, RKO publicist, has three films to exploit in this territory, none of which are booked as yet in Boston, "The Americano," "Underwater," and "The Conqueror." . . . Max Levenson, head, Levenson Circuit, who has returned from Florida, is greatly improved in health and is back at his office full time.

Film District

Floria Simi, booker, RKO, for the past two years, has transferred to Buena Vista as booker. . . . Julian Rifkin, vice-president, Rifkin Circuit, his wife Lee, and their son Buddy are spending their annual vacation at Miami Beach, Fla.

Etta Glazin, booking department, Paramount, has returned from a vacation in Acapulco and Mexico City. . . . Phil Bloomberg, Orpheum, Danvers, Mass., paid his first visit to the film district since his recent operation at Salem Hospital. . . . Managing director, Metropolitan, Max Naylor was given a double duty this year as general chairman, fathers and sons breakfast, Temple Kehillath Israel, Brooklyn, Mass. Two different affairs were held this year, one for fathers and their sons under 12 years and another for fathers and their sons over 12 years.

Harry Goldstein, Allied Artists eastern publicity manager, was in to handle the advance campaign here and elsewhere in New England on "Tonight's The Night." He made his headquarters at the local Allied Artists' exchange.

New Haven Crosstown

Morris Rosenthal, Loew's Poli, and his staff have been quite busy with the details for the world premiere of the Robert Taylor film MGM's "Many Rivers To Cross" on Jan. 26. An interesting angle was that about the teaser card for the world premiere which featured a picture of Taylor and told about his being in New Haven for the bow.

A late condolence to Jim Darby, Paramount, on the death of his dad. . . . Sam Hadelman, Grand, and Mrs. Hadelman went to New York state for a week's vacation. . . . Maurice Maloney has been pinch hitting as temporary manager, Crown, filling in the vacancy made when Bernie Goffin moved to the Whitney, Hamden, Conn., to be manager there. . . . The Roger Sherman had a sneak prevue.

Jim Darby, Paramount, had local radio, TV, and press as invited guests at the special screening of Paramount's "The Bridges at Toko-Ri" at the Lincoln recently. Also present were air force, army, and other military personnel.

Meadow Street

More and more movie actors and stars are coming into Connecticut to assist with the new productions on their initial playdates in this area. The world premiere of MGM's "Many Rivers To Cross" at Loew's Poli, with Robert Taylor making a personal appearance, and Universal-International's tour of George Nader to help "Six Bridges To Cross" are the January bookings. MGM enters with a good publicity crew, also aided by the Loew Poli New England organizations, to bally. Phil Brucker, U-I, was in the area when Nader did press, radio, and TV stints here, Hartford, Waterbury, Bridgeport, and then back to Boston. Claudia Hall, also in "Six Bridges To Cross," came in and then stopped off in Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury, and Boston.

Earl Wright, Columbia salesman, and Mrs. Wright had an interesting trip on their vacation in California. After a trip to Washington, the couple reached Los Angeles and visited with Wright's sister and brother-in-law. The Wrights saw the parade of the Tournament of Roses; "This Is Your Life" TV show; talked to Steve Broidy, AA executive; met Leo Schapiro, Bob Nunes, and others; and went to Mexico, Palm Springs, and other spots. Mrs. Wright stopped off in Ohio on the way back and saw her daughter, Mrs. Connie Reid and family.

A rabid golf fan, even in cold weather, is Leon Jakubson, MGM, who can be seen at Municipal on weekends. . . . Sherman Germaine, son of Sam Germaine, 20th-Fox, and wife had a 15th wedding anniversary party at the Variety Club. . . . Larry Germaine, SW office, is planning a Florida trip. . . . Joseph Giobbi, who managed the Crown, Hartford, Conn., when under the jurisdiction of Lew Ginsberg, Amalgamated, has been appointed to reopen the Crown and run it for the estate and other interested parties.

George E. Landers, Hartford division manager, E. M. Loew's Theatres, and John Markle, Columbia publicist, had the above cowboy and horse street bally out for Columbia's "The Violent Men," E. M. Loew's, Hartford, Conn.

Palace, Torrington, Conn., arranged with McCann's store to tieup with the "So This Is Paris" contest. The store ran a seven column advertisement in The Torrington Register giving the information about the contest and also a nice bit of bally for the picture. . . . The Summit Drive-In, located in Branford Hills, Conn., has been incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $50,000. The incorporators are Charles M. Lane, North Haven, Conn., and two Branford, Conn., residents, Irving C. Jacocks, Jr., and T. Homes Bracken. Jacocks is the proprietor of the Branford. Bracken is a lawyer.

The PTA Council of Branford was scheduled to sponsor the showings of the film, "Julius Caesar," at the Branford on Jan. 26, 27, and 28. The Branford Scholarship Fund was set to receive a percentage of the proceeds from the tickets sold through school children and the PTA. . . . The Ville, Waterville, Conn., started a new encyclopedia deal.

Sam Rosen, Rosen Film Delivery, went back to Florida. . . . Ben Simon, former 20th-Fox branch manager, returned from his Florida trip. . . . Herman Hirschorn, 20th-Fox branch manager, visited in Philadelphia and other Pennsylvania spots on his Christmas week vacation.

When U-I starlet Claudia Hall visited Springfield, Mass., as part of her 10-city bally for "Six Bridges To Cross," one of her stops was at the Mayor's office, where she is seen doing her part to plug The March of Dimes, while Mayor Brunton makes a contribution. At the left is Mrs. Jule Kaufman, director, women's division, Hampden County March of Dimes.

. . . Elizabeth Kelleher, 20th-Fox, leaves her position on Jan. 28.

Circuits Loew Poli

Division manager Harry F. Shaw and publicity director Lou Brown have been quite busy with plans for the personal appearance of Robert Taylor in New Haven in conjunction with the world premiere of MGM's "Many Rivers To Cross." Floyd Fitzsimmons, Boston, and Arthur Canton, eastern district publicity, were in aiding in the schedule and bally. Taylor was due in on the Merchants Limited and a welcoming crowd was expected at the railroad station. TV radio, press time; visit to the City Hall with the Mayor; Winchester's; cocktail party at the Taft; theatre appearance; and presentation of the Winchester award are on the schedule.

Norman Levinson, assistant manager, Poli, Hartford, Conn., is now with MGM as field representative working out of Minneapolis. . . . Al Corey, who was on a leave of absence, is now assistant manager in Hartford. . . . Joe Mansfield, United Artists, was in assisting with bally of "Vera Cruz" in Hartford.

Variety Club Tent 31, New Haven

Ralph Pries, field representative for Variety Clubs, and a member of Philadelphia Variety, was in recently and had luncheon with members of the New Haven club.

Connecticut Bristol

New CinemaScope screens and equipment have been installed at the Carberry, Bristol; Luxor, Unionville; and Mayfaire, Terryville, all in Connecticut, by Joe Faith, Faith Theatres.

East Hartford

"You get more out of life with the movies—you get more out of the movies at the Burnside Theatre!" is new slogan being used via newspaper ads and screen trailers by Morris Keppner and Barney Tarantul, Burnside.

Hartford

Attorney Herman M. Levy, general counsel, TOA, and executive secretary, MPTO of Connecticut, will address the Hartford Advertising Club on the topic of subscription or toll television at the club's Feb. 8 meeting, slated for 12:15 p.m. at the Hotel Bond here.

The 850-seat Crown, downtown subsequent-run situation, has closed down for a three-week remodeling program. . . . George E. Landers, Hartford division manager, E. M. Loew's Theatres, back from a San Francisco vacation trip with Mrs. Landers, got plenty of sizable newspaper breaks for Columbia's CinemaScope attraction, "Violent Men." Street ballyhoo, arranged by Landers and John Markle, Columbia exploiter, included an aide on appropriately-bannered horse, sent through downtown area for several days ahead of Connecticut premiere at the E. M. Loew's. Landers planted a special newspaper story on the fact that the western marked the first wide open spaces assignment for veteran thespian Edward G. Robinson.

Morris Keppner, Burnside Theatre Corporation, was in New York on business. He got a two-column art break on revival bill, consisting of "Has Anybody Seen My Gal?" and "Lili," in The Hartford Times. . . . Bill Brooker, U-I exploitation department, was in the territory ahead of "So This Is Paris" and "Six Bridges to Cross." . . . John Silverwatch, Hartford Drive-In, Newington, Conn., and Mrs. Silverwatch are planning a Miami, Fla., vacation in February.

Mansfield

The Mansfield Drive-In is being expanded from 757 to 950-car capacity. Lou Lipman, president, General Theatres, Inc., owners of the drive-in, has been recuperating at his West Hartford home from surgery. . . . Mrs. Morris Keppner, wife of the General Theatres partner, is recovering from surgery.

Middletown

Playing "A Star Is Born" at the Middlesex, Mike Adorno, assistant general manager, M and D Theatres, advertised, "Note! This is the uncut full length version New York is still paying $2 to see at the Victoria on Broadway."

New Britain

Enterprising Joe Borenstein, Stanley Warner Strand, sold a prominent downtown merchant on a quarter-page co-op ad in the interests of "Young At Heart." The merchant, a furniture-appliance dealer, also participated in a large-scale lobby display.

Norwich

Wallingford

George H. Wilkinson, Jr., president, MPTO of Connecticut, has installed new wide-screen facilities at the Wilkinson.

West Hartford

Father Francis Campbell, son of the Hugh J. Campbell, Central, visited here from Lexington, Ky. . . . The Central's Saturday morning children's shows recently marked their 500th performance.

Cinerama Marks First Birthday

BOSTON—In its "Salute To Cinerama" luncheon at the Hotel Statler, the Boston Advertising Club did an outstanding job. James "Red" King, the popular tub-thumper for Cinerama here, was in charge of all arrangements for this anniversary occasion, the first birthday of "This Is Cinerama" in Boston.

Charles E. Kurtzman, northeastern division manager, Loew's Theatres, Inc., was the general chairman who introduced the speakers at the head table. These included many of the top men from Stanley Warner Corporation and officials of Cinerama, as well as officers of the Boston Advertising Club.

The chief speaker of the day was Sam Rosen, executive vice-president, Cinerama, who came on from New York for the occasion. He gave vital statistics of the Cinerama process, saying that there are 13 theatres to date showing "This Is Cinerama," all in the larger cities in this country. Montreal, he said, opened last week; London is running; and Tokyo and Osaka in Japan will be showing the film before the end of January.

There is a large initial investment for the process with a swollen weekly theatre expense, he explained, so that it is impractical to spot Cinerama theatres in all cities in the nation. Each theatre requires exclusive access to huge audiences to justify the existence of this film. The merchandising of the film presented another problem due to its unique type not in competition with any existing medium of the theatre business. It draws patronage from longer distances and enjoys longer runs than any screen offering to date. Therefore, a mail order business for distant customers is necessary, as well as person to person contact with those nearby. Cinerama made a day-in-and-day-out business of this type of merchandising.

"In New England, we have endeavored to reach every person. We have handled over 100,000 phone calls in Boston, advertised in school publications, hotel papers, and convention magazines. We have contacted religious organizations, every fraternal group, and every travel bureau, using heralds, brochures, and mailing pieces," Rosen said. Here he interjected a nice plug for "Red" King by saying, "Our very popular Red King has addressed every type of organization at luncheons, conventions, and other business meetings throughout this territory."

He mentioned the next two Cinerama productions, the Louis deRochemont "Cinerama Holiday" and the "Seven Wonders of the World," the latter still in production. He ended his address by saying, "It's been a great pleasure for me to present an unknown side of Cinerama development to this group of Boston specialists and may I again thank the Boston Advertising Club for its gracious sponsorship of this event and for creating this happy occasion."

At the conclusion of Rosen's address, Paul Provandie, president, Ad Club, presented Rosen with a Paul Revere silver bowl and a Tricorn "Minute Man" hat as mementoes of the occasion.

Lester Isaac, national director, Cinerama exhibition, who introduced Rosen to the group, drew a laugh from the audience when he said, "Cinerama is not a Hollywood product, nor do we sell popcorn in any theatre showing the film. It interferes with the high quality of our sound system."

More than 350 members and guests of the Boston Ad Club turned out to honor "This Is Cinerama." The Georgian Room was filled with industry men including circuit owners, managers, projectionists, and independents. There were several tables of newspaper people, film critics, and radio and television personnel. A huge birthday cake made entirely of white carnations was placed before the head table. Toni Williams, "Miss Cinerama of Boston," lit the cake's one candle when the room was plunged in darkness except for the lighted matches held in the hands of the audience. It was an effective display, conceived by Red King.

In the lobby of the Boston, where the film has played for 12 months, Mayor Hynes cut the real birthday cake, assisted by Donald Hurley, president, Boston Chamber of Commerce, amid radio and television coverage, plus kleig lights and a bagpipe band. As the evening performance was open to the public, those having seats were invited to participate in the lobby festivities before the showing. With Red King, managing director Rudolph Kuehn, house manager Max Michaels, and boxoffice director Sol Kaplan were in charge of the evening.

New Hampshire Center Ossipee

At Pineland and Memorial Hall, Wolfeboro, N. H., the audiences now enjoy new CinemaScope screens.

Dover

The Strand sponsored a contest to guess the size of the new VistaVision screen, advertised as 1,000 times larger than the biggest commercial television screen. Prizes included full-course restaurant dinners and complimentary tickets to the theatre.

Peterboro

The Community presented a full-length show sponsored by the Legion to which admission was by donation of canned goods and other non-perishable foods.

Rhode Island Providence

Now completely repainted, refurbished and redecorated, the Westminster Playhouse, featuring foreign films, was leased for a long term period from the Central Real Estate Company, by Howard N. Levin, Frederick Rogers and Joseph Cohen, all of Boston. The 800-seat house is set for a long and pretentious run, according to the new operators. With the exception of Joseph Cohen, who is a well-known Boston booking agent, neither of the other two partners have had any previous theatrical experience, according to Howard Levin, who will act as manager. Levin was previously a department store buyer, and Rogers has had a diversified background. While Providence already boasts of an "art" house, the Avon Cinema, located in the swank East Side section of the city, the newest member to this group is more centrally located, being just a few steps from all the downtown first runs. The Avon, because of its location, draws mostly from the East Side area, especially from among the thousands of Brown, Pembroke, and Bryant college students and faculty.

The youngsters are having a veritable "field day" what with many neighborhood houses running prize contests and special features at the Saturday "kiddie matinees."

The Civic, Portland, Me., recently set a coloring contest with the local Columbia Markets in connection with U-I's "Sign Of The Pagan." It drew plenty of attention from the younger set as shown.

New York State Albany

Jack Byrne, eastern MGM sales manager, was in on a visit to the local branch.

Governor Averell Harriman's message to the Legislature did not contain good news for the motion picture industry. The section of "State-Local Relationships," had emphasis on the belief that "in general, the state government should interfere as little as possible with the financial affairs of localities. We must also, as far as practicable, make the taxing powers of localities permanent, so they will not have to come back to Albany year after year asking further extensions." This indicated there will be no repeal of the 1947 enabling act under which New York City voted a five percent admission tax. At least, no such recommendation will be made by the new governor. This means, too, that other cities and all counties, will continue to have power to adopt a five percent admission impost. Going further, the governor suggested the enactment of legislature establishing a commission of eight members to examine "carefully the specific matter of the city's (New York) financial relations with the State." The mayor of New York would appoint three members, the governor three; the Assembly speaker and the Senate majority leader, one each. Governor Harriman commented, "In the matter of state-local relationships, the City of New York, with its eight million inhabitants constitutes a very special problem. For many years there has been much discussion as to whether or not New York was being treated fairly by the state with respect to taxing powers and state aid." Governor Harriman's observations on minimum wages for shadowed an increase in those for various fields covered, including certain theatre employees, if the recommendation to "revitalize" the minimum wage board machinery is adopted. The Governor began by saying, "Our law speaks only of minimum wages for women and minors. Minimum wages for men are affected only a round-about way by a provision that they shall not be lower than those set for women and children. The federal minimum wage law applies to men and women alike, and its constitutionality has long been settled. It's high time that we in New York state also approach the problem of minimum wages for men directly. I recommend that our minimum wage boards be given direct jurisdiction over minimum wage standards for men. The time has come also to revitalize our minimum wage board machinery." Governor Harriman's declaration, coupled with his pledge to "do everything I can to press for a nationwide minimum wage of $1.25 an hour," made it likely that pressure for a hike in present state minimums will be great. There are three such categories of scales, depending upon population, in the theatre field now. Governor Harriman also urged increases in unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation insurance, and disability benefits for off-the-job accidents and sickness. Two legislators with motion picture affiliations attended the convening of the 1955 session. They were Senator Fred G. Moritt, Brooklyn Democrat, and counsel-treasurer, MacDonald Pictures, and Assemblyman Harold I. Tyler, Chittenango Republican and owner, Delphia.

Joe Liss, Massachusetts district manager, Stanley Warner, and new supervisor, Albany zone, made his first visit in that capacity. He headquartered at the Strand while in town. . . . Condition of George H. C. Farley, confined to Rex Hospital, Raleigh, N. C., after suffering a heart attack on a Florida-bound train, was reported by his Film Row office as very encouraging.

Reappearance of Alfred G. Swett on the local scene followed the retirement of Jack Swartout at Ritz, and Swett's appointment as his successor. The energetic Swett managed local second-run Madison for Warners before his transfer to Avon, Utica, N. Y., in November, 1951. Mrs. Otilie Fearing, assistant to Andy Roy, Stanley, Utica, for 20 months, and originally cashier, Avon, drew the latter managerial assignment.

George C. Hoover, international chief barker, Variety Clubs, invited by George H. Schenck, chief barker, Tent 9, served as toastmaster of the testimonial dinner for Charles A. Smakwitz, new Stanley Warner zone manager in Newark, N. J.

Doors in the Stanley Warner zone offices on the second floor of Strand Theatre building were locked, telephones were removed and records were crated for shipment to New Haven and Newark. This dropped the curtain on Stanley Warner zone headquarters in Albany. The circuit and its predecessor, Warner Theatres, had occupied the Strand since 1950. . . . Joseph Liss, Stanley Warner district manager for Massachusetts, is currently supervising the Albany zone as well. Liss headquarters in Boston. Arrangements for the supervisory change were explained at a meeting here attended by Charles A. Smakwitz, Liss, Harry Feinstein, New Haven zone manager; Jim Totman, Claims by the Farley Estate, George H. C. Farley, Fabian Operating Corporation, and Copia Realty Company for an estimated $2,742,000 in excessive tax assessments on buildings housing the State, Erie, Proctor's, and Plaza, for more than a dozen years, are being pressed in proceedings instituted against the city of Schenectady. The Farley claims for refunds cover 1936 and the years 1942 through 1955; those by Fabian concerns 1942 through 1955. Copia took over ownership of Proctor's and Plaza in 1948. Referee Hyman W. Sevits, local attorney, held hearings on the actions.

Industry Pioneers Have Their "Day"

PHILADELPHIA—Mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr., last week proclaimed Jan. 18 "Motion Picture Pioneers Day" in honor of the film industry.

A caravan of Hollywood stars participated that day in the dedication of the Nickelodeon, constructed and donated to the Franklin Institute by William Goldman, head, Goldman Theatres and other enterprises, as a "shrine to the motion picture industry"; and in honoring nickelodeon pioneers of the area, William Hunt, Al Boyd, Ben Amsterdam and Abe Sablosky, at a banquet, held in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Principal speaker at the banquet, at which George Jessel was toastmaster, was the Honorable Charles S. Thomas, Secretary of the Navy, who discussed the role of films in the Armed Forces training, entertainment, and reporting.

Among the stars attending the ceremonies were Esther Williams, Deborah Kerr, Charles Laughton, Eva LeGallienne, George Murphy, Elsa Lanchester, Doona Reed, Rita Gam, and Marge and Gower Champion.

The proclamation was read in the Mayor's reception room in City Hall and, following a reception, the party proceeded to the Franklin Institute in a cavalcade of antique autos.

At a luncheon Laughton was welcomed to life membership in the Institute. Later, at ceremonies dedicating the Nickelodeon, Laughton had his feet impressed in concrete before the Nickelodeon entrance. The famed Pensacola Naval Cadet Choir sang at the dedication ceremonies in Franklin Institute.

The $25-a-plate Motion Picture Associates banquet, of which Goldman was chairman, will benefit the welfare committee of the group, according to Sam Diamond, president, and branch manager, 20th Century-Fox.

In his proclamation Mayor Clark stressed the role of Philadelphia in the development of films and pointed out that "American motion pictures have been a great influence in spreading democracy throughout the world and have helped to make friends for America with people of all nationalities." The Mayor further stated, "this industry, which represents an important force in the life in America, has provided entertainment and education for Americans for three generations."

Variety Installs 21st Chief Barker

PHILADELPHIA—Louis J. Goffman, local attorney, was installed as chief barker, Variety Club of Philadelphia, Tent 13, at the annual dinner of the tent held last week in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

The induction ceremonies were delivered by George Hoover, Miami, Fla., chief barker, Variety Clubs International, at the testimonial in honor of Norman Silverman, retiring chief barker and branch manager, Republic, and welcoming the newly-elected chief barker and his crew for 1955.

A capacity crowd of 275 made up of Variety members and their guests, including a number of prominent lawyers, Justice Horace Stern, Senator Francis Myers, Congressman William D. Green, and others, were in attendance.

The principal speaker of the evening was Morris Wolf, Esquire, chief counsel, Stanley Warner Theatres in Philadelphia, and one of the pioneers in film business from the days of the nickelodeon and an associate of Stanley and Jules Mastbaum in the Stanley Company of America.

Wolf, of whose law firm, Wolf, Block, Schorr, and Solis-Cohen, Goffman is a member, recently left the post of general counsel for the Foreign Operations Administration, directed by Harold E. Stassen.

Introduced by Jay Emanuel, publisher, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, Wolf lauded show business for its world-wide display of American ideas and activities. Describing how FOA carries out the foreign aid policy of the government, Wolf said, "There is no audience to which I could speak about our activities in foreign countries, which has acquaintance with all parts of the world that we of the amusement industry have."

"Even our government," he continued, "with the billions of dollars which it has spent and is spending abroad, does not bring as many foreigners into contact with American ideas and activities as we."

Goffman's crew for 1955 includes Maxwell Gillis, branch manager, Allied Artists, first assistant; Harry Romain, Progressive Electric Company, second assistant; George T. Beattie, William Goldman Theatres executive, dough guy; and Myer Lewis, National Theatre Supply Company, property master.

Other members of the board elected are Roger W. Clipp, general manager, WFIL and WFIL-TV; Sylvan M. Cohen, of the law firm, Cohen and Cohen, who also is fixer for the Tent; Michael Felt, Jack Greenberg, Leo Posel, and Lester Wurtele, branch manager, Columbia.

Continuing ex-officio on the board are retiring chief barker Silverman, and former chief barker Victor H. Blanc, Philadelphia councilman-at-large and local attorney; Ralph W. Pries, Berlo Vending Company; Ted Schlanger, zone manager, Stanley Warner Theatres, who was unable to be present due to illness in the family; David Supowitz; and Jack Beresin, president, Berlo Vending Company, a former international chief barker.

considerable damage, according to manager Harry Peterson. The house is one of the Durkee Circuit. . . . Mrs. Flavia Thomas, owner, Anthony, Dundalk, Md., injured her arm when she fell inside the theatre.

J. Russell Hildebrand, manager, Towson, has installed CinemaScope. . . . Fred Perry, owner, Edgemere, is reviving the "dish giveaway" promotion. . . . Manager Leon Zeller put on a big show for the world premiere of "John Wesley." A Methodist bishop and prominent churchmen were among the guests. . . . Water Gettinger, part owner, Howard, and Mrs. Gettinger expect their second "blessed event" in early spring. . . . Bob Rappaport, Hippodrome and Town, attended the opening night of "South Pacific" at Ford's. . . . C. Elmer Nolte, Sr., and his son C. Elmer, Jr., boarded a plane for Florida for a couple weeks' vacation.

The Variety Club, Tent 19, entertained members of the "South Pacific" cast on a Saturday night. Proceeds from the evening were given to the March of Dimes. . . . Sydney R. Traub, chairman, Maryland State Board of Motion Picture Censors, addressed the Baltimore Hebrew Congregation's laymen's service. . . . James Gladfelter, manager, Linden, is expected to take over management of the Playhouse, succeeding the late Ted Routson. Both houses are of the Schwaber Circuit.

Manager George Hendricks, Mayfair, was shocked to learn a patron who remained in his seat after the last showing of "Destry" had died, apparently of a heart attack.

Pennsylvania Harrisburg

Some of the shows staged through the years in the old Rio and its predecessor, the Majestic, are being discussed by "sidewalk superintendents" who daily watch razing of the old playhouse. What will replace the theatre is not certain. The owner, Edward A. Herre, local contractor, said he is undecided about future use of the land.

"Carmen Jones" came to town preceded by a good build-up arranged by Senate manager Bernard J. Bispeck. An attractive 10-foot-high blow-up of "Carmen" was set up on the curb in front of the theatre three weeks before.

Blanc, March of Dimes chairman, made a strong plea for over the top industry participation in this year's drive against infantile paralysis.

Michael Felt conducted the "heart fund" presentations which this year consisted of six $100 U. S. Savings Bonds, a $500 U. S. Savings Bond, a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond, a Plymouth, and a Cadillac. The only known industry winner was Progressive Electric Company, which received the $1,000 bond. The cars were received by Frank Strocen, Philadelphia, and Thomas Shelly, Margate, N. J.

Sylvan M. Cohen was toastmaster.

The Philadelphia Variety Club, Tent 13, held its 21st annual testimonial dinner at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel last week in honor of retiring Chief Barker Norman Silverman, and incoming Chief Barker Louis J. Goffman. Pictorial highlights of the affair were left to right, top to bottom, Goffman delivering his speech of acceptance; Morris Wolf, prominent industry attorney of the law firm, Wolf, Block, Schorr and Solis-Cohen, and former special representative, Foreign Operations Administration, who was the principal speaker; Sylvan Cohen, who was toastmaster; Abe Freedman, Philadelphia City Solicitor; and Silverman, William Green, chairman, Democratic City Committee; Wolf; and Victor Blanc, Philadelphia Councilman at large and chairman, March of Dimes; James P. Clark, Highway Express Lines; International Variety Clubs Chief Barker George Hoover, Miami, Fla.; William Goldman, head, William Goldman Theatres; Justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court Horace Stern; Jack Beresin, chairman, Tent 13's "Heart Fund"; Edward Emanuel, International Variety Club property master; Ralph Pries, Berlo Vending Company; Samuel Diamond, president, Motion Picture Associates; Jay Emanuel, publisher, MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR; Wolf; Silverman; and Goffman.

fore the film opened and attracted much attention. In a tie-up with RCA record distributors, window cards were placed with dealers throughout the area plus cooperative advertising. Manager Bispeck grabbed off one of the choicest windows in the city after the Democratic state headquarters moved out of a downtown showroom.

Mrs. Rita Messimer, cashier, State, gave birth to a baby daughter. . . . History will be made on Jan. 26 when the State has been rented for the first time for a Box Office TV presentation. Insurance companies will gather in the theatre during the morning and will see a telecast on the screen of a meeting being held in the company's New York headquarters. Other closed circuit attractions are being planned, according to State manager E. G. Wollaston.

Marietta

Borough Council was considering eliminating the two-cent amusement tax paid by patrons of the Marietta. Council decided to take the action after a protest from Armand Acri, manager of the theatre, who stated that the levy gave non-taxed theatres in the county an unfair advantage over him.

Marcus Hook

Ralph Pries, Variety Club of Philadelphia, Tent 13, canvassman, addressed the Rotary Club and made a talk on Variety and its work for underprivileged children; its camp; its work in the March of Dimes, etc.

Reading

American Legion leaders here are taking notice of national campaigns against Charles Chaplin and other films, as in other cities. This was learned after an American Legion post in Allentown protested a move to show the Chaplin films in the Muhlenberg College Hall there.

Sales of tickets for the Boyd Cinerama shows in Philadelphia, last five weeks, are being made in Reading, with considerable display advertising. Bus parties take the ticket buyers in groups of about 40 from Reading to the theatre and back.

Lewis G. Yost, an official of the Reading Motion Picture Projectionists' Union for many years, has been reelected for his second one-year term as president, Central Labor Union of Reading and Berks County, AFL. . . . Paul E. Glase, manager, Embassy, and active in theatres here for more than 40 years, signed a letter of endorsement in a display advertisement for "No Business Like Show Business."

Rajah Temple, Mystic Shriners, owner, Rajah, held a ceremonial marking payment of the last of its mortgages on the theatre and temple dual structure. The mortgages, given after fire in 1921, compelled rebuilding of the structure, were for $750,000. The last of the debt, $51,000 in 1954, was called off a few weeks ago by the payment of the final $6,000.

Bob Diem, manager, Loew's Colonial, placed on the sidewalk a full size reproduction in cardboard and plyboard of an iron lung, with receptacles for contributions to the March of Dimes. With thousands of people passing the layout, the "iron lung" is garnering a lot of dimes, quarters, and even dollar bills from contributions.

The ONE BEST since 1936.
Better REVIEWS!
More REVIEWS!
And MOST EASILY
SAVEABLE!

SAVEABLE REVIEW SERVICES were an innovation by MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR in 1936. Prior to that year many Trade Papers reviewed features and shorts, or at least listed them for reference purposes;—but none followed any uniform style or method that permitted saving in other than a heterogeneous glob in a scissors and paste pot scrapbook.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR changed all this! In 1936 it introduced a separate, saveable section, in which all reviews and indexes relating to any particular year were carefully brought to the executive theatreman for his current and future knowledge. Now imitated or adapted by most other Trade Papers, the basic method has never been improved.

But MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR went further than this! ONLY MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, down through the years, has maintained a 100% Review Coverage of ALL features and of ALL shorts, whether foreign or domestic, that were available to Executive Theatreman consideration. ONLY in MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR has continued to appear the MOST COMPLETE of all Reviewing Services. The record speaks for itself!

$200 per year (52 issues)
 IN THE U.S.A. AND CANADA

That's why . . . YOUR BEST TRADE PAPER . . . is EXHIBITOR!

title. Holidays and special events will be found at the bottom of this page. This chart is kept as up-to-date as possible on information made available by the home office.

ABOUT OLD WAR HORSES AND COCKLEBURRS

DOWN THROUGH MORE YEARS than either of us probably want to remember, Pete Harrison and I have seen eye to eye regarding the principal rights and wrongs of our great industry. Pete has been a great personality and a great influence, and, except for the one time when he tried to turn producer (one of the worst pictures ever made, so that even his best friends couldn't tell him), he has been an honest critic; although one who laid a little too great emphasis on that "no advertising" purity.

While it is an admitted truism that "Man does not live on bread alone!"—there is always the inescapable fact that he does need bread; and that bread, and employes, and offices on both coasts, and printing and postage, all cost money, and we never heard of Pete taking a vow of poverty.

But, to get back to my point, I have never known Pete to sell his soul. What he says, he thinks! Even though every now and then, like most enthusiasts, he goes off on a flight of thinking that sometimes isn't well thought out. It is sort of like, old war horse that he is, catching a cocklebur under his rear extremity where he can't get at it, so he goes charging about all over the place kicking and flailing at everything. We can forgive him these tantrums, for we know that if we could just get hold of him for a minute and remove the cocklebur, he'd be the first guy to grin and make up. There is no evil in Pete!

So, when I read Pete's tirade under the heading of "Balaban's Pipe Dream" in his issue of Jan. 8, I couldn't help but grin. Some place or other Pete has picked up a cocklebur.

The piece itself is too long to reprint, and its reprinting would serve no useful purpose, for any impartial judge could only come to the conclusion that Pete is out to "get" Barney Balaban.

Pete finds fault with a recent Paramount insert in the trade press that drew the attention to that company's development of VistaVision, and to that company's claim that "White Christmas," Paramount's current sock hit, was benefited by VistaVision. While Pete agrees that VistaVision results in a 2 to 1 wide screen picture "that is somewhat sharper and brighter" than normal, he literally flays Barney Balaban, "White Christmas," and everything on the horizon that bears a Paramount identification, ending up with a self-created imaginative bogeyman claim that it is in his opinion "the opening gun in a campaign to persuade the exhibitor to come through with higher rentals for pictures that have been photographed in VistaVision."

Interlaced with the hysteria seems to be Pete's feeling that anyone who tries a new development or tries to improve today's presentation to the public is in some way throwing ice water on CinemaScope, and cat calls at Spyros Skouras, who had the courage to develop and push it.

Now, as one contemporary, I think this department has praised friend Spyros to the skies, and has often attributed to his sagacity and to his courage the present strengthened position of the entire industry. I'm not taking back a word of it. But does that mean that with CinemaScope an accepted term that attracts boxoffice dollars, just as the term Technicolor did before it and still does, everyone else is to stop trying to develop new techniques and new terms that might also attract boxoffice dollars?

Barney Balaban happens to have VistaVision and to have backed it with a lot of Paramount cash in the belief that he could make it mean something at the boxoffice. It is his bill of goods and he is selling it.

Others have Superscope, Perspecta Sound, and just around the corner is Todd A-O. They are all good because they show we are trying as an industry to become bigger and better than ever before. Some will lay eggs and others will click, but that is the way of this business. It's when we stop pitching that we slide backward.

So Pete, old friend, stop dreaming up bogeymen. If VistaVision, or SwistaVision, or any other trade name can be made to mean something at the boxoffice, we'd be dopes not to applaud it and even to pay more in proportion. If it doesn't mean anything at the boxoffice nobody would be crazy enough to pay for it. But give a man a chance. Don't throw the book at him when only one picture has used the method, and, whether you like it or not, that picture happens to be a big hit!

So turn around, old war horse, and let me pluck out that cocklebur. You'll feel better.

NEW YORK By Mel Konecuff

RECENTLY, the amusement industry's Brotherhood Drive for 1955 was launched via a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in honor of J. Robert Rubin, permanent chairman of the amusements division since 1936, which was attended by 1,000 representatives of the entertainment world.

KONECUFF

Pledges for support of the ninth annual inter-faith campaign sponsored by the amusements division of the National Conference were received from representatives of all phases of the business.

Barney Balaban, dinner chairman, introduced toastmaster Louis Nizer, who, in turn, presented the other speakers and guests. John H. Harris, 1955 amusement division chairman, and one of the founders of the Variety Clubs, reported on how the latter organization was practicing the aims of brotherhood in its daily operation, and he thanked all for the cooperation extended urging all to do their utmost in making the present campaign a success. William P. Tolley, chancellor of Syracuse University, paid tribute to alumnus Rubin after reviewing his life and career and discussed brotherhood and the field of education.

Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president, National Conference, reported on the work and progress of the movement and that there was great enthusiasm on the part of theatre people and operators. He expected this year to be one of the best for results. Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas was one of the principal speakers discussing brotherhood and politics.

Rubin was doubly honored that night, first, with a gold watch given him by his friends and secondly with a gold plaque honoring his achievements in the field of human relations, presented by Balaban.

Aboard the dais in addition to the aforementioned were Charles Alicote, Jack Beresin, Robert Coyne, George Dem-

Newcomers Brighten Scene

NEW YORK—The arrival of some strong new product kept the boxoffice windows of those houses busy, but holdover spots were generally a bit off.

According to usually reliable reports reaching MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR, the breakdown was as follows:

"Young At Heart" (Warners). Paramount expected the opening session to hit $50,000.

"There's No Business Like Show Business" (20th-Fox). Roxy claimed $20,019 for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with the sixth week expected to reach $33,000.

"The Bridges Of Toko-Ri" (Paramount). Radio City Music Hall, with stage show, reported $103,000 for Thursday through Sunday, with the opening week anticipated at $155,000.

"The Country Girl" (Paramount). Criterion claimed the sixth week would hit $45,000.

"Prince Of Players" (20th-Fox). Rivoli was down to $8,500 on the second week.

"Theodora, Slave Empress" (IFE). Globe dropped to $9,000 on the second, and last, week.

"The Americano" (RKO). Mayfair expected the opening week to tally $24,500.

"A Star Is Born" (Warners). Victoria garnered $14,000 on the 15th week.

"20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" (Buena Vista-Disney). Astor claimed $39,000 for the fifth week.

"Vera Cruz" (UA). Capitol expected the fifth week to reach $27,000.

"3 Ring Circus" (Paramount). Loew's State was heading toward an $18,000 fifth week.

Reade Wins Drive-In Suit

NEWARK, N. J.—An action brought by Walter Reade, Jr., president, Walter Reade Theatres, against William Scully, former U-I vice-president in charge of distribution; James Thompson, operating head, Eastern Drive-In Theatres; and Monroe E. Stein, well-known motion picture anti-trust attorney, wherein Reade sought to compel them to convey six drive-ins in New Jersey to him, was settled last week after trial had proceeded for one day before Judge G. Dixon Speakman in the Superior Court of New Jersey.

Reade accepted an undisclosed sum of money described by all parties as "substantial" and discontinued the action. He had charged in the suit that the defendants had agreed to sell the theatres to him and then breached the contract for the sale. The settlement permits the defendants to convey the theatres to other purchasers. The theatres involved are Totowa Drive-In, Union Drive-In, Morris Plains Drive-In, Brunswick Drive-In, Shore Drive-In and Fly In Drive-In. Reade was represented by Leon L. Levy, Levy and Levy, Trenton, N. J., and Arnold Krakower, New York.

Simultaneous with the settlement of the suit, Reade announced plans to erect the first twin-screen drive-in in the east with a capacity of 1400 cars, on property in Wayne Township, Passaic County, N. J.

Lichtman Outlines Arbitration Agreement

Distribution and Exhibition To Share Cost Equally; All-Industry Conference To Follow Draft Approval

NEW YORK—Al Lichtman, 20th-Fox distribution head and a member of the arbitration committee, as well as guiding light behind the effort to assemble an all industry round table conference, last week announced that the first arbitration draft is nearing completion with approval of the committee to take place clearing the way for the all-industry conference to be set up thereafter.

Regarding arbitration, he reported that all principal points had been agreed upon and it is merely a matter of time with a few minor details to be ironed out. While Allied as an organization has not joined in the conference to set up an arbitration system, Lichtman sees no reason for Allied members not to use the setup which would be open to all exhibitors.

Discussed among members of the committee was the possibility of using the physical setup of the American Arbitration System, such as offices, clerical staff, etc., but hearings would be supervised by a committee comprised of one exhibitor representative, one distributor representative and one member chosen by both.

Exhibitors and distributors are expected to share the cost via an annual dues fee with the sum to be very small on an individual basis. The collections from exhibitors will be matched by a similar sum from distributors. The total figure mentioned was $150,000 annually.

Present plans call for an appeals board to sit permanently in New York to be used where cases involved damages, with this unit made up of industry members. He doesn't doubt but that some exhibitors who think that they stand to gain large amounts in damages, will still appeal to the courts.

Regarding the industry-wide conference, he said all of the distributors and producers as well as actual heads of the companies have expressed a sincere desire to meet with exhibitors and discuss any and all problems excepting film rentals, which can not be discussed on a mass basis because of anti-trust regulations. He added that there was nothing to prevent individual discussions.

Lichtman scored Allied for refusing to go along on the arbitration conference. The all-industry conference has been delayed firstly by the arbitration conference and secondly by the inability to bring all the principals together at any one time, he said.

Exhibs Map Service Survey

NEW YORK—A survey to gather information regarding releasing and print problems of commercial theatres near armed forces installations is to be conducted by exhibitor organizations, it was revealed last week by a source close to the joint exhibition-distribution committee negotiating with the Defense Department on the problem.

Johnston Hails Attempt To Lower U. S. Tariffs

NEW YORK—Eric Johnston, president, Motion Picture Export Association, last week hailed a proposal made by the United States government to negotiate a trade and tariff agreement with Japan as being of the "greatest importance to this country and to the free world."

In a letter to Donn N. Bent, secretary, United States Tariff Commission, Johnston said that "Japan must have exports to survive." He stated that Japan's economy must have free access to the world's markets if it is to stand on its own, and called for a reduction in tariffs both in our country and abroad. Warning that "one-sided trade can lead only to economic disaster," Johnston stated that though Japan wants and needs to purchase many things from us, "it can't even continue its present level of purchases from us unless we, in turn, take its products in much more substantial amounts."

Import Division Mapped

NEW YORK—An over-all formula for the division of import licenses abroad among member companies of the Motion Picture Export Association was submitted last week to the MPEA board of directors.

Contents of the formula to minimize the friction among member companies were not made public.

The committee rendering the report consisted of Abe Schneider, Columbia; Arthur Loew, Loew's; Arnold Picker, United Artists; and George Weltner, Paramount; and MPEA representatives G. Griffith Johnson and Ralph Hetzel.

MPAA's DuVall Dies; Treasurer Was 62

NEW YORK—Frederick W. DuVall, 62, treasurer, Motion Picture Association of America, died last week in Mountinside Hospital, Montclair, N. J., of a heart condition after an illness of several weeks.

A World War I veteran and long-time financial expert, DuVall had been with the Motion Picture Association for more than 25 years. He joined the MPAA in 1929 as an accountant, and in 1941 was elected assistant treasurer. He was elected treasurer in 1948. At the time of his death, DuVall also was treasurer, Motion Picture Export Association.

As treasurer of the MPAA, DuVall was highly regarded in financial circles as an expert and authority on foreign exchange and overseas compensation arrangements. He negotiated many important foreign exchange deals for the motion picture industry.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, a brother, three sisters, and two grandchildren.

Eric Johnston, MPAA president, and Ralph Hetzel, vice-president, both issued statements lauding DuVall and stressing the importance of his services to the association.

Tax Saving Unlikely

WASHINGTON—According to Treasury Department officials, the present intention of the department is to submit to Congress a proposal substantially the same as that of last year for the easing of income tax payments on foreign earnings. The 1954 proposal did not include film companies in the category of those who were to receive tax benefits.

The proposal of 1954 was passed by the House but rejected by the Senate. In his budget message to Congress this year, President Eisenhower declared, "We cannot afford to have any further loss of revenue this year through reduction in taxes." This would seem to rule out MPAA's hope of having the 30 per cent withholding tax on foreign films ended.

SW Officers Elected

The board of Stanley Warner Corporation last week reelected officers Simon H. Fabian, president; Samuel Rosen, executive vice-president; David G. Baird, chairman, finance committee; Harry M. Kalmine, vice-president and general manager; Nathaniel Lapkin, vice-president; W. Stewart McDonald, vice-president and treasurer; David Fogelson, secretary; Frank J. Kiernan, controller; James M. Brennan, assistant treasurer; and Miles H. Alben, assistant secretary.

Safety Film For Archives

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's budget message revealed a program for converting historically valuable motion picture film holdings of the national archives from an unstable nitrate base to a permanent safety acetate base.

Above are exterior and interior shots of the 130-seat Nickelodeon donated by William Goldman as a "shrine to the motion picture industry" to the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. Old silent films will be shown on regular schedules with profits going to the Institute.

Return Of The Nickelodeon

Charles Laughton is presented with associate life membership in the Institute by S. Wyman Rolph.

THANKS to donor William Goldman, head, William Goldman Theatres, a functioning replica of the earliest motion picture house, the Nickelodeon, was dedicated at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, in the presence of many Hollywood and industry celebrities.

Present were Charles Laughton, Elsa Lanchester, John Ericson, Paul Gregory, Esther Williams, Rita Gam, Joan Bennett, George Murphy, Carmel Meyers, George Sidney, Reuben Mamoulan, and others.

Laughton was welcomed to life membership in the institute by S. Wyman Rolph, president, and given a gold medalion in recognition of his contribution to the field of public education through the medium of motion pictures.

Goldman was given a certificate of thanks for the donation of the Nickelodeon and a plaque. Both Laughton and Goldman had their hands and feet impressed in concrete before the Nickelodeon, accepted by the Institute as a shrine to the motion picture industry.

Silent film classics will be shown at the Nickelodeon with performances lasting a half-hour and admission 10 cents, with proceeds going to the Institute. The theatre will seat 130 persons. A turn-of-the-century mood is reproduced by a white wooden marquee, signs in gay nineties lettering, and a wall mural of a Philadelphia street scene of the period on which one end of the marquee abutts.

Donor Goldman is now also a producer, in association with Gregory and Laughton, and a distributor with William Snyder and William Zimmerman in the Williams Company. He has also contributed to civic, social, and community affairs and is sponsor of the Goldman Isotope Laboratory at Hahnemann Medical College and is the only layman ever voted to membership in the International College of Surgeons.

The imposing exterior of the Benjamin Franklin Institute, located on the Parkway, Philadelphia, which now houses the replica of the Nickelodeon, is an attractive and well known Philadelphia landmark. The Institute, founded in 1824, is one of America's most famous.

William Goldman, head, Goldman Theatres, receives from George Murphy, MGM, a token remembrance from the Institute.

Rita Gam poses with Laughton and Goldman who are about to have their footprints perpetuated in cement blocks, which will replace the wooden sidewalk in front of the Nickelodeon.

A portion of the crowd of some 500 persons, who attended a luncheon at the Institute prior to making their first visit to the Nickelodeon, are seen in front of the working replica of the old time movie.

Seen in the Mayor's office, prior to an antique auto cavalcade to the Institute were, left to right, Goldman, Miss Lanchester, Laughton, Miss Gam, and Paul Gregory, now associated with Goldman in a production firm.

Institute President Rolph unveils the plaque with which the Institute marked Goldman's Nickelodeon donation as both Goldman and Laughton look on. Goldman, a pioneer in exhibition, started in the industry with a Nickelodeon.

Miss Gam is escorted by two imitators of the famed Keystone Kops, who were present for "atmosphere." The unusual event captured the imagination of industryites everywhere and drew a host of top names to Philadelphia.

Institute president Rolph presents to Laughton a token appreciation of the event, as Elsa Lanchester and Goldman look on. The Keystone Kops are again seen in the background. The turn of the century motif dominates.

Anti-Toll Television Committee Sets Financing Plans For Exhibs

NEW YORK—An enthusiastic response to what leading circuit heads labeled "long over-due action" was reported last week by co-chairmen Alfred Starr and Truman Rembusch, joint committee on toll-TV, which also announced the retaining of public relations counsel as the first move in the campaign to counter the propaganda of the toll-TV interests to get FCC approval of subscription television without a public hearing on the facts and issues involved.

Abram F. Myers, Allied general counsel, revealed that a tentative budget of $150,000 had been set, with the group calling on exhibitors to remit to Phil Harling, committee treasurer, 1585 Broadway, New York, an amount equal to the sum which they contributed in the form of COMPO dues last year.

Committee spokesmen reported that industry leaders had voiced wholehearted approval of the program announced yesterday.

They also announced that the firm of Harold Wolff and associates, New York, has been retained as public relations counsel to the committee. The Wolff organization is well known as a public relations consultant in the industrial field with a strong background in economic and governmental matters, and represents a number of nationally prominent industrial organizations and associations.

The first phase of the campaign, the committee announced, will be to set up an information program to make available to exhibitors and to the press facts and figures related to the campaign of subscription TV groups to get sanction for their scrambled TV without a full scale hearing. Other steps in the program include the retaining of legal counsel to represent the group before the FCC, hiring of an engineering consultant to explore the complex technical implications involved, and the opening of a Washington office to handle relations in the capital.

Starr and Rembusch pointed out, "Now that we are on the way, the speed and scope of our activity will be proportional to the active support we get from all interested parties."

At present the FCC has three alternatives before it, to approve or deny immediately Zenith's petition for authorization of subscription TV; to announce that it will hold hearings on the subject and to ask for written comments before the hearings; to announce it can't make up its mind and ask for written comments.

Meanwhile, Commander E. F. McDonald, Jr., president, Zenith Radio Corporation, was charging Hal Fellows, president, National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, with attempting to align the association with motion picture theatres in an effort to scuttle or delay subscription TV. McDonald referred to a letter sent by Fellows to the FCC in which he commented on the Zenith petition. McDonald further claimed that Fellows had not consulted the members of his association before sending the letter, but did not mention this fact in his letter to the FCC.

Nicholas John Matsoukas was appointed national director of advertising, publicity and exploitation recently for the Rodgers and Hammerstein production, "Oklahoma," in Todd-AO, by George P. Skouras, president, Magna Theatre Corporation.

NT Considers Plan For Stock Options

LOS ANGELES—Stockholders of National Theatres will be asked to approve a stock option plan for top executives at the company's annual meeting on Feb. 15, it was revealed last week. The plan, already approved by the board, covers a maximum of 230,000 shares of the company's stock and the option price will not be less than 95 per cent of the market value of the stock at the time an option is granted.

Elmer Rhoden, NT president, has no contract at present, but the board has authorized a contract with him for a term of approximately 3½ years at his present salary of $65,000 annually and a five-year contract thereafter at $27,000 annually for consultant services. If the stock option plan becomes effective, he will not receive any additional compensation based on income or profits.

A new contract must also be drawn for F. H. Ricketson, Jr., president and director, Fcx Inter-Mountain Theatres, Inc., whose contract expired on Dec. 31.

Directors nominated for reelection are Gregson Bautzer, John B. Bertero, Peter Colefax, B. F. Giles, George H. Heyman, Jr., Earle G. Hines, Willard W. Keith, Alan May, Richard W. Millar, Rhoden, Ricketson, and Graham L. Sterling, Jr.

SW Exec To Wed

NEW YORK—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weiss, Paris, France, last week announced the engagement of their daughter, Helene, to Arthur M. Rcsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosen. Miss Weiss was born in Paris and was educated both in France and the United States.

Rosen is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, class of 1950, where he matriculated after attending Blair Academy. Rosen served in the air force for approximately three years, then entered the Stanley Warner Cinerama Corporation as assistant to the vice-president in charge of production. Rosen's father is the executive vice-president, Stanley Warner Corporation.

Loew's 1954 Earnings Show Decided Rise

NEW YORK—Consolidated net profit of Loew's Incorporated and all subsidiaries, including theatre subsidiaries, for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1954, increased to $6,577,311 from $4,380,603 in the preceding year, according to the company's annual report issued last week. The 1954 net profit was equivalent to $1.28 per share on the common stock, compared with 85 cents per share in the preceding year.

Profit before taxes for the 1954 fiscal year amounted to $12,643,840, compared with $6,435,504 in the previous year. Operating revenues were $183,142,486, compared with $177,558,874 in the prior year.

The interim financial statement sent to stockholders with the annual report shows that for 12 weeks ended Nov. 25, 1954, the net profits of Loew's and all subsidiaries, including theatre subsidiaries, amounted to $1,521,349 after all taxes and charges, subject to year-end adjustment. This is equivalent to 30 cents per share, compared with $1,133,893 or 22 cents per share in the corresponding period of the preceding year.

The Aug. 31, 1954, balance sheet showed an increase of $13,354,123, in cash and government securities compared with a year earlier. Inventories were $66,043,465, compared with $79,728,467. The company's funded debt was reduced by $2,710,000, and a current bank loan of $4,500,000 was paid off.

The annual report notes that 13 pictures are completed or are in final stages of editing, and lists other important productions currently before studio cameras or in planning.

Theatres Aid Polio Fight

NEW YORK—Theatres throughout the nation are again aiding the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in its March of Dimes drive.

Over 8,000 will play the MOD trailer, and many more will have benefit openings and lobby and audience collections. It is hoped that when the results of the Salk vaccine experiments are revealed this spring, they will show that the long fight against the disease has finally been won.

Pictorial Wins Suit

NEW YORK—Pictorial Films won approximately $100,000 in its suit against Chesapeake Industries in the New York Supreme Court last week.

Pictorial had charged that product it had obtained from Chesapeake had illegally gone to United Artists after UA had obtained the Eagle Lion Classics product. The suit was filed in December, 1954.

Republic Films Go TV

NEW YORK—Twenty-six feature films have been acquired by WCBS-TV for exclusive first-run on television showings in the New York area starting Feb. 1. The films, all produced by Republic and distributed by its subsidiary, Hollywood TV Service, will be shown first on WCBS-TV's "The Early Show" and "The Late Show."

LET'S GO TO WORK TOGETHER!

This is a good time of the year to stimulate your box-office. It's as simple as this: We can both make money by taking advantage of the current upbeat with a dynamic showmanship effort. With M-G-M's 1955 MOTION PICTURE THEATRE CELEBRATION you will have great M-G-M attractions to tie-in with your local ballyhoo to convince the public that "THERE'S MORE FUN AT THE MOVIES." Here's how to do it!

How To Put On A Theatre Celebration In Your City!

With banners flying, colorful lobby displays, arresting Special Trailer, editorials and "salutes"—with double-barrelled showmanship, M-G-M's 1955 Motion Picture Theatre Celebration will spark the movie-goers of your town. A Celebration can be staged individually or in cooperation with other theatres.

Dicker Proclaims Movie Month

Mayor Samuel B. Dicker today proclaimed the first month of the new year "Go-to-the-Movie-Month" for the city of Rochester. In making the proclamation, Mayor Dicker praised the industry for its "progressive enterprise, optimism and spirit." He urged Rochesterians to support and encourage the motion picture people who try to "provide the best possible entertainment for the men, women and children of our city."

YOU CAN DO IT, TOO!

(Left) From Rochester Democrat and Chronicle

START WITH PROCLAMATION

In many localities it starts with a "GO TO THE MOVIE MONTH" proclamation by the Governor or by a Mayor. At press time it's happened already in Rochester, N. Y. (see above) Wisconsin, Illinois and more every day. Local newspapers are persuaded to extend editorial sponsorship to the official "Go to the Movies" ballyhoo. With this practical beginning, theatres will find it easy to inaugurate their own local Celebration. (See Proclamation in Press Book).

CITY-WIDE "SALUTE"

In some situations theatres are collaborating on a city-wide Celebration. A "Salute" to the theatres is organized by a committee and civic tributes are encouraged. Luncheons are arranged through Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary to pay tribute to the theatres for their service to the community. Don't say it can't be done in your city until you've given it a good try—just get it started and watch it snowball into a fine box-office promotion!

drum!"

FREE ACCESSORIES!

1. FREE KITS
Containing 1-sheet, over-the-wire streamer, stickers, buttons, "How To Sell" booklet, press book and other items.
2. SPECIAL TRAILER
M-G-M Stars pay tribute to your theatre. Scenes from many pictures.
3. COLORFUL 40 x 60 POSTER
Eye-catcher for your lobby.
4. RADIO PLATTER
15 minutes running time. Comprising highlight commentary on the "Celebration."
5. FREE 24-SHEETS
Center display is a "Celebration" announcement. Nine titles are spread around it in simulated marquee effects.
6. PRESS BOOK
Ads, publicity and exploitation suggestions.
7. "HOW TO SELL" BOOKLET
Handy pocket-size compendium of promotions for "Celebration."
8. GIANT 40 x 80 LOBBY STANDEE
For first run theatres in larger cities.

IT'S EASY TO GET A "SPONSOR"

You will find it easy to get your Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions or other civic organization to propose the "Salute" and assume leadership and sponsorship for this tribute to the local movie theatre.

NEWSPAPER, TV, RADIO COVERAGE

Having arranged for your "sponsor," provide news story for the press, TV, radio, etc. (Sample story in Press Book).

GET THE PRESS BOOK

Ask your M-G-M Branch for the Celebration Press Book and the handy pocket-size "How To Sell" Booklet. Read them carefully. Everything is covered in detail in them.

LUNCHEONS TO HONOR THEATRES

The regular luncheons of your civic clubs can be turned into "Salute" affairs honoring exhibitors. (Speech data in Press Book).

SEE "WARD MARSH STORY"

In the press book is a story of the history of the movies in Cleveland. This is a good example of how a local history of the movies, starting with the very first film theatre, can be made an interesting newspaper feature in your town. Nearly every place has a comparable local story to tell.

MAKE UP SPECIAL MATERIALS

While M-G-M is providing complete FREE accessories, many exhibitors will want some special locally produced items—special "Salute" trailer, window and pole cards, etc. (See Press Book for copy suggestions).

OPENING NIGHT CEREMONIES

Plan a gala occasion with lights, local band, special guests.

NEWSPAPER COOPERATION

Seek editorial comment based on community angle. Contact advertising manager to sponsor cooperative page with stores under a Celebration headline. This would include display of current and coming attractions.

SCHOOL TIE-UPS

Because of community importance, ask assist from high school publications; arrange forums on radio or TV for general movie discussion, levelling on Celebration attractions. Request cooperation of teachers, use of bulletin boards; tie-in with important local sports events where a banner or score-card or leaflets may be used.

LOBBY IDEAS

Make up lobby panel with star heads with caption: "Send Your Greetings To The Stars. Sign Here and Share in M-G-M's 1955 Motion Picture Theatre Celebration." List your pictures on extra side panel and indicate that signatures will be sent to studio.

DRESS UP FRONT

Give theatre festive air by "flying" strings of pennants up from marquee. Give your theatre a gay, inviting appearance for your Celebration.

MERCHANDISING OPPORTUNITIES

January White Sales, February Furniture Sales, Washington's Birthday, Lincoln's Birthday, St. Patrick's Day, Easter—all of these occur during the period of M-G-M's Celebration. Tie-in with them for store events, windows, co-op ads.

Never in M-G-M history so many spectacular pre-selling projects. M-G-M's Celebration pictures nationally promoted in magazines, newspapers, radio, TV.

WATCH FOR the sensational ballyhoos below. These promotions will visit as many places as possible. Their impact will benefit every box-office in the nation.

1. "Jupiter's Darling"—Big Washington's Birthday Attraction will have elephant ballyhoo. Terrific ad campaign. Full color page in Sunday Supplements (99 million readership); Pictorial Review, American Weekly, This Week, Parade, plus M-G-M's column in national magazines, fan magazine ads. Esther Williams in Person on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" and Ed Murrow's "Person To Person."
2. The giant "Glass Slipper" and the Cinderella contests.
3. Robert Taylor's Traveling Gun Collection for "Many Rivers To Cross." Taylor in Person on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town."
4. The touring M-G-M make-up expert to promote "Interrupted Melody."
5. The gigantic wheel of fortune and girls from "The Prodigal."

HOLIDAY SHOWS

Sell merchants on special kid shows in conjunction with one of the holidays or a special Saturday morning or matinee. Stores pay for the tickets; souvenirs can be promoted.

RADIO AND TV SALUTE

With your community angle you can approach disc jockeys for plugs to promote the Celebration and your pictures. If it's a musical, and there are great musicals in M-G-M's Celebration releases, recordings are available. Other suggestions in Press Book.

RECORD DEALERS

Plentiful opportunity with M-G-M's Celebration musicals to tie-in with record stores, windows, etc., stressing, of course, playdate information.

OTHER IDEAS IN PRESS BOOK

We have just skimmed the surface. The Press Book and the "How To Sell" booklet contain many other suggestions, plus ads and publicity for launching your "Salute" campaign and keeping it alive.

Because for so many years motion picture theatres have provided the most easily agreed-upon answer to, "What'll we do tonight?"
Because for so many years they have helped millions laugh when they needed to, or cry tears of compassion when they wanted to.
Because they have unselfishly made themselves centers of community activity for civic, social and patriotic causes.
Because of these many contributions to a richer life, M-G-M salutes these theatres with a gala offering of some new and important motion pictures.

NOW, MORE THAN EVER, YOU'LL FIND—THERE'S MORE FUN AT THE MOVIES!

"WE'RE CELEBRATING

Industry leaders recently launched the Brotherhood Drive with the ninth annual Brotherhood dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City. Seen, in the usual, left to right, top to bottom, order are Barney Balaban, left, chairman of the dinner, presenting J. Robert Rubin with a gold plaque awarded by the National Conference in recognition of his achievements in the field of human relations. Rubin was guest of honor at the dinner, attended by 1,000 leaders from every branch of the entertainment world. George Dembow, vice-president, National Screen Service; Jack Beresin, Berlo Vending Company head; William C. Gehring, general sales manager, 20th-Fox; Spyros S. Skouras, president, Skouras Theatres; Harry Kal-

mine, vice-president and general manager, Stanley Warner; Chancellor William P. Tolley, Syracuse University, featured speaker; Pete Dana, eastern sales manager, U-I; and William J. Heineman, distribution chairman of the drive, chatting with John H. Harris, center, national chairman of the amusement industry's inter-faith campaign; and George C. Hoover, general manager, Paramount Enterprises; Joseph R. Vogel, vice-president, Loew's, Inc.; Richard Walsh, president, IATSE and MPO; Charles J. Feldman, general sales manager, U-I; and Dembow; Rubin chatting with Sol A. Schwartz, left, president, RKO Theatres; and George P. Skouras, president U-I Theatres. Other prominent industryites also helped launch the drive.

New Film Ad Policies Bared By Livingston

OKLAHOMA CITY—When the television set gets turned off it doesn't mean that the viewers automatically get up and go to the movies, but rather the people have to be resold on the movie-going habit, Jeff Livingston, eastern advertising manager, U-I, told the partners and managers of Video, Independent Theatres, Inc., at their annual meeting at the Skirvin Hotel here last week.

Livingston pointed out that although there were 32,000,000 television sets in the United States as of December, 1954, as against 26,500,000 sets in December, 1953, business in the motion picture industry was generally better in 1954. He pointed out that while it was true that the national economy had improved, during 1954 the motion picture industry need not have derived its full share of the increase or even the proportion that it did if it had not been able to win a lot of people away from their television and into the theatre through aggressive selling.

Stressing that U-I's advertising approach to the problem of getting people into the theatres is a constantly changing one, Livingston pointed out that the increase in national magazine circulation during the past year indicated that many people were turning to magazines when they ceased watching their television sets. With this in mind and having met with initial success in this field of advertising, U-I had become the second largest user of national magazine advertising space.

UA, Figaro Sign Deal

NEW YORK—Joseph L. Mankiewicz, president, Figaro, Inc., and Arthur B. Krim, president, United Artists, last week concluded negotiations for four Figaro motion picture productions. The deal was consummated by Krim and Robert S. Benjamin, chairman of the board, United Artists, on their recent trip to California, where they met with Mankiewicz and Bert Allenberg, William Morris agency.

Of the four films to be produced by Figaro for UA, two will be personally written and directed by Mankiewicz. The first picture, to go into active preparation immediately after Mankiewicz completes filming "Guys And Dolls," will be "The Story Of Goya."

Davis Forms Ardee Films

NEW YORK—Richard Davis, owner, Fine Arts, last fortnight announced the formation of Ardee Films, Inc., a company to distribute foreign films in the U. S. and produce English language films abroad.

Livingston also stressed the increasing importance of radio as a selling medium for motion pictures and urged his listeners not to overlook the importance of the automobile radio when planning their advertising campaigns. He pointed to the importance of the disc jockey in the radio selling field for motion pictures and the large percentage of teenagers which comprised the radio listening audience. U-I, he pointed out, spent 20 times as much money in cooperative advertising in this medium in 1954 than it did in 1950.

Columbia Sales Meet Discusses "Gray Line"

NEW YORK—A two-day meeting between Columbia home office executives and the company's division managers, with general sales manager A. Montague chairing, was held last week at the Savoy Plaza Hotel. Purpose of the meeting was to finalize sales, promotion, and distribution plans for "The Long Gray Line," forthcoming CinemaScope feature.

The initial session was devoted to a presentation by vice-president Paul N. Lazarus, Jr., of the extensive advertising and publicity campaign.

Attending the sessions, in addition to Montague and Lazarus, were Rube Jackter, assistant general sales manager; sales executives Louis Astor, George Josephs, and Vincent Borelli; short subject sales manager Maurice Grad; Howard LeSieur, director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation; Joseph Freiberg, manager, sales accounting department; Seth Raisler, manager, contract department; Milton Goodman, assistant to Astor; Daniel Rothenberg, assistant to Borelli; and Nat Goldblatt, assistant to Freiberg.

The delegation from the field included division managers Nat Cohn, New York; Sam Galanty, midwest; Carl Shalit, central; Ben Marcus, midwest; I. H. Rogovin, New England; Jack Underwood, southwest; R. J. Ingram, southeast; L. E. Tillman, northwest; Wayne Ball, southern California and Rocky Mountains; Ben Lourie, Chicago branch manager; and Harvey Harnick, Canadian sales manager.

Help Offered In Fight Against Daylight Time

TORONTO—The Windsor Theatre Managers Association is offering any group of exhibitors in the country its file on its successful fight to defeat daylight saving time in Windsor. The managers, headed by Eddie Lamoureux, manager, Palace, put on a vigorous campaign which resulted in the citizens of the city defeating DST, 23,163 against to 12,722 for.

The managers' success didn't come without considerable work, however. It came through organization and help from the hotels, restaurants, and milk distributors associations, in which radio, TV, and newspapers were employed.

A complete file of ads, etc., was made up by the association for use by any other similar group willing to take the battle to the people. For years, the Manitoba Motion Picture Exhibitors Association has unsuccessfully fought the issue.

The ads stressed the mothers' and teachers' interest in having standard time, that it would avoid confusion for visitors, and it helped children have a healthier and saner sleep.

Also employed were a placard and a throwaway carrying a cartoon of a crying baby, an upset mother and a clock showing it was nine p.m. The Windsor theatre managers, whose group is connected with the Essex, Kent, and Lambton Theatres Association, an affiliate of the Motion Picture Theatres Association of Ontario, are proud of their part in the successful campaign. Lamoureux is also president of the Counties' Association.

Canadian Comment

New product avenues are expected to be reached by the installation of 16mm. equipment in the Kent, Toronto, by Curly Posen. As a result, Posen feels that he will be able to obtain product not otherwise available on 35mm., as well as attract an additional type of clientele. He has installed two 16mm. Hortsons, made in France. Installation was made by General Theatre Supply, which has the Toronto agency. Two other theatres in the city have the machines, the Pylon and Eaton's Auditorium. They use the projector for specialized product. Posen points out that none of his customers have noticed the difference in the definition of the pictures.

The main charity of the entertainment industry in Toronto, Variety Village, the school for teaching crippled children an occupation, is the source of pride especially when the school's success has been noted. In the annual report of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, to date, 77 students have left the Village to enter employment. In 1954, the fifth year the school has been in operation, the combined earning power of the graduates will be in excess of $140,000. The Village opened its 1954-55 season last September with a full complement of 24 residential students and one day student.

These lines at the Metropolitan, Mexico City, Mexico, on opening day attest to the fact that Columbia's "The Caine Mutiny" is continuing its outstanding pace in other countries.

In three years, there will be a Canadian coast-to-coast TV network, according to Davidson Dunton, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation chairman. He pointed out that in two-and-a-half years, Canada has acquired 24 TV stations, 17 of which were in the hands of private broadcasters and seven operated by the CBC. These, he claimed, reached 1,200,000 families. . . . In the past six years, 34 different Crawley Film productions have shared 55 awards, of which 16 were presented in 1954. ## England

Variety Club of Great Britain, Tent 36, as part of its "heart fund" activities on behalf of under-privileged children, is sponsoring the European royal premiere of 20th-Fox's "There's No Business Like Show Business" at Odeon, Marble Arch, on Feb. 3 to aid the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. On March 3 the Tent will co-sponsor the showing of Warners' "A Star Is Born" at the Warner, Leicester Square, with the Actors' Orphanage.

Formosa

Wolfe Cohen, president, Warner International, announced the promotion of Robert Chen, salesman in Santiago, Chile, to manager of the company's Formosa branch at Taipeh, replacing William Blamey, resigned. Chen will operate under the direct supervision of Richard Ma, who, in addition to his duties as Warner manager in Hong Kong, will direct activities in both Formosa and Indo-China.

Foreign Changes Revealed

NEW YORK—Harry Novak, for the past 10 years continental supervisor, U-I, has resigned his post, disclosed Americo Aboaf, U-I foreign general manager, upon his return from Europe.

Aboaf also announced that John B. Spires, heretofore executive assistant to Novak, has been appointed continental supervisor.

In addition, Marion Jordan, until recently southern European supervisor, has been named continental sales manager, and John Marshall, district supervisor for middle Europe, has now been promoted to supervisor for the Scandinavian countries as well as middle Europe.

MGM Ups Picture Lineup For 1955

HOLLYWOOD—MGM will probably release 26 to 30 pictures in 1955, it was learned last fortnight following a round of conferences between production and home office executives at the studio.

The increase in product over last year's 24 releases was said to be due to a general attitude of optimism at the studio. The production budget will be increased to take care of the expanded schedule.

MGM also announced a number of outside pictures scheduled for release by the company this year. They are "Sven-gali," made in England, with Hildegard Neff; "Heartbreak Ridge," produced in France and Korea; David O. Selznick's "War And Peace," based on the Leo Tolstoy novel; and a Desilu production with Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

MGM was reported to favor making more deals with outside producers for pictures to be partially financed by the company.

Studio officials taking part in the conferences were Dore Schary, Ed Mannix, Ben Thau, and Kenneth MacKenna, while from the home office in New York came Nicholas M. Schenck, Charles C. Moskowitz, Arthur M. Loew, and Howard Dietz. Abe Olman and Maurice Scopp represented the Robbins, Feist, Miller firms which are the music affiliates of MGM.

Schine Defense Contests Evidence

BUFFALO—Defense attorneys in the Schine Chain Theatres trial last week strongly protested the reading of five letters concerning alleged attempts to buy Schine's Rialto, Lockport, N. Y., after Judge Knight's 1949 theatre divestiture order.

The letters were offered by government attorney Joseph E. McDowell to disclose an example of excessive prices which the government charges the Schine corporation asked in certain cases to discourage theatre purchases.

The defense contention that the writers of the letters should be called to testify about them was overruled by Judge Knight, who asserted that signed letters might be inserted in evidence.

Columbia, AA, Ferrer Deal Set

NEW YORK—An unusual three-company deal, under the terms of which Jose Ferrer will co-produce, direct, and star in a film based on Barnaby Conrad's novel, "The Matador," was announced jointly last week by Columbia, Allied Artists, and Film Locations Limited, the three firms which will finance the production.

The film will be distributed by Columbia and Allied Artists, with the latter handling the western hemisphere and Columbia the distribution in the eastern hemisphere. Columbia will also distribute the picture in those South American countries in which Allied has no offices.

Tudor Sales Heads Meet

NEW YORK—Moe Kerman, president, Tudor Pictures, Inc., last week conducted a two-day sales meeting of U. S. and Canadian franchise holders at the Warwick Hotel. Advance plans were discussed for eight completed films, the first in release "Innocents In Paris," a Romulus Production.

A program for the merchandising and promotion of 10 feature releases from 20th Century-Fox during the first quarter of 1955 was developed at a division managers meeting in New York recently. Attending were, left to right, Glenn Norris, eastern sales manager; Al Lichtman, director of distribution; Charles Einfeld, vice-president; Arthur Silverstone, assistant general sales manager; and Alex Harrison, western sales manager. Seated in the second row are Rodney Bush, left, exploitation manager; and Abe Goodman, advertising manager.

TOA And Allied Units Pledge Joint Action

OKLAHOMA CITY—Theatre Owners of Oklahoma and Allied Theatres of Oklahoma have agreed to take united action against any state legislation that would threaten admission taxes, and to work together for mutual benefits. Both groups have named executive committees to work on projects of mutual interest.

A joint session of Oklahoma's House and Senate was recently attended by C. B. Akers, TOO director, as legislative chairman for both groups. Following the joint meeting where the agreement was reached, each unit returned to its respective meeting place and held regular sessions.

Members named to the new executive committee are: from TOO; Ed Thorne, president, TOO, Ray Hughes and C. B. Akers, from Allied; Earl Snyder, Jr., Glen Thompson, Sr. and J. S. Worley.

The TOO board members also named Thorne to become the new TOA representative and Ralph Drewry to succeed Morris Loewenstein as COMPO representative. When Loewenstein stepped down after 28 years as TOO president, last month, he also resigned the TOA and COMPO posts. The association also voted to revise the by-laws, especially the dues setup.

The Allied meeting named Thompson to be delegate to the National Allied board meeting and drive-in convention in St. Louis, Feb. 8-10. Oklahoma Allied's convention will be held here Feb. 28-March 1, in the Skirvin Hotel.

Cinerama Exploiters Discuss "Holiday" Plans

NEW YORK—A two-day series of meetings by Stanley Warner Corporation executives to indoctrinate the Cinerama field force of seven cities in the advertising, publicity, and promotion plans of the forthcoming "Cinerama Holiday" was held last fortnight.

The campaign was outlined by Stanley Warner executives including Samuel Rosen, executive vice-president; Harry Kalmine, vice-president; Harry Goldberg, director of advertising and publicity for Stanley Warner; Everett Callow, advertising-publicity director for Cinerama; Lynn Farnol and Philip Miles, public relations representatives for Cinerama; Herb Hauser, Monroe Greenthal advertising agency; and Clifford Giesseman, director of group sales and assistant to Lester B. Isaac. Isaac, general manager in charge of Cinerama exhibition, chairmanned the conference.

The field force included Red King and Rudy Kohen, Boston; Robert Fitzgerald, Hal Grossman, and Ellen Koehler, Philadelphia; William Green, Frank Upton, and Perle Dane, Detroit; Harriot Stem and George McMillan, Washington; M. L. Plessner, Clare Landau, and Ray Conner, St. Louis; Arthur Manson, Bob Suits, and Regis Bryson, Pittsburgh; Zeb Epstein, division manager, Washington, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh region; and Sam Pearlman, Dan Davenport, and Jack Payton, New York.

A second series of conferences for the field force of Minneapolis, San Francisco, and Los Angeles is being scheduled for the near future.

UA Winners Named

NEW YORK—United Artists' New York, Charlotte, and Calgary, Canada, branches have captured the three first-place prizes for the third lap of the Robert S. Benjamin Drive, it was announced last week by William J. Heineman, vice-president in charge of distribution, and B. G. Kranze, general sales manager, who are serving as co-captains of the drive.

The New York branch is managed by Joseph Sugar; the Charlotte exchange is headed by H. Keeter; and Robert Radis leads the Calgary branch.

Convention Agenda Set

COLUMBUS, O.—The Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio announced last fortnight a slight change in their convention plans. The dates have been set back one day. The convention will now open with a luncheon on Feb. 28.

Among those who have signified their intention to be present and speak are William C. Gehring, general sales manager, 20th-Fox, and Abram F. Myers, general counsel, Allied States Association.

In addition to sneak previews being arranged for delegates by various film companies, MGM will be host at a "Ticket Selling Workshop" to be held on March 1.

The ITOO will hold a luncheon and host the Legislature, and at the banquet Lieutenant Governor Brown, who formerly operated the Civic, Wellston, O., will be present and present to the organization a scroll from the Highway Safety Department for our part in the highway safety campaign.

Studio Incomes Dip

HOLLYWOOD—The California Department of Industrial Relations reported last week that the average weekly earnings of craft workers in studios has declined from $129.55 in October to $123.96 in November. The November average was still above the average of any other of the 98 work classifications reported on, and above the previous November's average of $118.83, it was revealed.

About People

NEW YORK—Continuing expansion of Columbia International's Far Eastern activities has led to promotion of Aaron Pines, the company's manager in the Philippines, to the post of assistant Far East supervisor, it was announced last week by Lacy W. Kastner, Columbia International president. Pines will serve under Michael Bergher, Far Eastern supervisor, whose headquarters are in Tokyo. His successor as manager in Manila will be George W. Schweig, until recently Columbia manager in Trinidad, Kastner said.

NEW YORK—Augmenting the widely-hailed recent announcement that Columbia will finance the production of stage plays, President Harry Cohn announced last week that Max Gordon, noted Broadway producer, has been appointed by the company as a consultant to supervise this program. Gordon will continue to make his headquarters in New York and in his Columbia association will seek the works of playwrights and stars for possible Broadway production.

NEW YORK—Walter C. Ament, vice-president, Warner Pathe News, has been named chairman, MPAA's newsreel committee, for the ensuing year. The appointment was announced last week following a special meeting of the committee. Ament succeeds Thomas Mead, editor, Universal Newsreel, who headed the newsreel committee for the past two years. The committee commended Mead for his services as chairman.

NEW YORK—G. Ralph Branton, vice-president, Allied Artists, has accepted the post of Hollywood chairman of the Brotherhood Drive for 1955, and Edwin D. Martin, president, Martin Theatres, has been named regional chairman for North Carolina, South Carolina, and Florida, it was announced last week by John H. Harris, national chairman, amusements division, National Conference.

NEW YORK—The appointment of John M. Borghese as director of the television and radio division of Magna Theatre Corporation was announced last week by Nicholas John Matsoukas, national director of advertising, publicity, and exploitation.

HOLLYWOOD—The American Cinema Editors last week elected Richard Nahoon president, succeeding William B. Murphy, and have re-elected George Amy, vice-president; Eda Warren, secretary; and Fred Berger, treasurer.

TV Grant Challenged

WASHINGTON—Trebit Corporation and W. S. Butterfield Theatres, unsuccessful applicants for a TV license at Flint, Mich., last week asked FCC to set aside its channel 12 grant made last May to WJR, the Goodwill Station, Inc. They previously had been refused rehearing. Basis of application is the claim that WJR has substantially changed the plans on which its grant was based.

WILMINGTON—The theatre divestiture program required of Stanley Warner under the terms of the consent decree and court order has been completed, it was announced last week by president Si H. Fabian.

The completion of the divestiture leaves the way free for Stanley Warner to seek permission to acquire new theatres, and to engage in production if they wish to move in that direction.

The final divestiture came well before the July 4 deadline set in the wind-up order last week allowing the circuit to keep three theatres originally ordered sold.

*Valuable Exploitation Keys
To Profitable Merchandising*

The New York press contingent which covered the recent underwater showing of RKO's "Underwater!" in Silver Springs, Fla., are seen leaving Idlewild Airport, New York; in the center, Perry Lieber, RKO studio advertising and publicity director, is seen talking over the schedule of events with reporters and photographers at Silver Springs; and on the right, Jane Russell, who was escorted by costume designer Michael Woulfe, left, and producer Harry Tatelman to the unique premiere, is seen. The 200 press and film personalities were flown to Florida by RKO.

"Racers" To Benefit From Book Tieup

NEW YORK—A record number of 5000 window and in-store displays in leading book, stationery, drug, and department stores across the country are being set on 20th-Fox's "The Racers" in CinemaScope stemming from a tie-up with Ballantine Books, publishers of the Hans Ruesch novel.

The mammoth display campaign, part of an intensive drive set by the publishing house, will bring the adventure drama and the popular priced book to the attention of millions in principal cities coast-to-coast in advance of the firm's February release. In New York, "The Racers" premieres on Jan. 28 at the Roxy.

To achieve the public impact desired, 750 independent magazine wholesalers who distribute Ballantine Books are being brought into full play as is the film company's entire field organization.

As a means of alerting the magazine wholesalers of "The Racers" promotion, Ballantine has prepared special, four-page brochures. Illustrating the mailing piece are a half dozen photographs showing stars Kirk Douglas, Bella Darvi, Gilbert Roland, Cesar Romero, and Lee J. Cobb in highlight scenes from the Julian Blaustein production with copy urging tie-ins with the picture.

To facilitate the huge window display campaign, thousands of two-color posters advertising the book and the movie have been prepared with space provided on each for inclusion of theatre playdates. In the New York area alone, more than 600 stores are being lined-up for campaign support.

All copies of "The Racers" also carry bands crediting the CinemaScope adaptation, and a series of local campaign activities utilizing books as contest prizes are being arranged. The film company is supplying lists of theatre playdates to Ballantine, and field exploitation representatives of both companies will hold meetings to plan and set into motion regional and local level campaigns in the coming weeks.

RKO Offers 24-Sheets

NEW YORK—In line with its all-cut exploitation campaign, aimed at making every segment of the population strongly aware of Howard Hughes' "Underwater!", RKO will give free 24-sheets for the Superscope-Technicolor production to all exhibitors, it was announced last week by Walter Branson, world-wide sales manager. This promotion will be in addition to the record-breaking 120-city national posting campaign which RKO is sparking.

To make the most of every opportunity to get the RKO romantic adventure before as many people as possible, the largest number of 24-sheets ever printed in the history of the company has been run-off on the color presses.

The offer, which only requires exhibitors to pay for posting and sniping, will be carried on the back cover of the idea-filled special pressbook for "Underwater!", which also contains a wealth of other money-making exploitation suggestions.

Workshops Promote Exploitation Ideas

DENVER—Owen West, West, Rock Springs, Wyo., and George Kelloff, Ute, Agaliar, Colo., were winners of the cash prizes for the best low-cost ticket-selling ideas submitted to MGM's Ticket-Selling Workshop last fortnight.

Prior to the meeting of the Rocky Mountain showmen, Mike Simons, director of customer relations, rushed out to every exhibitor invited to attend an invitation to submit a "brief, one-page description of a low-cost or no-cost ticket-selling idea." For the best of those submitted MGM was prepared to offer a small cash award. The number and size of prizes, it was determined in advance, would be in proportion to the total of entries submitted in comparison with exhibitor attendance. Simons made the presentation of the cash prizes personally at the afternoon Workshop session and announced that all the entries from the Denver area will be saved for inclusion in a booklet which most likely will be published at a future date for distribution to exhibitors everywhere.

"Despite the short advance notice we gave to our customers who attended the Denver meeting, we were agreeably surprised by the number and quality of ideas submitted," Simons said. "This confirms a feeling we've had for a long time that exhibitors everywhere are using unusual ticket-selling stunts and that all are anxious to share their knowledge with others for the general improvement of business, which is the idea that prompted MGM to conduct the Workshops in the first place. Our function now is simply to get together the maximum number of those modern, simple, low-cost, ticket-selling ideas and give them to the rest of the industry."

Also connected with the company's exhibitors' salute was an ad taken in Editor and Publisher telling newspapermen that local theatres make excellent copy for feature story material, and that theatre managers will gladly co-operate.

MGM recently introduced this new and interesting idea for getting exhibitors to submit campaigns on pictures. The innovation started with the fourth Workshop meeting at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, Denver.

Jacksonville

The showing of burlesque movies at the Follies is under fire by community leaders who are planning a drive to combat contributing causes of juvenile delinquency. . . . Some of the reflected glory of Howard Hughes' $70,000 screening of "Underwater" at Silver Springs rubbed off on Jacksonville when star Jane Russell was pictured at the Imeson Airport shedding a fur coat because of the warm weather when she alighted from a New York plane. Three premieres of "Underwater" were actually held in Florida. The first one, a wet run, was caught several weeks ago at Silver Springs by Life magazine photographers. The second, a dry run, was staged in the Marion, Ocala, Fla., with the cooperation of manager Peyton Bailey. The third and final premiere, which received the major share of publicity, occurred underwater at Silver Springs.

T. P. Tidwell, 20th-Fox branch manager, returned from a divisional sales meeting held in Atlanta. Attending the gathering from the division office were Harry Ballace, Paul Wilson, "Mac" McClure, and Henry Harrell. Branch managers there were Bill Bryant, New Orleans; Tom Young, Memphis; Hi Holston, Charlotte; Dan Coursey, Atlanta; Marion Osborne, Oklahoma City; Tidwell, Jacksonville; and Mark Sheridan and Bill Williams, both from Dallas.

A January report revealed that 298 indoor and drive-in theatres in the South Georgia and Florida areas served by Jacksonville film exchanges have installed CinemaScope equipment, with 197 of them using optical prints, 87 stereophonic, and 14 using mixers. . . . The most recent of the conversions are the Erwin Reiss' Park, St. Petersburg, Fla.; George Stonaris' Dreka, DeLand, Fla.; and N. N. Bernstein's Little River, Miami, Fla.

State exhibitors on Film Row were James L. Cartwright, Florida State Theatres district supervisor, Daytona Beach; Jimmy Biddle, Fay Theatre, Jasper; E. C. Kaniaris, Beach Drive-In, St. Augustine; Ted Chapin, Daytona, Daytona Beach; "Red" Tedder, Howell, Palatka; Kay Porter, Temple, Perry; and Jim Partlow, Partlow Circuit, Orlando. . . . Louis J. Finske, FST vice-president, returned from a downstate tour. . . . Bob Harris, FST confection sales manager, spent a week at west coast and central Florida theatres. . . . The family of French Harvey, FST advertising and publicity executive, completed their moving from Daytona Beach, Fla., to this city.

The main theatre of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station was the scene of an advance screening of "The Bridges At Toko-Ri," with a group of several hundred naval personnel and civilian opinion makers attending as guests of Paramount. The filming was arranged by Leonard Allen, southeastern publicity man; Robert Heekin, FST district supervisor; and Ed Chumley, Paramount branch manager. Guests of honor were Captain John S. Thach, NAS commander; Captain Warren E. Kline, NAS senior medical officer; and their wives.

Memphis

K. W. Kinney, Hays and Beale, Hughes, Ark., was in and telling some mighty interesting stories about his recent trip to Mexico and especially to Monterey and the bull fights. . . . Jack Braunagel's many friends in the territory were glad to learn that he is now with United Theatres and will reside in Little Rock, Ark., when he takes over his duties.

Oney B. Ellis, former owner, Mason, Tenn., is now selling Mercurys and Lincolns for Corbitt Motor Company here. . . . News that is no longer "news." Dot Barker, Exhibitor's Service, wins again and takes top spot among women bowlers piling up 566 in the Victory League. . . . It had been several days since Donald L. Newberry, Rives, Rives, Mo., had called for his film, and the reason was revealed when the front page of The Commercial Appeal ran a picture of Newberry, his sister, and her boy friend. She had joined the WAF's and persuaded the two boys to enlist in the air force with her. They were given the oath of office and that night boarded a train for Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio to begin basic training.

Visitors on the Row were Pinky Tipton, New, Manila, Ark.; H. D. Bowers, Pix, Kosciusko, Miss.; A. B. Ward, Gem Osceola, Ark.; Zell Jaynes, Maxie, Trumann, Ark.; J. K. Jameson, Joy Bald Knob, Ark.; G. L. Helms, Hill, Scotts Hill, Tenn.; Joe Davis, Delta, Ruleville, Miss.; Victor Webber, Center, Kensett, Ark.; E. B. his attorney, Bentley Byrnes, contended that a Keno game which lead to Fonseca's arrest a year ago after a state police raid at the theatre was conducted as a stimulus to business.

The Chancery Court of the First Judicial District of Hinds County, Miss., found for the plaintiff in a suit involving discriminatory theatre admission taxes. In 1952, the Mississippi Legislature passed a 3 per cent sales tax for all theatres operated within the state, excepting, however, chains of 10 or more, in which case the tax would be 5 per cent. Paramount Gulf Theatres, Inc., having been adversely affected by this order, and having been additionally advised that it was discriminatory, brought suit in the Mississippi Chancery Court. The court found that the discrimination was arbitrary and unreasonable and in strict violation of the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution. They found, further, that the State lacked the authority to assess, demand, and collect these taxes.

At the recent luncheon meeting held at the New Orleans Hotel, Mrs. Connie Aufdemorte, WOMPI president, welcomed two new members, Mrs. Patricia Smith and Miss Judy Badeaux, Pittman Theatres. She also announced the appointment of Miss Ida Kloss, Paramount-Gulf, as local extension chairman, and Mrs. Vivian Marlborough, Motion Picture Advertising, as choral director. The ways and means committee sponsored a showing of "Picnic" at the Gallery Circle Theatre, and a demonstration on the art of cookery under the auspices of the New Orleans Public Service. From the national headquarters in Dallas, via national publicity chairman Claire Tremorel, United Artists, the following appointments were made to serve on the committee for the election of regional director, Mrs. Hazel Schwartz, Theatre Service, chairman, elections committee; Miss Nathalie Odom, MGM, nominating committee; Mrs. Valerie Steudlein, Paramount Film Distributing Corporation, and Mrs. Anne Dufour, United Artists, tellers committee.

after two years in confinement in hospital and at home.

Arkansas Little Rock

Two former owners of theatres at Monticello, Ark., were sued in Federal District Court by eight motion picture companies and distributors, who claim misrepresentation of gross receipts on films shown since 1945. The defendants are B. V. McDougald and Zula La Floe McDougald, identified as the former owners, Drew, destroyed by fire in July, 1953, and the Amuse-U. The petitions state that the woman now owns the Dixie, Monticello. The suits were brought by Columbia, Paramount, MGM, U-I, UA, RKO, Warners, and 20th-Fox. The court is asked to determine how much they lost in renting or leasing product to the McDougalds, and they claim it will be over $3,000 each.

Florida Miami

Florida State Theatres had a powerful campaign on "Hansel and Gretel," which opened in the Florida, Sheridan, and Coral. In cooperation with the National Biscuit Company, free samples of a "Hansel and Gretel" cookie were distributed and the Miami distributor had posters on delivery trucks and point-of-sale tie-ins. A young boy and girl were outfitted in the Hansel and Gretel costumes and made television and radio appearances, plugging the dates of the picture at the theatres. A professional puppeteer, Tommy Trent, gave two performances a day at each of six supermarkets in the Tanner chain. These shows were advertised in the Tanner newspaper ads, as well as on their radio and TV spots. Michael Myerberg, producer, made a surprise appearance at a special screening of the picture for members of the Dade County Council PTA, and spoke to the group and answered questions. Myerberg later spoke to a press and radio luncheon about the problems, aims, and artistic challenge he and his group had encountered in making the film. Leaders of the PTA group strongly endorsed the film before the representative press of Miami. Interviews with Myerberg and picture breaks appeared in all leading Miami papers, as well as on radio. After being presented with the key to Miami Beach by Mayor Harold Shapiro, Myerberg made a round of visits to radio and television stations.

Tent 33, Variety Club, issued Volume I, Number 1, of the "Variety Barker", featuring messages by new Chief Barker Maurey Ashmann; past Chief Barker Bill Dock; Chief Barker, Variety Clubs International, George Hoover, etc. Mayor Abe Aronovitz was honored guest at the club's first celebrity luncheon in the New Orleans dining room of the new club quarters. Sonny Shepherd and Al Weiss are co-chairmen, annual variety show to be held on Feb. 12 at the Miami Beach auditorium, for benefit of Variety Children's Hospital.

Three separate events of the winter season all were aimed at filling the coffers of the Variety Children's Hospital, the annual MacNaughton one-day golf tournament was played at Bayshore, Miami Beach, Fla.; every cent taken in at the Parrot Jungle in South Miami was given to the hospital; and Tropical Park race track had a Variety Children's Hospital Day. . . . Second week of Wometco's current confection contest found group one leader the North Andrews Drive-In, Fort Lauderdale Fla.; Center was first in group two; the Town was leading in group three; the Grand, West Palm Beach, Fla., was first in group four; and the Park, Tampa, Fla.; was first in group five. In the third week of the contest, there were two upsets, with the 27th Avenue Drive-In taking first place in group one and the Surf, Miami Beach, Fla., edging out the Park for first place in group five. . . . Lou Fishking, manager, Strand, was on the sick list.

Louisiana Eunice

Charter of incorporation has been granted Liberty Amusement Company of Louisiana, Inc., listing capital stock of $50,000.

Mississippi Jackson

William T. Powell, prominently known as division manager, Smith Management Company's mid-west Drive-In Theatres, Inc., St. Louis, was guest drive-in panelist at MGM's Ticket-Selling Workshops here. He will also attend at Memphis on Jan. 27. Attendance here, originally estimated to be fewer than 100 showmen from Mississippi, exceeded that number. Approximately 150 advance reservations were received by C. James Briant, MGM branch manager, New Orleans. Powell's attendance at the two southern meetings was arranged by Mike Simons, director of customer relations, MGM, and Dick Smith, Smith office, Boston. Also attending were Ivan D. Anderson, operator, Liberty, North Wilkesboro, N. C.;

Briant and his sales and booking staffs, including "Cy" Bridges, Helmer P. Mosley, Cal Bien, salesman; H. A. Arata, office manager; Louis Harper and Nathalee Odom, bookers. The same staff of panelists who appeared at Jackson will travel to Memphis for the Workshop there. This meeting will be hosted by Memphis branch manager Louis C. Ingram with office manager Etheline Mayo, salesmen Hollis Holmes, Jimmy Fly, and Jim Ronsiek, and bookers Claude J. Easley, Jr., and Jim Griffin assisting. Attendance at Memphis, according to advance predictions, is expected to surpass that of any of the Workshops to date, according to Simons, who confidently anticipates more than 375 exhibitors to be present.

North Carolina Durham

W. G. Enloe, Raleigh, N. C., representative, North Carolina Theatres, Inc., who already had given passes to members of the North Carolina State Legislature for the duration of their current session, was host to the legislators at a special premiere showing at the Ambassador of "Deep In My Heart."

Charles H. Lewis, manager, Center, has been named co-chairman, Durham Merchants Association annual dinner committee, which will make plans for the 1955 event.

Frank Remsberg, manager, Paramount, Goldsboro, N. C., has been elected senior warden of the vestry of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at Goldsboro.

A 10 per cent admissions tax on motion picture houses and vaudeville shows was suggested before the North Carolina Legislature as a possible means of increasing the state's revenue. The suggestion was made by James S. Currie, head of the state Department of Tax Research, in an appearance before the Senate, but he admitted that such a tax would have a "terrific impact" on the movie industry. He estimated that the tax would raise $2,500,000 a year, and that a three per cent tax would raise $485,000. The proposal was made along with a number of others, and Currie said he was not recommending any of the ideas, but only presenting facts and figures on possible new tax sources.

A financial plan, involving purchase of seats plus annual contributions, has been launched at the resort town of Pinehurst, N. C., in a move to open the Carolina, which has been closed for some time. S. A. Strickland, chairman of the organizing committee, said that the house cannot operate without the assurance of annual income because its operation is no longer possible without such support. If the community financial plan succeeds, the house will operate on a subscription basis for the showing of motion pictures, with a number of general admission performances scheduled. If it fails, the house will remain closed, Strickland said. Subscriptions are being sold for 213 reserved seats at $130, $100 and $75 each, for a season of about 65 performances, about the equivalent of $2, $1.50 and $1.15 per performance.

Cleveland

Three top industry men were in town to tell the members of the press about their new pictures. Philip Dunne, director-producer of "Prince of Players," met the press at a 20th-Fox luncheon. His coming was in advance of a special deluxe opening of the picture at the Allen. Paramount was host to the press to present George Seton and William Perlberg, director and producer of "The Bridges At Toko-Ri" and "The Country Girl." Both are advocates of the fewer but better picture policy adopted by all of the major studios. They believe the movie going public will support only top

SW's Silver to Receive
Man of Year Award

PITTSBURGH — M. A. Silver, zone manager, Stanley Warner Theatres, a veteran of 39 years in show-business, and leader in industry, civic, and communal endeavors, both on a national as well as local level, has just been named by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh for its annual Man-of-the-Year Award.

This marks the first time in the 15 years of the citations by the chamber that an individual has been cited for achievement in the entertainment field. Silver was nominated for bringing Cinerama to the Warner, for his continued activities in charitable affairs, and for his policy of giving over local Stanley Warner theatres for the holding of annual world movie premieres for the benefit of the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

With 11 winners in other fields of endeavor, Silver, one of the nation's top showmen, is to receive his award at the Man-of-the-Year Dinner in Hotel William Penn on Jan. 31.

pictures and that there isn't any profit either to the producer or the exhibitor in the so-called program picture. "To relieve the so-called product shortage, the exhibitor should not dissipate the good product by double featuring it," Perlberg stated. Both Perlberg and Seton are enthusiastic over their coming production of "Porgy and Bess."

P. L. Tanner, Film Transit Company, is back in town, having sold his Miami, Fla., home.

"Mom and Dad," Hallmark production, is playing to near capacity business in four local theatres, University, Sun, Standard, and Southern, without benefit of newspaper advertising. The Plain Dealer and News refused all copy. The Press ran copy several days and then withdrew it entirely. Card Mandor, handling the publicity for the multiple engagement, distributed 300,000 mail box heralds the first week and an additional 130,000 the second week. He also used 18 radio spots a day. The Press withdrew its acceptance of advertising copy not on the basis of the picture which, it reported editorially, "in the opinion of The Press medical writer Don Dunham is not, of and by itself, particularly objectionable," but because, in its opinion, "the widely distributed junk mail circular is bawdy, cheap and phony."

Shea Ohio managers Dale Tysinger, Ashtabula; Ray McNealy, Geneva; and Harry Buck, Conneaut, were Film Row visitors. Tysinger ran into a natural promotion recently when he brought in practically the entire Mills Brothers circus troupe from its winter quarters in Jefferson County to promote his engagement of "Three Ring Circus." The circus animals were on display in Shea's Ashtabula lobby along with their attendants to explain their habits to patrons.

Jack K. Vogel, drive-in architectural engineer, Wellsville, O., reports he has contracted with Sidney Lusk to enlarge the screen tower of his Hillside Drive-In, Marlboro Pike, Md., to a width of 108 feet. Other contracts entered into by Vogel are to increase the size of the screen tower of F. H. Durkee Enterprises North Point Drive-In, Baltimore, Md., and also with Norbert Stern, Pittsburgh, to remodel the Harmar Drive-In, Harmarville, including a new screen tower.

Robert Wile, secretary, Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio told exhibitors to be over cautious in their picture buying now that state censorship is out. He warns that the state legislature has plans to introduce new enforcement laws and extra caution should be exercised not to show any picture of a questionable nature. "Whatever possible gain there might be in showing a questionable picture now can be completely wiped out not only for you but for every exhibitor in the state," Wile states in his latest bulletin to ITO members.

End of Film Censorship Saves $20,000 a Month

COLUMBUS, O. — Cessation of censorship in Ohio is saving the film industry $20,000 per month in censor fees, declared Robert Wile, secretary of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, in a letter addressed to all film company heads.

Wile's statement came on the heels of an announcement by Dr. Clyde K. Miller, head of the state's division of audio-visual education, that he will seek an appropriation from the Ohio Legislature in order to continue the work of the division, curtailed by lack of funds. The division has been supported by fees received by the censorship of films. Miller said his department has received no funds since Dec. 6 and that a reserve fund will be exhausted by April 1. "If we don't get an emergency appropriation, we're out of business," said Miller.

Wile said that Miller's request for an appropriation from the state's general fund should be granted. "However," added Wile, "there is no reason why the film industry should be taxed to support the department."

Wile, in his letter to film company presidents, said that in the last fiscal year $240,000 was collected in censor fees. "While it is difficult to forecast what a legislature will do," he added, "I think it is safe to say that at the very worst, even if a new censorship bill should be passed, that the fees will be cut by $200,000 per year. When the committee hearings on new censorship bills start, your cooperation will be sought to obtain the very best witnesses to testify. we will appreciate your help."

Chicago

Philip Dunne was in for a series of promotional activities on behalf of 20th-Fox's "Prince Of Players." He engaged in several press interviews and TV and radio appearances discussing the production.

"The Ticket," film participated in by 50 police "actors," including a woman on the force, was made to instruct rookie cops how to arrest speeders and handle the resulting paper work. . . . The City, Granite, Ill., closed for two years, was relighted by St. Louis Amusement Company. . . . John G. Heywood, 71, veteran theatre operator, Richmond, Wis., died.

Mrs. Tom Flannery, wife of the president, White Way Electric Sign and Maintenance Company, and Mrs. John Balaban, wife of the B and K chieftain, attended a reunion of wartime "buddies" who were pioneer volunteer workers at the Servicemen's Center, which gave Chicago the rating of the "GI's Heaven" during World War II. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Stead reopened their Ford, Griggsville, Ill., following improvements.

The County Board will ask the Illinois legislature for power to censor motion pictures in unincorporated areas, which means showings at the drive-ins. The censorship, according to William N. Erickson, chairman of the board's legislative committee, would be handled by a group consisting of the sheriff, the chief of county highway police, and three citizens, one of whom would be a clergyman. "This is a must," declared Erickson. "A large proportion of drive-in theatregoers are children and young persons who should be shielded from salacious films." He mentioned showings last summer of "The French Line," banned in Chicago. John E. Babb, sheriff at the time, attempted to forbid showing of the picture in unincorporated districts but found himself without authority to do so. His protests availed, however, and the film was eventually withdrawn.

Perry Hoefler closed temporarily his Orpheum, Quincy, Ill. . . . Bell and Howell named John P. Buchan controller, succeeding Lee C. Andrews, resigned, and John N. Lattner, assistant controller. . . . Officers and directors of Variety Club of Illinois, at a recent meeting, decided on scheduling regular monthly meetings of both the membership and directors. This is in line with one of the aims expressed by Jack Kirsch, chief barker, to help encourage greater membership interest in Variety Club's activities for the 1955 season. Installation of 1955 Variety Club officers and directors will be held March 7 in the Congress Hotel, and arrangements are now in the hands of a committee headed by Nat Nathanson, first assistant chief barker.

The Chicago Council, Boy Scouts of America, which is conducting its 1955 campaign for funds has again appointed Jack Kirsch, president, Allied Theatres of Illinois, chairman of the theatre and amusement division in the drive. In a letter to all branches of the local amusement industry he pointed out the important year around activities of that organization which, he said, results in a magnificent job for the youth of America.

Reports from Governor Stratton's office in Springfield, Ill., indicate that his proclamation of "Go to the Movies in January" is spreading across the nation. The governor said motion picture theatres of Illinois "represent an

Tom Bloomer, Belleville, Ill., is the MITO member on the TOA executive committee, while the MITO members on the TOA board of directors are Lester R. Kropp, Tommy James and Paul Krueger, all of St. Louis. At the January meeting of the MITO officers and directors, it was voted to make honorary members of Arnold Gould, resident manager, Jefferson City, Mo., Durwood Theatres; Jim Castle and Frances Lohmeyer, Paramount publicity staff; and David F. Barret, St. Louis correspondent for trade publications. The meeting went on record as recommending to the membership of MITO their attendance at the second annual convention of the National Allied Drive-In Theatre Association at the Chase Hotel here on Feb. 8, 9, and 10. It was decided to have the February meeting of the MITO officers and board held in the new headquarters of the St. Louis Variety Club. Participation by MITO members in the annual G.I. Pal Dinner of Belleville, Ill., to be staged at the Scott Air Force Base, also was brought up. Edward B. Arthur, immediate past chief barker, St. Louis Variety Club, announced that the Variety Club in cooperation with MITO was sponsoring a buffet dinner, dancing, and entertainment in the new quarters of the Variety Club that would also be a celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Joseph and Esther Ansell, Ansell Brothers Theatres. President Kropp named a special committee to work on the Red Cross annual membership enrollment campaign. This committee includes Frank Henson, Lou Ansell, Bill Kaiman, Tommy James, and Kropp.

The Reverend Daniel A. Lord, S.J., who wrote the Production Code of the Motion Picture Producers Association in 1929, and national director, Eucharistic Crusade of Knights and Handmaids of the Blessed Sacrament, died of cancer at St. John's Hospital. He was 66 years old.

Mrs. Hannah Tobin, who died at her home recently, was the owner of the Capitol, Waterloo, Ill., which had been operated by Charles Goldman. She was the widow of the late James J. Tobin and the mother of the late Thomas C. Tobin, prominent as a film exchange manager and salesman and, later, a theatre owner, an associate of the Frisina interests and Goldman. She is survived by a daughter and two grandchildren.

In Jacksonville, Ill., Howard F. Busey recently sold his stock interest in the El Fran Theatres, Inc., owner, Times; Plaza, Marion, Ill.; and Star, Benton, Ill., to his business associate in that company, Benjamin M. Montee. Montee will continue to operate the three theatres. Busey and one of his partners in the Central Amusement Company, operator, 67 Drive-In, Elmore Suter, have purchased the stock interest in the drive-in from their partner, Edward Bonascorsi, who is retiring from the theatre field to devote his entire time to the Corner Drug Store.

In Highland, Ill., it has been learned that Oliver Winet, owner, Air Park Drive-In, 300-car project, may resume operations of that project on his own account. The drive-in has been operated by Adolph P. List, Carlyle, Ill.

David Arthur, head booker, Fanchon and Marco-St. Louis Amusement Company circuit, was installed as the 1955 chief barker, Tent 4, Variety Clubs International, along with the other officers at a luncheon meeting that marked the formal opening of the club's new headquarters in the Chase Hotel. Other officers are first assistant chief barker, Al Poos; second assistant, Gordon Halloran; dough guy, Joseph Ansell; and property master, Jim Goldsmith. The members of the 1955 crew in addition to the officers are Lester R. Kropp, Tommy James, Harold Koplar, John Meiniardo, Tony Blust, and James H. Arthur.

Wayne W. Stephenson, Paramount salesman, as president, St. Louis Loge 19, Colosseum of Motion Picture Salesmen of America, has announced the appointment of the following 1955 standing committees, executive, Bob Lightfoot, Allied Artists, and Hugh Nesbitt, Universal-International, to serve with Stephenson, vice-president Jim Hill, Warners, and Lou Ratz, RKO; grievance, William W. Sharpe, Paramount, chairman, and Arthur McManus, 20th-Fox, and Edward J. Stevens, United Artists.

The January meeting of the Better Films Council of Greater St. Louis, Inc., was held in the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Auditorium. This was the fourth of a series of meetings on the general theme, "Motion Pictures—New Horizons," and was open to the general public. Mrs. Gustav F. Goetsch, Council president, presided.

Robert Lippert, Lippert Pictures, was the guest of honor at a luncheon meeting at the Sheraton Hotel, arranged by Herman Gorelick and George Phillips, co-owners, Realart Pictures of St. Louis, Inc., which handles Lippert films in the territory. Prior to the luncheon there was a special screening of Lippert's "They Were So Young" in Ruby S'Renco's Art. This city was selected by David O. Selznick to show his newly re-edited print of "Tom Sawyer." The special invitational and public screening was held at New England Theatres' Capitol, Allston, Mass., for a cross section of theatre patrons. Selznick himself remained in the theatre to check the audience reaction on the film, made in 1937 and now cut and revised with a new color print. Prior to the evening screening, Selznick met a group of representative buyers, bookers, circuit heads, and independents at a cocktail party at the Ritz Carlton hosted by Joseph E. Levine, Embassy Pictures Corporation. He told the group that the purpose of his visit was to decide whether to re-issue the original print or to re-make the picture altogether. The re-make will cost a matter of $4,000,000, he said. "This is the number one American classic," he told the exhibitors. "Tom Sawyer" is a family audience picture and the educational possibilities are limitless. The PTA groups, schools, colleges could cooperate with the release, because of the place of idolatry Tom Sawyer has in the libraries and homes of the American public."

James "Red" King, ebullient publicist for Cinerama here, has been sent to Buffalo to lay the ground work for the exploitation of "This Is Cinerama" when the film opens at Shea's Teck around March 1. Between now and the opening date, King will be back and forth to Buffalo.

In connection with their two latest pictures made for Paramount, William Perlberg and George Seaton visited for press interviews. Arnold Van Leer, publicist at Paramount, staged a cocktail party for the two producers at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel. The following day, Tony Curtis, starring in "Six Bridges To Cross," arrived in town with his wife, Janet Leigh, for radio and TV appearances. John McGrail, U-I publicist, arranged a large cocktail party for the stars at the Ritz Carlton Hotel.

Walter A. Brown, chief barker, Variety Club of New England, has announced that Rudolph F. King, Massachusetts registrar of motor vehicles, has been unanimously chosen to be the recipient of the Great Heart Award, presented annually to the individual who has done the greatest amount of good for the greatest number of people. King will receive the citation at a banquet to be held in the early spring, sponsored by the Variety Club, with executive director William S. Koster in charge of arrangements. King has long been a tireless worker for the Jimmy Funds and has served on the committee for several years.

Winthrop Hospital, Winthrop, Mass., for an operation. . . . The parking problem at the State, East Milton, Mass., was solved when manager Maurice Sidman approached the officials of the Milton Savings Bank, located directly across the street, and asked for their cooperation. As the theatre has no parking lot and the bank had recently acquired a sizeable area for its own parking, the bank officials agreed to allow the theatre patrons to use the space in return for a trailer to be flashed on the screen at each performance. The trailer mentions the services of the bank and also gives full credit to the bank for the parking favor.

Irving A. Isaacs, president, Independent Exhibitors, Inc., of New England, the unit of National Allied, has appointed Norman Glassman and Leslie Bendslev as co-chairmen of the nominating committee for 1955. Melvin Safner, Ted Rosenblatt, and Edward Lider were asked to be on the committee. This group will select a slate of officers to serve for the year. The officers will be elected at the annual meeting to be held on March 1.

In connection with the recent press screening of Allied Artists' "Tonight's The Night," the above luncheon was held in Boston with film critics all briefly interviewing Barry Fitzgerald, starred in the film, via long distance telephone. ## Smakwitz Feted At Testimonial

ALBANY—The curtain was lowered on the 27-year theatrical career of Charles A. Smakwitz in this area at a testimonial dinner arranged by the Variety Club to honor the new Stanley Warner zone manager in Newark, N. J., for his services to the industry, the cause of Variety, and the welfare of the community.

Smakwitz heard his achievements praised in a letter from Thomas E. Dewey, written the day before Dewey ended a 12-year period as Governor. Also, in speeches by S. H. Fabian, Samuel Rosen, Harry Kalmine and M. A. Silver, Stanley Warner top echelon; Louis W. Schine, Schine Circuit; and Mayor Erastus Corning. Benny Goffstein, one of Tent Nine's busiest workers in the days he functioned as circulation manager, The Times-Union, and now a promotion executive for a Las Vegas resort hotel, was an added speaker.

Two hundred and seventy-five persons, gathered in the beautiful ballroom of the Sheraton-Ten Eyck Hotel, listened to the oratory and laughed at the needling, an inseparable part of industry affairs. Bernard Brooks, chief buyer and booker, Fabian Theatres, led the razzing.

George H. Schenck, chief barker, local Variety Club, presented Smakwitz with a beautiful traveling bag and insignia. Smakwitz, suffering from a bad case of laryngitis and full of penicillin delivered a message of thanks.

The only woman present, except a group of waitresses, was beautiful Marion Maul, WRGB-TV, Schenectady, personality. She participated in gag kissing bits with occupants of the dais. Brooks displayed and read from framed one-sheets, ribbing Swakwitz in a manner that might be considered too strong for a family publication. A special edition of The Times-Union, with the front page devoted to Swakwitz and the testimonial, was hawked in traditional fashion by T-U vendors and four youngsters from the Albany Boys Club and Camp Thatcher, the Variety Club's chief charitable project.

Tributes by former chief barkers Saul J. Ullman, Harry Lamont and Nate Winig, by the present big boss, George H. Schenck, and by Jack Goldberg, a crewman, were spotlighted in the special edition.

Speeches were effectively utilized to punch home the message that the guest of honor had done big things and faced greater tasks in the new job, observing that "Charlie" had plenty of work in succeeding Frank Damis, "one of the country's best showman." Kalmine and Rosen referred to the extended consideration given to Damis' successor and told how and why they eventually picked Smakwitz. Fabian stated, "It's no bed of roses for Charlie, but I feel certain he will do a great job."

Fabian and Rosen talked at some length about their observations of Smakwitz when he, as a Warner man, was effective "opposition" to area Fabian operations.

Smakwitz underlined his long-time friendship for the Fabian family and his admiration for its members, said he "never had a single argument with Si Fabian in all years I have known Si." He had inspected "about half" of the Newark zone houses and realized they were "all income producing as, theatres, real estate or both." Smakwitz prided himself upon the fact that once he makes a friend, he never loses that person as a friend. Smakwitz thought and hoped he "is the right man for Newark zone manager."

Silver, who, like Kalmine and Rosen, placed emphasis on Stanley Warner's rich "man power," asked industry people to give Smakwitz's area successors, Harry Feinstein, Jim Totman, and Joe Liss, "the same friendship and co-operation."

In addition to practically every industryite of prominence in the Albany territory, delegations were on hand from New York, Boston, Buffalo, and New Haven.

Jack Goldberg, MGM manager, kicked off a revival of the Variety Club "Kings for a Day" dinners at Keeler's Restaurant. A Tent 9 announcement read, "King Jack Goldberg and Leo, the MGM Lion entertain Queen Catherine Shay. Come Twist The Lion's Tail." Mrs. Shay is Goldberg's secretary.

Nickelodeon Back As Goldman Gift

PHILADELPHIA—The replica of a Nickelodeon, donated by William Goldman to Franklin Institute as a "shrine to the motion picture industry," had its dedication last week.

The day-long series of activities that made up "Motion Picture Pioneers Day" culminated in the banquet of the Motion Picture Associates in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel ballroom, of which Goldman was chairman.

Among the stars who participated in the day's activities were Charles Laughton, Joan Bennett, Elsa Lanchester, Rita Gam, George Murphy, Esther Williams, John Ericson, Carmel Myers, directors Rouben Mamoulian and George Sidney, and producer Paul Gregory. The Pensacola, Fla., Naval Choir, sang both at City Hall and at the Institute luncheon.

As part of the dedication ceremonies the hands and feet of Laughton were impressed in concrete before the ticket booth of the functioning replica of the early motion picture house.

Laughton further was welcomed to life membership in the Franklin Institute by S. Wyman Rolph, president of the Institute, in recognition of his "outstanding contribution to public education through the medium of films."

Actor-director Laughton directed his extemporaneous acceptance speech to "Mister Franklin, sir." Speaking to the gigantic statue of Franklin in Franklin Hall of the Institute, Laughton said Franklin "dominates us in size and every other way." He said the motion picture industry is "grateful that your solid institute has made us respectable." In conclusion, Laughton recited Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address to an audience of some 500 luncheon guests.

Assisting Callow were Bob Fitzgerald, local publicist, and Hal Grossman, Boyd managing director. . . . Johnny Roach, manager, Stanley, had a recent visitor from Hollywood, George Tribute also was paid to Goldman, who received a surprise certificate from the Franklin Institute, presented by Rolph, who said, "by your gift of the Nickelodeon you have become a part of the Franklin Institute."

The day's events began with a reading of Mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr.'s proclamation in the Mayor's Reception Room by City Representative Walter M. Phillips. Following the reception, the party proceeded to the Franklin Institute in a cavalcade of antique automobiles, brought up by a four-horse tallyho from Goldman's personal collection of antique vehicles.

Every segment of the industry was represented at the luncheon. Goldman said, "We have seen the progress of the film industry from the silent flickers to the still-growing youngster of today."

"I am constantly irked," Goldman said, "by those who consider the films only as an entertainment medium." The motion picture also contributes to education, the armed forces, medicine, and surgery, Goldman stated. During his recent trip around the world, Goldman asserted, "I was amazed to observe the popularity of motion pictures, and the imprint it has made on the lives and habits of the people."

Goldman concluded that the Nickelodeon belongs in Philadelphia, the "home of many firsts." A plaque inside the Nickelodeon was uncovered crediting Goldman with its donation to the Institute. Programs of old silent films will be shown on regular schedules at the Institute. Admission will be 10 cents, with profits going to the Institute. The program will be changed monthly. There are seats for 135 persons in the Nickelodeon auditorium.

Four Pioneers Honored by MPA

PHILADELPHIA—A veritable who's who in the local film industry plus a host of visiting stars, and industry leaders from out of town, attended the highly successful $25-a-plate dinner of the Motion Picture Associates held last week at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in honor of four pioneers of the area, Alexander R. Boyd, Benjamin Amsterdam, William C. Hunt, and Abraham Sablosky.

With over 1,000 present at the triple dais affair held under the chairmanship of William Goldman, who tied the banquet in with the dedication of his gift of a replica of a Nickelodeon to the Franklin Institute, the welfare fund of the MPA stands to profit greatly from the affair.

Speakers included Sam Diamond, president, MPA, and local branch manager, 20th-Fox; Goldman; George Sidney, president, Screen Directors Guild; George Murphy, MGM's "good will ambassador"; Charles Laughton, who paid tribute to Goldman and recited Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address; Al Lichtman, co-chairman, Council of Motion Picture Organizations; and Thomas S. Gates, Jr., Undersecretary of the Navy, who told of the importance of films to that branch of the armed services, and the cooperation the industry gave at all times to governmental requests for films on various topics.

George Jessel was toastmaster and introduced the following Hollywood personalities, John Ericson, Ben Gage, Rita Gam, Paul Gregory, Judy Holliday, Elsa Lanchester, Rouben Mamoulian, Carmel Myers, William Perlberg, George Seaton, Esther Williams, and Robert Montgomery. Jessel also presented the honored guests with bound scrapbooks to commemorate the occasion.

In reply to a remark of Sidney that "the industry ought to get together in this friendly fashion more often," Jessel remarked that "if it did, most likely next year Goldman would give to the Institute the Erlanger theatre."

Among prominent industryites seated on the elaborate triple dais were Columbia vice-president Abe Montague; Richard Walsh, head, IATSE and MPO; Bill Heineman, vice-president, United Artists; A. W. Schwalberg, vice-president, Paramount Distributing Corpora-

Miss Corday will be escorted around town, visiting local radio and TV personalities. She will ride in a new 1955 Pontiac, courtesy of McKee Pontiac Company. The current sawdust motif in the Ontario lobby, in connection with "Three Ring Circus," will make way for a "new look" as the management plans to duplicate a typical sidewalk scene of Paris.

The ballet will have a three day engagement starting on Jan. 24, at Loew's Capitol. . . . Jack Foxe, publicity for Loew's, was beaming over the success of a big-wig brass sneak of "Strategic Air Command" at Loew's Capitol. Actor James Stewart flew in from the coast to be on hand and participate in the brief stage ceremony. Other notables included Harold Talbott, secretary of the air force; General Curtis LeMay in charge of Strategic Air Command; and General Nathan Twining, chief of air force. Film officials on hand included Barney Balaban, president, Paramount, Ted O'Shay, Al Schwalberg, Paul Rabin, and Jerry Pickman.

William Perlberg and George Seaton, producers, Paramount's "The Bridges at Toko-Ri" and "The Country Girl" were in on a promotional tour on behalf of both pictures.

The Variety Club of Washington held its Four Star Luncheon in the Grand Ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, embracing the final payment to Children's Hospital for the $115,800 Variety Club Carter Barron Memorial Clinic, the traditional "thank you" luncheon for the women who worked on the 1954 Welfare Awards drive, the installation of Variety Club officers and board of governors for 1955, and a gift of $2,000 to Providence Hospital for their new building. Judge J. Edgar Murdock, president, Children's Hospital, accepted the check for the final payment of the new clinic. John A. Reilly, vice-president, Second National Bank, accepted the check for $2,000 from the Variety Club for the new Providence Hospital. The following Children's Hospital officers were invited to attend the final payment ceremony, Robert B. Swope, Rudolph Kauffmann, II, Orme Wilson, and Eugene Kramer. Alvin Newmeyer, Sr., installed the new Variety Club board of governors for 1955. Among those to be sworn in were Chief Alvin Q. Ehrlich, first assistant chief barker Phil Isaacs, second assistant chief barker Orville Crouch, property master Frank M. Boucher, and dough guy Sam Galanty. Also George A. ## First Things First; Censor Bill Sought

BALTIMORE — When the 1955 session of the Maryland State Legislature convened this month in Annapolis, the first measure read over the desk in the upper house, Senate Bill No. 1, dealt with one of the State's most controversial subjects, motion picture censorship. The bill, referred to Judiciary Committee, limits the right of the state to censor moving pictures to the grounds of being either obscene, tending to debase or corrupt morals, or incite to crime.

It would eliminate from the present statute the grounds, which have been seriously challenged by recent court decisions, of being sacrilegious, indecent, inhuman, or immoral. The measure, which defines each of the allowable grounds for censorship, also provides for appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The bill is a result of study by a Legislative Council subcommittee which concluded that motion picture censorship, although much debated, is a protective and valuable thing for the public's good and should be retained.

The group, pointing to court decisions, recommended that the four factors now in the statute be removed and that grounds for censorship be limited.

For "There's No Business Like Show Business," State manager E. G. Wollaston and his assistant, Spike Todorov, engineered a number of music tieups with radio and TV disc jockeys and a big cooperative newspaper advertisement with Pomeroy's department store. "Natlynn" dresses were exhibited in the lobby and the store had a large display plugging the movie.

J. D. O'Rear, manager, Colonial, went all out in setting the stage for "Hansel and Gretel." His extensive exploitation included imprinted balloons distributed to youngsters prior to engagement and at various audience participation programs at radio stations; special lobby set piece three weeks in advance; cardboard ginger bread house, five feet high, on display in lobby; tie-up with National Biscuit Company for lobby display; and displays in 25 grocery stores featuring "Hansel and Gretel" cookies. During the showing of the film, the ginger bread house and lobby set piece was moved to Woolworth's store for big display; tieup was made with Hobby Craft store distributing coupons entitling holder to a saving in buying "Hansel and Gretel" kits; tickets were distributed as prizes at various radio stations; plus a special newspaper campaign.

A Race For Life (5403)

68M.

(English-made)

ESTIMATE: For the programmers.

CAST: Richard Conte, Mari Aldon, George Coulouris, Peter Illing, Alec Mango, Meredith Edwards, Jimmy Copeland, Jeremy Hawk, Richard Marner, Edwin Richfield, Tim Turner. Executive producer Michael Carreras; producer Mickey Delamar; director Terence Fisher.

STORY: Richard Conte, former auto racing star, attempts a comeback after serving in the air force much to the dismay of his wife, Mari Aldon, but his workouts are not too impressive. The day of the race, he has a disagreement with veteran racer George Coulouris but during the race he works into the lead. Getting the news that Coulouris crashed and is badly injured, Conte stops in the final phase of the event to go make peace with the dying man and ask his forgiveness. He is demoted from top driver to a lower spot, and Aldon leaves him when he refuses to quit the game. In the next big race, after a bad start, he gradually works up to one of the lead positions despite an oil leak. With his teammate out with car trouble, he goes into the number one spot and finishes the winner in a photo finish. He is reconciled with Aldon who shows up in time to see him win and it seems as though he is ready to give up racing.

X-RAY: There are a number of thrills to be found here as actual scenes from some of Europe's thrilling races are to be seen, as well as a fairly interesting, if routine story, adequate performances, and okeh direction and production. This could round out the program in adequate fashion with the Conte name a potential assist. The screen play is by Richard Landau, based on a novel by Jon Manchipp White.

AD LINES: "Death Rides In Every Race"; "A Thrill A Minute As Daredevil Racers Ride To Win"; "He Had To Win . . . Nothing Would Stand In His Way."

and are captured. Keel orders them killed as spies, but she persuades him to inspect Rome from a nearby hill. They are almost caught but get away and realize they are in love. The battle is postponed while he and Williams romance. Sanders comes with terms of a truce and inadvertently gives away Williams' identity and orders her imprisoned. She and M. Champion get away and Keel orders an all-out attack. At the wall of the city, Sanders offers tribute to Keel and he agrees if Williams is to be included. She agrees, while Marge and Gower Champion are also united as the invaders leave for home.

X-RAY: Entertaining, humorous, some tuneful songs, colorful settings, CinemaScope, and a yarn that doesn't take itself too seriously along with okeh performances, capable direction, and production are to be found in this entry that should please most audiences seeking light, gay film fare. It moves at an interest-holding pace. Keel is particularly good in the male lead spot while the Williams' looks and water antics are up to their usual high standard. The screen play is by Dorothy Kingsley, based on the play "Road To Rome" by Robert E. Sherwood. Among the tunes heard are "The Life Of An Elephant," "If This Be Slavery," "Don't Let This Night Get Away," "I Have A Dream," "Hannibal's Victory March," "I Never Trust A Woman."

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher program rates.

Underwater (506)

MELODRAMA
99M.

(Color by Technicolor)
(Superscope)

ESTIMATE: Interesting, well-made melodrama.

CAST: Jane Russell, Gilbert Roland, Richard Egan, Lori Nelson, Robert Keith, Joseph Calleia, Eugene Iglesias, Ric Roman. Produced by Harry Tatelman; directed by John Sturges.

STORY: Gilbert Roland discovers the hulk of an ancient sunken ship and convinces friend Richard Egan to come along as a partner. They have a tough time convincing Egan's wife, Jane Russell, but they do, and Egan sells their boat for supplies and equipment after they persuade Lori Nelson to let them use the boat left her by a boss who skipped to avoid creditors. Priest Robert Keith goes along as well. Their diving eventually is successful, but their efforts are closely observed by native shark fisherman Joseph Calleia and his men, who suspect gold might be salvaged. The salvage attempts are hampered by undersea dangers, but they do bring up enough to make things interesting. They try to maroon Calleia and his men on an island until they are finished, but when Egan, Russell, and Roland find the going rough and Russell is trapped, Nelson brings them aboard. They seize control with the aid of guns, but a gun in Roland's hands stalemates the situation, and Egan finally solves it by giving Calleia part of the treasure.

X-RAY: Given a fine assist by Technicolor and the wide screen of Superscope, this entry proves entertaining, interesting, and well-made. The underwater sequences are clear and well-done and contain suspense, while the romancing is pleasant and easy-to-take. The story holds interest, the direction and production are good, and the cast is efficient. The widespread promotion received by the film and its filming should also prove a helpful factor at the boxoffice. The screen play is by Walter Newman based on a story by Hugh King and Robert B. Bailey.

Carolina Cannonball (5326)

COMEDY
74M.

ESTIMATE: Fair programmer.

CAST: Judy Canova, Andy Clyde, Ross Elliott, Sig Ruman, Leon Askin, Jack Kruschen, Frank Wilcox. Produced by Sidney Picker; directed by Charles Lamont.

STORY: An atomic guided missile is tested in secret, gets out of control, and lands in the desert near a town inhabited by Judy Canova and her grandfather, Andy Clyde, who runs a steam driven trolley, the only connection between the town and the outside world. Three enemy agents arrive in search of the lost missile. A U.S. government inspector arrives in search of the enemy agents. While the enemy agents are out scouring the desert, the inspector, Ross Elliott, canvasses their room, but is caught and imprisoned. Clyde discovers the missile in the desert and uses it to replace the blown-out boiler of the trolley. The enemy agents, realizing the whereabouts of the missile, board the trolley. Elliott, having escaped, also boards the trolley with Canova and Clyde. The agents force Canova, Clyde, and Elliott to jump off the moving vehicle and are blown up by bombs from airforce planes.

X-RAY: Loaded with slapstick, this is best suited for lower half spots and for play before youngsters and rural audiences. Canova breaks up the antics with an occasional song. The acting, direction, and production are fair as is the story. Screen play is by Barry Shipman from a story by Frank Gill, Jr. Songs include "Wishin' And Waitin'," "The Carolina Cannonball," and "Busy As A Beaver."

AD LINES: "Judy Rides A Guided Missile To Hilarious Adventure"; "Judy Canova At Her Funniest"; "Judy Canova, More Powerful Than An Atomic Bomb."

Trouble In Store (5431)

FARCE
85M.

(English-made)

ESTIMATE: Very funny import.

CAST: Norman Wisdom, Margaret Rutherford, Moira Lister, Derek Bond, Lana Morris, Jerry Desmonde, Megs Jenkins, Joan Sims, Michael Ward, Michael Brennan, Joan Ingram, Hamlyn Benson, John Warwick. Directed by John Paddy Carstairs; produced by Maurice Cowan.

STORY: Norman Wisdom is a stockroom employe of a London department store that has been taken over by Jerry Desmonde. He and Wisdom have several run-ins always resulting in him getting fired but re-hired again when his balmy acts pay off in publicity or increased patronage. Through all this, Margaret Rutherford, as a shoplifter, has a wonderful time collecting items from every department. Wisdom is in love with Lana Morris, clerk in the music department, but she is unaware of his presence until he impresses her deeply with his sincere though comical antics. A gang of crooks headed by personnel director Moira Lister plan to hold up the store for its receipts during a terrific sale, but Wisdom, learning of the plot manages to jam things up so that the crooks are caught. Desmonde declares him a hero, with Morris agreeing to marry him.

X-RAY: A wacky and highly amusing entry is this import with broad but funny slapstick much in evidence. Much of the success of the film is due to the fast-moving funnyman, Norman Wisdom, who has a brand of humor almost guaranteed to charm and amuse most audiences seeking fun in their entertainment. There is no serious plot to talk of, and direction and production are good. Once audiences come into see this, they should enjoy themselves for the most part. Tunes heard include "I Want To Put On Record That I Love You" and "Don't Laugh At Me 'Cos I'm A Fool." The screen play is by John Paddy Carstairs, Maurice Cowan and Ted Willis.

AD LINES: "This One Will Tickle Your Funnybone Silly"; "There Never Was A Wackier Comedy"; "All Sourpusses Stay Away . . . This One Will Have You Roaring."

A Life In The Balance (5066)

MELODRAMA
74M.

(Filmed in Mexico)

ESTIMATE: Satisfactory programmer.

CAST: Ricardo Montalban, Anne Bancroft, Lee Marvin, Jose Perez, Eva Calvo. Produced by Leonard Goldstein; directed by Harry Horner.

STORY: Ricardo Montalban, an unemployed musician and widower, visits old friend Eva Calvo in order to borrow money due him to buy his ten-year-old son, Jose Perez, a guitar. At a pawn shop, he meets Anne Bancroft, pawning a ring. They strike up an acquaintance and arrive at a cafe where he is to meet Perez. In the meantime, Lee Marvin, a homicidal maniac who has already committed several murders in Montalban's building, gains entrance into the apartment of Eva and fatally stabs her. Perez, watching fireworks on the roof of an adjoining building, observes the crime and proceeds to follow Marvin. Police discover Montalban's lunchbox at the scene of the crime and questioning neighbors, they learn of his visit to Eva and send out a bulletin for his arrest. Perez is discovered by Marvin, who resumes his flight with the boy as a hostage. Montalban is picked up by the police and questioned about the crime. The police reason Perez is with the killer and is a hostage and squads are dispensed to corner the fugitive, who has stolen a bus after killing the driver. The killer is surrounded but deters police bullets by using the boy as a shield. Montalban, fearing for the life of his son, grapples with Marvin until the latter is killed by a police bullet. Montalban and Bancroft are united with the unharmed boy; a future together is evident.

X-RAY: A slightly better than average melodrama is presented, with the acting and direction adequate for the story. The chase has a suspenseful aspect. Authentic Mexican surroundings add color to the plot. The screen play was written by Robert Presnell, Jr., and Leo Townsend from a story by Georges Simenon.

AD LINES: "A Killer With The Cunning Of A Maniac . . . A Little Boy With The Courage Of A Lion"; "In The Shadow Of The Knife . . . They Formed A Strange Alliance!"; "A Big City! A Small Boy! And A Killer!"

UNITED ARTISTS

The Beachcomber

COMEDY DRAMA
82M.

(Rank) (English-made)
(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Amusing import for art and specialty spots.

CAST: Glynis Johns, Robert Newton, Donald Sinden, Paul Rogers, Donald Pleasence, Walter Crisham, Michael Hordern, Auric Lorand. Produced by William MacQuitty; directed by Muriel Box.

STORY: Donald Sinden arrives on a tropical island to take over as resident-in-charge, and the only other English people present are missionary Paul Rogers, his sister Glynis Johns, and Robert Newton, drink-sodden outcast. Rogers and Johns loath Newton and his drunken outbursts disturb the peace and cause damage until Sinden is forced to sentence him to three months of hard labor. Johns is forced to operate on a local chief down with appendicitis and she saves him, incurring the wrath of the local witch doctor. She also fixes up a wounded elephant and then is forced to return home on the same boat with Newton and several natives. The launch breaks down, and they are forced to spend the night on an island and she expects the worse but is not bothered and begins to think better of Newton. He goes off on another drunk, and Sinden sentences him to be deported. However, a cholera epidemic strikes the surrounding islands and he agrees to help Johns in her nursing and medicinal chores with the natives. When the chief's daughter dies, he turns them over to the medicine man who sentences them to be trampled to death by an elephant. The latter is the same tended by Johns earlier and refuses to carry out the sentence and they are released. The epidemic is conquered, and Newton, a reformed person, and Johns decide to get married.

X-RAY: A well-played, well-portrayed remake that should please those seeking light and amusing film fare, this screen play by Sydney Box based on a story by W. Somerset Maugham plays at a neat pace and develops nicely so that the end result is cute and pleasant entertainment. The cast is effective and the direction and production are in the efficiency category. It should do well in the art and specialty spots. Maximum aspect ratio: 1.66-1.

AD LINES: "He Had A Drink In One Hand And A Cute Native Gal In The Other"; "Fun Galore When Robert Newton As 'The Beachcomber' Decides To Have Some Fun"; "An Amusing Film That's Witty And Charming . . . And Exciting, Too."

The Good Die Young

100M.

(English-made)
(Remus)

ESTIMATE: Interesting drama.

CAST: Laurence Harvey, Gloria Grahame, Richard Basehart, Joan Collins, John Ireland, Rene Ray, Stanley Baker, Margaret Leighton, Robert Morley, Freda Jackson, Lee Patterson, Walter Hudd, Patricia McCarron, Leslie Dwyer, Thomas Gallagher. Produced by Jack Clayton; directed by Lewis Gilbert.

STORY: Four men are in a car bound for the hold-up of a postoffice van carrying currency in London. Via flashback, the story of each is told and how he came to be in the present predicament. Driving is Laurence Harvey, spoiled, handsome, and married to wealthy Margaret Leighton on whom he sponges. He pays a gambling debt with a worthless check which both Leighton and his father Robert Morley refuse to make good and a desperate need for money forces him to organize the robbery. Richard Basehart, an ex-GI, leaves his job in New York to come after his British-born bride who came back to be with her sick mother but never returned. He finds the mother, Freda Jackson, refusing to let wife Joan Collins go by having heart attacks at will and threatening suicide. He stands by, especially since Collins is pregnant, until all his money runs out and he can't get a job to get fare back to the states. John Ireland, U.S. air force sergeant, is married to movie bit player Gloria Grahame, who has been romancing leading star Lee Patterson to get bigger parts. Her playing around brings on his desertion from his unit which goes to Germany. He throws Patterson out of the apartment and walks out on Grahame. Stanley Baker, a boxer for 12 years, manages to save a little money, and vows to quit after one more fight which he wins with a lucky blow despite a broken hand. Complications cause its amputation and he finds it hard to land a job afterwards. His savings are used by his wife to provide bail for a jailed brother and when he skips, his savings are lost. Harvey goes crazy during the robbery and kills a policeman and Baker when he decides to give himself up. The others bury the loot and Harvey kills Ireland to make it look accidental. Basehart gets away and takes Collins to the airport for the trip home, but Harvey shows up to meet his wife and they are both killed in the exchange of shots.

X-RAY: There's much that is interesting here such as the dramatic moments, the story that unrolls at a leisurely pace coming to a head at the fast-moving climax, the character development, and the parts played by the competent cast. Also the direction and production are in the better category so that the end result can make up well on the program with several American players to assist in the selling. The screen play is by Vernon Harris and Lewis Gilbert based on the novel of the same name by Richard Macauley.

Abbott and Costello Meet The Keystone Kops (513)

COMEDY
79M.

ESTIMATE: Satisfactory Abbott and Costello entry.

CAST: Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Fred Clark, Lynn Bari, Frank Wilcox, Maxie Rosenbloom, Henry Kulky, Sam Flint, Mack Sennett, Heinie Conklin, Hank Mann. Produced by Howard Christie; directed by Charles Lamont.

STORY: In the early days of the movies, Lou Costello is urged by friend Bud Abbott to invest his aunt's $5,000 and buy a motion picture studio which just happens to be for sale through Fred Clark, a crooked promoter. They buy the Edison studio in New Jersey but are thrown out when they try to take possession. Clark and actress Lynn Bari head for California, he posing as a foreign director with mustache and toupe. Frank Wilcox, studio head, is taken in by the publicity and signs him to a direction contract. Abbott and Costello learn Clark was headed west and go after him, hiking most of the way. They arrive in time to accidentally get into a movie scene Clark is filming and are a hit with Wilcox, who insists they do all the studio's stunt work. Clark tries to have them killed during some stunts with the aid of Maxie Rosenbloom but is unsuccessful. Wilcox informs Clark he knows his real identity but offers to pay off his victims and let him continue as a director if he will direct Abbott and Costello, the studio's new comedy team. Rosenbloom demands payment for his efforts, but Clark is broke and agrees to break into Wilcox's safe and go to Europe with the remainder after paying Rosenbloom. Abbott and Costello catch them and engage the help of Mack Sennett's Keystone Kops in a chase to apprehend them.

X-RAY: Abbott and Costello fans should appreciate the efforts of their heroes in this latest entry involving the usual quota of slapstick misadventures, a minimum of plot, some stunt footage and the Keystone Kops. There are enough laughs for those who care, plus adequate performances, and suitable direction and production. Youngsters should get a kick out of the proceedings which move at a fast enough clip. The screen play is by John Grant and the story is by Lee Loeb.

TIP ON BIDDING: Program price.

AD LINES: "Abbott And Costello At Their Merriest"; "More Fun Than Ever"; "See Movie History Made As Abbott and Costello Join The Keystone Kops."

The Far Country (511)

MELODRAMA
97M.

(Color by Technicolor)

ESTIMATE: Good outdoor action entry has angles.

CAST: James Stewart, Ruth Roman, Corinne Calvet, Walter Brennan, John McIntire, Jay C. Flippen, Henry Morgan, Steve Brodie, Royal Dano, Gregg Barton, Chibby Johnson. Produced by Aaron Rosenberg; directed by Anthony Mann.

STORY: James Stewart arrives with a herd of cattle scheduled for the gold area in Alaska in time to board a vessel bound for Skagway after greeting friend and associate Walter Brennan. As the vessel pulls away, police try to arrest Stewart for murder back on the trail, a killing in self-defense, but he is hidden aboard by Ruth Roman. He runs into trouble with John McIntire, the law, and his cattle are confiscated, but Roman hires him as foreman of a supply train she is taking to Dawson. He agrees, steals back his own cattle, and they cross the Canadian border with McIntire unable to follow. Going along is youngster Corinne Calvet with a crush on Stewart. It is evident that Roman is despised in Dawson by the decent citizens and that she is in with McIntire when the latter decides to take over the territory and the various gold claims by force. After killings and stealing, Stewart is offered the job as marshal, but he refuses, preferring to look out for himself and his interests. He and Brennan get out via a river route, but Brennan talks and McIntire's men attack and kill Brennan, wound Stewart, and take the gold. Stewart is aided back to health by Calvet, after which he goes after McIntire after persuading the townspeople to stay and fight. Roman is killed warning Stewart of McIntire and Stewart kills him and his henchmen, while the rest of the town backs him up.

X-RAY: There's a good deal of action to be found in this entry that moves at an interest-holding pace as well as a yarn that holds up fairly well, good characterizations, and better direction and production. The story is a little on the familiar side but it should still give a good account of itself while the names should prove of assistance. The story and screen play are by Borden Chase.

TIP ON BIDDING: Higher program rates.

AD LINES: "A Fight For Life And Gold"; "A Thrilling Yarn Of Gold-Hunting In The Far North"; "He Had A Way With Guns And Women In 'The Far Country.'"

Six Bridges To Cross (512)

MELODRAMA
96M.

ESTIMATE: Okeh action meller.

CAST: Tony Curtis, Julie Adams, George Nader, J. C. Flippen, Sal Mineo, Jan Merlin, William Murphy, Kenny Roberts, Richard Castle, Harry Bartel, Kendall Clark, Claudia Hall, Anabel Shaw. Produced by Aaron Rosenberg; directed by Joseph Pevney.

STORY: In the Boston slums of 1933, rookie police officer George Nader wounds juvenile gang leader Tony Curtis fleeing from a robbery. He visits him in the hospital and they become friends, with Curtis supplying tips that help Nader solve some crimes and become a detective. He is accused of statutory rape by a jealous gang-member and accepts it rather than inform on an associate. Nader and his wife Julie Adams try to reform him but he still goes for easy money and steals a large sum by tricking bookies. He is jailed. Curtis tries to enlist the aid of Nader to get into the army but he is an alien due to his father never becoming a citizen. After the war, Curtis becomes a king-pin in the rackets and prospers while Nader is promoted. Curtis still supplies tips to him when it suits him. Nader questions him after a $300,000 payroll hold-up, but he has an alibi and vows to go straight. Ostensibly he leaves the rackets, buys a chain of service stations and marries a widow with two youngsters, Anabel Shaw, and even wins a pardon and citizenship. While Curtis is with Nader and his family, an armored car depot across from one of his service stations is held up by a masked gang for two-and-a-half millions. Curtis is suspected, nothing can be proved. Officials start to probe the friendship of Nader for Curtis, and Nader uses every trick to get the evidence on Curtis even to threatening deportation. When his wife walks out on him, Curtis is beaten and arranges for the holdup gang to be at a warehouse after tipping Nader. Curtis is fatally wounded in the gun battle but reveals the hiding place of the money to Nader before he dies.

X-RAY: There's lots of action and much interest to be found in this well-made entry and it should go over big with most melodrama-seeking audiences. The film also will evoke much sympathy for Curtis as a juvenile delinquent as well as a grown mobster, with the glorification of juvenile delinquency and crookedness in general unfortunately present. The cast, particularly Curtis and Nader, is good and the direction and production are in the better category. The screen play is by Sydney Boehm based on the story, "They Stole $2,500,000 And Got Away With It," by Joseph Dineen. There is a theme song, "Six Bridges To Cross," sung by Sammy Davis, Jr. This bears a Legion of Decency "B" rating.

AD LINES: "One Of The Biggest Robberies In History . . . And They Almost Got Away With It"; "An Action-Packed Thriller Of Cops And Robbers . . . In The Big Time"; "He Was Wanted For One Of The Biggest Robberies In History."

Gangbusters

MELODRAMA
78M.

(Visual Drama, Inc.-Terry Turner)

ESTIMATE: Okeh for the programmers.

J. Faris and William H. Clothier; directed by Bill Karn.

STORY: Lieutenant detective Don Harvey spots a one-armed man carrying some packages to an illegally parked car. He questions the man, Myron Healey, who opens fire, shooting from the supposed empty sleeve of his coat. Harvey black-jacks Healey, takes him to headquarters for further questioning and he is found to be a public enemy wanted by the police. While serving time at Oregon State prison, he becomes leader of the prisoners, who help him escape. He is followed by Harvey and assistant detective Frank Gerstle, who send him back. He plans a mass escape which doesn't materialize, but later, he and Frank Richards, a lifer, make a bid for freedom, but are wounded in the chase. They drag themselves into a woods, where Healey tells Richards he is dying and asks to be buried. This Richards does, placing him in a shallow grave and covering with dirt. When the police pick up Richards, he tells this gruesome story. The police bring Richards on a stretcher to the spot where the grave was, but there is no body only blood stained bandages. Realizing Healey has escaped once more, Harvey and his force double their efforts, and finally return him to prison, where he is serving a life sentence.

X-RAY: The suspense is good and the film points out the failings of the present penal institutions. In his first starring role, Myron Healey turns in an excellent portrayal, as does Don Harvey as the lieutenant. The film moves fast, with action the keynote. Gabriel Heatter gives an interview of several minutes before the film starts, explaining the factual background and warning the audience that in showing the life of a real prisoner, he was not any kind of a hero, but a man of superior intelligence whose twisted mind prevented him from leading a normal life. Written by Phillips H. Lord, with revisions by Bill Karn, this has no marquee names and a few details that do not ring true, but the "gangbusters" title is a natural for the marquee. The film will please action fans. Its initial engagements in the New England area benefited greatly from natural tieups with the very exploitable title, and any exhibitor who can pull out the stops exploitation-wise should find his action-loving clientele more than pleased by the offering.

AD LINES: "Greatest Crime Expose Of All"; "True-Life Crime Record As Gangbusters Mop Up A Public Enemy"; "The Screen Shattering Record Of A Self-Appointed Cell Block Hot Shot."

Hunters Of The Deep

DOCUMENTARY 64M.
(DCA)
(Color)

ESTIMATE: Fair documentary.

CREDITS: Produced by Tom Gries, narrated by Dan O'Herlihy, written by Allan Dowling and Tom Gries, edited by Bill Naylor.

STORY: Filmed off the Bahama reefs, in California coastal waters, and in the ocean off the Mexican coast, this entry has photographers equipped with aqualungs, cameras, and weapons for self-protection as they venture forth to take varying and unusual photos of different types of underwater inhabitants. They encounter many dangerous types of fish-life as well as some who were friendly and docile even to the point of almost being considered pets.

X-RAY: Interesting for the most part, this underwater documentary would have been assisted by clearer photography. The findings are presented in leisurely fashion although there are several moments of excitement when man-killers appear on the scene as well as several humorous spots. It can go on the program as a supporting feature or in the art and specialty spots.

(Eastman Color)

ESTIMATE: Okeh exploitation burlesque entry.

CAST: Tempest Storm, Betty Page, Trudy Wayne, Hedy Bey, Cherry Knight, Tinnie Wallen, Pepe and Roccio, Chris La Chris, Vicki Lynn, Joey Ross, Dave Starr. Produced and directed by Irving Klaw.

STORY: The format of the film is a series of scenes, each devoted to the talents of one of the lovely ladies. Tempest Storm is observed in a variety of poses and positions; Trudy Wayne, Betty Page, Hedy Bey and others engage in similar acts. Vicki Lynn, female impersonator, engages in a dance which concludes with a revelation of sex. Pepe and Roccio are seen in a Spanish dance number. Comedy relief, in the form of low-brow corn, is supplied by Joey Ross and Dave Starr.

X-RAYS This is guaranteed to satisfy the devotees of burlesque. The talents of the lovelies are amply distributed throughout, accentuated by Eastman Color.

AD LINES: "Tempest Storm . . . So Big We Had To Use Wide Screen"; "The Girls Are Naughty And The Comedy Is Funny"; "Girls . . . Girls . . . Girls . . . They're All Entertaining."

For Better, For Worse

COMEDY 75M.
(Stratford)
(Eastman Color)
(English-made)

ESTIMATE: Light weight entry for art spots.

CAST: Dirk Bogarde, Susan Stephen, Cecil Parker, Dennis Price, Eileen Herlie, Athene Seyler, Pia Terri, James Hayter, Thora Hird, George Woodbridge, Charles Victor, Sidney James, Peter Jones, Edwin Styles, Mary Law, Leonard Sharp, Dennis Wyndham, Robin Bailey, Digby Wolfe, Geoffrey Hibbert, Ronnie Stevens, Edmund Hockridge. Produced by Kenneth Harper; directed by J. Lee-Thompson.

STORY: Dirk Bogarde and Susan Stephen, two youngsters, get married and right away find themselves up to their necks with bills, housing problems, nosey neighbors, etc. Cecil Parker is the pompous father-in-law, who gives plenty of advice but scorns the youth of today, and Eileen Herlie is his understanding wife. The climax comes when the kids try to entertain their in-laws in their one-room flat and make a good impression. Everything goes wrong, a plumber arrives and interferes with Stephen's getting dinner; furniture movers come to remove the furniture which has not been paid on the installment plan. However, Parker sees the fix the children are in, relents, and all ends well with Bogarde assured of a promotion in his poorly paid government clerk's post.

X-RAY: Based on a play by the same title by Arthur Watkyn, this has additional dialogue by Peter Myers and Alec Grahame, with screen play by the director J. Lee-Thompson. It emerges as unpretentious domestic comedy of a decidedly English type. One will find it peopled with the type of characters one seems to know. Most of the action is of the interior type and the color wasn't exactly necessary, although it enhances things a bit. For spots that can use the English-made product, this should get by.

AD LINES: "They Found Out They Couldn't Live On Love Alone, But They Had A Good Try"; "Loving Each Other, Night And Day, Didn't Keep The Debt Collectors Away"; "They Tried To Make Their Honeymoon Last Forever."

Fuss Over Feathers

COMEDY DRAMA 84M.
(Associated Artists)
(English-made)

ESTIMATE: Cute import for art spots.

CAST: John Gregson, Muriel Pavlow, Kieron Moore, Niall MacGinnis, Sheila Sweet, Harry Fowler, Howard Connell, Barbara Hicks. Produced by Herbert Mason; directed by John Eldridge.

STORY: A jet fighter squadron stationed in England is ordered to master the technique of ground attack and a rocket-firing target range is needed. A local piece of land known as "The Island of the Children" is designated despite its having been used as a bird sanctuary for many years, and this arouses the ire of local inhabitants. They protest to the various government bureaus, the bird watching societies, etc., as preparations for use by the air force grows and time grows short. Learning the day that practice is to commence, the villagers gather at the target and the planes are forced to postpone the project. There is a public outcry with hearings scheduled and use as a practice area is postponed almost indefinitely. There is also a romance between one of the village girls and one of the air force men.

X-RAY: There are a number of chuckles and amusing situations to be found in this entry that is best suited for the art and specialty spots, with a story that is fairly interesting if slight, and average direction and production. The screen play is by Don Sharp and John Pudney.

AD LINES: "A Bird In The Sanctuary Is Worth Two Elsewhere"; "Fun And Fuss Over Feathers' Is Different Entertainment"; "Much Ado About Birds And People."

The Green Scarf

MYSTERY DRAMA 96M.
(Associated Artists)
(English-made)

ESTIMATE: Interesting entry for art and specialty spots.

CAST: Michael Redgrave, Kieron Moore, Leo Genn, Ann Todd, Evelyn Roberts, Phil Brown, Ella Milne, Jane Griffiths, Michael Golden, Richard O'Sullivan, Tristan Rawson, Jane Henderson, Peter Burton, Michael Medwin, Walter Horsburgh. Produced by Betram Ostrer and Albert Fennell; directed by George More O'Ferrall.

STORY: On trial for his life is Kieron Moore for the murder of Phil Brown in a French court. He is blind, deaf and dumb from birth but successfully overcame his handicaps with the aid of Leo Genn, a teacher, and Ann Todd, his wife and close childhood friend. Moore gained fame and fortune as an author. On the ship bearing him and Todd home after a lecture tour, he is found beside Brown's body with bloody hands and a motive, jealousy over

Brown's attentions to his wife. He refuses to defend himself so that his attorney, Michael Redgrave, is forced to do most of the work on his own after other lawyers have turned down the case. He checks the stories of the people involved, backgrounds, etc., and he learns that Todd and Brown had an affair which Todd wanted to break after they left to return home. It comes out that Michael Medwin, ship steward, was guilty, having killed Brown in a jealous rage over attentions he paid to his girl. Moore confessed and implicated himself when he thought Todd might have killed Brown. All is well for the future as Moore and Todd emerge free, while Redgrave's reputation as a clever lawyer is assured.

X-RAY: Here is a wonderfully different picture saturated with heartwarming moments, tinged with suspense, and made startlingly believable by superior performances by all in the cast, particularly Michael Redgrave, Kieron Moore, Leo Genn, and Ann Todd. It should please all adults seeking better dramatic entertainment. The story reaches out and should hold audiences tightly until the stirring climax is reached. The screen play is by George Wellesley. It seems best suited for art and specialty spots, although not necessarily restricted to them.

AD LINES: "An Unusual Thriller"; "An Adventure In Different Suspense"; "He Was On Trial For Murder Until A Thrilling Climax Brought Out The Truth."

The True And The False

DRAMA
79M.

(Helene Davis)
(English dialogue)
(Swedish-made)

ESTIMATE: Satisfactory import for art spots.

CAST: Signe Hasso, William Langford, Michael Road, Stig Olin, Lilli Kjellin, Ragnar Arvedson, Ruth Brady, Hjordis Petterson. Produced by Signe Hasso; directed by Michael Road.

STORY: A bride-to-be on her wedding eve checks through her wedding presents and selects a book to read. The first story, "La Grande Breteche," by Honore de Balzac, takes place in France in the castle of William Langford. Langford, suspicious of ailing wife Signe Hasso's conduct, returns unexpectedly one evening and senses a visitor in her room. Interrogating her, he has his suspicions although she steadfastly denies everything. He then bluntly accuses her of sheltering a man in her closet, and Hasso declares their marriage at an end if he examines the hiding place. Langford calls on his servants, Lilli Kjellin and Stig Olin, to brick up the closet, after promising Hasso never to question her loyalty by making the search. The closet is completely sealed and the servants are dismissed. The husband leaves for an instant but returns to find his wife trying desperately to remove the barricade. The intruder in the closet now begins to pound against the walls of his tomb. Langford and Hasso go mad, with Langford dazedly wandering into the courtyard and plunging into a pit to his death. The next story "The Old Maid," by Guy de Maupassant, has Hasso living with a strict and miserly father who rarely permits her to go out in public. On one of her rare evenings in town, she meets a handsome soldier at a ball, Langford. They manage to meet frequently, fall in love, and although Hasso is hopeful of marriage, she accidentally learns that Langford will only marry for money. She is horrified, and losing her way in a storm, she faints in the snow. Hasso is rescued and brought home where a physician tells her family she will recover from the pneumonia, but she will carry a scarred face for life from the frostbite on her cheek. Langford is transferred. Hasso's father, Ragnar Arvedson, dies, and she becomes very wealthy. With a cousin, Hasso goes to Lyon on a vacation. At a masked ball she again meets Langford, and at the unmasking he tells her she is more beautiful than ever, and does not see her scars. Hasso decides to give all of her fortune to Langford and she retires in seclusion, happy in her memories of the past. The bride-to-be weeps at the tale and falls asleep, to awaken on her wedding day. The ceremony is performed and the couple go off to start life together.

X-RAY: A good job throughout, the acting leaves little to be desired. The first tale is suspenseful in aspect, the second, somewhat moving in its romantic makeup. Bob Condon has faithfully adapted these classic stories for the screen and the direction and production are good. The import is best suited for art and specialty spots.

AD LINES: "The Most Shocking Night A Man And Woman Ever Lived"; "In Every Love There's A Little Sin"; "Yes, I've Been Unfaithful . . . But I'm Not The Only One!"

The Short Parade

THREE REEL

Color Art

REMBRANDT—A Self-Portrait. Distributors Corporation of America. 26m. Color. The beautiful works of Rembrandt are to be seen here in fine color and in such fashion as to form the life of the great painter, who drew his own portraits as well as those of others. At 20 he set up his own studio and at 25 went to Amsterdam where his reputation grew with the rise of Holland. The aristocracy paid generously for his portraits. In 1634, he wed, and he was successful in everything he undertook, even to etching. Eventually, the tide turned and he spent money faster than he was able to earn it as the demand for his works waned. A son is born to him. Eventually, his wife becomes ill and dies and things get rough with a female servant forced to help him out. Drink takes its toll. His paintings are shown and analyzed by close camera study as well. EXCELLENT.

TWO REEL

Comedy

KIDS WILL BE KIDS. Columbia—All-Star Comedies. 16m. A youngster and his baby brother are left alone by their mother and the two-year-old gets into all kinds of mischief while older brother decides how to win a bicycle by entering his dog Daisy in a contest so that he can impress his girl friends. Daisy does win the contest but two-year-old "High-pockets" breaks things up by putting a cat on the scene. FAIR. (7412).

SCOTCHED IN SCOTLAND. Columbia—Three Stooges Comedies. 15½m. When the Three Stooges graduate from a private detective school, they go out on a job to Scotland at a supposedly haunted castle where things keep disappearing. The servants, who are in with the thieves, try to scare them off using all kinds of gags, but they accidentally unveil the crooks and emerge heroes. FAIR. (7403).

Documentary

FAST FREIGHT. RKO—Special. 15m. The story of a mile-long, fast freight and of the men who make it possible is told here from the time it is made up in the trainyards to when the engineer and his assistant take it out and stop only to either add or to release cars. They arrive in the big city on time with a varying cargo eagerly awaited. GOOD. (53103).

RIVER TO THE PAST. RKO—Special. 15m. Deep in South America where the Amazon flows, the camera records the existence of remnants of two races, negroes who are descendants of African slaves who revolted against Dutch Guinea masters, and red-men who are the last of a great Indian tribe almost wiped out by epidemics. They continue to live in the past, rejecting all contact with the civilized world. Their dances, fishing, meal preparation, and other ways of life are recorded. GOOD. (53104).

Color Cartoons

FEATHER DUSTED. Warners—Merry Melodies. 7m. Leghorn, the rooster, decides that Junior devotes too much time to his studies. He persuades him to leave his books and play some games with him—pirates, Indians, etc. Before the start of each game Junior figures out the plays scientifically. Leghorn tells the boy he is all wrong, but this attitude always proves disastrous for the know it all Leghorn. FAIR. (2709).

PESTS FOR GUESTS. Warners—Merry Melodies. 7m. Elmer Fudd buys an antique chest of drawers that has two gophers living in it. When Elmer discovers that he has two unwelcome guests, he tries to chase them out of the house. Elmer's attempts fail and the gophers retain possession of their home. GOOD. (2710).

PIZZICATO PUSSYCAT. Warners—Merry Melodies. 7m. A cat catches a mouse who plays a toy piano with virtuoso ability. The cat forces the mouse to play the toy piano inside a large one while the cat goes through the motions of playing the large piano. This naturally attracts the attentions of the lady of the house who arranges a concert appearance for her cat. The debut fails abjectly when the mouse accidentally breaks his glasses and can no longer read the music on his toy piano which is inside the concert piano. EXCELLENT. (2708).

Novelty

CINEMA CAPERS. RKO—Screenliner. 8m. Two oldies from the silent days are to be found coupled here. The first is titled "Revenge Is Sweet Or The Plot Is Sour" and has the hero rescuing the beautiful girl from villains, marrying her, and then trying to put the bite on dad for some money. Wealthy dad is killed by the villain but the hero is blamed, tried, and convicted, but saved from the electric chair. In "The Telegraph Operator Or A Girl And Her Code," Blanche Sweet takes over as telegraph operator and is on duty when a train drops off a gold shipment at her station, which houses a pair of villains. She taps out a message for help and her boy friend, a train engineer, races to the rescue in his vehicle. GOOD. (54204).

HOLLYWOOD LIFE. Columbia—Screen Snapshots. 10m. Ralph Edwards and producer-director of the series Ralph Staub get together to discuss Hollywood and swimming pools and the camera covers Art Linkletter and family in their pool, Eve Arden and Vera Vague, Hal (Great Gildersleeve) Peary and wife in their pool and finally Ralph and Mrs. Edwards. FAIR. (7954).

Sports

RASSLIN' REDSKIN. Columbia—World of Sports. 10m. Chief Yaqui and Earl Koeasky from Poland engage in a wrestling match while Bill Stern provides appropriate narration in a comic vein. All of the grunts, groans, and falls are duly recorded by the camera and commentator. GOOD. (7804).

SKIING THE ANDES. Columbia—World of Sports. 10m. Chilean Andes is the setting for some real fine skiing and Americans flock there to enjoy the winter sports in July. FAIR. (7803).

SPORTS ISLAND. RKO—Sportscope. 10m. Narrated by Ed Thorgerson, the camera shows the sporting facilities and possibilities of Puerto Rico, America's tropical playground in the Caribbean. Spear fishing, sailing, golf, winter baseball using major league players, etc., are to be seen. FAIR. (54305).

WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE. RKO—Screenliner. 8½m. The conservation of a vital natural resource, water, is the subject of this short and it shows how eroded land cannot hold the rains or overfilled rivers because it is too dry and brittle. It must be reworked and replanted so that it can hold much-needed water. Dams and irrigation ditches carefully tended are one answer. FAIR. (54205).

CinemaScope Color Travel

FAR EAST BASTIONS. 20th-Fox—CinemaScope Specials. 10m. Manila, Philippine capital, rebuilt since the war, and Formosa, housing Chiang Kai Chek's Nationalist government, are pictured as strongholds of democracy in the east. Some interesting photography in Color by DeLuxe is utilized, but the subject matter is not as interesting as previous shorts in this series. FAIR. (7427).
